WHAT PAYS?

IT PAYS every Manufacturer, Merchant, Mechanic, Inventor, Farmer, or Professional Man, to keep informed on all the improvements and discoveries of the age.

It pays the head of every family to introduce into his household a newspaper that is instructive, one that fosters a taste for investigation, and promotes thought and encourages discussion among the members.

The Scientific American

which has been published weekly for the last thirty-one years, does this, to an extent beyond that of any other publication; in fact it is the only weekly paper published in the United States, devoted to Manufactures, Mechanics, Inventions and New Discoveries in the Arts and Sciences.

Every number is profusely illustrated and its contents embrace the latest and most interesting information pertaining to the Industrial, Mechanical, and Scientific Progress of the world; Descriptions, with Beautiful Engravings of New Inventions, New Implements, New Processes, and Improved Industries of all kinds; Useful Notes, Recipes, Suggestions and Advice for Manufacturers or Workmen and Employers, in all the various arts, forming a complete repertory of New Inventions and Discoveries; containing a weekly record, not only of the progress of the Industrial Arts in our own country, but also of all New Discoveries and Inventions in every branch of Engineering, Mechanics and Science abroad.

THE SCIENTIFIC AMERICAN has been the foremost of all industrial publications for the past thirty-one years. It is the oldest, largest, cheapest, and the best weekly illustrated paper devoted to Engineering, Mechanics, Chemistry, New Inventions, Science and Industrial Progress, published in the world.

The practical Recipes are well worth ten times the subscription price, and for the shop and house will save many times the cost of subscription.

Merchants, Farmers, Mechanics, Engineers, Inventors, Manufacturers, Chemists, Lovers of Science, and People of all Professions, will find the SCIENTIFIC AMERICAN useful to them. It should have a place in every Family, Library, Study, Office and Counting Room; in every Reading Room, College and School. A new volume commences January 1st, 1877.

A year's numbers contain 832 pages and SEVERAL HUNDRED ENGRAVINGS. Thousands of volumes are preserved for binding and reference. Terms, $3.20 a year by mail, including postage. Discount to Clubs. Special circulars, giving Club rates sent free. Single copies mailed on receipt of 10 cents. May be had of all News Dealers.

PATENTS, in connection with the Scientific American, Messrs. MUNN & Co. are Solicitors of American and Foreign Patents, and have the largest establishment in the world. More than Fifty thousand applications have been made for patents through their agency.

Patents are obtained on the best terms. Models of New Inventions and Sketches examined, and advice free. A special notice is made in the Scientific American of all Inventions Patented through this Agency, with the name and residence of the patentee. Patents are often sold in part or in whole, to persons attracted to the Invention by such notice. A Pamphlet, containing full directions for obtaining Patents sent free. The Scientific American Reference Book, a volume bound in cloth and gilt, containing the Patent Laws, Census of the U. S., and 142 Engravings of mechanical movements. Price 25 Cents.

PULMOCINE.

Lippincott's Magazine.

AN ILLUSTRATED MONTHLY OF POPULAR LITERATURE, SCIENCE, and ART.

Announcement for 1877.

The number for January begins the nineteenth volume of this Magazine, and while its past record will, it is hoped, be deemed a sufficient guarantee of future excellence, no efforts will be spared to diversify its attractions and to provide an increased supply of Popular Reading in the Best and Most Emphatic Sense. The great object and constant aim of the conductors will be to furnish the public with Literary Entertainment of a Refined and Varied Character, as well as to present in a graphic and striking manner the most recent information and soundest views on subjects of General Interest; in a word, to render LIPPINCOTT'S MAGAZINE strikingly distinctive in those features that are most attractive in Magazine Literature. The contributions not on hand, or specially engaged, embrace a highly attractive list of Tales, Short Stories, Descriptive Sketches, Narratives, Papers on Science and Art, Poems, Popular Essays, Literary Criticisms, etc., etc., by talented and well known writers. A large proportion of the articles, especially those descriptive of travel, will be profusely and beautifully illustrated. The pictorial embellishments of the Magazine constitute one of its many attractive features.

In addition to the general attractions of LIPPINCOTT'S MAGAZINE the Publishers would invite attention to the following

SPECIAL FEATURES FOR 1877.

1. A new serial story,

"THE MARQUIS OF LOSSIE,"

by George Macdonald, author of "Malcolm," "Alec Forbes," "Robert Falconer," etc.

To those of our readers who are familiar with "Malcolm," this new story from the pen of this distinguished Writer will need no recommendation, and his reputation is a guarantee to others of a deeply interesting and powerful story. It began in the November number, which issue, with the December part, will be furnished gratis to all new subscribers for 1877.

2. A profusely illustrated series of sketches of

by Prof. Willard Fiske, of Cornell University, who is thoroughly familiar with Sweden and its People from personal observation.

3. A series of popular papers on

ART AND ART MATTERS,

by Edward Strahan (Earl Shinn), author of "The New Hyperion," etc.

4. Illustrated Sketches of Travel, entitled

FROM SPAIN,

by Edward King, author of "The Great South," etc.

5. Mrs. Lucy H. Hooper's Interesting and Piquant

PAPERS AND LETTERS FROM PARIS,

will be continued through the year.

THE BEAUTIES OF THE RHINE,

will be described in a richly illustrated series of papers.

7. During the year will appear a number of handsomely illustrated short articles, descriptive of Travel and Adventure in the United States, England, South America, Japan, Mongolia, and other countries.

AMONG THE BEST PEOPLE.

I.—IT PUBLISHES ALL THE NEWS. The servant of no man, the slave of no party, it can afford to and does tell the truth about all.

II.—IT IS IMPARTIAL AND INDEPENDENT. Believing in intelligent suffrage, it aims to furnish voters the fullest and fairest information, to qualify them for the wisest discharge of their responsibility.

III.—IT IS, AT ALL TIMES, ESSENTIALLY REPUBLICAN. It may quarrel in the future, as it has done in the past, with errors of republican leaders or corruptions in republican party; but it can never cease to be true to republican principles, and especially to those golden doctrines of civil service reform, and economy, the sacredness of the National faith, and equal justice to all classes at the South, which formed the corner-stones of Gov. Hayes' admirable letter of acceptance.

IV.—ITS MORAL TONE IS PURE AND ELEVATED. The circle is never profaned by anything which appears in the columns of THE TRIBUNE.

V.—THE CHOICEST STANDARD AND CURRENT LITERATURE of the day is presented in its columns, including Correspondence, Poems, Stories, and Reviews from the most talented and popular writers.

VI.—IT IS THE BEST AND CHEAPEST FARMER'S PAPER PUBLISHED. "THE WEEKLY TRIBUNE has done more to make good farmers than any other influence which ever existed."

VII.—THE MARKET REPORTS of THE TRIBUNE are indispensable to every buyer and seller in the country. Quotations are given daily and weekly of almost every article bought and sold in the markets of the world, and with unvarying and almost infallible accuracy. As Cattle, Butter and Cheese, and other Markets are the recognized standard.

VIII.—MORE COPIES OF THE TRIBUNE are paid for and read by the American people than of any other newspaper of equal price in the country—a fact which is the best demonstration of the value of the paper.

IX.—THE READERS of THE TRIBUNE represent largely the best enterprising and progressive minds of the country. Such people are interested in pure politics, the advance of science, and the progress of opinion, will find their demands met by THE TRIBUNE.

X.—PUBLIC APPROVAL AND PROSPERITY have rewarded the independent and self-respectful course of THE TRIBUNE. It has a large and strong corps of earnest workers among its friends than ever before, and constantly receives from old and new readers words of encouragement.

Notices of the Press.

The Magazine has attained in its one quarter century and more of existence to that point where it may be said of it, in the words of Dr. Johnson, "It is vain to blame and useless to praise." The habits of its long-sustained popularity have increased as the years have passed, and its future seems as bright if not brighter than at any time since the golden hue of prosperity settled upon its latter and best years.—Brooklyn Eagle.

Harper's Monthly is marked by the same characteristics which gave it circulation from the first with the better class of readers. It combines reading matter with illustration in a way to make clear and vivid the facts presented. Pictures merely designed to catch the eye of the ignorant are never inserted.—Chicago Journal.

LITTELL'S LIVING AGE FOR 1877. The continued and increasing success of this periodical (now over thirty-three years old) is doubtless owing to the fact that it affords a comprehensive and close acquaintance of keeping well informed in the best literature of the day. With its weekly issue, and its three and a quarter thousand large pages of reading matter a year, it is enabled to present with freshness and satisfactory completeness able essays and reviews, long and serial and short stories, interesting sketches of travel and discovery, poetry, and valuable biographical, historical, scientific and political information from the entire body of foreign periodical literature.

In its pages are represented such eminent authors as Prof. Max Muller, Prof. Tyndall, Rt. Hon. W. E. Gladstone, Dr. W. B. Carpenter, Prof. Huxley, Richard A. Proctor, Frances Power Cobbe, the Duke of Argyll, Jas. A. Froude, Mrs. Muloch, Mrs. Oliphant, Mrs. Alexander, Miss Thackeray, Jean Ingelow, Geo. McDonald, Wm. Black, Matthew Arnold, Henry Kingsley, W. W. Story, Ruerbach, Ruskin, Carlyle, Tennyson, Browning, and a galaxy of others in science, fiction, history, biography, philosophy, poetry, theology, politics, criticism and art.

The subscription price ($8 a year,) is cheap for the amount of reading furnished; while for those desiring the cream of both home and foreign literature, the publishers make a still cheaper offer, viz.: to send, postpaid, The Living Age and either one of the American $4 monthlies, or any $4 weekly for $8 50. With The Living Age and one or other of our leading American monthlies, a subscriber will at small cost, be put in "command of the whole situation."

An extra offer, also, is made to all new subscribers for 1877, viz.: to send them gratis the six numbers of 1876, containing, besides other valuable reading, the first installments of a new and unusually powerful serial story by George MacDonald, now appearing in The Living Age from advance sheets.

The volume begins Jan. 1st, and we recommend he periodical to the attention of our readers. We know of no other way in which so much of the best work of the world can be enjoyed by so small outlay as cheaply and conveniently as through this standard weekly magazine. Published by Littell & Gay, Boston.

MRS. WINSLOW'S

SOOTHING SYRUP!

For Children Teething,

greatly facilitates the process of teething, by softening the gums, reducing all inflammation—will allay ALL PAIN and spasmodic action, and is

Sure to Regulate the Bowels.

Depend upon it, mothers, it will give rest to yourselves, and

Relief and Health to Your Infants.

We have put up and sold this article for years, and CAN SAY IN CONFIDENCE AND TRUTH of it, what we have never been able to say of any other medicine, NEVER HAS FAILED, IN A SINGLE INSTANCE, TO EFFECT A CURE, when timely used. Never did we know an instance of dissatisfaction by any one who used it. On the contrary, all are delighted with its operations, and speak in terms of the highest commendation of its magical effects and medical virtues. We speak in this matter "WHAT WE DO KNOW," after years of experience, AND ENDEAVOR TO ACCORD REPUTATION FOR THE ENTIRE MERIT OF WHAT WE HERE DECLARE. In almost every instance where the infant is suffering from pain and exhaustion, relief will be found in fifteen or twenty minutes after the syrup is administered.

This valuable preparation has been used with NEVER FAILING SUCCESS in

Thousands of Cases.

It not only relieves the child from pain, but invigorates the stomach and bowels, corrects acidity, and gives tone and energy to the whole system. It will almost instantly relieve

Griping in the Bowels and Wind Colic.

We believe it the BEST AND SUREST REMEDY IN THE WORLD, in all cases of DYSENTERY and DIARRHŒA IN CHILDREN, whether it arises from teething, or from any other cause. We would say to every mother who has a child suffering from any of the foregoing complaints—do not let your prejudices, nor the prejudices of others, stand between your suffering child and the relief it will be SURE—yes, ABSOLUTELY SURE to follow the use of this medicine, if timely used. Full directions for using will accompany each bottle.

THE SUN.

1877 NEW YORK. 1877

The different editions of THE SUN during the next year will be the same as during the year that has just passed. The daily edition will continue to be a sheet of four pages, and on Sundays a sheet of eight pages, or 56 broad columns; while the weekly edition will be a sheet of eight pages of the same dimensions and character that are already familiar to our friends.

THE SUN will continue to be the strenuous advocate of reform and retrenchment, and of the substitution of intelligence, manliness, wisdom, and integrity for hollow pretence, imbecility, and fraud in the administration of public affairs. It will contend for the government of the people by the people and for the people, as opposed to government by frauds in the ballot-boxes in the counting-rooms, enforced by military violence. It will endeavor to supply its readers,—a body now not far from one million of souls—with the news of the world, in the most trustworthy accounts of current events, and will employ for this purpose a numerous and carefully selected staff of reporters and correspondents. Its reports from Washington, especially, will be full, accurate and fearless; and it will doubtless continue to deserve and enjoy the hatred of those who thrive by plundering the Treasury or by usurping what the law does not give them, while it will endeavor to merit the confidence of the public by defending the rights of the people against the encroachments of unjustified power.

The price of the daily SUN will be 55 cents a month or $6.50 a year, post paid, or with the Sunday edition $7.70 a year.

The SUNDAY edition alone, eight pages, $1.20 a year, post paid.

The WEEKLY SUN, eight pages of 56 broad columns, will be furnished during 1877 at the rate of $1 a year, post paid.

The benefit of this large reduction from the previous rate for the WEEKLY can be enjoyed by individual subscribers without the necessity of making up clubs. At the same time, if any of our friends choose to aid in extending our circulation, we shall be grateful to them, and every such person who sends us ten or more subscribers from one place will be entitled to one copy of the paper for himself without charge. A sum dollar a year, postage paid, the expense of paper and printing (stereotype repaid); and, considering the size of the sheet and the quality of its contents, we are confident that people will consider THE WEEKLY SUN the cheapest newspaper published in the world, and we trust also one of the very best.

The reliable house of ALEX. FROTHINGHAM & Co., No. 12 Wall St., New York, publish a handsome eight-page weekly paper, called the Weekly Financial Report, which they send free to any address. In addition to the ruling market quotations of gold and other topics, it contains very full and accurate reports of the actual standing of every stock, bond and security dealt in at the Stock Exchange. Messrs. FROTHINGHAM & CO. are extensive brokers of long experience and great integrity. In addition to their stock brokerage business, they sell what are termed "Privileges," or "Puts and Calls," now one of the favorite modes of legitimate speculation. Their advice is valuable, and by following it many have made fortunes.—[New York Metropolis.]

☞ All new Subscribers for 1877, paying in advance after November 1, 1876, will receive the paper weekly, from receipt of remittance to January 1st, 1877, without charge.

COMBINED PAPERS—FORTY-SEVENTH YEAR!!

THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN.

THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN is published weekly on the following terms, when paid strictly in advance: ONE COPY, one year, $2.50; FOUR COPIES, $10, and an additional copy for the year free to the sender of the Club; TEN COPIES, $20, and an additional copy for the year free to the sender of the Club.

THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN possesses an unequaled Corps of Correspondents, regular and occasional, among the Best Farmers of All Parts of the Country, and constantly reflects the practical condition and progress of the husbandry of every section of the United States and civilized world.

THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN gives in its Horticultural Department a continuous variety of information and suggestions, equal or superior in the aggregate to what is obtained in the monthly numbers of most magazines devoted to Horticulture.

THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN has probably done as much as all other Journals combined, to introduce and disseminate Improved Stock of every kind through the country, and commands to a greater degree than any contemporary, the confidence and support of breeders and purchasers.

THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN contains unusually full and trustworthy Market Reports, and devotes special attention to them and to the Prospects of the Crops, as throwing light upon one of the most important of all questions — When to Buy and When to Sell.

THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN embraces numerous minor departments of a practical character, such as the Dairy, the Poultry Yard, the Apiary, the Vineyard, and so on, and weekly presents a column or two for the Housewife, and an interesting variety of Fireside Reading. It contains a well-edited review of Current Events, and its advertising pages furnish a directory of all the principal agricultural and horticultural establishments of the country.

The New Democratic Recruits.

They may not succeed in getting Mr. Tilden into the White House and the party into power, but it must be a great comfort to the democratic leaders to consider the number and quality of the recruits they are gathering in. A remarkable fine body of men they are. Here go marching in just now Littlefield and Maddox, converts and recruits, just so many subtracted from the republicans and added to the ranks of the Reformers. Littlefield seems upon his own confession to be a forger, and Maddox—he is the sort of person who buys and sells Returning Boards on broad moral grounds. These two have abandoned the republicans and gone over where they won't be so lonesome. And we are glad to see that they are welcomed joyfully as new recruits. So too, not long ago, there was much rejoicing among democrats on the accession of Pinchback. When this person went over he did so with the confession that the party with which he had been acting, and with whose "workings" he has been "familiar from its inauguration down to this date," "for corruption, venality, and dishonesty had not its equal anywhere on the face of God's earth," and had not "from head to foot, from center to circumference, an honest drop of blood in it." There was not, to be sure, the same degree of pleasure exhibited by the democrats in welcoming his coming as by the republicans in speeding his parting; but that could hardly be expected, for Mr. Pinchback had weighed very heavily on his party for a long time, and there was a great sense of relief at his going, which his new associates could not appreciate.

We are quite well aware that neither political party rejects recruits. There are no requirements, as in an army, touching age, size, weight, and physical condition, nor any regarding moral character, reputation, etc. To a political party all's fish that comes to its net. And it is interesting to observe what transformations of character are brought about by political changes. Here is Mr. Pinchback, who but a few weeks ago was, in the opinion of the democratic press generally, a very bad and mischievous man, so corrupt and disreputable that he tainted the whole organization with which he acted, and it was a disgrace almost to belong to the same political party with him. The only thing that saved the disgrace, in fact, was the resolute and persistent refusal of the party to give him countenance and support. There was a limit beyond which the present republican Senate would not go, and that was found when Pinchback stood at the door and asked admission. There was no democrat but held Pinchback to be thoroughly corrupt and bad. Since the transference of his allegiance to that party, however, he seems to have suffered a sea change into something rich and strange. In the twinkling of an eye he has become "the Hon. P. B. S. Pinchback" to those who a little while ago knew him as "darky Pinchback." So we presume would any of the Louisiana Returning Board or any of the Packard Legislature become at once gentlemen beyond question by a simple change of politics, even though the change were brought about in so questionable a manner as by purchase and sale.

The republican party has some very ragged edges. There's a fringe on it, loosely caught but always fluttering and always conspicuous, that the better portion of the party have neither affiliation nor sympathy with, and would like to be rid of. These fellows are a continual scandal and disgrace. Democrats constantly point to them as specimen republicans, and make the most of their misdoings by way of party capital. But isn't it a little remarkable that the bad character of these fellows, which is so conspicuous and glaring while they remain on the edge of the republican organization, not only ceases to offend when they go over to their own place, but actually becomes almost sweet and clean by comparison with the overpowering badness of the mass into which it falls? Loose methods and bad leadership, and the recklessness that comes of power long left unrestrained, have wrought great mischief in the republican organization; but the respectability, purity, and honesty of the masses of the party are such that the prominence of corrupt men in it is recognized by the public as if by instinct to be utterly incongruous and absurd. Nor should the readiness, the eagerness, in fact, with which the democrats gather into their own fold the disreputable characters whom they have denounced republicans for having any dealings with, be passed without comment.

We had a very notable instance of this in South Carolina. No part of the machinery of fraud, by which the Ring conducted operations and managed so long to keep control of the State, was more vigorously denounced than the Judiciary, of which Chief-Justice Moses was the head. It was only a few months ago that Gov. Chamberlain was receiving what seemed to be very hearty and sincere commendations from Gen. Wade Hampton and his supporters for the manly and courageous stand he had taken against the Ring, and especially against the election of Moses and Whipper to the bench. But it happened, in the division into factions that followed, that the democrats found an opportunity to gather in the very worst of the members of the Ring, including the Supreme Court—and they did it. And one would suppose, from the respectful and civil manner in which they have been talking for the past three months about the authority and dignity of the South Carolina Supreme Court, that they really believed in it. Not at all. They've only gathered it in.

So the Pinchbacks and Moseses, the Littlefields and Maddoxes, and their like, who have in one way and another brought disgrace to the republican party during the past seven or eight years, drop easily and naturally to their places in the democracy.

No process is needed to assimilate or absorb them. There was a little flutter of hope and expectation among the leaders some little time ago over a report that Mr. Benjamin F. Butler was coming to them in some sort of attorney's guise in the Presidential dispute. We do not remember that a single voice was raised against it, though for sixteen years the first article in the creed of democracy has been that Butler is one of the worst men in politics, and it is an article to which a great many republicans subscribed. There are still many more of the same sort whose departure from the republican party would be hailed with full as much gratification by those they separate themselves from as their accession would be by the eager searchers for recruits to whom they might join themselves. All honest republicans are glad to see that sort of folk packing their carpet-bags to leave, and the democracy getting ready to gather them in. There's nobody but wishes the democrats much joy of their recruits.—N. Y. Tribune.

Republican Nominations.

FOR GOVERNOR,

BENJAMIN F. PRESCOTT,

OF EPPING.

FOR RAILROAD COMMISSIONER,

GRANVILLE P. CONN,

OF CONCORD.

FOR CONGRESSMAN,

GILMAN MARSTON,

OF EXETER.

FOR COUNCILLOR,

JOSHUA B. SMITH, of Durham.

FOR SENATOR,

EMMONS B. PHILBRICK, of Rye.

For County Treasurer,
GEORGE E. LANE, of Exeter.

For Register of Deeds,
GEORGE W. WESTON, of Windham.

For County Commissioner,
NEWTON JOHNSTON, of Portsmouth.

Counting the Votes.

The first vote taken in the electoral commission was taken on Wednesday, on the following, which was proposed by Judge Miller:

"Ordered, That no evidence will be received by the Commission which was not submitted to the Joint Convention of the two houses by the President of the Senate, with the different certificates, except such as relates to the eligibility of F. C. Humphreys, one of the Electors."

The vote was of follows: Yeas, Justices Bradley, Miller and Strong; Senators Edmunds, Frelinghuysen and Morton; Representatives Garfield and Hoar,—eight. Nays, Justices Clifford and Field; Senators Thurman and Bayard; Representatives Abbott, Hunton and Payne,—seven. Mr. Abbott submitted the following:

"Resolved, That in the case of Florida, this Commission will receive the evidence relating to the eligibility of F. C. Humphreys, one of the persons named in certificate No. 1 as Elector."

The resolution was adopted by the following vote: Yeas—Justices Bradley, Clifford and Field; Senators Bayard and Thurman; Represenatives Abbott, Hunton and Payne—eight. Nays—Justices Miller and Strong; Senators Edmunds, Frelinghuysen and Morton; Representatives Garfield and Hoar, seven.

It will be seen that the first resolution was adopted by a party vote, the second one being carried by the vote of the seven democrats and Judge Bradley. The republicans in Washington were greatly elated by the decision, and the democrats correspondingly depressed.

On Thursday, evidence and arguments were heard on the eligibility of Humphreys, a Florida elector, who was one of the witnesses.

The National Captives.

Salary-grab Randall and Thompson of Ohio, the first-named Speaker of the House and the latter Sergeant-at-Arms, don't mean to let any republican who may show "contempt" for the democratic party go unpunished, for lack of any stretch of authority on their part. The outrageous manner in which the white members of the Louisiana Returning Board have been treated is shown in the following.

"James Wilson, of Louisiana, has been acting the part of a missionary of prison reform. Seeing in the newspapers the reports that the Returning Board, held in confinement by the House, were ill-treated, he went to see them, but was refused admittance. He then went back to Speaker Randall, who referred him to the Sergeant-at-Arms, who sent a deputy down with Mr. Wilson with an order to admit him, but the order was repudiated by the jailor, who claimed that he was instructed to admit no one. Wilson went back to Randall and reported the matter, saying he should introduce a resolution in the House unless he was admitted. Randall sent for the Sergeant-at-Arms, and after consultation, it was decided that they had better let Wilson into the prison. He then went down again with the Sergeant-at-Arms and had an interview with the prisoners. Kenner and Cassanove, the two colored men, are confined in the room of the Committee on Territories and have very pleasant quarters, but Wells and Anderson are in the dungeon. Wilson says it is not a fit place for beasts to live in. The walls are damp and slimy and the water drops from the ceiling. Going back to Randall, Wilson said the men must have better quarters or he would call the attention of the House to it. Randall and the Sergeant-at-Arms, after a consultation, promised that a change should be made. None but democratic newspaper men and democratic emissaries from Louisiana are admitted to see Wells and Anderson."

On Thursday, Mr. Hale of Maine presented to the House a communication from Messrs. Wells and Anderson, stating that the dungeon or cell where they are confined is unhealthful, the air poisonous, without sunlight or outside air, and that the lungs of one of them (Wells) are already seriously affected and he is now sick. There is a gas leak. The Speaker interfered on Wednesday and put them in a better room, but the Sergeant-at-Arms (Thompson, of Ohio, who seems to have been "running" the House for some time past,) moved them back to the damp dungeon. The letter was very respectful in terms. They protested that they were not convicts, but officers of a State, and longer confinement might be dangerous to life. No man is permitted to speak to them without the presence of the Sergeant-at-Arms. Mr. Hale offered a resolution providing that the Sergeant-at-Arms remove them to a suitable, safe, properly lighted and ventilated room.

A sharp debate ensued, and Sergeant-at-Arms Thompson was severely censured for his inhuman conduct in confining the prisoners in such a hole as he has, where no sunlight enters. The democrats voted down the resolution to remove the prisoners to better quarters, but what they hope to gain for their party by such brutal scoundrelism is not clear. Such cowardly inhumanity will not tend to raise "reform democracy" in public estimation.

News and Notes.

Rear-Admiral Wilkes, U. S. N., died in Washington on Thursday, aged about 76 years.

Secretary Morrill has been dangerously ill with typhoid pneumonia, but is better, and his friends no longer fear a fatal result.

In Stanley township, Mo., a few days since, Frank J. Astor was taken from home, without his clothes, by a party of men, and hung to the limb of a tree for some unknown crime.

B. S. Hickok, postmaster at Southbury, Conn., a man heretofore much respected, confesses that he has been robbing the mails.

Queen Victoria opened Parliament on Thursday.

Prince Gortschacoff has resigned, and Count Adlerberry has been appointed Prime Minister of Russia.

The big river steamer Bostona was sunk at Sciotoville, Ohio, Thursday, by a towboat. No lives were lost.

Midhat Pacha, the recently deposed Turkish minister, is dead. Committed suicide with scissors, probably.

Chaplain H. H. Clark has been detached from the Charlestown station and ordered to the United States ship Trenton, now fitting out at Brooklyn.

The crew of schooner Alfred Brabrook mutinied in New York harbor, Wednesday morning, and three of them were locked up by the police. They claimed to have been worked beyond endurance.

British ship Aminta, at New York from Calcutta, was boarded by a sea during a cyclone in the Indian Ocean, and had five men swept overboard and drowned.

The locomotive engineers of the Boston & Maine Railroad are threatening a strike in consequence of the refusal of the management to advance their wages from $3.40 to $3.50 per day. The engineers also demand that each 100 miles run be considered a day's work, with three and a half cents per mile for all excess over 100 miles. Until the cut down a year ago, the engineers received $3.75 per day. The officials of the road are negotiating for engineers not connected with the Brotherhood. The longest run made by any engineer now is 130 miles in a day, or from Exeter to Portland and return. John McArthur of Cleveland, O., is in Boston advising in reference to the proposed strike.

There is one man in Brooklyn who the salary of the President of the United States cannot tempt from his local duties, and that is Sheriff Daggett, whose income is $80,000 per year. Hereafter Brooklyn boys who are good will be told that they may become Sheriff, not President.—N. Y. Herald.

Bushnell Forrest, the second son of the ex-Confederate General Forrest, was one of the most poorly clad and impoverished of a party of snow shovellers who marched up to the New York Central Railroad station at Syracuse last week to draw his pay for work. It is much to the young man's credit that he is willing to work, however humble the occupation may be, rather than starve, beg or steal. Bushnell Forrest shovelling snow off a railroad track is respectable; trying to "bum" a living off others on the strength of having once been in better circumstances he would be despicable.

Miss Linney of Sacramento, Cal., was loved by a Mr. Roberts, but refused to marry him until he could support her in opulence. He went to San Francisco, embarked in mining speculations, and recently returned to her with the information that he was worth $100,000. She expressed herself satisfied and appointed a day for the wedding, when he coolly said that he had changed his mind and a breach of promise suit has been commenced.

Maine's fleet of vessels was sadly thinned out in January, the following having been wrecked: Barque Everett Gray; brigs D. R. Stockwell, Rebecca J. Page and Nellie Antirim; schooners Walter Irving, Massachusetts, T. R. Hughlett, R. Macomber, James Garcelon, Starlight, Island Belle, Laura, John Aviles, James A. Crocker Albert Treat, James K. Lawrence and Lottie Ames—one barque, three brigs and thirteen schooners.

Charles Wood was on Wednesday convicted of murder in the second degree, at Pittsfield, Mass., for the murder of Mrs. Hazard at Otis. He was sentenced to State prison for life. The case was one of cowardly, unprovoked and brutal murder of a helpless old lady, by a worthless scoundrel.

The British steamer Ethel, bound from Bilboa for Newport, Wales, went ashore on the 7th on Lunday Island, and became a total wreck. Nineteen persons were drowned.

An explosion took place on the 7th in the Faso Colliery, near Bolton, England, and ten men were killed.

When the bill prohibiting pool-selling, lotteries, and other games or devices of chance was before the House of Representatives on Tuesday, a motion was made to amend it so as to allow churches to indulge in grab-bags, ring-cakes, and other "benevolent devices" at their fairs. Mr. Pillsbury, of Lewiston, very properly objected to such exception, and said the churches asked for no such privileges. He wanted gambling of all kinds, however sugar-coated, cut up by the roots. The churches will say "amen." The proposition to amend was defeated, and the bill passed. Benevolent managers of fairs may hereafter dispense with grab-bags, ring-cakes, fish-ponds and such little devices that feed the desire to try one's fortune in a lottery.—Lewiston (Me.) Journal.

Political.

The Reform democracy of Hamilton county, Ohio, have passed a vote of censure upon Sheriff Wallace, not because this unhappy democratic official secured his election by fraud, or because he has been indicted for conniving at the escape of important witnesses of that fraud, but because he has appointed "partisan republicans to office."

Now that the vote of Colorado has been counted for President, the democrats of the House begin to see that it is a State, and on the 6th ended their farce of pretending that it was not by voting to pay Representative Belford his salary from the time he was elected.

The examination of Major F. C. Humphries, the Hayes elector in Florida whom the democrats asserted to be ineligible on account of his being a United States Shipping Commissioner, took place before the House committee on Wednesday. Major Humphries produced official letters showing that he resigned his position in September, previous to the election, and that his resignation was accepted, and his successor acting more than a month before the election.

The democratic papers are grieved over the "partisanship" displayed by the republican members of the three-cornered counting commission, in the Florida case. As the democratic members of the commission twice voted solidly in favor of their party views, and the republicans only once, it seems possible that there may have been some partisanship among the democrats too.

Ex-Gov. J. Madison Wells, as a witness, not only eludes the grasp of investigation with a slippery and eel-like readiness, but in his delivery of sudden galvanic blows when captured he more specifically resembles the gymnotus electricus. His evasive wriggling and doubling through the mud of Mr. Field's cross-examination is constantly a matter of fresh and picturesque interest; but the shocks which stagger Mr. Field whenever he gets hold of his man with both hands are, after all, the most exhilarating features of this great moral exhibition. Tribune.

The Graphic says that the Oregon slush-money has been traced as near to Tilden as the Marsh money was traced to Belknap, and as near as the Credit Mobilier money was traced to Brooks and Colfax. Belknap ought to be set up as a reformer.

A Wonder-Working Remedy.

No remedial agent has ever been offered to the sick and debilitated at all comparable to Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, in cases of remittent and intermittent fevers, constipation, nervous ailments, rheumatism and disorders involving constitutional weakness or physical decay. It literally "works wonders." The botanic ingredients which its spirituous basis holds in solution, act like a charm upon the brain, liver, bowels and nervous system. There is nothing in its composition that is not salubrious. It contains some of the most potent tonics of the vegetable kingdom and the juices of the best aperient and anti-bilious roots and herbs, combined with a perfectly pure stimulating element. The Bitters are peculiarly adapted to those engaged in exhausting or unhealthy occupations, as by its use strength is sustained and the ability of the system to resist atmospheric and other influences prejudicial to health largely increased.

The Colonnade Hotel.

Patrons of a first-class hotel justly consider themselves entitled to comfortable room, a bountiful bill of fare, and courteous treatment in the office. All these, combined with a notable degree of elegance throughout, are to be found at the Colonnade Hotel, Philadelphia, Pa.

The Grand Central Hotel, New York, although the largest and finest hotel in the city, will be an exception, hereafter, to the general complaint of high prices. It has reduced from $4.00 to $2.50 and $3.00 per day.

Why throw away so much money trying worthless medicines, when for 35 cents a remedy can be procured that will cure coughs, colds, sore lungs and croup? Give it a trial. Adamson's Balsam will do it.

Important to persons visiting New York or the Centennial. The Grand Union Hotel, New York, opposite the Grand Central Depot, has over 250 elegantly furnished rooms. Elevator, steam and all improvements. European plan. Carriage hire is saved, as baggage is taken to and from the depot free. Guests can live better for less money at the Grand Union than at any other first-class hotel. Stages and cars pass the Hotel constantly to all parts of the city, and to the Philadelphia depot.

JOTTINGS.

Lieut. Robert E. Rich, who recently sustained a compound comminuted fracture of his leg by a fall on the ice, is out again, apparently all right, or at least as right as he was before. The injured limb was skillfully treated by Dr. E. A. Tilton, on the Spauldingsglueteckhammerhemptwine system, with the gratifying result above noted.

Dr. George H. Everett, of New York, is to give a series of lectures on hygieine at Franklin Hall, commencing this (Friday) evening, when his subject will be "Muscular Christianity, or the True Temperance Reform," admission being free (for this lecture) and the front seats reserved for ladies and their escorts. Dr. Everett is warmly commended by the press, the Des Moines Register speaking of him as "a graceful, earnest speaker," and "in his profession a gentleman of high culture and stern professional training;" the Trenton Gazette says he "tells few anecdotes and no worn-out stories" and is "a sensible and gifted man;" the Cincinnati Gazette calls him "an earnest speaker, and a popular lecturer possessing talent of a high order." Dr. Everett, jointly with Dr. Susan Everett, M. D., is author of a work called "Health Fragments," a book which, while not aiming to run physicians and surgeons off the track, gives in a popular form a great deal of information regarding the human anatomy, hints on dress, exercise, food, etc., which cannot fail to be of great value to the non-professional reader. His lectures will be illustrated by manikins, charts and paintings.

Work in the bureau of construction at the navy yard was resumed on Thursday, and the prospect is that the Enterprise will be fitted for sea without much more delay.

The appropriations for the fortifications on Jerry's Point and Gerrish's Island have been stricken out of the appropriation bill.

Schooner George L. Treadwell, of this port, before reported ashore on Chincoteague Shoals, is now reported to be a total loss, with her cargo of corn. Her sails, rigging, anchors and chains were saved.

The St. John (N. B.) Globe says: "Mrs. Kent Mason-Clayton's preaching in St. James Church, Montreal, has caused some sensation in that city." The lady referred to preached in this city some months ago, and preached well, too, we are informed. But we neglected to give her preaching a "puff" after she had left the city, and were reminded of our neglect in a rather pompous letter from her husband, in which he demanded to know the reason his wife's preaching had not been noticed. We apologized at the time by printing his letter under the heading of "Cheek," but when we commence to do a commendable act we like to keep it up, so we hereby apologize some more.

Mad dogs are all the rage just now, if it is winter. This cannot be blamed to the "Centennial year," because that is past, thank goodness! Possibly it is a trick of Sam. Tilden's—he is "up" to almost everything in the shape of a dodge. Suncook had a mad dog a week ago, and Manchester had one on Saturday, and both bit numerous other dogs before being killed. Portsmouth has had no mad dogs yet, but there are plenty of them to run mad if they take the notion. The papers all over the Union, during the past month, have contained more accounts of rabid dogs and human deaths from hydrophobia than ever before in the same time.

Owing to the hard times the Concord Railroad, on the 6th, made a reduction in the number of its employes in Manchester, discharging five firemen and two cleaners and changing the employment of three engineers to that of firemen. Three other engineers were put back to shifting, that is in charge of the engines that are used about the yards and depots. The pay of the engineers who have been put on shifting engines will be $1.50 per day instead of $2.75, and that of the firemen who have been put back to cleaning will be $1.25 in place of $1.60. Substantially the same changes have been made at Concord.

Robins have come. One was seen in this city on Wednesday, and another (or the same one) in Keene on Thursday. The little red-breasted ninnies had better go South again.

The National Tube Works of Boston.

It is fortunate for the National Tube Works, remarks a contemporary, that their financial condition is strong, for such an attack as has lately been made on them, which does not appear to be borne out by facts, would ruin a company of moderate strength. The animus of the matter is shown by the fact that while it was published as a special to Boston, it was also published the same day in the papers of Pittsburg and other Western cities, although not in so gross a form. The facts in the case are learned to be as follows: First, no notice has been given to the company of any claim or suit by the Government, the first knowledge of it either being obtained from the article in the Boston Journal of the 31st ult. Second, the whole amount of the drawback claimed or received from the Government for six years is only $18,000, instead of $150,000 as reported, and for the last three years only $5000. For the last two years no drawback has been claimed on any goods exported. Third, in the years 1870 to 1873, the company imported English iron, on which they paid the Government over $200,000 gold as duties, and had on hand all the time plenty of English iron, and could have gained nothing by using American iron and pretending it was English. There was no motive for fraud. In 1870 the company thought a trade might be opened with Canada, and that market taken from English manufacturers, and as iron was then low in England, they gave some small orders, which they increased to a very large quantity, just as the market in England began to advance. From these importations the pipe was made upon which drawback was claimed. They have also exported pipe made of American iron, and sometimes in the same shipments with that made from English, but as their entries will show, they have always been kept separate, and drawback claimed only on the English iron. Nearly all the information the Government claims to have has been obtained from the books of the company, which were voluntarily offered to the Treasury agents a year ago, and the subject was then thoroughly investigated and dropped. The first news the company had of anything further was from the article that appeared in the Boston Journal. We are informed that the discharged clerk, with whom the charge originated, called at the company's office within a month, offering to get the matter settled if he could have some money, which offer was of course promptly declined.

Mrs. Polly Calley died at the residence of her daughter, Mrs. Wooster Call, in Franklin, Jan. 31, at the advanced age of 94 years. She was a native of that part of Hampton which is now Kensington. She married Elder Benjamin Calley of Sanbornton, with whom she lived until his death, about 25 years ago. They had two sons and one daughter, all of whom are now living. She lived to see the fifth generation, having one great great grand child.

"I want you to vote for me. I have not a drop of democratic blood in my body. I am just as good a republican as I ever was." These are the words of Henry O. Kent to at least two republicans in the town of Lancaster. Verily, the democrats are hard up for candidate timber.—Colebrook News.

The paper mills at Bennington are greatly troubled by the want of water.

The report that Mr. John L. True, the station agent at West Epping, had both his legs cut off by a passing train is untrue.

This forenoon a man called at a house in ward one and offered some silk—which was put up in boxes and carried in various pockets in his clothing—for sale. The lady hesitated, whereupon the man said he was troubled with a sore throat and should prefer to step into the house out of the cold air. He was admitted. He told a pitiful story, and the lady, more in sympathy than because she wanted his wares, purchased a box of the silk for one dollar. She handed him a five dollar bill out of which to take his pay. He put it in his pocket and without tendering the change started to leave the house. The lady demanded her change, whereupon he threw four boxes of silk upon the table with the remark "There it is!" and left the house. She reported the transaction to the police station and one of the officers went in search of the rascal. At last accounts he had not been captured. He is a fraud. Look out for him. Don't be sold by him.—Nashua Telegraph, 7th.

The "independent" Springfield Republican denounces the contemptible trickery of David Dudley Field in his management of what used to be Proctor Knott's congressional committee. As that "independent" paper has for years been able to see no evil in anything done by a democrat and no good in anything done by a republican, this denunciation of Mr. Tilden's Attorney-at-Congress at first sight seems remarkable; but it is easily explained when it is remembered that Field, as the trusted counsel of that wholesale thief and corruptor of justice, Jim Fisk, once had Sam. Bowles imprisoned in the Tombs on a charge of "libelling" the pure and virtuous Fisk! Hence these tears.

Pickett and Hewitt—the two names go well together. And the ideas the two men entertained of morals are sweetly consonant. Pickett testifies thus: "I was to negotiate, if possible, money enough to pay Governor Wells and his fellow members of the Returning Board to do what I considered right and proper. Mr. Hewitt, with whom I endeavored to make the negotiation, I am happy to say, informed me that had our positions been reversed, if he had been in my place and I in his, he would have done precisely what I did."

COUGH & LUNG SYRUP.

—o—

A Safe and Sure Remedy.

—o—

The Cough and Lung Syrup

Is the remedy that during the past fifteen years has won for DR. FLAGG an extended reputation as a SPECIALIST for THROAT and LUNG Diseases. After so many years trial it can be truthfully said that it has NEVER FAILED, even in the WORST CASES. It is purely Vegetable, and its effect upon the system is at once Soothing and Tonic.

It Will Cure a Common Cold

In a few hours, not by drying it up, but by removing it from the system. TRY IT.

It will CURE a Cough or Cough. by soothing the irritated parts, and strengthening the system.

IT WILL CURE CONSUMPTION,

Even after all other remedies have failed. In the earlier stages of this disease it will effect a speedy and certain cure; and in many cases of advanced Consumption its effect has seemed almost miraculous, restoring to full strength and perfect health those whom physicians had given up as incurable. TRY IT.

IT WILL CURE CATARRH

More effectual by than any other remedy, by simply removing the cause. TRY IT.

It will Cure Bronchitis, by allaying all irritation of the Throat. TRY IT.

It will Cure Asthma, affording immediate relief and a perfect cure. TRY IT.

It Will Cure Ulcerated Sore Throat.

TRY IT.

IT WILL CURE Loss of Voice, Night Sweats, Hectic Fever, AND ALL Symptoms of Consumption. TRY IT.

For every affection of the Throat and Lungs it only needs a trial to convince the most skeptical of its wonderful curative properties.

Remember that it

CURES COLDS,
CURES COUGHS,
CURES CATARRH,
CURES CONSUMPTION.

DR. WM. M. LADD, a leading Druggist of Claremont, certifies as follows:

For many years I have known Dr. A. J. Flagg as a successful practicing physician, and can assure the public that his representations relative to the Cough and Lung Syrup can be strictly relied upon. It has been used in his extended practice with marvellous success, and I know it to be all that he claims for it.

SURE CURES AND LOW PRICES.

Dr. YOUNG,

SUCCESSOR TO

Dr. TELLER,

DECEASED.

The above named private Hospital was established in Albany in 1835 by Dr. Lispenard and for a number of years its affairs were presided over by that gentleman, but for the past 20 years, Dr. Teller, who is now deceased, transacted the business of the Institution.

Owing to the great demand for more spacious apartments on account of the large increase of business, the Hospital has been removed to No. 9 Beaver Street, two doors above its old location, where patients will find magnificently furnished rooms for their reception, and are so arranged that patients do not come in contact with one another, owing only the doctor, thereby avoiding the unpleasantness of meeting others, which always occurred at the old office.

LADIES will find rooms provided for their especial accommodation and entirely private.

YOUNG MEN, addicted to secret habits, who have impaired their health and destroyed the vigor of their minds, thus depriving themselves of the pleasures of married life and also those afflicted with private diseases of any nature, are advised that in consulting Dr. Young they will find a physician fully qualified to cure and restore them to full health and manly vigor.

Dr. Teller's great work for the married, or those contemplating marriage—100 pages—full of plates,—price 50 cents. Sent to all parts, under seal, by mail post paid.

TO THE LADIES—DR. YOUNG still retains the only agency in America for the sale of Dr. Vichol's Italian Female Monthly Pills. Sent by mail on receipt of $1.00, price per box.

DR. YOUNG is the only agent for Dr. La Mott's celebrated Galvanic Belts.

Invalids out of the city can be cured by consulting the Doctor by letter, and enclosing remittance. Medicines sent by mail or express, securely packed from observation. All letters must be addressed to

Centaur Liniments.

The lame can be healed and the wounded made whole. We now know just what the Centaur Liniment will do. They will not mend broken bones or cure Cancer, but they will extract soreness, allay pain, cure Rheumatism and a larger range of flesh, bone and muscle ailments than any article ever before discovered.

Scientific skill cannot go beyond the effects of these remarkable preparations. Chronic Rheumatism of many years' standing, Neuralgia, Weak-Back, Fever Sores, Weeping-Sinews, Sciatica, Caked Breasts, Distorted Joints and Sprained Limbs of the worst kind are cured by the White Centaur Liniment.

It will destroy the pain and heal without a scar, all ordinary Burns and Scalds. It will extract the poison of Bites and Stings, and the frost from Frozen Limbs. It is very efficacious for Ear-ache, Toothache, Itch and Cutaneous Eruptions.

Mr. Josiah Westake, of Marysville, O., writes:

"For years my Rheumatism has been so bad that I have been unable to stir from the house. The first three bottles of Centaur Liniment enabled me to walk without my crutches. I am mending rapidly. I think your Liniment simply a marvel.

C. H. Bennett, Druggist, Rock Prairie, Mo., says:

"Centaur Liniment sells better and gives the best satisfaction of anything in the market."

What the Centaur Liniment has done for others it will do for you. It is handy, it is reliable, and it is cheap.

The Yellow Centaur Liniment

is worth its weight in gold to owners of horses and mules.

This Liniment has cured more Sprained, Sweeneied, Ring-boned and Galled Horses in three years than have all the Farriers in the country in an age. Its effects are simply wonderful.

We have thousands upon thousands of certificates as strong as the following:

"My horse was lame for a year with a fetlock wrench. All remedies utterly failed to cure and I considered him worthless until I commenced to use Centaur Liniment, which rapidly cured him. I heartily recommend it.

REV. GEO. W. FERRIS,

Castoria.

It is a mistake to suppose that Castoria is not adapted to grown persons as well as Children. They only need to increase the quantity. But children have so many complaints for which Castoria is adapted—like Wind Colic, Sour Stomach, Worms, Tetter, Teething and Croup, that it is especially recommended for them.

Its effects are more certain than Castor Oil. It contains no alcohol and is as pleasant to take as honey. It never gripes. By regulating the stomach and bowels the Castoria cools the blood, expels worms and prevents feverishness, quiets the nerves and produces health—then of course children can sleep in quiet and mothers can rest.

Castoria is recommended by all physicians and nurses who have tried it, and it is having a rapidly increasing sale. It is prepared with great care after the recipe of Dr. Samuel Pitcher, of Mass., at the Laboratory of J. B. Rose & Co., 46 Dey St., N. Y.

Daily Chronicle.

The National Grog Shop.

Both the House and the Senate restaurants are nothing more than bar-rooms, where liquor is sold to anyone who calls for it. Before the war it was the custom to sell liquor at the Capitol, but in 1863 a very stringent law was passed prohibiting it, and the members who wanted their drinks used to keep private supplies in the committee rooms; then fancy wines were introduced into the restaurants, and the lobbyists used to expend considerable champagne in bringing refractory members to order. Up till recently champagne has always been served in pitchers and cups, and the bottle was carefully kept out of the way; but now it is not an uncommon sight to see three or four bottles of wines on different tables at the same time. When the present caterer went into the House restaurant he sold whiskey in teacups, and would be very particular to whom he sold it; but the present session all such formality has been done away with, and when a person wants a drink all he has to do is to go to the counter and call for it as he would in a bar-room. Cocktails and other fancy drinks are mixed to order. In the Senate restaurant a little more respect is paid to the appearance of things; but still liquor is sold there, and it should be stopped. There is a law expressly prohibiting it; neither of the caterers has a license to sell liquor, and even if there were no other reasons, it is not proper that the Capitol of the United States should be turned into a grogshop.—Washington Letter.

"THE BOYS OF MY BOYHOOD,"

By William Cullen Bryant;

"The Horse Hotel," a lively article, by Charles A. Barnard; "A splendidly illustrated, "The Moon in the Sky," by Richard A. Proctor; "A Christmas Play for Homes or Sunday-schools," by Dr. Eggleston; "The Peterkins' Christmas Tree," by Lucretia P. Hale; "Poetry and Carols of Winter," by Lucy Larcom, with pictures.

Do Not Fail to Buy St. Nicholas for the Christmas Holidays. Price 25 cents.

During the year there will be interesting papers for boys, by William Cullen Bryant, John G. Whittier, Thomas Hughes, William Howitt, Dr. Holland, George MacDonald, Sanford B. Ireland, Frank R. Stockton, and others.

There will be stories, sketches, and poems, of special interest to girls, by Harriet Prescott Spofford, Susan Coolidge, Sarah Winter Kellogg, Elizabeth Stuart Phelps, Louisa Alcott, Lucretia P. Hale, Celia Thaxter, Mary Mapes Dodge, and many others. There will be also

"TWELVE SKY PICTURES,"

By Prof. Proctor, the Astroomer,

with maps, showing "The Stars of Each Month," which will be likely to surpass in interest any series on popular science recently given to the public.

An abundance of Instructive, with Free and Profitable, and Wit and Wisdom, will be mingled as heretofore, and ST. NICHOLAS will continue to delight the young and give pleasure to the old.

The London Literary World says: "There is no magazine for the young that can be said to equ l it in choice production of SCRIBNER'S press. All the articles, whether in prose or rhyme, are throbbing with vitality. * * * The literature and artistic illustrations are both superb."

The London Daily News says: "We wish we could point out its equal in our own periodical literature."

GOOD NEWS FOR BOYS AND GIRLS;

To meet the demand for a cheaper St. NICHOLAS Gift-Book, the price of vols. I and II has been reduced to $3 each. The three volumes, in an elegant library case, are sold for $10 (in full gilt, $15), so that all may give their children a complete set. These volumes contain more attractive material than fifty dollars' worth of the ordinary children's books.

Subscription price, $4 a year. The three bound volumes and a subscription for this year, only $12. Subscribe with the nearest newsdealer, or send money in check, or P. O. money order, or in registered letter, to

SCRIBNER & CO., 743 Broadway, N. Y.

SCRIBNER'S MONTHLY.

An Unrivaled Illustrated Magazine.

The prospectus for the new volume gives the titles of more than fifty papers (mostly illustrated), by writers of the highest merit. Under the head of

"FOREIGN TRAVEL,"

we have "A Month on the Nile," by Gen. McClellan; "Sauntterings About Constantinople," by Charles Dudley Warner; "Days of My Youth at Moscow," by Eugene Schuyler; "An American in Turkistan," etc. Three serial stories are announced:

by Dr. Holland, the Editor, whose story of "Seven-Oaks" gave the highest satisfaction to the readers of the Monthly.

The scene of this latest novel is laid on the banks of the Hudson. The hero is a young man who has been always "tied to a woman's apron strings," but who, by the death of his mother, is left alone in the world,—to drift on the current of life,—with a fortune, but without a purpose.

Another serial, "His Inheritance," by Miss Tratton, will begin on the completion of "That Lass o' Lowrie's," by Mrs. Hodgson Burnett. Mrs. Burnett's story, begun in August, has a pathos and dramatic power which have been a surprise to the public.

There is to be a series of original illustrated papers of "Popular Science," by Mrs. Herrick, each paper complete in itself.

There are to be, from various pens, papers on too, practical suggestions as to town and country fit, village improvements, etc., by well-known specialists.

Mr. Barnard's articles on various industries of real Britain include the history of "Some Experiments in Co-operation," "A Scottish Leaf Factory," in the November number, and "Tuel Lane, Rochdale," in December. Other papers are, "The British Workingman's Home," "A Nation of Shopkeepers," "Sixpenny a Week for the Child," etc.

A richly illustrated series will be given on "American Sports by Flood and Field," by various writers, and also on a different theme. The subject of will have a prominent place, whilst the lighter productions of American humorists will appear from month to month. The list of shorter stories, biographical and other sketches, etc., is a long one.

The editorial department will continue to employ the ablest pens both at home and abroad. There will be a series of letters on literary matters, from London, by Mr. Welford.

We mean to make the magazine sweeter and purer, higher and nobler, more genial and generous in all its utterances and influences, and a more welcome visitor than ever before in homes of refinement and culture.

FIFTEEN MONTHS FOR $4.00.

SCRIBNER for December, now ready, contains the opening chapters of "Nicholas Minturn." The three numbers of SCRIBNER for August, September, and October, containing the opening chapters of "That Lass o' Lowrie's," will be given in every new subscriber (who requests it), and whose subscription begins with the present volume, i.e., with the November number.

Subscription price, $4 a year—35 cents a number. Special terms to bound volumes. Subscribe with the nearest bookseller, or send a check or P. O. money order to

DR. QUAIN'S MAGIC CONDITION PILLS!

The Wonderful Remedy for Liver Complaint, Biliousness, Dyspepsia, Constipation, Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Headache, Kidney Complaint, Nervousness, Scrofula, Piles, and all diseases arising from a bad state of the Blood!

No medicine ever offered to the public has given such universal satisfaction as Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. Their praises are on every tongue where their merits are known. They strike at once at the seat of disease and show their healing power almost immediately. Thousands of voluntary testimonials of their merits have been received by the agent, from those who have been cured by them, of which the following are samples:

Dyspepsia Four Years, Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels Three Years, Confined to my Room Two Years, Pain so I Could Not Sleep Without Morphine. One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills Made Me Eat Well, Sleep Well and Free from Pain, after being given up by Physicians.

WEST LEBANON, ME., Feb. 21, 1

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I have been sick for four years with Dyspepsia, and for the past three years Constipation and inflammation of the Bowels. I have suffered all the pain I could endure and live. I have been confined to my room for two years, and could not sleep nights without the use of morphine. I have been given up by physicians as past cure. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, and they have done me more good than all the doctors I have had. I sleep well, I eat well and have no pain. They are all they are recommended to be. Please send me three packages, as two of my neighbors wish to try them. I enclose $1.50.

Your truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Another Letter from Maj. John W. Lord, one month later Wonderful Cures by Dr. Quain's Pills Effected on Him in Thirteen Days. First time Free from Pain for Three Years.

WEST LEBANON, ME., March 22, 1875

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I commenced taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS February 9th, and wrote you February 23d of their wonderful effect. I am continued to improve ever since. My appetite is good, and I sleep as well as I ever did in my life. I am free from pain for the first time in three years. When I was taken sick four years ago, I weighed one hundred and eighty-six pounds; I now weigh one hundred and thirty, but, as I am gaining in strength, I have faith I shall regain my flesh this summer, by the use of the Pills. I shall continue taking them for some time to come.

Yours truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Dr. Quain's Pills the Remedy for Soldiers' Aches and Pains.

WEST LEBANON, ME., June 1, 1875.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I am now able to walk out every day, and am gaining in strength very fast, all of which is due to you as agent for the best Pills in the world. I have taken no other medicine, and my improvement has been steady since first taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done everything for me, and I will say to you, advertise them direct to the soldiers, for they will certainly cure them of aches and pains caused from exposure and hardship on the field. Please send me by return mail another package.

JOHN W. LORD.

Rheumatism for Twenty Years Cured by One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills—"The Best Medicine in the World."

EAST ANDOVER, N. H., Dec. 10, 1875.

MR. LANE—Dear Sir:—As I know the value of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS and the good they have done me, I take pleasure in giving them praise; so I send you another testimonial. My father has been troubled with rheumatism for twenty years and more, and has tried everything that could be thought of, but to no good. At times it would be so bad that he could not lift his hand to the head or do any work at all, especially in cold weather. A short time ago Indrisel him to get some of these Pills. He believed nothing in them, but I gave him the last package I had of you, as I did not need them, and he has not been as free from the Rheumatic Complaint for years. No Rheumatism, no pain. What helped him? It was DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, the best medicine in the world. There is nothing like them. I know it, for I have tried them, and they are all, yes, more than they are recommended to be. Give them a fair trial and you will say so. I write this because I know the goodness of them and wish others to know the same. Some may think I am telling a big story I am. But remember I am not giving them half the praise they ought to have.

Yours with respect, ED. F. PEVARE.

DAINGERFIELD, MORRIS CO., TEXAS, Nov. 15, '75.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I have been afflicted for near twelve years with Neuralgia in the face and head. I have tried now nearly all the many physicians, and could only get partly relieved. I also tried many patent medicines with the same result. I have been confined to my room most all the time for eight or ten winters, and have been trawling and visiting medical springs, and had suffered most intensely. The physicians pronounced my case the worst and most stubborn that they had had anything to do with. One bottle of your medicine gave me relief, and I have not been troubled since. I feel that I owe my life to the wonderful virtues of your Pills. I shall ever be grateful to you for a package. I have taken four doses and I am almost free from pain. The improvement seems to be that if your pills will cure me, they will cure anybody. I have five applications to send for the pills. Enclosed please find three dollars; send five packages to me and one to Mrs. Laura Sherrell Sulphur Springs, Hopkins county, Texas.

Yours truly, J. S. PATTON.

Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache.

LACONIA, N. H., Jan. 29, 1875.

THOS. W. LANE—Sir:—I have been troubled with Bad Blood, Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done me more good than all the medicine I ever took; I have taken considerable medicine within the last five years. For the nerves I think there is nothing so good as those pills. I can recommend them to all who are similarly afflicted, they have done me so much good. I think they will recommend themselves wherever they go. I shall recommend those Pills to all who need them. Please send me two packages more, one for myself and one for a very dear friend of mine. Many thanks to the inventor, agent and advertiser of those Pills.

MRS. P. L. ELLIOTT.

PULMOCINE.

BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL!

is no new discovery. Twenty-three years ago it was used by one of New England's most famous physicians as the best Pulmonary Curative he could prescribe, after dozen years spent in experimenting with it before e was satisfied that the Materia Medica could add nothing in its favor.

Among its many ingredients are Wild Cherry Bark, Squill Root, Liquorice Root, Blood root, &c. It is a Blood Purifier, gently stimulating. It increases expectoration and is diuretic. It is sudorific and alterative. It is a necessary family medicine. It is a Tonic and a powerful aid to the digestive organs. It is a gentle sedative, and relieves nervousness. It is aromatic and agreeable to the taste.

CLEAR YOUR THROAT!

Relieve Your Lungs.

For the terrible diseases engendered by the lung trying climate of New England

PULMOCINE CORDIAL

Is a speedy and reliable Preventive and Remedy. Every Family should have a bottle at hand to check the sudden growth of all Pulmonary Diseases. For the Asthma, Coughs, Croups, Laryngitis, or Inflammation of the larynx, Diphtheria, and all kindred Throat Diseases at all times prevalent, it is the ounce of Prevention. Children attacked with Whooping Cough or Croup should be immediately cared for. These painful attacks come with scarcely a moment's warning, when a physician may be out of immediate reach. A dose of PULMOCINE CORDIAL gives speedy relief, and the little ones are spared hours of pain and agony. As "a stitch in time saves nine," so does the possession of this Family Medicine prevent the spread of disease. Parents seeing their children gasping with pain, friends and relatives beholding each other in peril from suffocation by the choking pain in the throat, paralyzed with fear and not knowing the best course to pursue, are liable to apply the wrong remedial agents. There is no safety in delay, no time to waste in such cases. CONSUMPTION, that fearful scourge of the human race, lies at the door of all thus afflicted. BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL arrests it (unless in its advanced stage at which time there is no local cure) relieves the pressing, suffocating feeling at the lungs, and the patient's danger is past.

For Coughs,

Croup,

Diphtheria,

Asthma, etc.,

— USE —!

Buchman's Pulmocine Cordail.

The Pulmocine Cordial is not a quack medicine, is not an experiment, is not composed of any ingredients "discovered" by "walking in pastures" in South America or anywhere else, nor by one who discovered a weed and thereby cured himself. Most of the ingredients are such as our best educated physicians daily use for the complaints specified in some form or other. The recipe is that perfected by one of New England's most learned and famous physicians, who used it entirely in his daily practice until his death. It is offered to the profession and to the public, absolutely pure and unadulterated.

ECLECTIC MAGAZINE

OF

FOREIGN LITERATURE.

THIRTY-THIRD YEAR.

THE ECLECTIC reprints from the foreign Quarterlies, Reviews, Magazines, and Journals, their choicest contents, including Essays, scientific Papers, Biographical Sketches, Reminiscences of Travel and Adventure, Tales, Stories, and Poems. The field of selection is very large, and it is believed that the ECLECTIC presents a greater variety and higher standard of literature than any periodical can hope to do that depends exclusively upon home talent.

A knowledge of the current literature of other countries is indispensable to all who would keep pace with the progress of the human mind; and the ECLECTIC offers the best, and, indeed, the only opportunity for obtaining this knowledge within a reasonable compass, and at a moderate price.

Among the writers represented in recent numbers of the ECLECTIC are: The Rt. Hon. W. E. Gladstone, James Anthony Froude, Matthew Arnold, Charles Kingsley, Robert Buchanan, Geo. McDonald, John Ruskin, Alfred Tennyson, Thomas Hughes, William Black, Mrs. Oliphant, Thos. Hardy, William Morris, Miss Thackeray, Mrs. Alexander, Profs. Huxley and Tyndall, Richard Proctor, B. A., Prof. Owen, Dr. W. B. Carpenter, Max Muller, J. Norman Lockyer, Herbert Spencer, and others equally eminent. Besides the regular articles in the body of the magazine, there are four original Editorial Departments: Literary Notices, Foreign Literary Notes, Science and Art, and Varieties.

With regard to the character of the selections, the aim of the ECLECTIC is to be instructive without being dull, and entertaining without being trivial. While each number contains something to interest every member of the family circle, it addresses itself particularly to that great body of intelligent readers who seek profit as well as amusement in solid and healthful literature.

Besides the 128 pages of reading matter, each number of the magazine contains a Fine Steel-Engraving usually a portrait—executed in the most artistic manner.

TERMS.—Single copies, 45 cents; one copy one year $5; two copies, $9; five copies, $20. Trial subscriptions for three months, $1.

The ECLECTIC and any $4 Magazine to one address, $6.

Postage free to all subscribers. Address,

WHAT PAYS?

IT PAYS every Manufacturer, Merchant, Mechanic, Inventor, Farmer, or Professional Man, to keep informed on all the improvements and discoveries of the age.

It pays the head of every family to introduce into the household a newspaper that is instructive, one that fosters a taste for investigation, and promotes thought and encourages discussion among the members.

The Scientific American

which has been published weekly for the last thirty-two years, does this, to an extent beyond that of any other publication; in fact it is the only weekly paper published in the United States devoted to Manufactures, Mechanics, Inventions and New Discoveries in the Arts and Sciences.

Every number is profusely illustrated and its contents embrace the latest and most interesting information pertaining to the Industrial, Mechanical, and Scientific Progress of the world; Descriptions, with Beautiful Engravings of New Inventions, New Implements, New Processes, and Improved Industries of all kinds; Useful Notes, Recipes, Suggestions and Advice by Practical Writers, for Workmen and Employers, in all the various arts, forming a complete repository of New Inventions and Discoveries; containing a weekly record, not only of the progress of the Industrial Arts in our own country, but also of all New Discoveries and Inventions in every branch of Engineering, Mechanics and science abroad.

THE SCIENTIFIC AMERICAN has been the foremost of all industrial publications for the past thirty-one years. It is the oldest, largest, cheapest, and the best weekly illustrated paper devoted to Engineering, Mechanics, Chemistry, New Inventions, Science and Industrial Progress, published in the world.

The practical Recipes are well worth ten times the subscription price, and for the sum and house will save many times the cost of subscription.

Merchants, Farmers, Mechanics, Engineers, Inventors, Manufacturers, Chemists, Lovers of Science, and People of all Professions, will find the SCIENTIFIC AMERICAN useful to them. It should have a place in every Family, Library, Study, Office and Counting Room: in every Reading Room, College and School. A new volume commences January 1st, 1877.

A year's numbers contain 832 pages and SEVERAL HUNDRED ENGRAVINGS. Thousands of volumes are preserved for binding and reference. Terms, $3.20 a year by mail, including postage. Discount to Clubs. Special circulars, giving Club rates, sent free. Single copies mailed on receipt of 10 cents. May be had of all News Dealers.

PATENTS: In connection with the Scientific American, Messrs. MUNN & Co are Solicitors of American and Foreign Patents, and have the largest establishment in the world. More than fifty thousand applications have been made for patents through their agency.

Patents are obtained on the best terms. Model of New Inventions and Sketches examined, and advice free. A special notice is made in the scientific American of all Inventions Patented through this agency, with the name and residence of the Patentee. Patents are often sold in part or in whole, to persons attracted to the Invention by such notice. A Pamphlet, containing full directions for obtaining Patents sent free. The Scientific American Reference Book, a volume bound in cloth and gilt, containing the Patent Laws, Census of the U. S., and 140 Engravings of mechanical movements. Price 25 Cents.

PULMOCINE

Lippincott's Magazine.

AN ILLUSTRATED MONTHLY OF POPULAR LITERATURE, SCIENCE, and ART.

Announcement for 1877.

The number for January begins the nineteenth volume of this Magazine, and while its past record will, it is hoped, secure it a sufficient guarantee of future excellence, no efforts will be spared to diversify its attractions and to provide an increasingly varied Entertainment in the Best and Most Emphatic Sense. The great object and constant aim of the conductors will be to furnish the public with Literary Entertainment of a Refined and Varied Character, as well as to present in a graphic and striking manner the recent Discoveries and most soundest views on subjects of General Interest; in a word, to render LIPPINCOTT'S MAGAZINE strikingly distinctive in those features that are most attractive in Magazine Literature. The contributions now on hand, or specially engaged, embrace a highly attractive list of Tales, Short Stories, Descriptive Sketches, Narratives, Papers on Science and Art, Poems, Popular Biography, Political Criticisms, etc., etc., by talented and well known writers. A large proportion of the articles, especially those descriptive of travel, will be profusely and beautifully illustrated. The pictorial embellishments of the Magazine constitute one of its special features.

In addition to the general attractions of LIPPINCOTT'S MAGAZINE the Publishers would invite attention to the following

SPECIAL FEATURES FOR 1877.

1. A new serial story,

"THE MARQUIS OF LOSSIE,"

by George Macdonald, author of "Malcolm," "Alec Forbes," "Robert Falconer," etc.

To those of our readers who are familiar with "Malcolm," this new story from the pen of this distinguished writer will need no recommendation, and its reputation is a guarantee to others of a deeply interesting and powerful story. It began in the November number, which issue, with the December part, will be furnished gratis to all new subscribers for 1877.

2. A profusely illustrated series of sketches of

by Prof. Willard Fiske, of Cornell University, who is thoroughly familiar with Sweden and its People from personal observation.

3. A series of popular papers on

ART AND ART MATTERS,

by Edward Strahan (Earl Shinn), author of "The New Hyperion," etc.

4. Illustrated Sketches of Travel, entitled

PICTURES FROM SPAIN,

by Edward King, author of "The Great South," etc.

5. Mrs. Lucy H. Hooper's Interesting and Piquant

PAPERS AND LETTERS FROM PARIS,

will be continued through the year.

THE BEAUTIES OF THE RHINE,

will be described in a richly illustrated series of papers.

7. During the year will appear a number of handsomely illustrated short articles, descriptive of Life, Scenery and Adventure in the United States, English, South America, Japan, Mongolia, and other countries.

AMONG THE BEST PEOPLE.

I.—IT PUBLISHES ALL THE NEWS. The servant of no man, the slave of no party, it confuses and does tell the truth about all.

II.—IT IS IMPARTIAL AND INDEPENDENT. Believing in intelligent suffrage, it aims to furnish voters the fullest and fairest information, to enable them for the wisest discharge of their responsibility.

III.—IT IS, AS IT ALWAYS WAS, ESSENTIALLY REPUBLICAN. Its guarantee for the future, as it has done in the past, with errors of republican leaders or corruptions in the republican party; but can never cease to be true to republican principles, and especially to those golden doctrines of civil service reform, hard money, the sanctity of the National faith, and equal justice to all classes at the South, which formed the corner-stones of Gov. Hayes' admirable inaugural address.

IV.—ITS MORAL TONE IS PURE AND ELEVATED. The family circle is never profaned by anything which appears in the columns of THE TRIBUNE.

V.—THE CHOICEST STANDARD AND CURRENT LITERATURE of the day is presented in its columns, including Correspondence, Poems, Stories, and Reviews from the most talented and popular writers

VI.—IT IS THE BEST AND CHEAPEST FARMER'S PAPER PUBLISHED. "THE WEEKLY TRIBUNE has done more to make good farmers than any other influence which ever existed."

VII.—THE MARKET REPORTS of THE TRIBUNE are indispensable to every buyer and seller in the country. Quotations are given daily and weekly of almost every article bought and sold in the markets of the world, and with unvarying and almost blind accuracy. In Cattle, Butter and Cheese, and other Markets are the recognized standard.

VIII.—MORE COPIES of THE TRIBUNE are paid for and read by the American people than of any other newspaper, at equal price in the country—a fact which is the best demonstration of the value of the paper.

IX.—THE READERS of THE TRIBUNE represent largely the best enterprising and progressive minds of the country. Persons who are interested in pure politics, the latest news of science, and the progress of opinion, will find their demands met by THE TRIBUNE.

X.—PUBLIC APPROVAL AND PROSPERITY have rewarded the independent and self-respectful course of THE TRIBUNE. It has a larger and stronger corps of writers among its contributors than ever before, and constantly receives from old and new readers words of encouragement.

Notices of the Press.

The Magazine has attained in its one quarter century and more of existence to that point where it may be said of it, in the words of Dr. Johnson, "It is vain to blame and useless to praise." The lustre of its long-ago-attained reputation has increased as the years have passed, and its future seems as bright if not brighter than at any time since the golden hue of prosperity settled around its later and best years. —Brooklyn Eagle.

Harper's Monthly is marked by the same characteristics which gave it circulation from the first with the better class of readers. It combines reading matter with illustrations in a way to make clear and vivid the facts narrated, and the illustrations need to catch the eye of the ignorant are never inserted. —Chicago Journal.

LITTELL'S LIVING AGE FOR 1877. The continued and increasing success (now over thirty-three years old) is doubtless owing to the fact that it affords a comprehensive and cheap means of keeping well informed in the best literature of the day. With its weekly issue, and its three and a quarter thousand large pages of reading matter a year, it is enabled to present with freshness and satisfactory completeness able essays and reviews, choice serial and short stories, interesting sketches of travel and discovery, poetry, and valuable biographical, historical, scientific and political information from the entire body of foreign periodical literature.

In its pages are represented such eminent authors as Prof. Max Müller, Prof. Tyndall, Rt. Hon. W. E. Gladstone, Dr. W. B. Carpenter, Prof. Huxley, Richard A. Proctor, Frances Power Cobbe, The Duke of Argyll, Jas. A. Froude, Mrs. Mulock, Mrs. Oliphant, Mrs. Alexander, Miss Thackeray, Jean Ingelow, Geo. McDonald, W. W. Story, Matthew Arnold, Percy Kingsley, W. W. Story, Auerbach, Ruskin, Carlyle, Tennyson, Browning, and many other leaders in science, discovery, history, biography, philosophy, poetry, theology, politics, criticism and art.

The subscription price ($8 a year) is cheap for the amount of reading furnished; while for those desiring the cream of both home and foreign literature, the publishers make a still cheaper offer, viz.: to send, postpaid, The Living Age and either one of the American $4 monthlies, or weeklies, a year for $10 50. With The Living Age and one or other of our leading American monthlies, a subscriber will at small cost, be put in "command of the whole situation."

An extra offer, also, is made to all new subscribers for 1877, viz.: to send them gratis the six numbers of 1876, containing, besides other valuable reading, the first installments of a new and unusually powerful serial story by George MacDonald, now appearing in The Living Age from advance sheets.

The volume begins Jan. 1st, and we recommend he periodical to the attention of our readers. We know of no other way in which so much of the best work of the best minds of the time can be obtained so cheaply and conveniently as through this standard weekly magazine. Published by Littell & Gay, Boston.

CHILDREN TEETHING

MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP!

For Children Teething,

greatly facilitates the process of teething, by softening the gums, reducing all inflammation—will allay ALL PAIN and spasmodic action, and is

Sure to Regulate the Bowels.

Depend upon it, mothers, it will give rest to yourselves, and

Relief and Health to Your Infants.

We have put up and sold this article for years, and CAN SAY IN CONFIDENCE AND TRUTH of it, what we have never been able to say of any other medicine—NEVER HAS IT FAILED, IN A SINGLE INSTANCE, TO EFFECT A CURE, when timely used. Never did we know an instance of dissatisfaction by any one who used it. On the contrary, all are delighted with its operation and speak in terms of highest commendation of its magical effects and medical virtues. We speak in this matter "WHAT WE DO KNOW," after years of experience, AND PLEDGE OUR REPUTATION FOR THE FULFILMENT OF WHAT WE HERE DECLARE. In almost every instance where the infant is suffering from pain and exhaustion, relief will be found in fifteen or twenty minutes after the syrup is administered.

This valuable preparation has been used with NEVER FAILING SUCCESS in

Thousands of Cases.

It not only relieves the child from pain, but invigorates the stomach and bowels, corrects acidity, and gives tone and energy to the whole system. It will almost instantly relieve

Griping in the Bowels and Wind Colic.

We believe it the BEST AND SUREST REMEDY IN THE WORLD, in all cases of DYSENTERY and DIARRHŒA IN CHILDREN, whether it arises from teething, or from any other cause. We would say to every mother who has a child suffering from any of the foregoing complaints—do not let your prejudice, nor the prejudice of others, stand between your suffering child and the relief that will be SURE—yes, ABSOLUTELY SURE—to follow the use of this medicine, if timely used. Full directions for using will accompany each bottle.

PULMOCINE.

THE SUN.

1877 NEW YORK. 1877

The different editions of THE SUN during the next year will be the same as during the year that has just passed. The daily edition will on week days be a sheet of four pages, and on Sundays of eight pages, or 56 broad columns; while the weekly edition will be a sheet of eight pages of the same dimensions as those which have already familiar to our friends.

THE SUN will continue to be the strenuous advocate of reform and retrenchment, and of the maintenance of statesmanship, wisdom, and integrity for honest government, industry, and economy in the administration of public affairs. It will contend for the government of the people by the people and for the people, as the only government that can stand, by the ballot-box and in the counting of votes, enforced by military violence. It will endeavor to supply its readers,—a body now not far from one million in number—with the most careful, complete, and trustworthy accounts of current events, and will employ for this purpose a numerous and carefully selected staff of reporters and correspondents. Its reports from Washington, especially, will be full, accurate and fearless; and it will doubtless continue to deserve and enjoy the hatred of those who thrive by plundering the Treasury or by usurping what the law does not give them, while it will endeavor to merit the confidence of the public by defending the rights of the people against the encroachments of unjustified power.

The price of the daily SUN will be 55 cents a month or $6.50 a year, post paid, or with the Sunday edition $7.70 a year.

The SUNDAY edition alone, eight pages, $1.20 a year, post paid.

The WEEKLY SUN, eight pages of 56 broad columns, will be furnished during 1877 at the rate of $1 a year, post paid.

The benefit of this large reduction from the previous rate for the WEEKLY can be enjoyed by individual subscribers without the necessity of making up clubs. At the same time, if any of our friends choose to aid in extending our circulation, we shall be grateful to them, and on every subscriber who sends us ten or more subscribers from one place will be entitled to one copy of the paper for himself without charge. At one dollar a year, postage paid, the expenses of paper and printing are barely repaid; and, considering the size of the sheet and the quality of its contents, we are confident the people will consider THE WEEKLY SUN the cheapest newspaper published in the world, and we trust also one of the very best. THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN possesses an unequaled Corps of Correspondents, regular and occasional, among the Best Farmers of All Parts of the Country, and constantly reflects the practical condition and prospects of the husbandry of every section of the United States and civilized world.

THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN gives in its Horticultural Department a continuous variety of information and suggestions, equal or superior in the aggregate to what is obtained in the monthly numbers of most magazines devoted to Horticulture.

THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN has probably done as much as all other Journals combined, to introduce and disseminate improved stock of every kind through the country; and commands in a greater degree than any contemporary, the confidence and support of breeders and purchasers.

THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN contains unusually full and trustworthy Market Reports, and devotes special attention to them and to the prospects of the Crops, as throwing light upon one of the most important of all questions — When to Buy and When to Sell.

THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN embraces numerous minor departments of a practical character, such as the Dairy, the Poultry Yard, the Apiary, the Vineyard, and so on, and weekly presents a column or two for the Housewife, and an interesting variety of Fireside Reading. It contains a well-edited review of Current Events, and its advertising pages furnish a directory of all the principal agricultural and horticultural establishments of the country.

Eugenie's American Ancestry.

Yes, the Empress Eugenie's grandfather was the United States Consul at Malaga under Andrew Jackson's Presidency, and was also engaged in the highly honorable—though not either aristocratic, diplomatic, or consular—occupation of selling groceries. This American family afterward settled in Glasglow, and the "Misses Kirkpatricks" whom we saw in Paris were its youthful representatives, and her Majesty's very first cousins, being daughters of the Countess de Montijo's sister, and granddaughters (like Eugenie) of the American Consul and grocer at Malaga. So there you have it. The scandal against Eugenie was, you remember, that she was born three years after the death of the Count de Montijo, and was the illegitimate daughter of a dissolute noble who traced his lineage back to the Montezumas, whose arms Eugenie has always quartered with her Napoleonic bearings, without the addition of the bar sinister. Like a sensible and honorable woman Mme. de Montijo has shown that Eugenie was born in wedlock; that Count de Montijo descended from the Montezumas, and that she herself was the daughter of the American Consul aforesaid. There is no bar sinister anywhere around. But with such a lineage as this, is it any wonder that the proud Castilian Bourbon, Isabella Segunda, whose son is now [illegible] the throne of Spain, refused so long to recognize Eugenie as a sister-sovereign? And I verily believe that there are persons in English aristocratic circles who would have been better pleased to find the blue blooded bar sinister on Eugenie's escutcheon than to learn of her honorable descent from an American democrat.—London cor. N. Y. Graphic.

The Discovery of Gas.

Great was the amazement of England when, at the close of the last century, William Murdoch discovered the use of combustible air or gas. So little was the invention understood and believed in by those who had not seen it in use, that even great and wise men laughed at the idea. "How could there be light without a wick?" asked a member of Parliament, when the subject was brought up before the House. Even Sir Humphrey Davy ridiculed the idea of lighting towns by gas, and asked one of the proprietors if they meant to take the dome of St. Paul's for a gas meter. Sir Walter Scott, too, made himself merry over the idea of illuminating London by smoke, though he was glad enough, not so long after, to make his own home at Abbotsford light and cheery on wintry nights by the use of that very smoke. When the House of Commons was lighted by gas, the architect imagined that the gas ran on fire through the pipes, and he, therefore, insisted on their being placed several inches from the wall, for fear of the building taking fire, and members might have been seen touching the pipes with their gloved hands, and wondering they did not feel warm. The first shop lighted in London by the new method was Mr. Ackerman's, in the Strand, in 1810, and one lady of rank was so delighted with the brilliancy of the gas-lamp on the counter, that she asked to be allowed to take it home in her carriage. Mr. Murdoch was, however, too busy with other pursuits to continue to study the use of gas, and, though he was undoubtedly the first to apply it to practical purposes, many others laid claim to the honor, and other people quickly reaped the benefit of his cleverness and ingenuity. In this he shared the general fate of inventors.

Boys Don't Smoke.

A writer tells an anecdote of two well known American clergymen, one of whom undertook to rebuke the other for using the "weed."

"Brother H——," he exclaimed, without stopping to ask any other question, "Is it possible you smoke?"

"I must confess I do," the other quietly replied.

"Then I should quit it, sir!" the gentleman energetically continued. "It is a very unclerical habit, and I must say a very uncleanly one. Why, sir, even a hog would not smoke!"

"Brother H—," responded his amused listener, "do you smoke?"

"I! No, sir," he answered gruffly, with much indignation.

"Then, pray, which is more like the hog; you or I?"

—Dentists should not jaw each other.

—There is a man down in Texas who thought it would be a good plan to enclose his ostrich pasture with wire; but before he had finished the work the birds had eaten about forty yards of the fence. Then he said "I vum," and replaced the wire with chapparal.

—Susan Shrock of Princeton, Ky., had the reputation of being a wonderfully trustworthy fortune-teller, though she was not an old hag, as is the conventional seeress, but young and handsome. She predicted, some time ago, that C. Lewis Hollingsworth would meet his death at the hands of highwaymen, that his horse would return home alone, and that his body would never be found. A few days ago his horse returned home riderless, and Susan's reputation stood high until it was discovered that she, too, had disappeared and that Hollingsworth had taken his best clothes and all the money he could raise.

Counting the Votes.

On Friday the commission, by a vote of eight to seven, decided that the Electoral Vote of Florida was given for Hayes and Wheeler.

The vote was a strict party one, which shows that the hopes of those who looked to see some of the democratic members of the commission rise above partisanship are to be disappointed. Tilden had no shadow of claim to the electoral vote of Florida, either in law or equity, but there was not one democratic member of the committee had the honesty to acknowledge it.

Portland's Railroad Investments.

The Railroad Commission appointed by a vote of Portland City Council September 4th last past, to investigate the affairs of the Portland & Ogdensburg and Portland & Rochester Railroads, has reported to the City Council. They report that the total debt of the Rochester road, secured and unsecured, is $1,715,742, on which the interest is $100,000 per year and increasing, while the earnings are only $20,000. Of this debt the accumulated interest, discount and commissions aggregate $787,158, showing the wastefulness of building the road on credit. Save this wastefulness the Commission approve the management of the road, except in some minor matters mentioned. They recommend that the city dispose of entire its interest in the road and turn the proceeds into a sinking fund to redeem the bonds. The road is already put in the hands of a receiver. On the Ogdensburg road they find the total debt $2,997,290, with assets of about $54,000; also rolling stock of about $144,000; yearly interest on debt, $175,000; net earnings, $72,815. They find the waste in interest, disbounts and commissions to be $926,491. The Commission suggests that the citizens opposed to the loan notes will not feel gratified to learn that Ogdensburg paid over $2000 and Rochester about $600 of the cities' money to carry through the notes; also that the loan of $20,000 to the Canada road was hardly prudent. They, however, commend the uprightness of the managers. They advise the city to make no further advances, and at a favorable opportunity to dispose of its interest in the road. They thing it inexpedient to appoint a receiver at present, but advise the city to remain passive. They report that the city debt at the end of the financial year, March 31st proximo, will be $6,038,200, of which $2,000,000 is secured by the sinking fund, and $4,000,000 is a railroad loan, secured only by the bonds of these two roads. They recommend that the sinking funds be extended, and that the expenses be rigidly cut down to meet the debt without increasing the taxes. It winds up with an emphatic assertion that the city can never repudiate.

The Portland Advertiser thus concisely shows how Portland's railroad investments have turned out:

"The net debt of the city is now $4,609,-790. This debt, about 13 per cent of the total valuation, has been incurred, as the commissioners show, by the issue of bonds nd payment of interest for the following purpose:

Portland & Rochester road,	$1,357,000
Portland & Ogdensburg,	2,185,800
Interest on stock investment, eight years,	342,864
Marginal way,	95,000
Galt's wharf,	130,000
Total,	$4,110,664

But for these investments, the city would be free of debt. The only security for this sum is the mortgage claim upon the two roads. The commissioners do not recommend an enforcement of this claim, which would involve unknown liabilities for the maintenance and operation of the lines and for possible damages."

The Littlefield Conspiracy Unveiled.

The democrats had announced that they had a dynamite witness in the person of one Cavanac, democratic counsel before the Returning Board in New Orleans, but he had not been on the stand ten minutes before he practically unveiled the Littlefield conspiracy. He said he examined the return from Vernon parish when it was opened in the presence of the board; that it only contained two votes for Hayes, and was ordered to be canvassed by the board with only these two votes. If there have been any changes in the returns, he said they certainly have been made since the return was opened and canvassed, and that the result was published in the newspapers. This fully proves the republican theory that Littlefield made the changes after the parish had been canvassed. It could not therefore have been ordered done by the Returning Board, as nothing was to be accomplished. This testimony of a leading democratic witness is the strongest proof yet taken of Littlefield's conspiracy to change the return.

News and Notes.

A day or two ago a man called at the residence of a citizen of the Bunker Hill District, and informed the servant he wanted to see the master of the house. That gentleman came to the door, when the man said, "I have been and heard Moody and Sankey and have reformed. Here is $20 which I defrauded you of ten years ago."

John W. Richards, of Dixmont, Me., was arrested in Lawrence, Mass., on Thursday, on a charge of adultery, he having ran away with a niece of his wife. Before leaving Dixmont he beat a brother-in-law, named Croxford, over the head with a sledstake, so that he will probably die, in which event Richards will be tried for murder.

James Gordon Bennett's dogs have been sold at auction, in obedience to a telegraphic order sent by him from Europe, and went dog cheap. A pair of Gordon setters, said to have cost $1000, went for $40. Several other setters sold for about the same price. Four English mastiffs brought from $12 to $14 apiece, while two noble Newfoundland dogs, highly bred, and said to have cost a large sum, sold for a good deal less than their value. A pup brought $25, while of a lot of spaniels only one brought $25, the others selling at prices ranging from $15 to $20. It is reported that Mr. Bennett's stable will soon be sold under the hammer.

The famous shorthorn cow "Tenth Duchess of Geneva" is dead. This animal was bought by Lord Bective at New York Mills, State of New York, in 1873, for over $30,000.

John O'Mahoney, the ex-Fenian leader, died in New York Tuesday night.

The American House, of Boston, has a great reputation for the excellence of its table, the cleanliness and comfort of its rooms, and the air of perfection which pervades every department. The location of the house is unsurpassed, and the charges are reasonable.

All hope seems to be abandoned respecting the steamship Colombo, which left Hull, England, sixty days ago, for New York.

Two of the men who recently began a raid on the illicit South Carolina whiskey distillers have been killed, and several wounded.

Mary Palmer of New York, aged twenty-five, has just got $1,000 in a breach of promise case against Aaron Strauss, aged sixty. The striking feature is that Strauss was a married man when he courted the girl, and his lawyer says that, as a lover, "he was as foolish as he was old."

An unfortunate affair recently occurred in Stamford, Conn., apparently through misapprehension, which has caused some excitement. Two young men, Edgar L. and Addison Studwell, in returning from Long Ridge, about four o'clock in the morning, from certain circumstances were taken for burglars or incendiaries by a family named Ferris, and were boldly attacked by three of the brothers armed with axes and clubs. They defended themselves with equal courage, using a pistol, but were finally overcome, badly beaten, tied, carted into town, and delivered to an officer. The Ferris family were morbidly sensitive about incendiaries, having had two barns burned in a couple of years.

That runaway cashier of the First National Bank of Franklin, Ind., is the champion bank robber of the age. He carted off the whole concern, loading a wagon full of all the bank books and all the available funds, amounting to $140,000, and left behind him only the bank building and a curt note saying that Chicago speculation did his business and that it was useless to attempt to find him.

Brig Alberta, Captain Hinkley, of Machiasport, Me., left New York for Falmouth, England, December 8th. As nothing has been heard from her fears are entertained that she is lost with all hands.

Thomas Riley, of Boston, committed suicide Wednesday evening by throwing himself in front of a locomotive. His mind was deranged.

Committees have been formed in New York and Boston to receive subscriptions to the fund for providing a pedestal for the colossal statue of Liberty Enlightening the World, to be erected on Bedloe's island, New York harbor. The Boston committee consists of the following named gentlemen: Charles Francis Adams, Thomas G. Appleton, Richard Frothingham, Charles C. Perkins, Frederick O. Prince, Joseph W. Revere, Alexander H. Rice, Sam. H. Russell, Horace Binney Sargent, John Collins Warren, Robt. C. Winthrop.

The case of the United States vs. Wm. W. Belknap, late Secretary of War, has been nolle pros'd by the Attorney General, on the ground that the evidence would not probably suffice to secure a conviction.

In 1876, $64,620,000 worth of property was burned in the United States.

Fifteen Protestant churches have been established in Brazil since 1859.

The nineteen piano-making firms in Boston turn out about 8000 pianos a year, aggregating an annual business of $2,500,-000; more than half of which, however, is done by three firms.

The Oregon Vote.

Senator Mitchell of the Committee on Privileges and Elections, charged with the investigation of the Oregon electoral vote, will submit his report to the Senate early next week. After reviewing the case in all its details, showing Watts' participation in the action of the Electoral College of the State, the report sums up in the following propositions: First, conceding that Watts was ineligible, the Governor of the State had no jurisdiction to discriminate, and his action in the premises was void. Second, that the question of Watts' eligibility was never raised before any tribunal; he did not take his seat in the college on the ground that he was made an Elector by the votes of the people, but in consequence of his election by a majority of the college, and therefore his vote cannot now be challenged; third, under the laws of Oregon the Electors present on the day of the meeting of the college fill any vacancies occasioned by death, refusal to act, or neglect to attend, or otherwise; therefore admitting for argument sake, but not as a fact, that the election by the people was void, the college had full authority to fill the vacancy. Fourth, the Governor's certificate, on its face, shows that two republican Electors were elected; there were a majority of the College, and the only ones contemplated by the law to fill a vacancy; their record is the only one admissible, and it shows that Cronin did not attend the meeting or participate in its proceedings; that he set himself up as the Electoral College of Oregon, and proceeded to fill the other two places without a shadow of authority under the law governing the case.

Why Advertise?

People sometimes ask why does Dr. R. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., spend so much money in advertising his family medicines which are so well known and surpass all other remedies in popularity and sale. It is well known that A. T. Stewart considered it good policy, and undoubtedly it paid him, to spend many hundred thousand dollars in advertising his goods, yet nobody questioned the excellence of his merchandise. The grand secret of success lies in offering only goods which possess merit to sustain themselves, and then through liberal and persistent advertising making the people thoroughly acquainted with their good qualities. Men do not succeed in amassing great fortunes, establishing thriving and permanent business, and founding substantial institutions like Dr. Pierce's Grand Invalids' Hotel at Buffalo, which costs over two hundred thousand dollars, unless their business be legitimate, their goods meritorious, and their services which they render the people genuine and valuable. Dr. Pierce does not attempt to humbug you by telling you that his Golden Medical Discovery will cure all diseases. He says: "if your lungs are half wasted by consumption, my Discovery will not cure you, yet as a remedy for severe coughs, and all curable bronchial, throat and lung affections, I believe it to be unsurpassed as a remedy." The people have confidence in his medicines because he does not over-recommend them, and when tried they give satisfaction. His Medical Adviser, a book of over nine hundred pages, illustrated by two hundred and eighty-two engravings and bound in cloth and gilt, is offered to the people at so moderate a price ($1.50, post-paid), that it is no wonder that almost one hundred thousand have already been sold. His memorandum books are on every druggist's counter for free distribution.

A Wonder-Working Remedy.

No remedial agent has ever been offered to the sick and debilitated all comparable to Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, in cases of remittent and intermittent fevers, constipation, nervous ailments, rheumatism and disorders involving constitutional weakness or physical decay. It literally "works wonders." The botanic ingredients which its spirituous basis holds in solution, not like a charm upon the brain, liver, bowels and nervous system. There is nothing in its composition that is not salubrious. It contains some of the most potent tonics of the vegetable kingdom and the juices of the best aperient and anti-bilious roots and herbs, combined with a perfectly pure stimulating element. The Bitters are specially adapted to those engaged in exhausting or unhealthy occupations, as by its use strength is sustained and the ability of the system to resist atmospheric and other influences prejudicial to health largely increased.

The Colonnade Hotel.

The Colonnade Hotel, Philadelphia, Pa., by its judicious reduction of rates, will maintain its famous reputation of a model first-class house, alive to the demands of the time.

The Grand Central Hotel, New York, although the largest and finest hotel in the city, will be an exception, herewith, to the general complaint of high prices. It has reduced from $4.00 to $2.50 and $3.00 per day.

Why throw away so much money trying worthless medicines, when for 35 cents a remedy can be procured that will cure coughs, colds, sore lungs and croup? Give it a trial. Adamson's Balsam will do it.

Important to persons visiting New York or the Centennial. The Grand Union Hotel, New York, opposite the Grand Central Depot, has over 350 elegantly furnished rooms. Elevator, steam and all improvements. European plan. Carriage hire is saved, as baggage is taken to and from the depot free. Guests can live better for less money at the Grand Union than at any other first-class hotel. Stages and cars pass the Hotel constantly to all parts of the city, and to the Philadelphia depot.

THE CONCERT.

The concert given on Thursday evening in Franklin Hall by the Artistes' Quartette of Boston was one of those entertainments with which the people of Portsmouth are favored at very rare intervals. We should feel that we were well nigh offering an insult to the gifted ladies who compose the quartette did we remark that the audience was not so large as the performance merited. Such a concert deserves an attendance that would compel seekers even for "standing room" to turn away unsupplied. The wonderful power of their voices, with their purity and sweetness of tone, brings them into favor with even the most unappreciative, while to the lovers of artistic merit their singing must be a source of the greatest delight. We cannot undertake to comment in detail upon the concert of Thursday evening, but will simply say that the whole entertainment was a string of musical pearls. If they could be induced to visit us again we dare say they would be favored with a good house. Col. F. W. Hilton, proprietor of the Rockingham House, to whom their coming is due, deserves the thanks of the citizens of Portsmouth, for the treat they afforded us.

JOTTINGS.

Leslie Norman, of this city, the young colored man sent to State prison some time ago, in company with Thomas Conners, for firing a dwelling in Barnstead at the instigation of a third person, was pardoned by the Governor and Council at their recent meeting.

The schooner George L. Treadwell, of this port, wrecked on Chincoteague Shoal, on her passage from Virginia to New York, registered 113 tons, and was built at Essex, Mass., in 1875. The steamtug Nettie, with wrecking schooner Henrietta in tow, arrived at Norfolk on the 4th, from the wreck, and reported that they found the Treadwell listed over very badly, and righted her, but in doing so discovered that about sixty feet of her keel was gone, and her cargo of corn coming out through her bottom. The vessel was in such a bad condition that nothing could be done to save her.

Capt. Thomas E. O. Marvin, of the Ports mouth Light Artillery, has been appointed an aid on the Governor's staff, with the rank of Colonel. Col. Marvin has resigned the captaincy of the Light Artillery.

The truth of the report of an attempt to rob Mr. Thomas Moore, of North Hampton, by two men who knocked him off a carplatform at Greenland depot, is denied by persons who were present at the time and say he was not knocked off by any one. A correspondent says Mr. Moore had a considerable sum of money about him, left the cars at Greenland, and was accompanied to his home by a gentleman living near the depot, and that neither he nor any one else around the depot knew anything of an assault with intent to rob until they saw the account in the papers.

The annual ball and promenade concert of the Second Light Battery (Section A) of Dover, was given on Friday evening in Dover City Hall. Harlow's orchestra, of this city, furnished the music, and a number of Portsmouth's military men (among them Col. T. E. O. Marvin) went up to take part in the affair, which was entirely successful and gave great pleasure to the participants.

The Reform Club will hold their meeting as usual at Franklin Hall, Sunday evening. Dr. LePoer of Lowell, Mass., will be the speaker. Subject, Physiology of Delirium Tremens—Alcohol on the Brain. The Fitchburg Press says, of one of the doctor's lectures: "It was the most original temperance lecture we ever listened to. He is deeply read, and eloquent."

Schooner T. J. Trafton, of this port, from Wiscasset, Me., at Philadelphia, Feb. 7th, had a boat stove and her stern slightly damaged on the 6th inst., by collision with the oysterboat Mary Ann, while being towed up the river.

Subject at Bow Mission, Sunday after noon, "Render unto Cæsar the things that are Cæsar's."

The anchors of the schooner J. D. McCarthy, wrecked on Salisbury Beach while on the way to this port, were recovered on Wednesday.

The first annual ball of the Veteran Artillery Association will take place on Thursday evening, Feb. 22d, and the management are determined to make it as much of a success in its way as the clam-bake at Hotel Wentworth last Autumn was in that line.

Schooner Alfaretta, of this port, has been purchased by Capt. John J. Thurlow of Newburyport, and will be fitted for the fishing business. Capt. Thurlow was master and part owner of schooner General Taylor, wrecked on Odiorne's Point some weeks ago in a snow-storm, for want of a proper fog-signal at this port.

A woman, in attempting to cross Puddle Dock on the ice, Friday forenoon, broke through when about the middle and went down up to her neck, but managed to scramble out unaided and get ashore unharmed, though very wet and frightened.

On Friday afternoon Mr. Henry Peyser saw a horse dash past him up Market street, and remarked that it looked something like his team. Not long after he was accosted by some young men who had stopped a runaway horse near Mr. John Sise's insurance agency on Market Square, and after a brief inspection of the animal became satisfied it was his. A little later the wreck of a sleigh was produced, but that Mr. Peyser positively refused to own until his son recognized it. No particular damage was done except to the sleigh, which was pretty thoroughly demolished.

CITY AFFAIRS.

In Board of Mayor and Aldermen, Thursday evening, the annual reports of the school committee and the high school committee were received, read, accepted and ordered to be printed.

The pay-roll of inquests on the bodies of Abram Dudley and John Bragg ($88.93) was referred to the committee on claims.

Samuel P. Treadwell's bills for discounts on taxes, $6192.38, and commissions, $764.61, and for real estate sold for taxes unredeemed, $497.56, were approved.

The committee on fire department, who were requested to examine Franklin Opera Hall, reported that the doors on the outside of the hall, which open inward, should be made to open outward, and that Mr. Stavers had agreed to make the change.

Repairing bell-frame of the North church was referred to the Mayor with power.

Communication from L. W. Brewster, appealing from the award of the committee on printing for printing the city accounts, was received and laid on the table.

The committee on streets, to whom was referred the claim of S. M. Weeks, reported that the railroad crossing on Islington street is in good condition and that they had no evidence that it had not been so ever since its construction. The report was accepted.

The committee on accounts reported the usual monthly batch of bills, which were ordered to be paid.

The subject of gas used by the tenants of the Elm street ward-room and other public buildings was referred to committee on city lands and buildings to report to the full Board.

The application of Thomas Gay, for rental of upper story of the spring market, was referred to the committee on city lands and buildings.

Andrew Sherburne's bill for use of water at Plains school-house for five years ($30) was referred to the committee on claims.

Adjourned for two weeks.

New Hampshire Items.

Mr. Joseph Hazelton, a well-known resident of Hudson, one day last week assisted a friend to dress a sore. While engaged in the operation a portion of the virus became attached to a slight scratch on his finger. Since that time his fingers, hand and arm have swollen badly and have assumed a dark color. Wednesday afternoon he became insane and commenced an assault on his friends; he also attempted to damage his dwelling by breaking the glass in the windows, and then fled to one of his neighbors barefooted over the icy roads, where he was cared for until his friends arrived and took him in charge. His physicians do not expect him to live.

It is reported that the Souhegan Mill property in Milford has been sold to the Columbia Company at Greenville, and Milford residents hope for better days.

Albert Griffith of Keene was dragged under a loaded ox sled, a few days ago, and several of his ribs were broken and he appeared to be otherwise internally injured so that it was thought on Wednesday he could not survive.

Mr. B. P. Burns of Hollis, on Sunday, picked off the snow eight young live grasshoppers. A small spot of bare ground was within a few feet of where they were found, and they probably hibernated in the grass, the sun bringing them into activity.

Jemima Eldredge, about 70 years of age, started January 18th, from the house of Moses Cooper, in Effingham, to walk to the house of a Mr. Piper, her brother-in-law, who lived about a mile distant in Wakefield. Not returning when expected and never arriving at Mr. Piper's, search was made which resulted in finding her body, the next Saturday, about forty rods from her destination. It is supposed she became bewildered, wandered from the road and was unable to proceed farther through the deep snow.

At a meeting of the Governor and Council held in Concord on Thursday, John Farr was appointed Justice and Albert S. Batchelder Special Justice of the Police Court at Littleton. A new Police Court was established at Exeter; John J. Bell was appointed Justice and George E. Lane Special Justice. Captain Thomas E. O. Marvin of Portsmouth was appointed aid on the Governor's Staff, with the rank of Colonel. The petition for the pardon of Thomas Weir, now serving out a life sentence in the State Prison for the murder of Caleb Dyer, the head of the Enfield Shakers, was withdrawn.

Edward T. Wight of Contocookville, found beside the railroad in Concord some time ago terribly injured, has recovered sufficiently to charge one Barney Murphy of Concord with the assault.

—Sidney, Australia, has its hoodlums, who go about in gangs of twenty or thirty, break street lamps, maltreat policemen, tear down fences and sign-boards, assault and hustle quiet folks at high noon, and practice theft and robbery. They are locally known as "larrikins."

—The following notice is posted conspicuously in a Scotch office: "Shut the door, and when you have done talking on business serve your mouth the same way."

—The editor of a Turkish journal in Constantinople has been whipped to death for telling the truth. This never has happened in America.

Dr. A. J. Flagg's

COUGH & LUNG SYRUP.

A Safe and Sure Remedy.

The Cough and Lung Syrup

Is the remedy that during the past fifteen years has won for DR. FLAGG an extended reputation as a SPECIALIST for THROAT and LUNG Diseases. After so many years trial it can be truthfully said that it has NEVER FAILED, even in the Worst CASES. It is purely Vegetable, and its effect upon the system is at once Soothing and Tonic.

It Will Cure a Common Cold

In a few hours, not by drying it up, but by removing it from the system. TRY IT.

It will CURE a Chronic Cough, by soothing the irritated parts, and strengthening the system.

IT WILL CURE CONSUMPTION.

Even after all other remedies have failed. In the earlier stages of this disease it will effect a speedy and certain cure; and in many cases of advanced Consumption its effect has become almost miraculous, restoring to full strength and perfect health those whom physicians had given up as incurable. TRY IT.

IT WILL CURE CATARRH

More effectually than any other remedy, by simply removing the cause. TRY IT.

It will Cure Bronchitis, by allaying all irritation of the Throat. TRY IT.

It will Cure Asthma, affording immediate relief and a perfect cure. TRY IT.

It Will Cure Ulcerated Sore Throat. TRY IT.

IT WILL CURE Loss of Voice, Night Sweats, Hectic Fever, AND ALL Symptoms of Consumption. TRY IT.

For every affection of the Throat and Lungs it only needs a trial to convince the most skeptical of its wonderful curative properties.

DR. WM. M. LADD, a leading Druggist of Claremont, certifies as follows:

For many years I have known Dr. A. J. Flagg as a successful practicing physician, and can assure the public that his representations relative to the Cough and Lung Syrup can be strictly relied upon. It has been used in his extended practice with marvellous success, and I know it to be all that he claims for it.

WM. M. LADD, M. D.

CLAREMONT, N. H., September, 1875.

DR. FLAGG My Dear Sir: Your Cough and Lung Syrup has proved a great benefit to me, giving relief from severe Coughs and Soreness of the Lungs, when all other remedies and physicians had failed. I have never taken a medicine more pleasant to the taste or more satisfactory in its results.

SURE CURES AND LOW PRICES.

Dr. YOUNG,

SUCCESSOR TO

Dr. TELLER,

DECEASED.

The above named private Hospital was established in Albany in 1835 by Dr. Lindsmard and for a number of years its affairs were presided over by that gentleman, but for the past 30 years, Dr. Teller, who is now deceased, transacted the business of the Institution.

Owing to the great demand for more spacious apartments on account of the large increase of business, the Hospital has been removed to No. 9 Beaver Street, two doors above its old location, where patients will find magnificently furnished rooms for their reception, and are so arranged that patients do not come in contact with one another, seeing only the doctor, thereby avoiding the unpleasantness of meeting others, which always occurred at the old office.

LADIES will find rooms provided for their especial accommodation and entirely private.

YOUNG MEN addicted to secret habits, who have impaired their health and destroyed the vigor of their minds, thus depriving themselves of the pleasures of married life and also those afflicted with private diseases of any nature, are advised that in consulting Dr. Young they will find a physician fully qualified to cure and restore them to full health and manly vigor.

Dr. Teller's great work for the married, or those contemplating marriage—the Magnum Bonum, full of plates,—price 25 cents. Sent to all parts, under seal, by mail post paid.

TO THE LADIES—DR. YOUNG still retains the only agency in America for the sale of Dr. Vichoi's Italian Female Monthly Pills. Sent by mail on receipt of $1.00, price per box.

DR. YOUNG is the only agent for Dr. La Mott's celebrated Galvanic Belts.

Invalids out of the city can be cured by consulting he Doctor by letter, and enclosing remittance. Medicines sent by mail or express, securely packed from observation. All letters must be addressed to

Centaur Liniments.

The lame can be healed and the wounded made whole. We now know just what the Centaur Liniment will do. They will not mend broken bones or cure Cancer, but they will extract soreness, allay pain, cure Rheumatism and a larger range of disease, bone and muscle ailments than any article ever before discovered.

Scientific skill cannot go beyond the effects of these remarkable preparations. Chronic Rheumatism of many years' standing, Neuralgia, Weak-Back, Fever Sores, Weeping-Sinews, Sciatica, Caked Breasts, Dislocated Joints and Sprained Limbs of the worst kind are cured by the White Centaur Liniment.

It will destroy the pain and heal without a scar, all ordinary Burns and Scalds. It will extract the poison of Bites and Stings, and the frost from Frozen Limbs. It is very efficacious for Ear-ache, Tooth-ache, Itch and Cutaneous Eruptions.

Mr. Josiah Westake, of Maryville, O., writes: "For years my Rheumatism has been so bad that I have been unable to stir from the house. The first three bottles of Centaur Liniment enabled me to walk without my crutches. I am mending rapidly. I think your Liniment simply a marvel.

C. H. Bennett, Druggist, Rock Prairie, Mo., says: "Centaur Liniment sells better and gives the best satisfaction of anything in the market."

What the Centaur Liniment has done for others it will do for you. It is handy, it is reliable, and it is cheap.

The Yellow Centaur Liniment

is worth its weight in gold to owners of horses and mules.

This Liniment has cured more Sprained, Sweenied, Ring-boned and Galled Horses in three years than have all the Farriers in the country in an age. Its effects are simply wonderful.

We have thousands upon thousands of certificates as strong as the following:

"My horse was lame for a year with a fetlock wrench. All remedies utterly failed to cure and I considered him worthless until I commenced to use Centaur Liniment, which rapidly cured him. I heartily recommend it.

REV. GEO. W. FERRIS,
Mannerville, Schoharie Co., N. Y."

DEAR SIRS,—I have used your Centaur Liniment in my family, and find it to be of great value. It saved me two dollar's worth, one for the mules and horses.

RILEY SICKLES.
FALLS STATION, WYOMING CO., PA.

It makes very little difference what the case is, whether it be Wrench, Sprain, Fell-Evil, Ringbone, Scratches or Lame-ness of any kind, the effects are the same. Liverymen, Stage proprietors, Farmers, &c., should never be without the Yellow Centaur Liniment. It is sold everywhere, and warranted in its effects.

Castoria.

It is a mistake to suppose that Castoria is not adapted to grown persons as well as Children. They only need to increase the quantity. But children suffering from Colic and Wind Pains for which Castoria is adapted—like Wind Colic, Sour Stomach, Worms, Tetter, Teething and Croup, that it is especially recommended for them.

Its effects are more certain than Castor Oil. It contains no alcohol and is as pleasant to take as honey. Its power grips. By regulating the stomach and bowels the Castoria cools the blood, expels worms and prevents feverishness, quiets the nerves and produces health—then of course children can sleep in quiet and mothers can rest.

Castoria is recommended by all physicians and nurses who have tried it, and it is having a rapidly increasing sale. It is prepared with great care after the recipe of Dr. Samuel Pitcher, of Mass., at the Laboratory of J. B. Rose & Co., 46 Dey St., N. Y.

Daily Chronicle.

—"Mind your starboard helm," said an apple woman, as an old salt reeled up against her stand. "(Hic) starboard it is, and steady, old gal," replied the tar, "but where the blazes (hic) did you learn to steer?" "Ten years a stewardess in the Liverpool trade, my hearty," replied the old woman, "and down to every wrinkle; but heave ahead, my lad, and save a tide, and let the gentlemen in to buy some apples." "Aye, aye, my lass," said the old mariner, and as he staggered away he muttered: "(Hic) ten years a stewardess and (hic) come to this; our com-(hic)-merce is all gone to the dogs."

—A good old colored man named Uncle Jim Hill set himself up as a phrenologist, and a barber was his first subject. He placed the barber on a chair, felt of his head for a long time, and then remarked: Willlam, you is too sanguine. When you lend money you expect it back. You are bilious. You want to be honest, but you hasn't the necessary character; you isn't hopeful; you is bowed down with grief most of the time; you has an ear for music; you has de worst feet on Kentucky street; you is de right sort of a man to wheel coal down hill for big wages." William rose up, pitched Uncle Jim over the stove and under the bed, and split a panel of the door as he went out. The aged phrenologist was at the City Hall next evening to get advice from the police, and when advised to go out of the trade he replied: "Seems like I shall have to, for I'se getting too aged to be frown over cook stoves."

ST. NICHOLAS.

"The King of all publications issued for the young on either side of the Atlantic."—Southampton (England) Observer.

The third volume of this incomparable Magazine is now complete. With its eight hundred royal octavo pages, and its six hundred illustrations, its splendid serials, its shorter stories, poems, and sketches, etc., in its beautiful binding of red and gold, it is the most splendid gift-book for boys and girls ever issued from the press. Price, $4, in full gilt, $5.

☞ ST. NICHOLAS is full of the choicest things. The publication is, in all respects, the best of its kind. We have never yet seen a number that was not surprisingly good."—The Churchman, Hartford, Conn.

ST. NICHOLAS FOR 1877,

Which opens with November, 1876, begins a short and very entertaining Serial from the French, "The Kingdom of the Greedy," a Story adapted to the Thanksgiving Season. Another serial, of absorbing interest to boys,

"HIS OWN MASTER,"

By J. T. Trowbridge,

Author of the "Jack Hazard Stories," begins in the Christmas Holiday Number.

Besides serial stories, Christmas stories, lively sketches, poems and pictures for the holidays, and some admirably illustrations of Oriental sports, with drawings by Siamese artists, The Christmas Holiday Number of ST. NICHOLAS, superbly illustrated, contains a very interesting paper,

"THE BOYS OF MY BOYHOOD,"

By William Cullen Bryant;

"The Horse Hotel," a lively article, by Charles A. Barnard, splendidly illustrated; "The Clock in the Sky," by Richard A. Proctor; "A Christmas Play for Home or Sunday-school," by Dr. Eggleston; "The Peterkins' Christmas Tree," by Lucretia P. Hale; "Poetry and Carols of Wales," by Lucy Larcom, with pictures.

Do Not Fail to Buy St. Nicholas for the Christmas Holidays. Price 25 cents.

During the year there will be interesting papers for boys, by William Cullen Bryant, John G. Whittier, Thomas Hughes, William Howitt, Dr. Holland, George MacDonald, Sanford B. Hunt, Frank R. Stockton, and others.

There will be stories, sketches, and poems, of special interest to girls, by Harriet Prescott Spofford, Susan Coolidge, Sarah Winter Kellogg, Elizabeth Stuart Phelps, Louisa Alcott, Lucretia P. Hale, Celia Thaxter, Mary Mapes Dodge, and many others. There will be also

"TWELVE SKY PICTURES,"

By Prof. Proctor, the Astronomer, with maps, showing "The Stars of Each Month," which will be likely to engrass in interest all series on popular science recently given to the public.

Amusement and Instruction, with Fun and Frolic, and Wit and Wisdom, will be mingled in kindergartenesque, and ST. NICHOLAS will continue to delight the young and give pleasure to the old.

The London Literary World says: "There is no magazine for the young that can be said to equal this choice production of SCRIBNER'S press. All the articles, whether in prose or rhyme, are throughout with vitality. * * * The literature and artistic illustrations are both superb."

The London Daily Chronicle says: "We wish we could point out its equal in our own periodical literature."

GOOD NEWS FOR BOYS AND GIRLS;

To meet the demand for a cheaper ST. NICHOLAS 3rd Book, the price of vols. I and II has been reduced to $5 each. The three volumes, in an elegant library case, are sold for $10 (in full gilt, $15); so that all may give their children a complete set. The volumes contain more attractive material than fifty dollars' worth of the ordinary children's books.

Subscription price, $4 a year. The three bound volumes and a subscription for this year, only $15. Subscribe with the nearest newsdealer, or send money in check, or P. O. money order, or in registered letter, to

SCRIBNER & Co., 743 Broadway, N. Y.

SCRIBNER'S MONTHLY,

An Illustrated Illustrated Magazine.

The prospectus for the new volume gives the titles of more than fifty papers (mostly illustrated), by writers of the highest merit. Under the head of

"FOREIGN TRAVEL,"

we have "A Winter on the Nile," by Gen. McClellan; "Summerings About Constantinople," by Charles Dudley Warner; "Out of My Window at Moscow," by Eugene Schuyler; "An American in Turkistan," etc. Three serial stories are announced:

by Dr. Holland, the Editor, whose story of "Sevenoaks" gave the highest satisfaction to the readers of the Monthly.

The scene of this latest novel is laid on the banks of the Hudson. The hero is a young man who has been always "tied to a woman's apron strings," but who, by the death of his mother, is left alone in the world,—to drift on the current of life,—with a fortune, but without a purpose.

Another serial, "His Inheritance," by Miss Trafton, will begin on the completion of "That Lass o' Lowrie's," by Mrs. Hodgson Burnett. Mrs. Burnett's story, begun in August, has a pathos and dramatic power which have been a surprise to the public.

There is to be a series of original illustrated papers of "Popular Science," by Mrs. Herrick, each paper complete in itself.

There are to be, from various pens, papers on

"HOME LIFE AND TRAVEL."

Too, practical suggestions as to town and country life, village improvements, etc., by well-known specialists.

Mr. Barnard's articles on various industries of west Britain include the history of "Some Experiments in Co-operation," "A Scottish Leaf Factory," in the November number, and "Toad Lane, Rochdale," in December. Other papers are, "The British Workingman's Home," "A Nation of Shopkeepers," "Harpenny a Week for the Child," etc.

A richly illustrated series will be given on "American Sports by Flood and Field," by various writers, and each on a different theme. The subject of will have a prominent place, while the latest productions of American humorists will appear from month to month. The list of shorter stories, biographical and other sketches, etc., is a long one.

The editorial department will continue to employ the ablest pens both at home and abroad. There will be a series of letters on literary matters, from London, by Mr. Welford.

We mean to make the magazine sweeter and purer, higher and nobler, more genial and generous in all its utterances and influences, and a more welcome visitor than ever before in homes of refinement and culture.

FIFTEEN MONTHS FOR $4.00.

SCRIBNER for December, now ready, contains the opening chapters of "Nicholas Minturn." The three numbers of SCRIBNER for August, September, and October, containing the opening chapters of "That Lass o' Lowrie's," will be given to every new subscriber (who requests it), and whose subscription begins with the present volume, i.e., with the November number.

Subscription price, $4 a year—35 cents a number. Special terms on bound volumes. Subscribe with the nearest bookseller, or send a check or P. O. money order to

DR. QUAIN'S

CONDITION PILLS!

The Wonderful Remedy for Liver Complaint, Biliousness, Dyspepsia, Constipation, Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Headache, Kidney Complaint, Nervousness, Scrofula, Piles, and all diseases arising from a bad state of the Blood!

No medicine ever offered to the public has given such universal satisfaction as Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. Their praises are on every tongue where their merits are known. They strike at once at the seat of disease and show their healing power almost immediately. Thousands of voluntary testimonials of their merits have been received by the agent, from those who have been cured by them, of which the following are samples:

Dyspepsia Four Years, Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels Three Years, Confined to my Room Two Years, Pain so I Could Not Sleep Without Morphine. One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills Made Me Eat Well, Sleep Well and Free from Pain, after being given up by Physicians.

WEST LEBANON, ME., Feb. 22, 1

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I have been sick for four years with Dyspepsia, and for the past three years Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels. I have suffered all the pain that I could endure and live. I have been confined to my room for two years, and could not sleep nights without the use of morphine. I have been given up by physicians as past cure. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, and they have done me more good than all the doctors I have had. Wind, I eat well and have no pain. They are all they are recommended to be. Please send me three packages, as two of my neighbors wish to try them. I remain, etc.,

Your truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Another Letter from Maj. John W. Lord, one month later Wonderful Cures by Dr. Quain's Pills Effected on Him in Thirteen Days. First time Free from Pain for Three Years.

WEST LEBANON, ME., March 23, 1875

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I commenced taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS February 9th, and wrote you February 23d of their wonderful effect. I have continued to improve ever since. My appetite is good, and I sleep as well as I ever did in my life. I am free from pain for the first time in three years. When I was taken sick four years ago, I weighed one hundred and eighty-six pounds; I now weigh one hundred and twenty, but as I am gaining in strength, I have faith I shall regain my flesh this summer, by the use of the Pills. I shal continue taking them for some time to come.

Yours truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Dr. Quain's Pills the Remedy for Soldiers' Aches and Pains.

WEST LEBANON, ME., June 1, 1875.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I am now able to walk out every day, and am gaining in strength very fast, all of which is due to you as agent for the best Pills in the world. I have taken no other medicine, and my improvement has been steady since first taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done everything for me, and I will say to you, advertise them direct to the soldiers, for they will certainly cure them of aches and pains caused from exposure and hardship on the field. Please send me by return mail another package.

JOHN W. LORD.

Rheumatism for Twenty Years Cured by One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills—"The Best Medicine in the World."

EAST ANDOVER, N. H., Dec. 10, 1875.

MR. LANE—Dear Sir:—As I know the value of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS and the good they have done me, I take pleasure in giving them praise; so I send you another testimonial. My health has been troubled with rheumatism for twenty years or more, and nothing relieved everything that could be bought of, but to no good. At times it would be so bad that he could not lift his hand to his head or do any work, at all, especially in cold weather. A short time ago I advised him to get some of these Pills. He believed nothing in them, but I gave him the last package I had of you, as I did not need them, and he has not been as free from the Rheumatic Complaint for years. No Rheumatism, no pain. Who helped him? It was DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, the best medicine in the world. There is nothing like them. I know it, for I have tried them, and they are all, yes, more than they are recommended to be. Give them a fair trial and you will say so. I write this because I know the goodness of them and wish others to know the same. Some may think I am telling a big story I am. But remember I am not giving them half the praise they ought to have.

Yours with respect, ED. F. PEVARE.

DAINGERFIELD, MORRIS CO., TEXAS, Nov. 15, '75.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I have been afflicted for near twelve years with Neuralgia in the face and head. I tried I do not know how many physicians, and spent many dollars without relief. I also tried many patent medicines with the same result. I have been confined to my room most all the time for eight or ten years, and have been traveling and visiting medical springs, and I still suffered most terribly. The physicians have pronounced my case the worst and most stubborn that they had had anything to do with. One told me I could never get well; they did all they could, and I came home in the winter, and thought that was the only chance for me, and I was trying to get ready to go to Florida, when through the kindness of Rev. H. M. Mathis, my attention was called to the advertisement of Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. I immediately wrote to you for a package. I have taken four doses and I am almost free from pain. The impression here seems to be that I owe my life to your medicine. I recommend your pills to everybody. I have five applications to send for the pills. Enclosed please find three dollars; send five packages to me and one to Mrs. Amberson, Sherman Sulphur Springs, Hopkins county, Texas.

Yours truly, J. S. PATTON.

Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache.

LAGONIA, N. H., Jan. 29, 1875.

MR. THOS. W. LANE—Sir:—I have been troubled with Bad Blood, Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done me more good than all the medicine I ever took; I have taken considerable medicine within the last five years. For the nerves I think there is nothing so good as those pills. I can recommend them to all who are similarly afflicted, they have done me so much good. I think they will recommend themselves wherever they go. I shall recommend those Pills to all who need them. Please send me two packages more, one for myself and one for a lady friend of mine. Many thanks to the inventor, agent and advertiser of those Pills.

MRS. P. L. ELLIOTT.

PULMOCINE.

BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL

is no new discovery. Twenty-three years ago it was used by one of New England's most famous physicians as the best Pulmonary Curative he could prescribe, after a dozen years spent in experimenting with it before it was satisfied that the Materia Medica could add nothing in its favor.

Is the ultima thule of Medical Discovery.

Among its many ingredients are Wild Cherry Bark, Squill Root, Liquorice Root, Blood root, &c. It is a Blood Purifier, gently stimulating. It increases expectoration and is diuretic. It is sudorific and alterative. It is a necessary family medicine. It is a Tonic and a powerful aid to the digestive organs. It is a gentle sedative, and relieves nervousness. It is aromatic and agreeable to the taste.

CLEAR YOUR THROAT!

Relieve Your Lungs.

For the terrible diseases engendered by the lung trying climate of New England.

PULMOCINE CORDIAL

is a speedy and reliable Preventive and Remedy. Every Family should have a bottle at hand to check the sudden growth of all Pulmonary Diseases. For the Asthma, Coughs, Croups, Laryngitis, or Inflammation of the larynx, Diphtheria, and all kindred Throat Diseases at all times prevalent, it is the ounce of Prevention. Children attacked with Whooping Cough or Croup should be immediately cared for. These painful attacks come with scarcely a moment's warning, when a physician may be out of immediate reach. A dose of PULMOCINE CORDIAL gives speedy relief, and the little ones are spared hours of pain and agony. As "a stitch in time saves nine," so does the possession of this Family Medicine prevent the spread of disease. Parents seeing their children gasping with pain, friends and relatives beholding each other in peril from suffocation by the choking pain in the throat, paralyzed with fear and not knowing the best course to pursue, are liable to apply the wrong remedial agents. There is no safety in delay, no time to waste in such cases. CONSUMPTION, that fearful scourge of the human race, lies at the door of all thus afflicted. BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL arrests it (unless in its advanced stage at which time there is no local cure) relieves the pressing, suffocating feeling at the lungs, and the patient's danger is past.

For Coughs,

Croup,

Diphtheria,

Asthma, etc.,

—USE—!

Buchman's Pulmocine Cordail.

The Pulmocine Cordial is not a quack medicine, is not an experiment, is not composed of any ingredients "discovered" by "walking in pastures" in South America or anywhere else, nor by one who discovered a weed and thereby cured himself. Most of the ingredients are such as our best educated physicians daily use for the complaints specified in some form or other. The recipe is that perfected by one of New England's most learned and famous physicians, who used it entirely in his daily practice until his death. Its offered to the profession and to the public, absolutely pure and unadulterated.

OF

FOREIGN LITERATURE.

THIRTY-THIRD YEAR.

THE ECLECTIC reprints from the foreign Quarterlies, Reviews, Magazines, and Journals, their choicest contents, including Essays, Scientific Papers, Biographical Sketches, Reminiscences of Travel and Adventure, Tales, Stories, and Poems. The field of selection is very large, and it is believed that the ECLECTIC presents a greater variety and higher standard of literature than any periodical can hope to do that depends exclusively upon home talent. A knowledge of the current literature of other countries is indispensable to all who would keep pace with the progress of the human mind; and the ECLECTIC offers the best, and, indeed, the only opportunity for obtaining this knowledge within a reasonable compass, and at a moderate price.

Among the writers represented in recent numbers of the ECLECTIC are: The Rt. Hon. W. E. Gladstone, James Anthony Froude, Matthew Arnold, Charles Kingsley, Robert Buchanan, Geo. McDonald, John Ruskin, Alfred Tennyson, Thomas Hughes, William Black, Mrs. Oliphant, Thos. Hardy, William Morris, Miss Thackeray, Mrs. Alexander, Profs. Huxley and Tyndall, R. A. Proctor, R. A. Proctor, Geo. Ewing, W. B. Carpenter, Max Muller, J. Norman Lockyer, Herbert Spencer, and others equally eminent. Besides the regular articles in the body of the magazine, there are four original Editorial Departments: Literary Notices, Foreign Literary Notes, Science and Art, and Varieties.

With regard to the character of the selections, the aim of the ECLECTIC is to be instructive without being dull, and entertaining without being trivial. While each number contains something to interest every member of the family circle, it addresses itself particularly to that great body of intelligent readers who seek profit as well as amusement in solid and healthful literature.

Besides the 128 pages of reading matter, each number of the magazine contains a Fine Steel-Engraving (usually a portrait—executed in the most artistic manner.

TERMS.—Single copies, 45 cents; one copy one year $5; two copies, $9; five copies, $20. Trial subscriptions for three months, $1.

The ECLECTIC and any $4 Magazine to one address, $8.

EDMUND BURKE, Late Commissioner of Patents.

BOSTON, October 19, 1870.

R. H. EDDY, Esq.—Dear Sir: You procured for me, in 1840, my first patent. Since then you have acted for and advised me in hundreds of cases, and procured many patents, reissues and extensions. I have occasionally employed the best agencies in New York, Philadelphia and Washington, but I still give you almost the whole of my business, in your line, and advise others to employ you.

Yours truly, GEORGE DRAPER.

WHAT PAYS?

IT PAYS every Manufacturer, Merchant, Mechanic, Inventor, or Professional Man, to keep informed on all the improvements and discoveries of the age.

It pays the head of every family to introduce into his household a newspaper that is instructive, one that fosters a taste for investigation, and promotes thought and encourages discussion among the members.

The Scientific American

which has been published weekly for the last thirty-one years, does this, and is in extent beyond that of any other publication; in size it is the only weekly paper published in the United States, devoted to Manufactures, Mechanics, Inventions and New Discoveries in the Arts and Sciences.

Every number is profusely illustrated and its contents embrace the latest and most interesting information pertaining to the Industrial, Mechanical, and Scientific Progress of the world; Descriptions, with Beautiful Engravings, of New Inventions, New Implements, New Processes, and Improved Industries of all kinds; Useful Notes, Recipes, Suggestions and Advice by Practical Writers, for Workm n and Employers, in all the various arts, forming a complete repository of New Inventions and Discoveries; containing a weekly record, not only of the progress of the Industrial Arts in our own country, but also of all New Discoveries and Inventions in every branch of Engineering, Mechanics and Science abroad.

THE SCIENTIFIC AMERICAN has been the foremost of all industrial publications for the past thirty-one years. It is the oldest, largest, cheapest, and the best weekly illustrated paper devoted to Engineering; Mechanics, Chemistry, New Inventions, Science and Industrial Progress, published in the world.

The practical Recipes are well worth ten times the subscription price, and for the shop and house will save many times the cost of subscription.

Merchants, Farmers, Mechanics, Engineers, Inventors, Manufacturers, Chemists, Lovers of Science, and People of all Professions, will find the SCIENTIFIC AMERICAN useful to them. It should have a place in every Family, Library, Shop, Office and Counting Room; in every Reading Room, College and School. A new volume commences January 1st, 1877.

A year's numbers contain 832 pages and SEVERAL HUNDRED ENGRAVINGS. Thousands of volumes are preserved for binding and reference. Terms, $3.20 a year by mail, including postage. Discount to Clubs. Special circulars, giving Club rates sent free. Single copies mailed on receipt of 10 cents. May be had of all News Dealers.

PATENTS, American, Messrs. MUNN & Co., are Solicitors of American and Foreign Patents, and have the largest establishment in the world. More than fifty thousand applications have been made for patents through their agency.

Patents are obtained on the best terms. Models of New Inventions and Sketches examined, and advice free. A special notice is made in the Scientific American of all Inventions Patented through this Agency, with the name and residence of the Patentee. Patents are often sold in part or in whole, to persons attracted to the Invention by such notice. A Pamphlet, containing full directions for obtaining Patents sent free. The Scientific American Reference Book, a volume bound in cloth and gilt, containing the Patent Laws, Census of the U. S., and 142 Engravings of mechanical movements. Price 25 Cents.

PULMOCINE.

Lippincott's Magazine.

AN ILLUSTRATED MONTHLY OF POPULAR LITERATURE, SCIENCE, and ART.

Announcement for 1877.

The number for January begins the nineteenth volume of this Magazine, and while its past record will, it is hoped, be deemed a sufficient guarantee of future excellence, no efforts will be spared to diversify its attractions and to provide an increased supply of Popular Reading in the Best and Most Emphatic Sense. The great object and constant aim of the conductors will be to furnish the public with Literary Entertainment of a Refined and Varied Character, as well as to present in a graphic and striking manner the most recent information and soundest views on subjects of General Interest; in a word, to render LIPPINCOTT'S MAGAZINE strikingly distinctive in those features that are most attractive in Magazine Literature. The contributions now on hand, or specially engaged, embrace a highly attractive list of Tales, Short Stories, Descriptive Sketches, Narratives, Papers on Science and Art, Poems, Popular Essays, Literary Criticisms, etc., etc., by talented and well known writers. A large proportion of the articles, especially those descriptive of travel, will be profusely and beautifully illustrated. The pictorial embellishments of the Magazine constitute one of its many attractive features.

In addition to the general attractions of LIPPINCOTT'S MAGAZINE, the Publishers would invite attention to the following

SPECIAL FEATURES FOR 1877.

1. A new serial story,

"THE MARQUIS OF LOSSIE,"

by George Macdonald, author of "Malcolm," "Alec Forbes," "Robert Falconer," etc.

To those of our readers who are familiar with "Malcolm," this new story from the pen of this distinguished writer will need no recommendation, and his reputation is a guarantee to others of a deeply interesting and powerful story. It begins in the November number, which issue, with the December part, will be furnished gratis to all new subscribers for 1877.

2. A profusely illustrated series of sketches of

by Prof. Wilhelm Fiske, of Cornell University, who is thoroughly familiar with Sweden and its People from personal observation.

3. A series of popular papers on

ART AND ART MATTERS,

by Edward Strahan (Earl Shinn), author of "The New Hyperion," etc.

4. Illustrated Sketches of Travel, entitled

PICTURES FROM SPAIN,

by Edward King, author of "The Great South," etc.

5. Mrs. Lucy H. Hooper's Interesting and Piquant

PAPERS AND LETTERS FROM PARIS,

will be continued through the year.

THE BEAUTIES OF THE RHINE,

will be described in a richly illustrated series of papers.

During the year will appear a number of handsomely illustrated short articles, descriptive of Life, Travel and Adventure in the United States, England, South America, Japan, Mongolia, and other countries.

AMONG THE BEST PEOPLE.

I.—IT PUBLISHES ALL THE NEWS. The servant of no man, the slave of no party, it can afford to and does tell the truth about all.

II.—IT IS IMPARTIAL AND INDEPENDENT. Believing in intelligent suffrage, it aims to furnish voters the fullest and fairest information, to qualify them for the wisest discharge of their responsibility.

III.—IT IS, AS IT ALWAYS WAS, ESSENTIALLY REPUBLICAN. It may quarrel in the future, as it has done in the past, with errors of republican leaders or corruptions in the republican party; but it can never cease to be true to republican principles and especially to those golden doctrines of civil service reform, hard money, the sanctity of the National faith, and the maintenance of the Union and the South, which formed the corner-stones of Gov. Hayes' admirable inaugural.

IV.—ITS MORAL TONE IS PURE AND ELEVATED. The family circle is never profaned by anything which appears in the columns of THE TRIBUNE.

V.—THE CHOICEST STANDARD AND CURRENT LITERATURE of the day is presented in its columns, including Current Discussions, Poems, Stories, and reviews from the most talented and popular writers

VI.—IT IS THE BEST AND CHEAPEST FARMER'S PAPER PUBLISHED. "THE WEEKLY TRIBUNE has done more to make good farmers than any other influence which ever existed."

VII.—THE MARKET REPORTS of THE TRIBUNE are indispensable to every buyer and seller in the country. Quotations are given daily and weekly of almost every article bought and sold in the markets of the world, with unvarying and the highest infallible accuracy. Its Cattle, Butter and Cheese, and other Markets are the recognized standard.

VIII.—MORE COPIES OF THE TRIBUNE are paid for and read by the American people than of any other newspaper of equal price in the country—a fact which is the best demonstration of the value of the paper.

IX.—THE READERS of THE TRIBUNE represent largely the intelligence, the business and minds of the country. Persons who are interested in pure politics, the advance of science, and the progress of opinion, will find their demands met by THE TRIBUNE.

X.—PUBLIC APPROVAL AND PROSPERITY have rewarded the independent and self-respecting course of THE TRIBUNE. It has a larger and stronger corps of earnest workers among its friends than ever before, and constantly receives from old and new readers words of encouragement.

LITTELL'S LIVING AGE FOR 1877. The continued and increasing favor with which this periodical now over thirty-three years old) is doubtless owing to the fact that it affords a comprehensive and cheap means of keeping well informed in the best literature of the day. With its weekly issue, and its three and a quarter thousand large pages of reading matter a year, it is enabled to present with promptness and satisfactory completeness able essays and reviews, choice serial and short stories, interesting sketches of travel and discovery, poetry, and valuable biographical, historical, scientific and political information from the entire body of foreign periodical literature.

In its pages are represented all the leading authors as Prof. Max Müller, Prof. Tyndall, Rt. Hon. W. E. Gladstone, Dr. W. B. Carpenter, Prof. Huxley, Richard A. Proctor, Frances Power Cobbe, The Duke of Argyll, Jas. A. Froude, Mulock, Mrs. Oliphant, Mrs. Alexander, Miss Thackeray, Jean Ingelow, Geo. McDonald, Wm. Black, Matthew Arnold, Henry Kingsley, W. W. Story, Aurbach, Rhoda Broughton, Tennyson, Browning, and many other leaders in science, fiction, history, criticism, philosophy, poetry, theology, politics, criticism and art.

The subscription price ($8 a year,) is cheap for the amount of reading furnished; while for those desiring the cream of both home and foreign literature, the publishers offer, as the cheapest offer, viz., to send, postpaid, The Living Age and either one of the American $4 monthlies, or weeklies, a year for $10.50. With The Living Age and one of the leading American monthlies, a subscriber will at small cost, be put in "command of the whole situation."

An extra offer, also, is made to all new subscribers for 1877, viz.: to send them gratis the six numbers of 1876, containing, besides other valuable matter, the first installments of a new and unusually powerful serial story by George MacDonald, now appearing in The Living Age from advance sheets.

The volume begins Jan. 1st, and we recommend the periodical to the attention of our readers. We know of no other way in which so much of the best work of the best minds of the time can be obtained so cheaply and conveniently as through this standard weekly magazine. Published by Littell & Gay, Boston.

CHILDREN TEETHING

MRS. WINSLOW'S

SOOTHING SYRUP!

For Children Teething,

greatly facilitates the process of teething, by softening the gums, reducing all inflammation—will allay ALL PAIN and spasmodic action, and is

Sure to Regulate the Bowels.

Depend upon it, mothers, it will give rest to yourselves, and

Relief and Health to Your Infants.

We have put up and sold this article for years, and CAN SAY IN CONFIDENCE AND TRUTH of it, what we have never been able to say of any other medicine—NEVER HAS IT FAILED, IN A SINGLE INSTANCE, to effect a CURE, when timely used. Never did we know an instance of dissatisfaction by any one who used it. On the contrary, all who have used it are loud in its commendation, speaking of highest commendation of its magical effects and medical virtues. We speak in this matter "WHAT WE DO KNOW," after years of experience, AND PLEDGE OUR REPUTATION FOR THE FULFILMENT OF WHAT WE HERE DECLARE. In almost every instance where the infant is suffering from pain and exhaustion, relief will be found in fifteen or twenty minutes after the syrup is administered.

This valuable preparation has been used with NEVER FAILING SUCCESS in

Thousands of Cases.

It not only relieves the child from pain, but invigorates the stomach and bowels, corrects acidity, and gives rest and health to the whole system. It will almost instantly relieve

Griping in the Bowels and Wind Colic.

We believe it the BEST AND SUREST REMEDY IN THE WORLD, in all cases of DYSENTERY and DIARRHŒA IN CHILDREN, whether it arises from teething, or from any other cause. We would say to every mother who has a child suffering from any of the foregoing complaints—do not let your prejudices, nor the prejudices of others, stand between your suffering child and the relief that will be SURE and ABSOLUTELY SURE—to follow the use of this medicine, if timely used. Full directions for using will accompany each bottle.

THE SUN.

The different editions of THE SUN during the next year will be the same as during the year that has just passed. The daily edition will on week days be a sheet of four pages, and will contain twelve of eight pages, or 56 broad columns; while the weekly edition will be a sheet of eight pages of the same dimensions and character that are already familiar to our friends.

THE SUN will continue to be the strenuous advocate of reform and retrenchment, and of the substitution of statesmanship, wisdom, and integrity for hollow pretence, imbecility, and legerdemain in the administration of public affairs. It will contend for the government of the people by the people and for the people, as opposed to government by frauds in the ballot-box and in the counting of votes, enforced by military violence. It will endeavor to supply its readers,—a body now not far from one million of souls—with the most careful, complete, and trustworthy accounts of current events, and, it may be, for this purpose a numerous and carefully selected staff of reporters and correspondents will be sent from Washington, especially, will be full, accurate and fearless; and it will doubtless continue to deserve and enjoy the hatred of those who thrive by plundering the Treasury or by usurping what the law does not give them, while it will endeavor to merit the confidence of the public by defending the rights of the people against the encroachments of unjustified power.

The price of the daily SUN will be 55 cents a month or $6.50 a year, post paid, or with the Sunday edition $7.70 a year.

The SUNDAY edition alone, eight pages, $1.20 a year, post paid.

The WEEKLY SUN, eight pages of 56 broad columns, will be furnished during 1877 at the rate of $1 a year, post paid.

The benefit of this large reduction from the previous rate of 1876 will be wholly to be enjoyed by individual subscribers without the necessity of making up clubs. At the same time, if any of our friends choose to act as agents for the publication, we shall be grateful to them, and every such person who sends us ten or more subscribers from one place will be entitled to one copy of the paper for himself without charge. At one dollar a year, postage paid, the expenses of paper and printer, which must repaid; and, considering the size of the sheet and the quality of its contents, we are confident the people will consider THE SUN the cheapest and ablest newspaper published in the world, and we trust also one of the very best. COMBINED PAPERS—FORTY-SEVENTH YEAR!!

THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN.

THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN is published weekly on the following terms, when paid strictly in advance: ONE COPY, one year, $2.00; Four Copies, $10, and an additional copy for the year free to the sender of the Club. TEN COPIES, $20, and an additional copy for the year free to the sender of the Club.

THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN possesses an unequaled Corps of Correspondents, regular and occasional, among the Best Farmers of All Parts of the Country, and constantly reflects the practical condition and progress of the husbandry of every section of the United States and civilized world.

THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN gives in its Horticultural Department a continuous variety of information and suggestions, equal or superior in the aggregate to what is obtained in the monthly numbers of most magazines devoted to Horticulture.

THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN has probably done as much as all other Journals combined, to introduce and disseminate improved Stock of every kind through the country; and commands to a greater degree than any contemporary, the confidence and support of breeders and purchasers.

THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN contains unusually full and trustworthy Market Reports, and devotes special attention to them and to the Rural Arts and Crops, as throwing light upon one of the most important of all questions—When to Buy and When to Sell.

THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN embraces numerous minor departments of a practical character, such as the Dairy, the Poultry Yard, the Apiary, the Vineyard, and so on, and weekly presents a column or two for the Housewife, and an interesting variety of Fireside Reading. It contains a well-edited review of Current Events, and its advertising pages furnish a directory of all the principal agricultural and horticultural establishments of the country.

Sam. Bowles' Compromise Idea.

In the Supreme Court room, when the Commission was about to meet in secret session, the messengers were ordered to clear the chamber. At the mere announcement that the Commission desired the room cleared everybody left, except a middle-aged, ordinary sized, full-bearded man, who went within the bar and took a seat at one of the attorney's tables. A messenger went to him and, tapping him on the shoulder, said:

"You must retire, mister, the Commission is to meet in secret session."

"In a moment," answered the stranger.

"But you must come now; no spectators are allowed here."

"I have a word to say to the Commission," was the response. "I am entirely non-partisan, and have a suggestion to offer."

The messenger thinking he was an insane man—many of whom come to the capital with one mania or another—seized him by the arm and attempted to remove him by force. The Commission were just taking their seats on the bench.

"Just one moment," gasped the stranger, "just one moment, I beg you, in the name of 45,000,000 of anxious people."

"What does the man want?" asked Justice Clifford.

The messenger released him.

"If the honorable Commission will allow me a word," said the stranger, "I would like to make a suggestion."

"Are you an objector or an attorney?" asked the presiding Justice.

"Neither; I represent the non-partisan press, and from a totally unbiassed standpoint I wish to suggest a basis of compromise which will be acceptable to the honorable Commission, I have no doubt, and carry with it the confidence of the people. I desire to suggest that the Commission agree upon a compromise with Charles Francis Adams as President."

"Take him out!" roared Justice Clifford to the messenger; "remove him at once."

The messenger obeyed orders and rushed the stranger out into the corridor, when he sought refuge in the bosom of a friend until he could control his emotion, and then went to the House reporters' gallery and asked if there was a ticket of admission for Samuel Bowles.—Cor. N. Y. Graphic.

Too Many Varieties.

Ninety persons out of every hundred who set out fruit trees for home use or market, indulge in too many varieties. This one fatal error has ruined more fruit growers than all other causes combined. Nurserymen propagate their hundreds and thousands of sorts, simply because a majority of their customers do not know what they want and will not take the advice of men who do. The prevailing passion with the novice in fruit culture is to try as many varieties as possible, and we have known men who had "just begun," and with very little capital, to go into a nursery and undertake to make a short purse go a long way, by purchasing a tree or two of each variety, instead of acting the wiser part, selecting from a number of trees a few of the very best.

The man who cultivates fruit for profit had better confine himself to only a few, and those known to be adapted to his soil and climate. Our promological, horticultural and agricultural societies are perhaps somewhat at fault in this matter, for they invariably offer the largest premium for the greatest number of varieties, and it is not strange that there should be some strife for the highest prize. The man who only exhibits a dozen varieties of pears by the side of another who spreads out a collection of two or three hundred, appears to be rather "small potatoes," although he may be in reality the more extensive cultivator of the two, and deserves more credit for possessing wisdom enough to avoid such indiscriminate planting of second rate sorts. Moore's Rural.

Moody on Miracles.

In his Chicago addresses Mr. Moody claimed that the age of miracles was not past, and told the interesting story of one having been worked upon him. When he began his serious labors he suffered a good deal from one of his legs being shorter than the other, which gave him a halting gait and soon wearied him. One night, when especially weary, he carried his grievance directly to the Lord, saying, according to his own account—"Well, Lord, I can't stand this; if you want me to do your work, you must give me good legs to do it with," and thereupon went trustingly to bed. When he got up the next morning his legs were even, and he had to go to a shoemaker and have his boots altered so that he could wear them.

—Logical—Lady (to shopman, after making him turn over all the stock)—"There, that's exactly the quality I want, but it is green, and I want plum color." Insinuating Shopman—"You can't do better than take this. Besides, ma'am, it is plum color." Lady—"What? Plum color?" Young shopman—"Certainly. Only the plums are not ripe." —Arthur Chambers, the pugilist, keeps a drinking saloon in Philadelphia, and his advertisement offers the following inducement to customers: "The skeleton hands of Tom Hyer and Yankee Sullivan on exhibition at the bar."

News and Notes.

Simon Cameron, now nearly eighty years of age, is defendant in a breach-of-promise suit brought against him by Miss Mary S. Oliver, aged forty or thereabouts. Miss Oliver asks $50,000 as a salve for her wounded feelings.

Henry Barrows of Pelham, Mass., a farmer, hanged himself Friday morning in a fit of insanity.

The State Council of Sovereigns of Industry of Maine will meet in Augusta on the 21st inst.

Samuel Cantrell, of New York, a very wealthy retired merchant, shot himself to death on Friday, through fear of coming to poverty.

Troops have arrived at Greensboro, N. C., preparatory to making a raid on illicit distilleries in the mountain regions in that State. The illicit distillers of North and South Carolina and Georgia have, of late, been carrying on this business in the most open manner, and when raided on by revenue officials have made armed resistance, and during the past three weeks have killed three or four Government officers. During the past few days the revenue officers, assisted by United States troops, have captured over forty illicit distilleries in the State of Georgia. The Government is organizing a raid on this class of law-breakers in South Carolina. Revenue officers and troops are stationed at various points in North and South Carolina, and it is hoped that illicit distillation in these two States will soon be broken up.

Who shall persist longer in calling woman's the weaker sex? There was Miss Jennie Dailey, daughter of ex-Judge Dailey, on Wednesday night, going through all the musical intricacies and complications of a solo at an entertainment in a Williamsburg lyceum. The place was crowded to excess, and one of Miss Dailey's leaves of music fluttered away from her, fell on the footlights, commenced to blaze, and the audience, full of Brooklyn Theatre horror recollections, began to rush. Miss Dailey, expensively gloved, white-kidded—three, may be six-buttoned—brought her graceful proportions to a lean-over, grasped the burning music in her expensive, immaculate kid, squeezed it and smothered it, regardless of ruin to $3 glove. Vocal impromptu fire department was successful; the panic was stopped, and Miss Dailey resumed her solo. N. Y. Paper.

Schooner Jolly Tar of St. Margaret's Bay has been lost at Boone Bay, Newfoundland. All hands drowned.

At Franklin, Ind., Friday morning, R. T. Taylor, the defaulting cashier of the First National Bank, was found in the back room of a doctor's office in an unconscious and apparently dying condition. He was removed to his own residence. The doctors declare him insane. He had no money with him, but said his travelling bag, supposed to contain the money taken from the bank, was left in a caboose car. It is believed the loss to the bank will reach $175,000. The general ledger and other books of importance are still missing.

At Hampshire Hall, Boston, Friday evening, about forty of those dissatisfied with the action of the Convention held in that place, Wednesday and Thursday, to consider the condition of the poor, held a meeting and ventilated their ideas. Two of the speakers expressed a hope that 100,000 of the poor of Boston would rise and butcher the wealthy citizens if they did not share a portion of their money with them. This was a little too revolutionary for most of those present and they thereupon cleared out.

The contention in the Direct Cable Company has done good by the information it has elicited respecting transatlantic telegraphy. The rivals represent a very large amount of capital, $35,000,000 being nominally invested in the Anglo-American and $6,000,000 in the Direct Company. The latter with only one cable has now acquired 31 per cent. of the ocean telegraphing, thereby reducing considerably the traffic of the older corporation. This inroad upon a dangerous monopoly of course chiefly benefited this country, since Canada yields only three per cent. of the total traffic. The Direct Company is essentially a foreign corporation, only 172 of its 65,000 shares being held in this country. The support it receives here and from the London press is therefore clearly due to public interest in the maintenance of a healthy rivalry in the telegraphic business of the two continents. As many as 58,520 shares were represented at the recent voting. Although it was attended with great complexity, the monopolists met a signal defeat. The attempt will doubtless be renewed to quench the greed for large dividends at the public expense.—New York Tribune.

Trinity church, Boston, was consecrated on Friday. This church has cost fully $750,000, and there is not a dollar of debt on it. At the administration of the Lord's Supper in connection with the services of consecration an incident occurred illustrative of the growing harmony among the clergy of all denominations. Among the congregation were Rev. Edward Everett Hale, Rev. Rufus Ellis, Rev. James Freeman Clarke and other Unitarian clergymen, who approached the altar and received the Holy Communion at the hands of the Episcopal Bishops. It is doubtful if such an occurrence was ever witnessed before.

Charles Henry Simpson and Martin Henry, both colored men, were hung at Port Tobacco, Maryland, on Friday, for the murder of John W. Everett in July last.

Schooner General Grant, of Gloucester, struck a rock off Long Harbor, N. S., and is a total wreck. Crew saved.

Probably no two hotels in the country have been so much looked up to and talked of as models to be imitated and emulated as the Tremont and Revere Houses of Boston, and in the lusty winter of their age they still defy the competition of many of their more pretentious rivals. Messrs. Chapin, Gurney & Co. now manage both houses, than whom none know better how to minister to the wants of sojourners at a hotel. Both houses are well patronized, and continue to be famous as resorts for the most distinguished artists, diplomats, and scions of nobility.

Among the most interesting articles which the Old South collection has been the means of bringing to light lately are a pair of ballot boxes, found in an old chest which was formerly the property of Gen. Joseph Warren. The chest was part of the furniture of the old Warren House at Roxbury and has remained in the possession of the family. General Warren was a members of St. Andrew's Lodge and Grand Master of the Masons of Massachusetts. Such articles as those in question would naturally have been entrusted to his keeping, and the quaint old chest was a most appropriate receptacle for them. The boxes are in a very good state of preservation, and are well filled with black and white balls. They are deposited in the collection by a member of the family.

The Boston & Maine Trouble.

The Committee appointed by the locomotive engineers in the employ of the Boston & Maine Railroad corporation who are dissatisfied with their present condition and treatment by the officials, having submitted a list of propositions which were utterly ignored by President White, they at once telegraphed for Mr. P. McArthur of Cleveland, Ohio, Grand Chief Engineer of the Locomotive Brotherhood. Upon his arrival in Boston he at once consulted with the engineers and addressed a communication to President White, requesting an interview with that gentleman and a Committee of the engineers for the purpose of coming to an amicable settlement if possible, but that official declined and would listen to no proposition whatever. There being no other alternative the Committee submitted the following final propositions Friday afternoon:

"BOSTON, Feb. 1, 1877.

To the President and Superintendent of the Boston and Maine Railroad: We, the undersigned, a Committee representing the locomotive engineers in your employ, most respectfully submit the following propositions for your approval:

First—On and after Feb. 1st all engineers who have been in the company for the term of two years shall receive $3.50 per day, the present schedule and miles run per day to constitute a day's work.

Second—All firemen promoted by the company to the position of engineer shall receive, for the first year, $2.50 per day for the same service.

Third—For the second year they shall receive $3 per day for the same service.

Fourth—All engineers running shifters shall receive $3.25 per day, provided they have been in the employ of the company two years.

Fifth—The oldest men in the employ of the company to have the preference of trains and engines when vacant, if found competent and worthy; and in case of a surplus of men the work to be equally divided among the whole."

These propositions were also ignored by the President, and as all efforts on the part of the engineers to secure a peaceful compliance with what they demand as their rights, it has been determined to strike, and McArthur states that in so doing they will be supported by some 12,000 engineers. In anticipation of trouble upon the line of the road, and in response to a telegram from Reading, Superintendent Furber with a number of men went to that place Friday evening.

Political.

It is several weeks since David Dudley Field seized the bank accounts of Hon. Z. Chandler and Hon. R. C. McCormick, officers of the National Republican Committee. When will the Senate Committee examine the accounts of Col. Pelton, Messrs. Hewitt, Borman and Tilnen? Let us know how the bar'l of money was used by the party of purity and reform.

While the democrats are bemoaning the "partisanship" of the High Tribunal, perhaps it may comfort them to know that their distinguished counsel, Judge Jerry Black, has invented yet another brand-new way of settling the dispute. As the Judge expounds it to his friends in Washington, its charming simplicity is only equalled by its thoroughness. "Count Cronin," says the Judge. "Thus throw the election into Congress. Let the House elect Tilden. Let the Senate elect Wheeler. Then kill Tilden, and thus the whole affair will be promptly settled without bloodshed!" Most of Judge Black's friends in Washington seem to entertain the same kindly estimate of the man they are struggling to get into the Presidential chair.—Tribune.

When Mr. Charles O'Conor said in his argument before the Commission that no honest man could say that the Hayes electors of Florida were elected without blushing, Mr. Evarts replied, "I can say so without blushing, and I believe that I am an honest man." If Mr. O'Conor heard it, his gentlemanly instincts must have made him blush.—Wash. Repub.

The Electoral bill assumes a more rosate hue in the opinion of some editors as the probability of a decision favorable to their side increases. Thus the Council Bluffs Nonpareil says: "A careful review of the situation as it now presents itself convinces us that the Electoral bill means Hayes. We didn't like the measure when it was broached, and we don't like it now, but we accept its meaning with a cheerful promptness bordering on alacrity."

The public will be surprised to learn that it has misjudged the democratic party. The discovery has been made by the Raleigh (N. C.) Sentinel, a journal which appears to be impressed with the "dignified silence" of its party in connection with the Presidential question. It says: "What the bearing of the democratic party has been, every man knows. Not a democrat's voice has been raised in threat; not a democratic shot has been fired. The democrats have been restrained from holding meetings lest they should alarm timid people. Since November last they have preserved the most dignified silence, waiting in perfect confidence for the final judgment of the law. A sublimer instance of self-government by a people has never been seen in the history of the race." The confounding of the democratic party with the people in the last sentence is the best thing since the three tailors of Tooley-street.

Ex-Detective James White, on trial in the United States District Court at Cincinnati, charged with procuring illegal votes to be cast at the late Presidential election, was on Friday found guilty and remanded for sentence. He is a "reformer," of course.

President Grant is the target of a deal of abuse for his alleged pardoning of all the whiskey thieves. As usual this abuse has one part of fact to nine parts of fiction to rest upon. McDonald, one of the parties pardoned, is so ill of consumption that he cannot live but a short time, while McKee is a broken down, old man. Maguire, once a personal friend of the President, and Joyce are serving out their sentences, all efforts to secure pardon being fruitless.

—Admiral Porter once paid a visit to the late Admiral Alden as they were lying in the Mississippi river, waiting for an upward movement. A rebel battery on shore sighted the steamer, and sent a few flying shot which scattered among the rigging where the men were taking a look at the country. The tars came tumbling down helter skelter. "Look here, Jim," said Admiral Porter, "I thought you told me you had a brave crew." "So I did," replied Alden, "but they ain't on duty just now."

—An organ was some time ago introduced in a parish church in the north of Scotland, and some of the members took offence and left. One of these soon after met another member and inquired "hoo the organ was gittin' on?" "O, fine," was the answer; "jist blawin' awa the chaff an' keepin' the corn."

A Wonder-Working Remedy.

No remedial agent has ever been offered to the sick and debilitated at all comparable to Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, in cases of remittent and intermittent fevers, constipation, nervous ailments, rheumatism and disorders involving constitutional weakness or physical decay. It literally "works wonders." The botanic ingredients which its spirituous basis holds in solution, act like a charm upon the brain, liver, bowels and nervous system. There is nothing in its composition that is not salubrious. It contains some of the most potent tonics of the vegetable kingdom and the juices of the best aperient and anti-bilious roots and herbs, combined with a perfectly pure stimulating element. The Bitters are peculiarly adapted to those engaged in exhausting or unhealthy occupations, as by its use strength is sustained and the ability of the system to resist atmospheric and other influences prejudicial to health largely increased.

The Colonnade Hotel.

The Colonnade Hotel, Philadelphia, Pa., by its judicious reduction of rates, will maintain its famous reputation of a model first-class house, alive to the demands of the time.

The Grand Central Hotel, New York, although the largest and finest hotel in the city, will be an exception, hereafter, to the general complaint of high prices. It has reduced from $4.00 to $2.50 and $3.00 per day.

Why throw away so much money trying worthless medicines, when for 25 cents a remedy can be procured that will cure coughs, colds, sore lungs and croup? Give it a trial. Adamson's Balsam will do it.

Important to persons visiting New York or the Centennial. The Grand Union Hotel, New York, opposite the Grand Central Depot, has over 350 elegantly furnished rooms. Elevator, steam and all improvements. European plan. Carriage hire is saved, as baggage is taken to and from the depot free. Guests can live better for less money at the Grand Union than at any other first-class hotel. Stages and cars pass the Hotel constantly to all parts of the city, and to the Philadelphia depot. dawtr1277

JOTTINGS.

The ladies of the reform club are making arrangements to hold a fair at Franklin Hall on the evenings of Feb. 27th and 28th and March 1st. Contributions are respectfully solicited.

George H. Everett, M. D., of New York, gave the first of his series of lectures at Franklin Hall Friday evening, to a large audience. The doctor paid especial attention in this lecture to diet, to the effects of certain food upon the system, in short, to what it is best to eat and what we should not eat, and gave much good, sound advice, not only his own experience but that of many. His condemnation of white flour bread, or as he termed it, bread made from flour with all that is good in the wheat thrown out, and his commendation of graham flour, oat meal, beans, and many other things that have been held up as the best for the health of the people, was strong. The second lecture, on Saturday evening, was also largely attended, ably delivered, interesting and it is to be hoped useful. The third lecture will be given this (Monday) evening. See advertisement.

In the Superior Criminal Court, at Boston, Saturday morning, the grand jury returned an indictment against Horace P. Smith, the defaulting messenger of the Eastern Railroad Corporation, who, on Tuesday, Jan. 24, fled with $6000, funds of the corporation which had been entrusted to his care to give to a conductor. It will be remembered that in order to conceal his crime for a time and thereby effect his escape, Smith placed the conductor's name upon the receipt book at the Treasurer's office, thereby adding forgery to the list of his other offences. In Court, Saturday morning, he pleaded guilty, and was remanded to jail to await sentence, which will probably be imposed on Wednesday.

The upper channel can buoy in the harbor, near the stone beacon, has been shirking its watch for several days. On Friday it kept under water nearly all the time, only showing at slack tide, and on Saturday it was not on the lookout at all. It is either full of water and sunk, or held under by the fouling of its mooring chain—most likely the former.

The Constitution of New Hampshire, as amended by the late Constitutional Convention, has been distributed in pamphlet form to the citizens of Portsmouth. Voters should carefully consider the several amendments proposed, that they may vote understandingly on the question of their adoption when the time comes. The men to be elected in March will hold office but a year or two at most; the vote for or against any or all the Constitutional Amendments will be felt for many years—possibly as long as New Hampshire is a State.

Attention is invited to the advertisement of the Inman Line of New York and Liverpool steamers, in another column. The vessels of this line are among the largest and finest afloat, ably officered and fully manned, and found in everything which experience or science has discovered or invented to increase the comfort and secure the safety of those who "go down to the sea in ships."

A SPECULATION.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 7th.

Representative Frank Jones is just now busy in distributing among the republican voters of his district two thousand copies of Ben. Perley Poore's Congressional directory, bound in a cheap showy cover, and lettered in gilt with the names of the persons to whom they are sent, and the "compliments of Frank Jones" added; the cost of this useful book in its gaudy clothing is 39 cents per copy. Of course he expects those who receive it to vote for him at the coming election. It must be considered a compliment by each of those men to reflect that Frank Jones expects to buy his vote for 39 cents. He also has a well known substitute broker from Maine busily engaged in begging or buying agricultural reports of democratic Senators and Representatives, to be used in the same way. A list of the names of those whom he estimates at thirty-nine cents could be published herewith, but it is considered best to wait and see who are captured by the bait. His lieutenant is a pretended republican, who boasts that he and Jones can carry the district for either party any time they try.

Republicans of the First District, remember that the control of the House of Representatives may turn on your votes, and don't be bought by 39-cent books, especially by a man who confidently expects to buy you. Keep watch and see how many 39-cent men he finds. SENTINEL.

Samuel Colcord's shingle mill in Exeter was burned Friday.

Franklin Holtt, of Durham, forty-nine years of age and the eldest son of Gen. Alfred Holtt, died a few days ago of dropsy. This is the first death in Gen. Holtt's family of thirteen children.

A few evenings since, Henry Clough, of East Weare, accompanied by a young lady, drove nine miles to attend a party, with a pair of four-year-old oxen attached to a wood sled. It is unnecessary to add that Mr. Clough and lady enjoyed the drive very much.

James Smith of St. Louis has presented the Peterborough Town Library with the sum of $3000. He formerly resided there and makes this gift "as a token of his regard for his native town." The library at present contains upwards of 3000 volumes, and this addition will increase its usefulness and value to a great degree.

Edward L. Perkins of Boston has brought an important bill in equity in the Circuit Court of the United States for the District of New Hampshire against the Nashua Card and Glazed Paper Company, through its officers, alleging that he (Perkins) was the first inventor of the machine for making pasteboard; that he received letters patent for the same for seven years from Nov. 28, 1876, and that the Nashua Company have infringed upon this patent. Defendants make a general denial, and contend that plaintiff was not the original inventor of said machinery for which letters patent were granted; that they are null and void, and of no force or effect, because Perkins consented and allowed his invention to be in public use for more than two years before his application for a patent.

In the Supreme Court at Exeter, the effort to break the will of Sarah A. Chase of Fremont has failed, the verdict being for the defendants. The sum involved was $20,000, principally bequeathed to the town of Fremont.

The Wilton Unitarian Society have called Rev. Mr. Tindell of Fall River.

Mrs. Justin Spear of Manchester has died from being thrown from a sleigh.

In the Supreme Court at Concord, the jury disagreed in the case of Rev. Harlan P. Gage and wife of Boston vs. the city of Concord, a suit brought to recover damages of $2500 for injury received in a fall upon the street February 6, 1875. The jury was out all night.

Francestown Savings Bank is in trouble. It is the old story of bad investments and depression of stocks. The depositors will be cut down 20 per cent.

J. L. Merrill, of Nashua, died on Friday night from the effects of drinking water that ran through lead pipe. He was formerly keeper of the city farm and was a highly respected citizen.

Rev. Silas Ketchum, late of Maplewood, Mass., a zealous antiquarian and President of the New Hampshire Antiquarian Society, has been called to the Congregational Church at Henniker.

A. J. Sherburne's stable at Pittsfield was burned Friday night; loss about $4000. Insured. Two horses were burned in the stable.

Why He Wept.

He left her and stepped out to see a friend between acts.

"Why, Edward," said she, when he returned, "there are tears in your eyes."

"Yes, pet," replied he solemnly. "I suppose there are—I saw such a sad sight when I was out."

"You did dear—what was it?" inquired she.

"Such a sad sight,"—continued he, keeping his face away that she might not smell his breath—"I discovered a young man whom I have known for years drinking whiskey."

"You did?"

"Yes, standing right in plain sight before me, partaking deeply and carelessly of the dreadful intoxicating glass."

There was a little pause, when the young lady suddenly said:

"Edward, was he standing right in front of you?"

"Yes, pet," was the reply.

There was another pause, when the young lady asked again:

"Edward, don't most of the fashionable saloon counters have great mirrors right on the walls behind them?"

Edward flushed a little and looked quizzical as he replied that he "believed" they did. And there he permitted the subject to drop.—Chicago Journal.

Who Set Fire to Richmond?

New light seems to be thrown upon the old controversy as to the responsibility for the partial destruction of Richmond at its evacuation by the Confederate forces at the close of the war. In a suit pending in the Circuit Court at Richmond, entitled Graham vs. the Mutual Assurance Society of Richmond, this question has been raised. The company sets up the defense that the burning of the city was an act of war and that it is not, therefore, liable to pay the amount which would otherwise be due upon its policies. Numerous attempts have heretofore been made to prove that Richmond was burned by order of the Confederate General Ewell, a Confederate officer having already testified that he fired the city by direct order of General Ewell. Ewell had always refused to give any evidence on this point, but in the case now pending, the attorneys have entered into a stipulation by which this fact is admitted. It is further asserted that Gen. Ewell caused the burning of the city, in obedience to a statute of the Confederate Congress requiring the officer in command at Richmond to set fire to the city whenever it fell into the hands of the Union forces.

—A mail-carrier down in Maryland conceived the happy idea of taking his sweetheart sleigh-riding. So, leaving the cumbersome mail-bags in her father's house, the twain dashed off and had a lovely time; but the gallant mail-carrier has been called to account for letting the mail go out of his possession and is likely to lose his place. Moral—a mail-carrier should not be a female carrier.

—"What did you get?" she asked as he returned from a two days deer hunt. "Got back!" was the cool reply.

Dr. A. J. Flagg's

COUGH & LUNG SYRUP.

A Safe and Sure Remedy.

The Cough and Lung Syrup

Is the remedy that during the past fifteen years has won for DR. FLAGG an extended reputation as a SPECIALIST for THROAT and LUNG Diseases. After so many years trial it can be truthfully said that it has NEVER FAILED, even in the WORST CASES. It is purely Vegetable, and its effect upon the system is at once Soothing and Tonic.

It Will Cure a Common Cold

In a few hours, not by drying it up, but by removing it from the system. TRY IT.

It will CURE a Chronic Cough, by soothing the irritated parts, and strengthening the system.

IT WILL CURE CONSUMPTION.

Even after all other remedies have failed. In the earlier stages of this disease it will effect a speedy and certain cure; and in many cases of advanced Consumption its effect has seemed almost miraculous, restoring to full strength and perfect health those whom physicians had given up as incurable. TRY IT.

IT WILL CURE CATARRH

More effectually than any other remedy, by simply removing the cause. TRY IT.

It will Cure Bronchitis, by allaying all irritation of the Throat. TRY IT.

It will Cure Asthma, affording immediate relief and a perfect cure. TRY IT.

It Will Cure Ulcerated Sore Throat.

TRY IT.

IT WILL CURE Loss of Voice, Night Sweats, Hectic Fever, AND ALL Symptoms of Consumption. TRY IT.

For every affection of the Throat and Lungs it only needs a trial to convince the most skeptical of its wonderful curative properties.

Remember that it

CURES COLDS, CURES COUGHS,
CURES CATARRH, CURES CONSUMPTION.

DR. WM. M. LADD, a leading Druggist of Claremont, certifies as follows:

For many years I have known Dr. A. J. Flagg as a success ful practicing physician, and can assure the public that his representations relative to the Cough and Lung Syrup can be strictly relied upon. It has been used in his extended practice with marvellous success, and I know it to be a I that he claims for it.

THE OLDEST ESTABLISHED HOSPITAL

UNITED STATES.

No. 9 Beaver Street, - - - Albany, N. Y

SURE CURES AND LOW PRICES.

Dr. YOUNG,

SUCCESSOR TO

Dr. TELLER,

DECEASED.

The above named private Hospital was established in Albany, in 1826 by Dr. Lindenward and for a number of years its affairs were presided over by that gentleman, but for the past 29 years, Dr. Teller, who is now deceased, transacted the business of the Institution.

Owing to the great demand for more spacious apartments on account of the large increase of business, the Hospital has been removed to No 9 Beaver Street, two doors above its old location, where patients will find magnificently furnished rooms for their reception, and are so arranged that patients do not come in contact with one another, seeing only the doctor, thereby avoiding the unpleasantness of meeting others, which always occurred at the old office.

LADIES will find rooms provided for their especial accommodation and entirely private.

YOUNG MEN, addicted to secret habits, who have impaired their health and destroyed the vigor of their minds, thus depriving themselves of the pleasures of married life and also those afflicted with private diseases of any nature, are advised that in consulting Dr. Young they will find a physician fully qualified to cure and restore them to full health and manly vigor.

Dr. Teller's great work for the married, or those contemplating marriage—100 pages—illustrated plates,—price 25 cents. Sent to all parts, under seal, by mail post paid.

TO THE LADIES—DR. YOUNG still retains the only Agency in America for the sale of Dr. Vichot's Italian Female Monthly Pills. Sent by mail on receipt of $1.00, price per box.

DR. YOUNG is the only agent for Dr. La Mott's celebrated Galvanic Belts.

Invalids out of the city can be cured by consulting the Doctor by letter, and enclosing remittance. Medicines sent by mail or express, securely packed from observation. All letters must be addressed to Dr. J. Y. E. YOUNG, 9 Beaver St., Albany, N. Y

Centaur Liniments.

The lame can be healed and the wounded made whole. We now know just what the Centaur Liniment will do. They will not mend broken bones or cure Cancer, but they will extract soreness, allay pain, cure Rheumatism and a larger range of flesh, bone and muscle ailments than any article ever before discovered.

Scientific skill cannot go beyond the effects of these remarkable preparations. Chronic Rheumatism of many years' standing, Neuralgia, Weak-Back, Fever Sores, Wounds-Sinews, Sciatica, Caked Breasts, Distorted Joints and Stunted Limbs of the worst kind are cured by the White Centaur Liniment.

It will destroy the pain and heal without a scar, all ordinary Burns and Scalds. It will extract the poison of Bites and Stings, and the frost from Frozen Limbs. It is very effective for Ear-ache, Tooth-ache, Itch and Cutaneous Eruptions.

Mr. Josiah Westlake, of Marysville, O., writes:

"For years my Rheumatism has been so bad that I have been unable to stir from the house. The first three bottles of Centaur Liniment enabled me to walk without my crutches. I am mending rapidly. I think your Liniment simply a marvel.

C. H. Bennett, Druggist, Rock Prairie, Mo., says:

"Centaur Liniment is the best and gives the best satisfaction of anything in the market."

What the Centaur Liniment has done for others it will do for you. It is handy, it is reliable, and it is cheap.

The Yellow Centaur Liniment

is worth its weight in gold to owners of horses and mules.

It is Liniment has cured more Sprained, Sweenied, Ring-boned and Galled Horses in three years than have all the Farriers in the country in as age. Its effects are simply wonderful.

We have thousands upon thousands of certificates as strong as the following:

"My horse was lame for a year with a fetlock wrench. All remedies utterly failed to cure and I considered him worthless until I commenced to use Centaur Liniment, which rapidly cured him. I heartily recommend it.

REV. GEO. W. FERRIS,
Mauerville, Schoharie Co., N. Y."

DEAR SIRS,—I have used your Centaur Liniment in my family, and find it to be of great value. P case send me two dollar's worth, one for the mules and horses. RILEY SICKLES.

FALLS STATION, WYOMING CO., PA.

It makes very little difference what the case is, whether it be Wrench, Sprain, Poll-Evil, Ringbone, Scratches or Lame ness of any kind, the effects are the same. Liveryman, Stage proprietors, Farmers, &c., should never be without the Yellow Centaur Liniment. It is sold everywhere, and warranted in its effects.

Castoria.

It is a mistake to suppose that Castoria is not adapted to grown persons as well as Children. They only need to increase the quantity. But children have so many complaints for which Castoria is adapted—like Wind Colic, Sour Stomach, Worms, Tetter, Teething and Croup, that it is especially recommended for them.

Its effects are more certain than Castor Oil. It contains no alcohol and is as pleasant to take as honey. It never gripes. By regulating the stomach and bowels the Castoria cools the blood, expels worms and prevents feverishness, quiets the nerves and produces health—then of course children can sleep in quiet and mothers can rest.

Castoria is recommended by all physicians and nurses who have tried it, and it is having a rapidly increasing sale. It is prepared with great care after the recipe of Dr. Samuel Pitcher, of Mass., at the Laboratory of J. B. Rose & Co., 46 Dey St., N. Y.

The Gentle Savage.

Barque Stonewall Jackson, at Yokohama, Japan, from New York, came near losing a boat's crew at Ombay island. The barque's log says, under date of Nov. 2, 1876: "Got boat out, and sent the second mate with a crew of eight men to see if we could get any water on the Island. Our passenger accompanied them. They landed, and at first discovered no sign of life, but were suddenly surrounded by hundred of natives, perfectly naked. The chief laid his hands on our passenger and commenced pulling at his shirt, and the other natives got hold of the crew and did the same, and seeing resistance was useless they gave up their shirts, and then the natives commenced dancing around and fighting among themselves for the shirts, while some grabbed the men's knives from their sheaths. Our passenger and second mate seeing how serious things were beginning to look, discharged their revolvers into the midst of the savages, who broke and fled for the woods, leaving on the ground bows, arrows, and clubs. Our men ran for their lives for our boat, but some of the natives started after them, and with a large stone stove our boat, but our men soon got out of their reach, and arrived on board thoroughly frightened, with no hopes of procuring water, and mine their shirts and knives. In the evening had all the arms loaded and distributed among the crew, expecting an attack, but a breeze sprung up, and we passed round the East point of Ombay Island into the Banda Sea."

ST. NICHOLAS.

"The King of all publications issued for the young on either side of the Atlantic."—Southampton (England) Observer.

The third volume of this incomparable Magazine is now completed. With its eight hundred royal octavo pages, and its six hundred illustrations, its splendid serials, its shorter stories, poems, and sketches, etc., etc., in its attractive binding of red and gold, it is the most splendid gift-book for boys and girls ever issued from the press. Price, $4; in full gilt, $5.

"ST. NICHOLAS is full of the choicest things. The publication is, in all respects, the best of its kind. We have never yet seen a number that was not surprisingly good."—The Churchman, Hartford, Conn.

ST. NICHOLAS FOR 1877,

Which opens with November, 1876, begins a short and very entertaining Serial from the French, "The Kingdom of the Greedy," a Story adapted to the Thanksgiving season. Another serial, of absorbing interest to boys,

"HIS OWN MASTER,"

By J. T. Trowbridge,

Author of the "Jack Hazard Stories," begins in the Christmas Holiday Number.

Besides these stories, Christmas stories, lively sketches, poems and pictures for the holidays, and some astonishing illustrations of Oriental sports, with drawings by Skonest artists, The Christmas Holiday Number of ST. NICHOLAS, superbly illustrated, contains a very interesting paper,

"THE BOYS OF MY BOYHOOD,"

By William Cullen Bryant;

"The Horse Hotel," a lively article, by Charles A. Barnard, splendidly illustrated; "The Clock in the Sky," by Richard A. Proctor; "A Christmas Play for Homes or Sunday-schools," by Dr. Eggleston; "The Peterkins' Christmas Tree," by Lucretia P. Hale; "Poetry and Carols of Winter," by Lucy Larcom, with pictures.

Do Not Fail to Buy St. Nicholas for the Christmas Holidays. Price 25 cents.

During the year there will be interesting papers for boys, by William Cullen Bryant, John G. Whittier, Thomas Hughes, William Howitt, Dr. Holland, George Macdonald, Sanford B. Hunt, Frank R. Stockton, and others.

There will be stories, sketches, and poems, of special interest to girls, by Harriet Prescott Spofford, Susan Coolidge, Sarah Orne Jewett, Lucy Larcom, Stuart Phelps, Louisa Alcott, Lucretia P. Hale, Celia Thaxter, Mary Mapes Dodge, and many others. There will be also

"TWELVE SKY PICTURES,"

By Prof. Proctor, the Astronomer,

with maps, showing "The Stars of Each Month," which will be likely to surpass in interest any series on astronomy recently given to the public.

Amusement and instruction, with Fun and Frolic, and Wit and Wisdom, will be mingled as heretofore, and ST. NICHOLAS will continue to delight the young and give pleasure to the old.

The London Literary World says: "There is no magazine for the young that can be placed in the hands of the choice production of SCRIBNER'S press. All the articles, whether in prose or rhyme, are throbbing with vitality. * * * The illustrations and artistic illustrations are both superb."

The London Daily News says: "We wish we could point out the equal in our own periodical literature."

GOOD NEWS FOR BOYS AND GIRLS;

To meet the demand for a cheaper ST. NICHOLAS Gift Book, the price of vols. I and II has been reduced to $3 each. The three volumes, in an elegant library case, are sold for $10 (in full gilt, $15), so that all may give their children a complete set. These volumes contain more attractive material than fifty dollars' worth of the ordinary children's books.

Subscription price, $4 a year. The three bound volumes and a subscription for this year, only $12. Subscribe with the nearest newsdealer, or send money in check, or P. O. money order, or in registered letter, to

SCRIBNER & CO., 743 Broadway, N. Y.

SCRIBNER'S MONTHLY,

An Unrivaled Illustrated Magazine.

The prospectus for the new volume gives the titles of more than fifty papers (mostly illustrated), by writers of the highest merit. Under the head of

"FOREIGN TRAVEL,"

we have "A Winter on the Nile," by Gen. McClellan; "Skaneateles, a bout Constantinople," by Charles Dudley Warner; "Out of My Window at Moscow," by Eugene Schuyler; "An American in Turkistan," etc. Three serial stories are announced:

by Dr. Holland, the Editor, whose story of "Seven-oaks" gave the highest satisfaction to the readers of the Monthly.

The scene of this latest novel is laid on the banks of the Hudson. The hero is a young man who has been always "tied to a woman's apron strings," but who, by the death of his mother, is left alone in the world,—to drift on the current of life,—with a fortune, but without a purpose.

Another serial, "His Inheritance," by Miss Trafton, will begin on the opening of "That Lass o' Lowrie's," by Mrs. Hodgson Burnett. Mrs. Burnett's story, begun in August, has a pathos and dramatic power which have been a surprise to the public.

There is to be a series of original illustrated papers on "Popular Science," by Mrs. Herrick, each paper complete in itself.

There are to be, from various pens, papers on lay practical suggestions as to town and country life, village improvements, etc., by well-known specialists.

Mr. Barnard's articles on various industries of real Britain include the history of "Some Experiments in Co-operation," "A Scottish Loof Factory," in the November number, and "Toad Lane, Rochdale," in December. Other papers are, "The British Workingman's Home," "A Nation of Shopkeepers," "Penny a Week for the Child," etc.

A richly illustrated series will be given on "American Sports by Flood and Field," by various writers, and each on a different branch. The subject of will have a prominent place, whilst the latest productions of American humorists will appear from month to month. The list of shorter stories, biographical and other sketches, etc., is a long one.

"HOUSEHOLD AND HOME DECORATION"

The editorial department will continue to employ the ablest pens both at home and abroad. There will be a series of letters on literary matters, from London, by Mr. Welford.

We mean to make the magazine sweeter and purer, higher and nobler, more genial and generous in all its utterances and influences, and a more welcome visitor than ever before in homes of refinement and culture.

FIFTEEN MONTHS FOR $4.00.

SCRIBNER for December, now ready, contains the opening chapters of "Nicholas Minturn." The three numbers of SCRIBNER for August, September, and October, containing the opening chapters of "That Lass o' Lowrie's," will be given to every new subscriber (who requests it), and whose subscription begins with the present volume, i.e., with the November number.

Subscription price, $4 a year—35 cents a number. Special terms on bound volumes. Subscribe with the nearest bookseller, or send a check or P. O. money order to

CONDITION PILLS!

The Wonderful Remedy for Liver Complaint, Biliousness, Dyspepsia, Constipation, Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Headache, Kidney Complaint, Nervousness, Scrofula, Piles, and all diseases arising from a bad state of the Blood!

Is the ultima thule of Medical Discovery.

No medicine ever offered to the public has given such universal satisfaction as Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. Their praises are on every tongue where their merits are known. They strike at once at the seat of disease and show their healing power almost immediately. Thousands of voluntary testimonials of their merits have been received by the agent, from those who have been cured by them, of which the following are samples:

WEST LEBANON, ME., Feb. 22, 1

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I have been sick for four years with Dyspepsia, and for the past three years Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels. I have suffered all the pains I could endure and live. I have been confined to my room for two years, and could not sleep nights without the use of morphine. I have been given up by physicians as past cure. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, and they have done me more good than all the doctors I have had. I sleep well, I eat well and have no pain. They are all they are recommended to be. Please send me three packages, as two of my neighbors wish to try them. I enclose $1.50.

Your truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Another Letter from Maj. John W. Lord, one month later Wonderful Cures by Dr. Quain's Pills Effected on Him in Thirteen Days. First time Free from Pain for Three Years.

WEST LEBANON, ME., March 29, 1875.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I commenced taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS February 9th, and wrote you February 22d of their wonderful effect. I have continued to improve ever since. My appetite is good, and I sleep as well as I ever did in my life. I am free from pain for the first time in three years. When I was taken sick four years ago, I weighed one hundred and eighty-six pounds; I now weigh one hundred and thirty, but, as I gain daily in strength, I have faith I shall regain my flesh this summer, by the use of the Pills. I shall continue taking them for some time to come.

Yours truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Dr. Quain's Pills the Remedy for Soldiers' Aches and Pains.

WEST LEBANON, ME., June 1, 1875.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I am now able to walk and ride out, and am gaining in strength very fast, all of which is due to you as agent for the best Pills in the world. I have taken no other medicine, and my improvement has been steady since first taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done everything for me, and I will say to you, advertise them direct to the soldiers, for they will certainly cure them of aches and pains caused from exposure and hardship on the field. Please send me by return mail another package.

JOHN W. LORD.

Rheumatism for Twenty Years Cured by One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills—"The Best Medicine in the World."

EAST ANDOVER, N. H., Dec. 10, 1875.

MR. LANE—Dear Sir:—As I know the value of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS and the good they have done me, I take pleasure in giving them praise; so I send you another testimonial. My father has been troubled with Rheumatism for twenty years or more, and has tried everything that could be thought of, but to no good. At times it would be so bad that he could not lift his hand to his head or do any work at all, especially in cold weather. A short time ago I advised him to get some of these Pills. He believed nothing in them, but I gave him the package I had of you, as I did not need them, and he has not been as free from the Rheumatic Complaint for years. No Rheumatism, no pain. What helped him? It was DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, the best medicine in the world. There is nothing like them. I know it, for I have tried them, and they are all, yes, more than they are recommended to be. Give them a fair trial and you will say so. I write this because I know the goodness of them and wish others to know the same. Some may think I am telling a big story. I am. But remember I am not giving them half the praise they ought to have.

Yours with respect, ED. F. PEVARE.

DAINGERFIELD, MORRIS CO., TEXAS, NOV. 15, '75.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I have been afflicted for near twelve years with Neuralgia in the face and head. I tried I do not know how many physicians, and got only get partial relief. I also tried many patent medicines with the same result. I have been confined to my room most all the time for eight or ten winters, and have been traveling and visiting medical springs, and I still suffered most intensely. Every physician pronounced my case the worst and most stubborn that they had had anything to do with. One told me I could never get well; they all advised me to go South to spend the winter, and thought that was the only chance for me, and I was trying to get ready to go to Florida, when through the kindness of Rev. H. M. Smith, my attention was called to the advertisement of Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. I immediately sent to you for a package. I have taken four doses and I am almost free from pain. The impression here seems to be that if your Pills are genuine they will cure anybody. I have five applications to send for the pills. Enclosed please find three dollars; send five packages to me and one to Mrs. Laura Sherrell Sulphur Springs, Hopkins county, Texas.

Yours truly, J. S. PATTON.

Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache.

LACONIA, N. H., JAN. 29, 1875.

THOS. W. LANE—Sir:—I have been troubled with Bad Blood, Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done me more good than all the medicine I ever took; I have taken considerable medicine within the last five years. For the nerves I think there is nothing so good as these pills. I can recommend them to all who are similarly afflicted, they have done me so much good. I think they will recommend themselves wherever they go. I shall recommend these Pills to all who need them. Please send me two packages more, one for myself and one for a lady friend of mine. Many thanks to the inventor, agent and advertiser of these Pills. MRS. P. L. ELLIOTT.

PULMOCINE.

BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL,

is no new discovery. Twenty-three years ago it was used by one of New England's most famous physicians as the best Pulmonary Curative he could prescribe, after a dozen years spent in experimenting with it before he was satisfied that the Materia Medica could add nothing to its favor.

Among its many ingredients are Wild Cherry Bark, Squill Root, Liquorice Root, Blood root, &c. It is a Blood Purifier, gently stimulating. It increases expectoration and is diuretic. It is sudorific and alterative. It is a necessary family medicine. It is a Tonic and a powerful aid to the digestive organs. It is a gentle sedative, and relieves nervousness. It is aromatic and agreeable to the taste.

CLEAR YOUR THROAT!

Relieve Your Lungs.

For the terrible diseases engendered by the lung trying climate of New England

PULMOCINE CORDIAL

is a speedy and reliable Preventive and Remedy. Every Family should have a bottle at hand to check the sudden growth of all Pulmonary Diseases. For the Asthma, Coughs, Croups, Laryngitis, or Inflammation of the larynx, Diphtheria, and all kindred Throat Diseases at all times prevalent, it is the ounce of Prevention. Children attacked with Whooping Cough or Croup should be immediately cared for. These painful attacks come with scarcely a moment's warning, when a physician may be out of immediate reach. A dose of PULMOCINE CORDIAL gives speedy relief, and the little ones are spared hours of pain and agony. As "a stitch in time saves nine," so does the possession of this Family Medicine prevent the spread of disease. Parents seeing their children gasping with pain, friends and relatives beholding each other in peril from suffocation by the choking pain in the throat, paralyzed with fear and not knowing the best course to pursue, are liable to apply the wrong remedial agent. There is no safety in delay, no time to waste in such cases. CONSUMPTION, that fearful scourge of the human race, lies at the door of all thus afflicted. BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL arrests it (unless in its advanced stage at which time there is no local cure) relieves the pressing, suffocating feeling at the lungs, and the patient's danger is past.

For Coughs,

Croup,

Diphtheria,

Asthma, etc.,

USE

Bachman's Pulmocine Cordail.

The Pulmocine Cordial is not a quack medicine, is not an experiment, is not composed of any ingredients "discovered" by "walking in pastures" in South America or anywhere else, nor by one who discovered a weed and thereby cured himself. Most of the ingredients are such as our best educated physicians daily use for the complaints specified in some form or other. The recipe is that perfected by one of New England's most learned and famous physicians, who used it entirely in his daily practice until his death. Its offered to the profession and to the public, absolutely pure and unadulterated.

OF

FOREIGN LITERATURE.

THIRTY-THIRD YEAR.

THE ECLECTIC reprints from the foreign Quarterlies, Reviews, Magazines, and Journals, their choicest contents, including Essays, Scientific Papers, Biographical Sketches, Reminiscences of Travel and Adventure, Tales, Stories, and Poems. The field of selection is very large, and it is believed that the ECLECTIC presents a greater variety and higher standard of literature than any periodical can hope to do that depends exclusively upon home talent.

A knowledge of the current literature of other countries is indispensable to all who would keep pace with the progress of the human mind; and the ECLECTIC offers the best, and, indeed, the only opportunity for obtaining this knowledge within a reasonable compass, and at a moderate price.

Among the writers represented in recent numbers of the ECLECTIC are: The Rt. Hon. W. E. Gladstone, James Anthony Froude, Matthew Arnold, Charles Kingsley, Robert Buchanan, Geo. McDonald, John Ruskin, Alfred Tennyson, Thomas Hughes, William Black, Mrs. Oliphant, Thos. Hardy, William Morris, Miss Thackeray, Mrs. Alexander, Profs. Huxley and Tyndall, Richard Proctor, B. A., Prof. Owen, Dr. W. B. Carpenter, Max Muller, J. Norman Lockyer, Herbert Spencer, and others equally eminent. Besides the regular articles in the body of the magazine, there are four original Editorial Departments: Literary Notices, Foreign Literary Notes, Science and Art, and Varieties.

With regard to the character of the selections, the aim of the ECLECTIC is to be instructive without being dull, and entertaining without being trivial. While each number contains something to interest every member of the family circle, it addresses itself particularly to that great body of intelligent readers who seek profit as well as amusement in solid and healthful literature.

Besides the 128 pages of reading matter, each number of the magazine contains a Fine Steel-Engraving usually a portrait—executed in the most artistic manner.

TERMS.—Single copies, 45 cents; one copy one year $5; two copies, $9; five copies, $20. Trial subscriptions for three months, $1.

The ECLECTIC and any $4 Magazine to one address, $8.

WHAT PAYS?

IT PAYS every Manufacturer, Merchant, Mechanic, Inventor, Farmer, or Professional Man, to keep informed on all the improvements and discoveries of the age.

It pays the head of every family to introduce into his household a newspaper that is instructive, one that fosters a taste for investigation, and promotes thought and encourages discussion among the members.

The Scientific American

which has been published weekly for the last thirty-one years, does this, to an extent beyond that of any other publication; in fact it is the only weekly paper published in the United States devoted to Manufactures, Mechanics, Inventions and New Discoveries in the Arts and Sciences.

Every number is profusely illustrated and its contents embrace the latest and most interesting information pertaining to the Industrial, Mechanical, and Scientific Progress of the world; Descriptions, with Beautiful Engravings of New Inventions, New Implements, New Processes, and Improved Industries of all kinds; Useful Notes, Recipes, Suggestions and Advice by Practical Writers, for Workmen and Employers, in all the various arts, forming a complete repertory of New Inventions and Discoveries; containing a weekly record, not only of the progress of the Industrial Arts in our own country, but also of all New Discoveries and Inventions in every branch of Engineering, Mechanics and Science abroad.

THE SCIENTIFIC AMERICAN has been the foremost of all industrial publications for the past thirty-one years. It is the oldest, largest, cheapest, and the best weekly illustrated paper devoted to Engineering, Mechanics, Chemistry, New Inventions, Science and Industrial Progress, published in the world.

The practical Recipes are well worth ten times the subscription price, and for the shop and house will save many times the cost of subscription.

Merchants, Farmers, Mechanics, Engineers, Inventors, Manufacturers, Chemists, Lovers of Science, and People of all Professions, will find the SCIENTIFIC AMERICAN useful to them. It should have a place in every Family, Library, Study, Office and Counting Room; in every Reading Room, College and School. A new volume commences January 1st, 1877.

A year's numbers contain 832 pages and SEVERAL HUNDRED ENGRAVINGS. Thousands of volumes are preserved for binding and reference. Terms, $3.20 a year by mail, including postage. Discount to Clubs. Special circulars, giving Club rates sent free. Single copies mailed on receipt of 10 cents. May be had of all News Dealers.

PATENTS. In connection with the Scientific American, Messrs. MUNN & Co. are solicitors of American and Foreign Patents, and have the largest establishment in the world. More than 10,000 of these applications have been made for patents through their agency.

Patents are obtained on the best terms. Models of New Inventions and Sketches examined, and advice free. A special notice is made in the Scientific American of all Inventions Patented through this Agency, with the name and residence of the Patentee. Patents are often sold in part or in whole, to persons attracted to the invention by such notice. A Pamphlet, containing full directions for obtaining Patents sent free. The Scientific American Reference Book, a volume bound in cloth and gilt, containing the Patent Laws, Census of the U. S., and 142 Engravings of mechanical movements. Price 50 Cents.

PULMOCINE.

Lippincott's Magazine.

AN ILLUSTRATED MONTHLY OF POPULAR LITERATURE, SCIENCE, and ART.

Announcement for 1877.

The number for January begins the nineteenth volume of this Magazine, and while its past record will, it is hoped, be deemed a sufficient guarantee of future excellence, no efforts will be spared to render it the attractive and to provide an increased supply of Popular Reading in the Best and Most Emphatic Sense. The general object and aim of the conductors will be to furnish the public with Literary Entertainment of a Refined and Varied Character, as well as to present in a graphic and striking manner the most recent information and soundest views on subjects of General Interest; in a word, to render LIPPINCOTT'S MAGAZINE strikingly distinctive in those features that are most attractive in Magazine literature. The contributions now on hand, or specially engaged, embrace a highly attractive list of Tales, Short Stories, Descriptive Sketches, Narratives, Papers on Science and Art, Poems, Popular Essays, Literary Criticisms, etc., etc., by talented and well known writers. A large proportion of the articles, especially those descriptive of travel, will be profusely and beautifully illustrated. The pictorial embellishments of the Magazine will form one of its many attractive features.

In addition to the general attractions of LIPPINCOTT'S MAGAZINE the Publishers would invite attention to the following

SPECIAL FEATURES FOR 1877.

1. A new serial story,

"THE MARQUIS OF LOSSIE,"

by George Macdonald, author of "Malcolm," "Alec Forbes," "Robert Falconer," etc.

To those of our readers who are familiar with "Malcolm," this new story from the pen of this distinguished writer will need no recommendation, and his reputation is a guarantee to others of a deeply interesting and powerful story. It began in the November number, and with the December part, will be furnished gratis to all new subscribers for 1877.

2. A profusely illustrated series of sketches of

SWEDISH SCENERY AND LIFE,

by Prof. Willard Fiske, of Cornell University, who is thoroughly familiar with Sweden and its People from personal observation.

3. A series of popular papers on

ART AND ART MATTERS,

by Edward Strahan (Earl Shinn), author of "The New Hyperion," etc.

4. Illustrated Sketches of Travel, entitled

PICTURES FROM SPAIN,

by Edward King, author of "The Great South," etc.

5. Mrs. Lucy H. Hooper's Interesting and Piquant

PAPERS AND LETTERS FROM PARIS,

will be continued through the year.

6.

THE BEAUTIES OF THE RHINE,

will be described in a richly illustrated series of papers.

7. During the year will appear a number of handsomely illustrated articles, descriptive of Scenes of Travel and Adventure in the United States, England, South America, Japan, Mongolia, and other countries.

For Sale by all Book and Newsdealers.

TRIBUNE.

The Leading American Newspaper.

Largest Circulation

AMONG THE BEST PEOPLE.

I.—IT PUBLISHES ALL THE NEWS. The servant of no man, the slave of no party, it can afford to and does tell the truth about all.

II.—IT IS IMPARTIAL AND INDEPENDENT. Believing in intelligent suffrage, it labors to give voters the fullest and fairest information, to qualify them for the wisest discharge of their responsibility.

III.—IT IS ALWAYS WAR, WITH ESSENTIALLY REPUBLICAN. It may quarrel in the future, as it has done in the past, with errors of republican leaders or corruption in the republican party, but it can never cease to be true to republican principles, and especially to the golden maximes of our great service reform, hard money, the sanctity of the National faith, and equal justice to all classes at the South, which formed the watchwords of Gov. Hayes' admirable letter of acceptance.

IV.—ITS MORAL TONE IS PURE AND ELEVATED. The Tribune's aim is never profaned by anything which appears in the columns of THE TRIBUNE.

V.—THE CHOICEST STANDARD AND CURRENT LITERATURE of the day is presented in its columns, including Correspondence, Poems, Stories, and Reviews from the most talented and popular writers

VI.—IT IS THE BEST AND CHEAPEST FARMER'S PAPER PUBLISHED. "THE WEEKLY TRIBUNE Has done more to make good farmers than any other influence which ever existed."

VII.—THE MARKET REPORTS of THE TRIBUNE are indispensable to every buyer and seller in the country. Quotations are given daily and weekly of almost every article in the market, in all the markets of the world, and with unvarying and almost infinite accuracy. Its Cattle, Butter and Cheese, and other Markets are the recognized standards.

VIII.—MORE COPIES of THE TRIBUNE are paid for and read by the American people than of any other newspaper of equal price in the country—a fact which is the best demonstration of the value of the paper.

IX.—THE READERS of THE TRIBUNE represent largely the best enterprising and progressive minds of the country. They are those who are interested in pure politics, the advance of science, and the progress of opinion, will find their demands met by THE TRIBUNE.

X.—PUBLIC APPROVAL AND PROSPERITY have rewarded the independent and self-respectful course of THE TRIBUNE. It has a larger and stronger corps of earnest workers among its friends than ever before, and constantly receives from old and new readers words of encouragement.

Notices of the Press.

The Magazine has attained in its one quarter century and more of existence to that point where it may be said of it, in the words of Dr. Johnson, "it is vain to blame and useless to praise." The issues of its long-continued reputation has increased as the years have passed, and its future seems as bright if not brighter than at any time since the golden hue of prosperity settled around its later and best years. —Brooklyn Eagle.

Harper's Monthly is marked by the same characteristics which gave it circulation from the first with the better class of readers. It combines reading matter with illustrations in a way to make clear and vivid the facts presented. Pictures merely designed to catch the eye of the ignorant are never inserted. —Chicago Journal.

LITTELL'S LIVING AGE FOR 1877. The continued and increasing success of this periodical (now over thirty-three years old) is doubtless owing to the fact that it affords a comprehensive and cheap means of keeping well informed in the best literature of the day. With its weekly issue, and its three and a quarter thousand large pages of reading matter a year, it is enabled to present with freshness and satisfactory completeness able essays and reviews, choice serial and short stories, interesting sketches of travel and discovery, poetry, and valuable biographical, historical, scientific and political information from the entire body of foreign periodical literature.

In its pages are represented such eminent authors as Prof. Max Muller, Prof. Tyndall, Rt. Hon. W. E. Gladstone, Dr. W. B. Carpenter, Prof. Huxley, Rev. R. A. Proctor, Frances Power Cobbe, The Duke of Argyll, Jas. A. Froude, Mrs. Muloch, Mrs. Oliphant, Mrs. Alexander, Miss Thackeray, Jean Ingelow, Geo. McDonald, Wm. Black, Matthew Arnold, Henry Kingsley, W. W. Story, Auerbach, Ruskin, Carlyle, Tennyson, Browning, and many others of equal rank in science, fiction, history, biography, philosophy, poetry, theology, politics, criticism and art.

The subscription price ($8 a year) is cheap for the amount of reading furnished; while for those desiring the cream of both home and foreign literature, the publishers make a still cheaper offer, viz.: to send, postpaid, The Living Age and either one of the American $4 monthlies, or weeklies, a year for $10 50. With The Living Age and one or other of our leading American monthlies, a subscriber will at small cost, be put in "command of the whole situation."

An extra offer, also, is made to all new subscribers for 1877, viz.: to send them gratis the six numbers of 1876, containing, besides other valuable reading, the first instalments of a new and unusually powerful serial story by George MacDonald, now appearing in The Living Age from advance sheets.

The volume begins Jan. 1st, and we recommend the periodical to the attention of our readers. We know of no other way in which so much of the best work of the best minds of the time can be obtained so cheaply and conveniently as through this standard weekly magazine. Published by Littell & Gay, Boston.

Notices of the Press.

For strictly household matters and dress, Harper's Bazar is altogether the best thing published. It makes it a matter of economy. No lady can afford to be without it, for the information it gives will save her very much more money than the subscription price, besides giving the household an interesting literary visitor.—Chicago Journal.

Harper's Bazar is profusely illustrated, and contains stories, poems, sketches, and essays of a most attractive character. * * * In its literary and artistic features, the Bazar is unquestionably the best journal of its kind in the country.—Saturday Evening Gazette, Boston.

CHILDREN TEETHING

MRS. WINSLOW'S

SOOTHING SYRUP!

For Children Teething,

greatly facilitates the process of teething, by softening the gums, reducing all inflammation—will allay ALL PAIN and spasmodic action, and is

Sure to Regulate the Bowels.

Depend upon it, mothers, it will give rest to yourselves, and

Relief and Health to Your Infants.

We have put up and sold this article for years, and CAN SAY IN CONFIDENCE AND TRUTH of it, what we never can of any other preparation or medicine—NEVER HAS IT FAILED, IN A SINGLE INSTANCE, TO EFFECT A CURE, when timely used. Never did we hear a mother speak of it but in reaction by any one who used it. On the contrary, all are delighted with its operations, and speak in terms of the highest commendation of its magical effects and medical virtues. We speak in this matter "WHAT WE DO KNOW," after years of experience, AND PLEDGE OUR REPUTATION FOR THE FULFILMENT OF WHAT WE HERE DECLARE. In almost every instance where the child is suffering from pain and exhaustion, relief will be found in fifteen or twenty minutes after the syrup is administered.

This valuable preparation has been used with NEVER FAILING SUCCESS in

Thousands of Cases.

It not only relieves the child from pain, but invigorates the stomach and bowels, corrects acidity, and gives tone and energy to the whole system. It will almost instantly relieve

Griping in the Bowels and Wind Colic.

We believe it the BEST AND SUREST REMEDY IN THE WORLD, in all cases of DYSENTERY and DIARRHŒA in CHILDREN, whether it arises from teething, or from any other cause. We would say to every mother who has a child suffering from any of the foregoing complaints—do not delay your children, nor the prejudice of others, stand between your suffering child and the relief it will be SURE—yes, ABSOLUTELY SURE to follow the use of this medicine, if timely used. Full directions for using will accompany each bottle.

THE SUN.

The different editions of THE SUN during the next year will be the same as during the year 1876 and the year just passed. The daily edition will on week days be a sheet of four pages, and on Sundays a sheet of eight pages of 56 broad columns; the weekly edition will be a sheet of eight pages of the same dimensions and character that are already familiar to our friends.

THE SUN will continue to be the strenuous advocate of reform and retrenchment, and of the old institution of statesmanship, wisdom, and integrity for hollow pretence, imbecility, and fraud in the administration of public affairs. It will contend for the government of the people by the people and for the people, as opposed to government by fraud in the ballot-box and in the counting of votes, enforced by military violence. It will endeavor to supply its readers,—a body now far from one million of souls—with the most careful, complete, and trustworthy accounts of current events, and will employ for this purpose a numerous and carefully selected staff of reporters and correspondents. Its reports from Washington, especially, will be full, accurate, and fearless; and it will doubtless continue to deserve and enjoy the hatred of those who thrive by plundering the Treasury or by usurping what the law does not give them, while it will endeavor to merit the confidence of the public by defending the rights of the people against the encroachments of unjustified power.

The price of the daily SUN will be 55 cents a month or $6.50 a year, post paid, or with the Sunday edition $7.70 a year.

The SUNDAY edition alone, eight pages, $1.20 a year, post paid.

The WEEKLY SUN, eight pages of 56 broad columns, will be furnished during 1877 at the rate of $1 a year, post paid.

The beauty of this large reduction from the previous rate for the WEEKLY can be enjoyed by individual subscribers without the necessity of making up clubs. At the same time, it will be in the power of those who choose to aid in extending our circulation, we shall be grateful to them, and will carefully and promptly send us ten or more subscribers from one place will be entitled to one copy of the paper for himself without charge. At one dollar a year, postage paid, the expenses of paper and printing are barely repaid; and, considering the size of the sheet and the quality of its contents, we are confident the people will consider THE WEEKLY SUN the cheapest newspaper published in the world, and we trust also one of the very best. Experiment with Torpedoes.

The following account of some experiments with submarine torpedoes made at Chetham, England, by the Royal Engineers attached to the School of Submarine Mining, in the presence of the Duke of Cambridge and his staff, will probably repay perusal. It is taken from a recent number of the London Engineering:

"The officials at Chetham had received advices from the War Office, stating that on a given date the Duke of Cambridge, Commander-in-Chief, and a numerous suite of ladies and gentleman, among the latter being many foreign attaches, and officials of various grades—would visit the 'school' for the purpose of witnessing a series of torpedo trials. The day specified arrived, as also did the expected visitors, who mustered in great force, owing perhaps to the weather, which was beautiful. The usual preliminaries having been gone through, the business of the day commenced. * * * The principal feature of the programme, the coup de grace, as it were of the day's performance, consisted in the blowing up of a raft by means of a torpedo. This raft, on which were placed a number of dummies to represent soldiers, was towed along by a small tugboat toward the spot where it was generally supposed the fatal torpedo which was to bring about the destruction, had been placed. We designedly used the word "supposed," because actually the torpedo was affixed to the bottom of the raft and exploded from the tugboat by means of a very simple arrangement of two insulated wires and a voltaic battery. On the raft arriving at a favorable spot—that is to say, in full view of the expectant visitors—the charge was ignited, the shock tearing the raft asunder, and hurling the dummy sons of Mars into mid air, much to the delight of the spectators, who, on the conclusion of the trial, went their way, no doubt fully impressed with the efficiency of our system of submarine mining, and also with a high appreciation of and respect for the energetic officials who had been entrusted with its practical development."

The whole affair has a striking resemblance to Barnum's famous buffalo hunt at Hoboken, and after this we certainly should no longer have it count against us that we are fellow citizens of that enterprising but mendacious showman.

A Big Gas-Light.

The immense vein of gas was struck on the night of Oct. 4, at a depth of 810 feet, and was so strong as to render further drilling impossible. The well is about two miles from Bradford, on the Bruce Rodgers farm. Running from the well are two-inch pipes, attached to which are three gas jets of the same size, the gas belching forth from these pipes with such a terrible rush and noise as to render conversation, pitched in the ordinary tone, inaudible for fully one-fourth of a mile away, and the roar can be heard five or six miles away. The blaze from each of the three pipes is sent by the force of the gas to a height of from twenty-five to forty feet, the heat being so intense as to melt the snow entirely away for a distance of at least one hundred feet, and also keeping the ground so warm during all the cold weather of the winter that grass, strawberry vines and other plants may grow. In many places where the crowd of sight seers have worn the ground, it is very dusty. The light is so strong that a newspaper may be read half a mile away. On very dark nights the illumination is grand. The light has frequently been seen in Ocean, Salamanca, and other towns twenty miles away.—Bradford New Era.

Important Virtue of Tomato Leaves.

A statement comes from South America that a singular property of tomato leaves had been discovered by a fruit grower. Having cut down some tomato vines, he used them as a mulch around his peach trees. He soon discovered that the curculios, which had been destroying his fruit, had abandoned the trees surrounded by the tomato vines. Following up this accidental discovery, he found that the free use of tomato vines proved a perfect protection, not only against the curculio, but against other noxious insects. He found, also, by steeping in water some fresh leaves of the tomato, and sprinkling the infusion upon other plants, the innumerable insects which covered them were driven away.

Some gardners in this city have tried the above remedy, some by accident and others by intention, and their success has been remarkable. One gentleman had all his apple trees ravaged by the curculio until last year, when he secured a splendid crop. He knows of no cause for his exemption from the curculio except the tomato plants that were grown for the first time among his trees.—Nashua Telegraph.

—It is now generally believed that Mr. Bennett went to Europe because, according to the terms of the duel, the principals were to stand on different sides of the Atlantic and shoot, and Mr. May won the toss for the American shore.

—Englishmen still sell their wives, though the price has risen. At Crowle, in Lincolnshire, a certain William Light, a pork butcher, sold his wife the other day for £40. The articles of sale were drawn up at a solicitor's office, the money was paid, and the wife handed over to the purchaser, Chapman Pidd, landlord of the Fishmongers' Arms

Counting the Votes.

The first decision of the Electoral Commission in the disputed election case was communicated to Congress on Saturday.

In the convention by the two houses, after the formal opening by President pro tem. Ferry, the decision of the tribunal in the Florida case was read by the Secretary of the Senate as follows:

ELECTORAL COMMISSION,
WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 9, 1877.

To the President of the Senate of the United States, presiding in the meeting of the two Houses of Congress, under the act of Congress entitled "An act to provide for and regulate the counting of votes for President and Vice President, and the decision of questions arising therefrom, for the term commencing March, 4, A. D. 1877:"

The Electoral Commission mentioned in said act, having received certain certificates and papers purporting to be certificates and papers accompanying the same of the electoral votes from the State of Florida and the objections thereto submitted to it under said act, now report that it has duly considered the same pursuant to said act, and has decided and does hereby decide that the votes of Frederic C. Humphreys, Charles H. Pearce, William H. Holden and Thomas W. Long, named in the certificates of M. L. Stearns, Governor of said State, which votes are certified by said persons, as appears by the certificate submitted to the Commission and herewith returned, are the votes provided for by the Constitution of the United States, and that the same are lawfully to be counted as therein certified namely: four votes for Rutherford B. Hayes of the State of Ohio for President, and four votes for William A. Wheeler of the State of New York for Vice President. The Commission also has decided, and hereby decides and reports, that the four persons first before named were duly appointed Electors in and by said State of Florida. The ground of the decision, stated briefly, as required by said act, is: That it is not competent under the Constitution and the law as it existed at the date of the said act, to go into evidence aliunde the papers opened by the President of the Senate in the presence of the two houses to prove that other persons than those regularly certified to by the Governor of the State of Florida, in and according to the determination and declaration of their appointment by the Board of State Canvassers of said State prior to the time required for the performance of their duties had been appointed Electors, or by counterproof to show that they had not, and that all proceedings of the courts or acts of the Legislature or of the Executive of Florida, subsequent to the casting the votes of the Electors on the prescribed day, are inadmissible for any such purposes. As to the objection made to the eligibility of Mr. Humphreys, the Commission is of opinion that without reference to the questions of the effect of the vote of an ineligible Elector, the evidence does not show that he held the office of Shipping Commissioner on the day when the Electors were appointed. The Commission has also decided, and does hereby decide and report, that as a consequence of the foregoing, and upon the ground before stated, neither of the papers purporting to be certificates of the electoral votes of said State of Florida, numbered two and three by the Commission, and herewith returned, are certificates for the votes provided for by the Constitution of the United States, and that they ought not to be counted as such.

Done at Washington this day and year first above written.

(Signed)
SAMUEL F. MILLER,
W. STRONG,
JOSEPH P. BRADLEY,
GEORGE F. EDMUNDS,
O. P. MORTON,
FREDERICK T. FRELINGHUYSEN,
JAMES A. GARFIELD,
GEORGE F. HOAR,
Commissioners.

Objection was made by David Dudley Field to the counting of the vote of Florida, and the Senate withdrew that the two houses might seperately consider and determine the question, in accordance with the provision of the Electoral law.

The Senate confirmed the decision of the Commission by a party vote, thus deciding the vote of Florida for Hayes and Wheeler.

The House, by a party vote, took a recess until ten-o'clock Monday forenoon, the democrats wanting to gain time before the counting of votes is proceeded with.

On Monday, in the House, Field and Knott endeavored to have passed a resolution arraigning the Commission for not taking testimony, and recommitting to the Commission the Florida case, already disposed of by that tribunal. Fernando Wood deprecated any filibustering, and Speaker Randall ruled that the House could not instruct the Commission in its duties. The House by a strict party vote decided that the Tilden vote of Florida should be counted. The Senate entered at a quarter past two, and the Houses went into joint convention. The Senate resolution affirming the decision of the Commission was read, and Mr. Ferry announced that the vote of Florida would be counted for Hayes and Wheeler, which was done.

Georgia's eleven votes were recorded for Tilden, and Illinois' twenty-one for Hayes, without objection. A democratic Congressman had on his desk objections to the vote of Illinois, but did not present them.

The Boston & Maine Trouble.

The engineers on the Boston & Maine Railroad struck at four o'clock Monday afternoon, wherever their engines happened to be. Their orders from their head chief were to wait by their engines for two hours, and then, if they received no orders to the contrary, to draw the fires, blow the water out of the boilers and quit. These men certainly have a right to say that they will not work for $3.40 a day, or for a greater or less sum; but abandoning, except at regular stations, trains filled with passengers who have no part in the dispute, is an outrage on the public, and will go far toward depriving the strikers of any outside sympathy they might otherwise have received.

A "Reform" Measure.

The democratic reformers in the House, having stopped all work in the government printing office by delaying an appropriation, on Friday sought to put through a resolution authorizing the Louisiana committee to have the testimony taken by it printed at a private printing office. Mr. Hale made a point of order that the resolution should go to the Committee on Printing. This point was overruled, whereupon Mr. Hale made another point, that the resolution involved an appropriation and should go to the Committee of the Whole. This was overruled, and Hale then made a third point of order, that the resolution was contrary to law, which expressly provides that all printing for the House should be done at the government printing office. This point the Speaker was forced to sustain, to the evident disgust of the democratic side of the House. Hale said the remedy was for the House to hurry through the appropriation, so that work can be resumed at the government printing office. The failure to provide money for the government printer was a sharp trick of the democrats to enable them to subsidise at the government expense certain private printing offices owned by democrats, and they would have succeeded but for Mr. Hale.

How They "Economize."

Democratic "economy" shows itself in a variety of disguises. When the Southern investigating committees were ordered the democratic House appropriated $35,000 to pay the exposes; the republican Senate insisted that $50,000 would not pay all the bills, and raised the appropriation to that amount, but the House shouted "democratic economy" and stuck to the original sum. Now we are informed that in the deficiency bill is an item to refund to Sergeant-at-arms Thompson the sum of $37,948, advanced by him to the democratic committees of the House over and above the $35,000 appropriation originally made; and Congressman Foster, of Ohio, when the deficiency bill was introduced, asserted that at least $50,000 more would be needed to pay the bills contracted by the democratic committees, and his statement was not questioned by the democrats. Democratic "economy" consists in appropriating a small sum of money to pay for a big job, calling on the people to see how saving the democrats are, and then quietly appropriating "to cover deficiencies" a sum much larger than the original appropriation.

News and Notes.

The following advertisement appeared in the Buenos Ayres Herald, of December 12, 1876: "Young men with small salaries can find good board and comfortable bedroom for $650 per month, at Mrs. Brennan's, 178 Corrientes." It may be unnecessary to remark, in explanation, that that country is blessed with a paper currency, and that the people are anxiously looking forward to resumption of specie payment.

The old fort in Marblehead, Mass., built during the war of the Revolution for the protection of Salem harbor, is now garrisoned by a large bull terrier. He never strays beyond the line of earthworks, and is so fierce that all who approach the fort are compelled to beat a hasty retreat.

Earl Russell has given notice to the House of Lords that he will move that England shall cease all diplomatic intercourse with Turkey, on the ground that the nation is still barbarous and unworthy of notice among the enlightened people of Europe.

President of the Senate Ferry has received from Montana a quill two feet long, taken from the wing of a black eagle, with which to sign the certificate of the election of President. The sender requested Mr. Ferry to use the quill end in case Mr. Hayes is declared elected, and the feather end in case Mr. Tilden is counted in. Secretary Morrill made a splendid pen of the big quill.

The Dominion Department of Marine and Fisheries has procured a valuable gold watch for presentation to Capt. Osborne of the American bark C. E. Jayne, for rescuing the crew of the wrecked British ship Bethlehem.

Two well diggers were at work in Bloomington, Ill., and had, after reaching forty feet, begun to bore deeper with a drill. Suddenly there was an outburst of gas, which was lighted by the flame of a candle, and the explosion killed both of the men.

The exceptions taken to the rulings and sentence of John D. Lee, the Mountain Meadow murderer, of Utah, have been overruled by the Supreme Court of the Territory and the Second District Court ordered to fix another day for the execution. It is probable that an appeal will be taken to the United States Supreme Court.

Midhat Pacha, late prime minister of Turkey, has not committed suicide, as was reported, having arrived at Brindisi all right.

Four Rear-Admirals of the United States Navy have died since this year came in.—Smith, Alden, Wilkes and Bailey.

The Lake Shore and Michigan Southern Company have settled with the widow of L. C. Crane of New Haven, Conn., whose husband was killed at Ashtabula, by payment of the sum of $5175.

The extradition of William J. Sharkey, the murderer, who escaped from New York prison in 1873, while under sentence of death, is to be again demanded from Spain under the treaty just made with that country. Sharkey has been under surveillance ever since he left Havana. When last heard from he was acting as an interpreter for Americans at Madrid.

Steamer Bavaria, Williams, from New Orleans for Liverpool, has been burned at sea. Passengers and crew saved after being nineteen hours in the ship's boats.

Gov. Newbold, of Iowa, has gone on the record as having delivered the shortest inaugural message in the history of States. After taking the oath of office he said: "I'll do the best I can,"—and that was all.

Bob McBride, editor of the Eldorado (Ia.) Ledger, was cowhided recently by Mrs. Hart, wife of the editor of the Herald. The lady is of diminutive size and Bob was soon able to disarm her, when he took her under one arm, the whip under the other, and marched down the street to the amusement of an immense crowd which had gathered around. The cause for the attack was insulting language used by McBride in his paper concerning her.

By a gunpowder explosion at Adhemabad, India, on Saturday, fifty persons were killed and 1000 wounded.

Sir William Fergusson, President of the Royal College of Surgeons of Great Britain, and Sergeant Surgeon to the Queen, died Saturday.

A decree has been issued by Captain-General Jovellar, of Cuba, in which, after setting forth that the war against the insurgents is resulting very advantageously to the Spaniards, he pardons all political prisoners confined on the Isle of Pines, natives or residents of Cuba west of the Trocha, provided said prisoners are only confined by order of the authorities and not by any sentence of the Court.

The Boston Post says: "A Montana man has sent Senator Ferry the feather of a black eagle, and wants him to use the quill to certify the election of President in case Hayes is counted in. Wouldn't a steal pen do?" It would certainly be just the thing to use in case Tilden is counted in.

A Wonder-Working Remedy.

No remedial agent has ever been offered to the sick and debilitated at all comparable to Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, in cases of remittent and intermittent fevers, constipation, nervous ailments, rheumatism and disorders involving constitutional weakness or physical decay. It literally "works wonders." The botanic ingredients which its spirituous basis holds in solution, act like a charm upon the brain, liver, bowels and nervous system. There is nothing in its composition that is not salubrious. It contains some of the most potent tonics of the vegetable kingdom and the juices of the best aperient and anti-bilious roots and herbs, combined with a perfectly pure stimulating element. The bitters are peculiarly adapted to those engaged in laborious or unhealthy occupations, as by its use strength is sustained and the ability of the system to resist atmospheric and other influences prejudicial to health largely increased.

The Colonnade Hotel.

The Colonnade Hotel, Philadelphia, Pa., by its judicious reduction of rates, will maintain its famous reputation of a model first-class house, alive to the demands of the time.

The Grand Central Hotel, New York, although the largest and finest hotel in the city, will be an exception, hereafter, to the general complaint of high prices. It has reduced from $4.00 to $2.50 and $3.00 per day.

Why throw away so much money trying worthless medicines, when for 35 cents a remedy can be procured that will cure coughs, colds, sore lungs and croup? Give it a trial. Adamson's Balsam will do it.

Important to persons visiting New York or the Centennial. The Grand Union Hotel, New York, opposite the Grand Central Depot, has over 350 elegantly furnished rooms. Elevator, steam and all improvements. European plan. Carriage hire is saved, as baggage is taken to and from the depot free. Guests can live better for less money at the Grand Union than at any other first-class hotel. Stages and cars pass the Hotel constantly to all parts of the city, and to the Philadelphia depot.

JOTTINGS.

Schooner Stephen E. Woodbury, from New York with coal for the bureau of equipment, arrived at the navy yard Monday morning. The coal is for the bunkers of the new sloop-of-war Enterprise.

Admiral Bailey, whose death is reported in another column, was in command of this naval station from 1865 to 1867.

The Portsmouth Savings Bank has just received from Col. William H. Hackett, administrator of the will of Mrs. Samuel M. DeMerritt, who died four years since, the sum of four thousand dollars, with interest, in trust, to hold the same forever, the accumulations on which "are to be appropriated for two scholarships for indigent young men from this city at college and while in college, the beneficiaries to be selected by the pastors for the time being of the Unitarian, Episcopal, Orthodox, Methodist, Baptist, Free Will Baptist, and Christian Baptist churches in said Portsmouth, together with one lay member from each of said churches, who shall be chosen by the members of their respective churches" as often as there is an appointment of a scholarship to be made. The stringent proviso is made, however, that, "the scholarship in no case shall be conferred on a person who uses profane or indecent language, strong drink or tobacco in any form." The City Missionary Society have also received from the same source the sum of one thousand dollars in trust, the annual interest of which shall be used for the legitimate purposes of said society forever.

On Thursday evening last, it being the twenty-fifth anniversary of the wedding of Mr. and Mrs. Uriah Blaisdell, a party of their friends (with the knowledge of their children) conspired to give them a surprise, which was successfully carried out, the visitors assembling at their residence on North street at seven o'clock. When all had assembled, Mr. and Mrs. Blaisdell were invited into a room from which they had previously been excluded, where they found a richly-engraved tea set of silver, comprising six pieces, with pickle dish, pie and fish knives, and other articles, all of the metal appropriate to a silver wedding. An excellent supper had been provided by the children of Mr. and Mrs. Blaisdell, unknown to the latter, and its merits were tested to the satisfaction of all present. A large wedding cake was cut by Mr. Solomon Seymour, who enlivened the occasion by suitable and entertaining remarks. After supper a few hours were pleasantly spent in singing and social converse, and the party separated with mutual good wishes for each other's long life and happiness.

A CHANCE FOR AN INVESTIGATION.

A paragraph with the above heading appeared in the Portsmouth Journal of last week, containing a personal allusion to myself that calls for a reply from me. Furthermore the item related to the matter of printing the city accounts, and as the average reader will not comprehend the cause of the complaint of the Journal unless a little light is shed upon the subject, we shall tell our side of the story. The pith of the charge of Mr. Bwster is that one printer bid $2.70 per page for the printing of the city accounts, and got them while he (Brewster) bid twenty-one cents lower ($2.49 per page) and yet didn't get them. Which is true, but needs an explanation, or, as Mr. Browster meekly suggests, "an investigation."

The printing was not put into the market for competition, the committee deeming it unwise to do so, in the light of facts that clearly showed abuses to have frequently grown out of such a course of proceeding in past years. The city records of the past ten years were carefully examined in regard to the prices that had been received for the work in question, and the manner in which it had been awarded. They received an application from Mr. Charles W. Gardner, who stated that he did not want to go through the farce of bidding, yet he would like to have the job, and was willing to do it at a fair price. Mr. Brewster also applied, but wanted to bid for it. He was informed that he could have the privilege of bidding if he desired, but was given to understand that the work was not put into the market. As an instance of the pernicious results of the system of bidding we may mention the fact that although the printing of these accounts a few years ago, (in '73, I believe,) was let out to the lowest bidder, Mr. Brewster was awarded the job at the exorbitant price of $3.90 per page. This was done by a pleasant little trick of the lucky printer, which is more ingenious than honest, viz.: that of buying off his competitors, thereby obtaining a clear field, and getting a fair price! So the present committee reasoned that he then (at $3.90 per page) either grossly cheated the city government or was, the present year, defrauding himself in offering the low price of $2.49 per page—a total difference of about one hundred and twenty dollars.

The committee further concluded that the time had come when the monotony of awarding the job in question to the office of the Journal should be relieved, and others as deserving be allowed a share of the city printing, provided their prices were reasonable. And by the term "reasonable" I mean that price which would satisfy a private individual who had a similar job to be done.

In conclusion, I wish to unite with the editor of the Journal in the adroit but truthful remark that "the Board of Aldermen are not responsible for this," as the business was put into the hands of the printing committee with power to act. They have acted in accordance with what they regarded as the best interests of the city, and are quite willing for the matter to go on record before the public, being confident that it will bear the most thorough investigation.

SAMUEL A. SPINNEY,
Chairman of Printing Committee.

New Hampshire Items.

An incendiary attempt on the Governor Hill Block in Concord was made Saturday night, by some one who saturated partitions with naphtha and then fired it. The attempt was a failure, owing to its prompt discovery.

Silas Whitcomb of West Swanzey hanged himself on Sunday in his barn. He was about forty-five years old, and leaves a wife and two daughters.

Rev. E. J. Carpenter, an Orthodox minister of Swanzey, about sixty-five years of age, was thrown out of his sleigh on Saturday. Soon after he was taken with vomiting and died very suddenly.

Political.

The Boston Post says: "It was solely to eliminate that spirit [the spirit of partisanship] from the great dispute that induced the democrats to consent to the creation of a limited tribunal." Talk about the democrats "consenting" to the Electoral Commission is rather thin, considering that a decided majority of the republican Congressmen voted against it, and the measure was carried by democratic votes in both Houses.

There has been some talk among the extreme democrats of fillibustering until the 4th of March in case the Electoral Commission decides adversely to Tilden, thus defeating the election and rendering another one necessary; but the shrewder ones assert that nothing of the kind will be attempted, they having sense enough to see that such action would place them in a very bad light before the country.

Eph. Holland, a notorious rough, prize fighter and "sporting man" generally, was arrested in Cincinnati for procuring illegal votes to be thrown for Banning, Tilden and reform, jumped his bail of $6000 and fled to New York, but has been again arrested and taken back for trial. He was the chief manager of the Goss-Allen prize-fight, and one of the leading engineers in the "reform" scheme which secured a certificate of election to Banning and has already sent a dozen or more reformers to the Ohio penitentiary.

The Boston Post regrets very much that "three out of the five" judges on the Electoral Commission should "prove their partisanship" as it assumes they have done by their votes. But it has no tears to shed over the "partisanship" of the two democratic judges. The explanation of this is, that from the democratic point of view it is "statesmanship" for a democrat to vote with his party through thick and thin, and "partisanship" for a republican to stick to a republican view.

Rear Admiral Bailey.

Rear-Admiral Theodorus Bailey, U. S. N., died in New York on Saturday, aged about 74 year. He entered the navy as a midshipman in 1818, was commissioned a Lieutenant in 1827 and served in that capacity until 1849, when he was promoted a Commander. He received a Captain's commission in 1855, and in the latter part of 1861 was ordered to the steam frigate Colorado, with which he took part in the bombardment of the Confederate works near Pensacola, Fla., as second in command. At the engagement of the Mississippi forts Captain Bailey took a gallant part. He led the right, in the Cayuga, the right being composed of the first division of gunboats and second division of ships, Captain Farragut having the post of honor in the Hartford on the left. Before the squadron had fairly passed the forts the Confederate fleet of gunboats and rams appeared and took part in the fight, but were encountered by Captain Bailey in the Cayuga, who was considerably in advance of the rest, at a moment when no supporting ship was in sight. By skilful steering he frustrated their attempts to butt and board him, and had forced three to surrender when the One Idea and Varuna hove in sight. At five o'clock the Cayuga came upon the camp of the Chalmette Regiment, Colonel Z. Szymanski, on the right bank of the river. Casting anchor, Captain Bailey immediately opened on it with grapeshot and canister, and obliged the whole force to surrender, with all its equipments. Captain Bailey had the honor of being sent ashore to demand the surrender of New Orleans. On the reorganization of the navy in 1862 he was made Commodore, and, as Acting Rear Admiral, succeeded to the command of the Eastern Gulf blockading squadron, where he was very successful in breaking up blockade running on the Florida coast. He was promoted to a Rear-Admiral July 25, 1866, but in the following October he was placed on the retired list.

The Age of Miracles is past, and Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery will not raise the dead, will not cure you if your lungs are half wasted by consumption, or your system sinking under cancerous disease. It is, however, unsurpassed both as a pectoral and alterative, and will cure obstinate and severe disease of the throat and lungs, coughs, and bronchial affections. By virtue of its wonderful alterative properties it cleanses and enriches the blood, thus curing pimples, blotches, and eruptions, and causing even great eating ulcers to heal.

Dr. A. J. Flagg's

COUGH & LUNG SYRUP.

A Safe and Sure Remedy.

The Cough and Lung Syrup

Is the remedy that during the past fifteen years has won for DR. FLAGG an extended reputation as a SPECIALIST for THROAT and LUNG Diseases. After so many years trial it can be truthfully said that it has NEVER FAILED, even in the WORST CASES. It is purely Vegetable, and its effect upon the system is at once Soothing and Tonic.

It Will Cure a Common Cold

In a few hours, not by drying it up, but by removing it from the system. TRY IT.

It will CURE a Chronic Cough, by soothing the irritated parts, and strengthening the system.

IT WILL CURE CONSUMPTION,

Even after all other remedies have failed. In the earlier stages of this disease it will effect a speedy and certain cure; and in many cases of advanced Consumption its effect has seemed almost miraculous, restoring to full strength and perfect health those whom physicians had given up as incurable. TRY IT.

IT WILL CURE CATARRH

More effectual by than any other remedy, by simply removing the cause. TRY IT.

It will Cure Bronchitis, by allaying all irritation of the Throat. TRY IT.

It will Cure Asthma, affording immediate relief and a perfect cure. TRY IT.

It Will Cure Ulcerated Sore Throat.

TRY IT.

IT WILL CURE Loss of Voice, Night Sweats, Hectic Fever, AND ALL symptoms of Consumption. TRY IT.

For every affection of the Throat and Lungs it only needs a trial to convince the most sceptical of its wonderful curative properties.

Remember that it

CURES COLDS,
CURES COUGHS,
CURES CATARRH,
CURES CONSUMPTION.

DR. WM. M. LADD, a cading Druggist of Claremont, certifies as follows:

For many years I have known Dr. A. J. Flagg as a successful practicing physician, and can assure his patrons that he representations relative to his Cough and Lung Syrup can be strictly relied upon. It has been used in his extensive practice with marvelous success, and I know it to be all that he claims for it.

THE OLDEST ESTABLISHED HOSPITAL
IN THE

No. 9 Beaver Street, - - - Albany, N. Y
SURE CURES AND LOW PRICES.
Dr. YOUNG,
SUCCESSOR TO
Dr. TELLER,
DECEASED.

The above named private Hospital was established in Albany in 1825 by Dr. Lispenard and for a number of years its affairs were presided over by that gentleman, but for the past 30 years, Dr. Teller, who is now deceased, transacted the business of the Institution.

Owing to the great demand for more spacious apartments on account of the large increase of business, the Hospital has been removed to No. 9 Beaver Street, two doors above its old location, where patients will find magnificently furnished rooms for their reception, and are so arranged that patients do not come in contact with one another, seeing only the doctor, thereby avoiding the unpleasantness of meeting others, which always occurred at the old office.

Ladies will find rooms perfected for their especial accommodation and entirely private.

YOUNG MEN, addicted to secret habits, who have impaired their health and destroyed the vigor of their minds, thus depriving themselves of the pleasures of married life and also those afflicted with private diseases of any nature, are advised that in consulting Dr. Young they will find a physician fully qualified to cure and restore them to full health and manly vigor.

Dr. Teller's great work for the married, or those contemplating marriage—100 pages—full of plates—price 25 cents. Sent to all parts, under seal, by mail post paid.

TO THE LADIES—DR. YOUNG still retains the only agency in America for the sale of Dr. Vicholi's Italian Female Monthly Pills. Sent by mail on receipt of $1.00, price per box.

DR. YOUNG is the only agent for Dr. La Motte's celebrated Galvanic Belts.

Invalids out of the city can be cured by consulting by Doctor by letter, and enclosing remittance. Medicines sent by mail or express, securely packed from observation. All letters must be addressed to

Centaur Liniments.

The lame can be healed and the wounded made whole. We now know just what the Centaur Liniment will do. They will not mend broken bones or cure Cancer, but they will extract screenss, allay pain, cure Rheumatism and a larger range of flesh, bone and muscle ailments than any article ever before discovered.

Scientific skill cannot go beyond the effects of these remarkable preparations. Chronic Rheumatism of many years standing, Neuralgia, Weak Back, Fever Sores, Weeping Sinews, Sciatica, Caked Breasts, Distorted Joints and Sprained Limbs of the worst kind are cured by the White Centaur Liniment.

It will destroy the pain and heal without a scar, all ordinary Burns and Scalds. It will extract the poison of Bites and Stings, and the troublesome Frozen Limbs. It is very efficacious for Earache, Toothache, Itch and Cutaneous Eruptions.

Mr. Josiah Westake, of Marysville, O., writes:

"For years my Rheumatism has been so bad that I have been unable to stir from the house. The first three bottles of Centaur Liniment enabled me to walk without my crutches. I am mending rapidly. I think your Liniment simply a marvel.

C. H. Bennett, Druggist, Rock Prairie, Mo., says:

"Centaur Liniment sells better and gives the best satisfaction of anything in the market."

What the Centaur Liniment has done for others it will do for you. It is handy, it is reliable, and it is cheap.

The Yellow Centaur Liniment
is worth its weight in gold to owners of horses and mules.

This Liniment has cured more Sprained, Sweenied, Ringboned and Galled Horses in three years than have all the Farriers in the country in an age. Its effects are simply wonderful.

We have thousands upon thousands of certificates as strong as the following:

"My horse was lame for a year with a fetlock wrench. All remedies utterly failed to cure and I considered him worthless until I commenced to use Centaur Liniment, which rapidly cured him. I heartily recommend it.

REV. GEO. W. FERRIS,
Manorville, Schoharie Co., N. Y."

DEAR SIRS.—I have used your Centaur Liniment in my family, and find it to be of great value. I can send me two dollar's worth, one for the mules and horses.

It makes very little difference what the case is, whether it be Wrench, Sprain, Poll-Evil, Ringbone, Scratches or Lame ness of any kind, the effects are the same. Liverymen, Stage proprietors, Farmers, &c., should never be without the Yellow Centaur Liniment. It is sold everywhere, and warranted in its effects.

Castoria.

It is a mistake to suppose that Castoria is not adapted to grown persons as well as Children. They only need to increase the quantity. But children have so many complaints for which Castoria is adapted—like Wind Colic, Sour Stomach, Worms, Tetter, Teething and Croup, that it is especially recommended for them.

Its effects are more certain than Castor Oil. It contains no alcohol and is as pleasant to take as honey. It never gripes. By regulating the stomach and bowels the Castoria cools the blood, expels worms and prevents feverishness, quiets the nerves and produces health—then of course children can sleep in quiet and mothers can rest.

Castoria is recommended by all physicians and nurses who have tried it, and it is having a rapidly increasing sale. It is prepared with great care after the recipe of Dr. Samuel Pitcher, of Mass., at the Laboratory of J. B. Rose & Co., 46 Dey St., N. Y.

Daily Chronicle.

—Judge Gildersleeve has checked in New York the new gentleman's fashion of shooting at ladies who decline proposals of marriage by sentencing one of the latest exhibitors to ten years' imprisonment. "This," says the Tribune, "will tend to discourage one of the noblest of our national sports."

—When the North Pole is reached, the South Pole will become the goal of the nations' rivalry, and it is stimulating to know that it is harder to reach than the other. Ross' southernmost point was seven hundred miles from the Pole, and beyond it is a cliff of ice, over two hundred feet high, moved about by the gales, and a great part of it subject to high winds and incessant snows.

—A year ago France was regarded as the most prosperous country in Europe. Her industries were fully employed and her busy people were the envy of other nations that were passing through the furnace of hard times. It was clear a year ago, however, that France must yield to the same causes that had depressed the industries of other countries. Her turn has come, and her great silk interest is so badly depressed that fifty thousand workmen are idle in Lyons alone. The causes of hard times are found in the mistakes of human nature, which is pretty much the same the world over. It is now in order to charge the hard times in France to the republican party in American, and there would be just as much sense in so doing as there was in ascribing the hard times in this country to such a cause.

ST. NICHOLAS.

"The King of all publications issued for the young on either side of the Atlantic."—Southampton (England) Observer.

The third volume of this incomparable Magazine is now completed. With its eight hundred royal octavo pages, and its six hundred illustrations, its splendid serials, its shorter stories, poems, and sketches, etc., etc., in its beautiful binding of red and gold, it is the most splendid gift-book for boys and girls ever issued from the press. Price, $4; in full gilt, $5.

"ST. NICHOLAS is full of the choicest things. The publication is, in all respects, the best of its kind. We have never yet seen a number that was not surprisingly good."—The Churchman, Hartford, Conn.

ST. NICHOLAS FOR 1877,

Which opens with November, 1876, begins a short and very entertaining Serial from the French, "The Kingdom of the Greedy," a Story adapted to the Thanksgiving season. Another serial, of absorbing interest to boys,

"HIS OWN MASTER,"

By J. T. Trowbridge,

Author of the "Jack Hazard Stories," begins in the Christmas Holiday Number.

Besides serial stories, Christmas stories, lively sketches, and many pictures for the holidays, and some astonishing illustrations of Oriental sports, with drawings by Siamese artists, The Christmas Holiday Number of ST. NICHOLAS, superbly illustrated, contains a very interesting paper,

"THE BOYS OF MY BOYHOOD,"

By William Cullen Bryant;

"The Horse Hotel," a lively article, by Charles A. Dana; "Lightning Photographs," "The Comet in the Sky," by Richard A. Proctor; "A Christmas Play for Home or Sunday-school," by Dr. Eggleston; "The Peterkins' Christmas Tree," by Lucretia P. Hale; "Poetry and Carols of Winter," by Lucy Larcom, with pictures.

Do Not Fail to Buy St. Nicholas for the Christmas Holidays. Price 25 cents.

During the year there will be interesting papers for boys, by William Cullen Bryant, John G. Whittier, Thomas Hughes, William Howitt, Dr. Holland, George MacDonald, Sanford B. Hunt, Frank R. Stockton, and others.

There will be stories, sketches, and poems, of special interest to girls, by Harriet Prescott Spofford, Susan Coolidge, Sarah Winter Kellogg, Elizabeth Stuart Phelps, Louisa Alcott, Lucretia P. Hale, Celia Thaxter, Mary Mapes Dodge, and many others. There will be also

"TWELVE SKY PICTURES,"

By Prof. Proctor, the Astronomer,

with maps, showing "The Stars of Each Month," which will be likely to surpass in interest any series on popular science recently given to the public.

Amusement and Instruction, with Fun and Frolic, and Wizard Wisdom, will be mingled as heretofore, and ST. NICHOLAS will continue to delight the young and give pleasure to the old.

The London Literary World says: "There is no magazine for the young that can be said to equal this choice production of SCRIBNER'S press. All the articles, whether in prose or rhyme, are throbbing with vitality. * * * The literature and artistic illustrations are both superb."

The Boston Daily News says: "We wish we could point out its equal in our own periodical literature."

GOOD NEWS FOR BOYS AND GIRLS;

To meet the demand for a cheaper St. NICHOLAS Sixth Book the price of vols. I and II has been reduced to $3 each. The three volumes, in an elegant library case, are sold for $10 (in full gilt, $15), so that all may give their children a complete set. These volumes contain more attractive material than fifty holiday books of the ordinary attractive books.

Subscription price, $4 a year. The three bound volumes and a subscription for this year, only $12. Subscribe with the nearest newsdealer, or send money in check, or P. O. money order, or in registered letter, to

SCRIBNER & CO., 743 Broadway, N. Y.

SCRIBNER'S MONTHLY.

An Illustrated Illustrated Magazine.

The prospectus for the new volume gives the titles of more than fifty papers (mostly illustrated), by writers of the highest merit. Under the head of

"FOREIGN TRAVEL,"

we have "A Winter on the Nile," by Geo. McClellan; "Saunterings About Constantinople," by Charles Dudley Warner; "Out of My Window at Moscow," by Eugene Schuyler; "An American in Turkistan," etc. Three serial stories are announced:

by Dr. Holland, the Editor, whose story of "Seventeen" gave the highest satisfaction to the readers of the Monthly.

The scene of this latest novel is laid on the banks of the Hudson. The hero is a young man who has been always "tied to a woman's apron strings," but who, by the death of his mother, is left alone in the world, to drift on the current of life,—with a fortune, but without a purpose.

Another serial, "His Inheritance," by Miss Trafton, will begin on the completion of "That Lass o' Lowrie's," by Mrs. Hodgson Burnett. Mrs. Burnett's story, begun in August, has a pathos and dramatic power which have been a surprise to the public.

There is to be a series of original illustrated papers of "Popular Science," by Mrs. Herrick, each paper complete in itself.

There are to be, from various pens, papers on

also, practical suggestions as to town and country life, village improvements, etc., by well-known specialists.

Mr. Barnard's articles on various industries of real Britain include the history of "Some Experiments in Co-operation," "A Scottish Leaf Factory," in the November number, and "Tend Lane, Rochdale," in December. Other papers are, "The British Workingman's Home," "A Nation of Shopkeepers," "Hallowing a Week for the Child," etc.

A richly illustrated series will be given on "American Sports on Land and Field," by various writers, and each on a different theme. The subject of will have a prominent place, whilst the latest productions of American humorists will appear from month to month. The list of shorter stories, biographical and other sketches, etc., is a long one.

The editorial department will continue to employ the ablest pens both at home and abroad. There will be a series of letters on literary matters, from London, by Mr. Welford.

We mean to make the magazine sweeter and purer, higher and nobler, more genial and generous in all its utterances and influences, and a more welcome visitor than ever before in homes of refinement and culture.

FIFTEEN MONTHS FOR $4.00.

SCRIBNER for December, now ready, contains the opening chapters of "Nicholas Minturn." The three numbers of SCRIBNER for August, September, and October, containing the opening chapters of "That Lass o' Lowrie's," will be given to every new subscriber (who requests it), and whose subscription begins with the present volume, i.e., with the November number.

Subscription price, $4 a year—35 cents a number. Special terms on bound volumes. Subscribe with the nearest bookseller, or send a check or P. O. money order to

CONDITION PILLS!

The Wonderful Remedy for Liver Complaint, Biliousness, Dyspepsia, Constipation, Neuralgia, Their manifold Complaints, Nervousness, Scrofula, Piles, and all diseases arising from a bad state of the Blood!

No medicine ever offered to the public has given such universal satisfaction as Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. Their praises are on every tongue where their merits are known. They strike at once at the seat of disease and show their healing power almost immediately. Thousands of voluntary testimonials of their marvelous cures are received by the agent, from those who have been cured by them, of which the following are samples:

WEST LEBANON, ME., Feb. 22, 1

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I have been sick for four years with Dyspepsia, and for the past three years Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels. I have suffered all the pain I could endure and live. I have been confined to my room for two years, and could not sleep nights without the use of morphine. I have been given up by physicians as past cure. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, and they have done me more good than all the doctors I have had. I sleep well, I eat well and have no pain. They are all they are recommended to be. Please send me three packages, as two of my neighbors wish to try them. I enclose $1.50.

Your truly, JOHN W. LORD.

For the terrible diseases engendered by the hurrying climate of New England

Another Letter from Maj. John W. Lord, one month later Wonderful Cures by Dr. Quain's Pills Effected on Him in Thirteen Days. First time Free from Pain for Three Years.

WEST LEBANON, ME., March 22, 1875.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I commenced taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS February 9th, and wrote you February 22d of the wonderful effect. I have continued to improve ever since. My appetite is good, and I sleep as well as I ever did in my life. I am free from pain for the first time in three years. When I was taken sick four years ago, I weighed one hundred and eighty-six pounds; I now weigh one hundred and thirty, but, as I am gaining in strength, I have faith I shall regain my flesh this summer, by the use of the Pills. I shall continue taking them for some time to come.

Yours truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Dr. Quain's Pills the Remedy for Soldiers' Aches and Pains.

WEST LEBANON, ME., June 1, 1875.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I am now able to walk out every day, and am gaining in strength very fast, all of which is due to you as agent for the best Pills in the world. I have taken no other medicine, and my improvement has been steady since first taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done everything for me, and I will say to you, advertise them direct to the soldiers, for they will certainly cure them of aches and pains caused from exposure and hardship, as they have done for me, by return mail another package.

JOHN W. LORD.

Rheumatism for Twenty Years Cured by One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills—"The Best Medicine in the World."

EAST ANDOVER, N. H., Dec. 16, 1875.

MR. LANE—Dear Sir:—As I know the value of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS and the good they have done me, I take pleasure in giving them praise; so I send you another testimonial. My father has been troubled with Rheumatism for twenty years or more, and has tried everything that could be thought of, but to no good. At times it would be so bad that he could not lift his hand to his head or do any work at all, especially in cold weather. A short time ago I advised him to get some of these Pills. He believed nothing in them, but I gave him the package I had of you, as I did not need them, and he has not been so free from the Rheumatic Complaint for years. No Rheumatism to speak of. What I did him? It was DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, the best medicine in the world. There is nothing like them. I know it, for I have tried them, and they are all, yes, more than they are recommended to be. Give them a fair trial and you will say so. I write this because I know the goodness of them and wish others to know the same. Some may think I am telling a big story. I am. But remember I am not giving them half the praise they ought to have.

Yours with respect, ED. F. PEVARE.

DAINGERFIELD, MORRIS CO., TEXAS, NOV. 15, '75.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I have been afflicted for near twelve years with Neuralgia in the face and head. I tried I do not know how many physicians, and spent only get partly relieved. I also tried many patent medicines with the same result. I have been confined to my room most all the time for eight or ten winters, and have been traveling and visiting medical springs, and I still suffered most painfully. The physicians pronounced my case the worst and most stubborn that they had had anything to do with. One told me I could never get well; they all advised me to go South and spend the winter, and thought that was the only chance for me, and I was trying to get ready to go to Florida, when through the kindness of Rev. H. M. Mathis, my attention was called to the advertisement of Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. I immediately sent to you for a package. I have taken four doses and I am almost free from pain. The impression here seems to be that I will be benefited so much as to cure my body. I have five applications to send for the pills. Enclosed please find three dollars; send five packages to me and one to Mrs. Laura Sherrell Sulphur Springs, Hopkins county, Texas.

Yours truly, J. S. PATTON.

Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache.

LACONIA, N. H., Jan. 29, 1875.

THOS. W. LANE—Sir:—I have been troubled with Bad Blood, Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done me more good than all the medicine I ever took; I have taken considerable medicine within the last five years. For the nerves I think there is nothing so good as these pills. I can recommend them to all who are similarly afflicted, they have done me so much good. I think they will recommend themselves wherever they go. I shall recommend those Pills to all who need them. Please send me two packages more, one for myself and one for a lady friend of mine. Many thanks to the inventor, agent and advertiser of those Pills.

PULMOCINE.

BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL!

is no new discovery. Twenty-three years ago it was used by one of New England's most famous physicians and the best Pulmonary Curative he could prescribe, after dozen years spent in experimenting with it before he was satisfied that the Materia Medica could add nothing in its favor.

Among its many ingredients are Wild Cherry Bark, Squill Root, Liquorice Root, Blood root, &c. It is a Blood Purifier, gently stimulating. It increases expectoration and is diuretic. It is sudorific and alterative. It is a necessary family medicine. It is a Tonic and a powerful aid to the digestive organs. It is a gentle sedative, and relieves nervousness. It is aromatic and agreeable to the taste.

CLEAR YOUR THROAT!

Relieve Your Lungs.

PULMOCINE CORDIAL

Is a speedy and reliable Preventive and Remedy. Every Family should have a bottle at hand to check the sudden growth of all Pulmonary Diseases. For the Asthma, Coughs, Croups, Laryngitis, or inflammation of the larynx, Diphtheria, and all kindred Throat Diseases at all times prevalent, it is the ounce of Prevention. Children attacked with Whooping Cough or Croup should be immediately cared for. These painful attacks come with scarcely a moment's warning, when a physician may be out of immediate reach. A dose of PULMOCINE CORDIAL gives speedy relief, and the little ones are spared hours of pain and agony. As "a stitch in time saves nine," so does the possession of this Family Medicine prevent the spread of disease. Parents seeing their children gasping with pain, friends and relatives beholding each other in peril from suffocation by the choking pain in the throat, paralyzed with fear and not knowing the best course to pursue, are liable to apply the wrong remedial agent. There is no safety in delay, no time to waste in such cases. CONSUMPTION, that fearful scourge of the human race, lies at the door of all this afflicted. BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL arrests it (unless in its advanced stage at which time there is no local cure) relieves the pressing, suffocating feeling at the lungs, and the patient's danger is past.

For Coughs,

Croup,

Diphtheria,

Asthma, etc.,

USE

Buchman's Pulmocine Cordial.

The Pulmocine Cordial is not a quack medicine, is not an experiment, is not composed of any ingredients "discovered" by "walking in pastures" in South America or anywhere else, nor by one who discovered a weed and thereby cured himself. Most of the ingredients are such as our best educated physicians daily use for the complaints specified in some form or other. The recipe is that perfected by one of New England's most learned and famous physicians, who used it entirely in his daily practice until his death. He is offered to the profession and to the public, absolutely pure and unadulterated.

OF

FOREIGN LITERATURE.

THIRTY-THIRD YEAR.

THE ECLECTIC reprints from the foreign Quarterlies, Reviews, Magazines, and Journals, their choicest contents, including Essays, Scientific Papers, Biographical Sketches, Reminiscences of Travel and Adventure, Tales, Stories, and Poems. The field of selection is very large, and it is believed that the ECLECTIC presents a greater variety and higher standard of literature than any periodical can hope to do that depends exclusively upon home talent.

A knowledge of the current literature of other countries is indispensable to all who would keep pace with the progress of the human mind; and the ECLECTIC offers the best, and, indeed, the only opportunity for obtaining this knowledge within a reasonable compass, and at a moderate price.

Among the writers represented in recent numbers of the ECLECTIC are: The Rt. Hon. W. E. Gladstone, James Anthony Froude, Matthew Arnold, Charles Kingsley, Robert Buchanan, Geo. MacDonald, John Ruskin, Alfred Tennyson, Thomas Hughes, William Black, Mrs. Oliphant, Thos. Hardy, William Morris, Miss Thackeray, Mrs. Alexander, Prof. Huxley and Tyndall, Richard Proctor, B. A., Prof. Owen, Dr. W. B. Carpenter, Max Muller, J. Norman Lockyer, Herbert Spencer, and others equally eminent. Besides the regular articles in the body of the magazine, there are four original Editorial Departments: Literary Notices, Foreign Literary Notes, Science and Art, and Varieties.

With regard to the character of the selections, the aim of the ECLECTIC is to be instructive without being dull, and entertaining without being trivial. While each number contains something to interest every member of the family circle, it addresses itself particularly to that great body of intelligent readers who seek profit as well as amusement in solid and healthful literature.

Besides the 128 pages of reading matter, each number of the magazine contains a Fine Steel-Engraving—usually a portrait—executed in the most artistic manner.

TERMS.—Single copies, 45 cents; one copy one year $5; two copies, $9; five copies, $20. Trial subscriptions for three months, $1.

The ECLECTIC and any $4 Magazine to one address, $8.

Postage free to all subscribers. Address,

WHAT PAYS?

IT PAYS every Manufacturer, Merchant, Mechanic, Inventor, Farmer, or Professional Man, to keep informed on all the improvements and discoveries of the age.

It pays the head of every family to introduce into his household a newspaper that is instructive, one that fosters a taste for investigation, and promotes thought and encourages discussion among the members.

The Scientific American

which has been published weekly for the last thirty-one years, does this, to an extent beyond that of any other publication in the world. It is the only weekly paper published in the United States, devoted to Manufactures, Mechanics, Inventions and New Discoveries in the Arts and Sciences.

Every number is profusely illustrated and its contents embrace the latest and most interesting information pertaining to the Industrial, Mechanical, and Scientific Progress of the world; Descriptions, with Beautiful Engravings of New Inventions, New Implements, New Processes, and Improved Industries of all kinds; Useful Hints, Recipes, Suggestions and Advice by Practical Writers, for Workmen and Employers, in all the various arts, forming a complete repository of New Inventions and Discoveries; containing a weekly record, not only of the progress of the Industrial Arts in our own country, but also of all New Discoveries and Inventions in every branch of Engineering, Mechanics and science abroad.

THE SCIENTIFIC AMERICAN has been the foremost of all industrial publications for the past thirty-one years. It is the oldest, largest, cheapest, and the best weekly illustrated paper devoted to Engineering, Mechanics, Chemistry, New Inventions, Science and Industrial Progress, published in the world.

The practical Recipes are well worth ten times the subscription price, and for the shop and house will save many times the cost of subscription.

Merchants, Farmers, Mechanics, Engineers, Inventors, Manufacturers, Chemists, Lovers of Science, and People of all Professions, will find the SCIENTIFIC AMERICAN useful to them. It should have a place in every Family, Library, Study, Office and Counting Room: in every Reading Room, College and School. A new volume commences January 1st, 1877.

A year's numbers contain 832 pages and SEVERAL HUNDRED ENGRAVINGS. Thousands of volumes are preserved for binding and reference. Terms, $3.20 a year by mail, including postage. Discount to Clubs. Special circulars, giving Club rates sent free. Single copies mailed on receipt of 10 cents. May be had of all News Dealers.

PATENTS, American, Messrs. MUNN & CO are Solicitors of American and Foreign Patents, and have the largest establishment in the world. More than fifty-thousand applications have been made for patents through their agency.

Patents are obtained on the best terms. Models of New Inventions and Sketches examined, and advice free. A special notice is made in the Scientific American of all inventions Patented through this Agency, with the name and residence of the Patentee. Patents are often sold in part or in whole, to persons attracted to the invention by such notice. A Pamphlet, containing full directions for obtaining Patents sent free. The Scientific American Reference Book, a volume bound in cloth and gilt, containing the Patent Laws, Census of the U. S., and 140 Engravings of mechanical movements. Price 25 Cents.

Lippincott's Magazine.

AN ILLUSTRATED MONTHLY OF POPULAR LITERATURE, SCIENCE, and ART.

Announcement for 1877.

The number for January begins the nineteenth volume of this Magazine, and while its past record will, it is hoped, be deemed a sufficient guarantee of future excellence, no efforts will be spared to diversify its attractions and to provide an increased supply of Popular Reading in the Best and Most Emphatic Sense. The great object and constant aim of the conductors will be to furnish the public with Literary Entertainment of a Refined and Varied Character, as well as to present in a graphic and striking manner the most recent information and soundest views on subjects of General Interest; in a word, to render LIPPINCOTT'S MAGAZINE strikingly distinctive in those features that are most attractive in Magazine Literature. The contributions now on hand, or specially engaged, embrace a highly attractive list of Tales, Short Stories, Descriptive Sketches, Narratives, Papers on Science and Art, Poems, Popular Essays, Literary Criticisms, etc., etc., by talented and well known writers. A large proportion of the articles, especially those descriptive of travel, will be profusely and beautifully illustrated. The pictorial embellishments of the Magazine constitute one of its many attractive features.

In addition to the general attractions of LIPPINCOTT'S MAGAZINE the Publishers would invite attention to the following

SPECIAL FEATURES FOR 1877.

1. A new serial story,

"THE MARQUIS OF LOSSIE,"

by George Macdonald, author of "Malcolm," "Alec Forbes," "Robert Falconer," etc.

To those of our readers who are familiar with "Malcolm," this new story from the pen of this distinguished writer will need no recommendation, and his reputation is a guarantee to others of a deeply interesting and powerful story. It began in the November number, which issue, with the December part, will be furnished gratis to all new subscribers for 1877.

2. A profusely illustrated series of sketches of

SWEDISH SCENERY AND LIFE,

by Prof. Willard Fiske, of Cornell University, who is thoroughly familiar with Sweden and its People from personal observation.

3. A series of popular papers on

ART AND ART MATTERS,

by Edward Strahan (Earl Shinn), author of "The New Hyperion," etc.

4. Illustrated Sketches of Travel, entitled

PICTURES FROM SPAIN,

by Edward King, author of "The Great South," etc.

5. Mrs. Lucy H. Hooper's Interesting and Piquant

PAPERS AND LETTERS FROM PARIS,

will be continued through the year.

6.

THE BEAUTIES OF THE RHINE,

will be described in a richly illustrated series of papers.

7. During the year will appear a number of handsomely illustrated short articles, descriptive of Life, Travel and Adventure in the United States, England, South America, Japan, Mongolia, and other countries.

For Sale by all Book and Newsdealers.

AMONG THE BEST PEOPLE.

I.—IT PUBLISHES ALL THE NEWS. The servant of no man, the slave of no party, it can afford to and does tell the truth about all.

II.—IT IS FEARLESS AND INDEPENDENT. Believing in intelligent suffrage, it aims to furnish voters the fullest and fairest information, to qualify them for the wise exercise of their sovereign sholdity.

III.—IT IS, AS IT ALWAYS WAS, ESSENTIALLY REPUBLICAN. It may quarrel in the future, as it has done in the past, with error in Republican leaders or corruptions in the republican party; but it can never cease to be true to republican principles, and especially to those golden doctrines of civil service reform, hard money, the sanctity of the National faith, and equal rights to all citizens of the South, which formed the corner-stones of Gov. Hayes' admirable letter of acceptance.

IV.—IT ALSO CONTINUES PURE AND ELEVATED. The family circle is never profaned by anything which appears in the columns of THE TRIBUNE.

V.—THE CHOICEST STANDARD AND CURRENT LITERATURE of the day is presented in its columns, including Correspondence, Discussions, and Reviews from the most talented and popular writers

VI.—IT IS THE BEST AND CHEAPEST FARMER'S PAPER PUBLISHED. "THE WEEKLY TRIBUNE has done more to make good farmers than any other influence which ever existed."

VII.—THE MARKET REPORTS of THE TRIBUNE are indispensable to every buyer and seller in the country. Quotations are given with accuracy of almost every article bought and sold in the markets of the world, and with unvarying and almost infallible accuracy. In Cattle, Butter and Cheese, and other Markets are the recognized standard.

VIII.—MORE COPIES of THE TRIBUNE are paid for and read by the American people than of any other newspaper of equal price in the country—a fact which is the best demonstration of the value of the paper.

IX.—THE READERS of THE TRIBUNE represent largely the intelligence and prosperity and character of the country. Persons who are interested in pure politics, the advance of science, and the progress of opinion, will find their demands met by THE TRIBUNE.

X.—PUBLIC APPROVAL AND PROSPERITY have rewarded THE TRIBUNE for its independent and self-respectful course of THE TRIBUNE. It has a larger and stronger corps of earnest workers among its friends than ever before, and continually receives from old and new readers words of encouragement.

Notices of the Press.

The Magazine has attained in its one quarter century and more of existence to that point where it may be said of it, in the words of Dr. Johnson, "It is vain to blame and useless to praise." The fame of its long-ago-attained reputation has increased as the years have passed, and its future seems as bright if not brighter than at any time since the golden hue of prosperity settled around its later and best years. Brooklyn Eagle.

Harper's Monthly is marked by the same characteristics which gave it circulation from the first with the best class of readers. It combines reading matter with illustrations in a way to make clear and vivid the facts presented. Pictures merely designed to catch the eye of the ignorant are never inserted.—Chicago Journal.

LITTELL'S LIVING AGE FOR 1877. The continued and increasing success of this periodical (now over thirty-three years old) is doubtless owing to the fact that it affords a comprehensive and cheap means of keeping well informed in the best literature of the day. With its weekly issue, and its three and a quarter thousand large pages of reading matter a year, it is enabled to present with freshness and satisfactory completeness able essays and reviews, choice serial and short stories, interesting sketches of travel and discovery, poetry, and valuable biographical, historical, scientific and political information from the entire body of foreign periodical literature.

In its pages are represented such eminent authors as Prof. Max Muller, Prof. Tyndall, Rt. Hon. W. E. Gladstone, Rev. W. R. Alger, Prof. Huxley, Richard A. Proctor, Frances Power Cobbe, The Duke of Argyll, Jas. A. Froude, Mark Pattison, Mrs. Oliphant, Mrs. Alexander, Miss Thackeray, Jean Ingelow, Geo. McDonald, Wm. Black, Matthew Arnold, Henry Kingsley, W. W. Story, Anthony Trollope, Charles Reade, Tennyson, Browning, and many other leaders in science, fiction, history, biography, philosophy, poetry, theology, politics, criticism and art.

The subscription price ($8 a year) is cheap for the amount of reading furnished; while and on the score of the cream of both home and foreign literature, the publishers make a still cheaper offer, viz.: to send, postpaid, The Living Age and either one of the American $4 monthlies, or weeklies, a year for $10 50. With The Living Age and one or other of the leading American monthlies, a subscriber will at small cost, be put in "command of the whole situation."

An extra offer, to be made to all new subscribers for 1877, viz.: to send them gratis the six numbers of 1876, containing, besides other valuable reading, the first instalments of a new and unusually powerful serial story by George MacDonald, now appearing in The Living Age from advance sheets.

The volume begins Jan. 1st, and we recommend be periodical to the attention of our readers. We know of no other way in which so much of the best work of the best minds of the time can be obtained so cheaply and conveniently as through this standard weekly magazine. Published by Littell & Gay, Boston.

CHILDREN TEETHING

MRS. WINSLOW'S

SOOTHING SYRUP!

For Children Teething,

greatly facilitates the process of teething, by softening the gums, reducing all inflammation—will allay ALL PAIN and spasmodic action, and is

Sure to Regulate the Bowels.

Depend upon it, mothers, it will give rest to yourselves, and

Relief and Health to Your Infants.

We have put up and sold this article for years, and CAN SAY IN CONFIDENCE AND TRUTH of it, what we have never been able to say of any other medicine—NEVER HAS IT FAILED, IN A SINGLE INSTANCE, TO EFFECT A CURE, when timely used. Never did we know an instance of dissatisfaction by any one who used it. On the contrary, all are delighted with its operation, and speak in terms of highest commendation of its magical effects and medical virtues. We speak in this manner "WHAT WE DO KNOW," after years of experience, AND PLEDGE OUR REPUTATION FOR THE FULFILMENT OF WHAT WE HERE DECLARE. In almost every instance where the infant is suffering from pain and exhaustion, relief will be found in fifteen or twenty minutes after the syrup is administered.

This valuable preparation has been used with NEVER FAILING SUCCESS in

Thousands of Cases.

It not only relieves the child from pain, but invigorates the stomach and bowels, corrects acidity, and gives tone and energy to the whole system. It will almost instantly relieve

Griping in the Bowels and Wind Colic.

We believe it the BEST AND SUREST REMEDY IN THE WORLD, in all cases of DYSENTERY and DIARRHŒA IN CHILDREN, whether it arises from teething, or from any other cause. We would say to every mother who has a child suffering from any of the foregoing complaints—do not let your prejudices, nor the prejudices of others, stand between your suffering child and the relief that will be SURE—and ABSOLUTELY SURE—to follow the use of this medicine, if timely used. Full directions for using will accompany each bottle.

PULMOCINE.

THE SUN.

1877 NEW YORK. 1877

The different editions of THE SUN during the next year will be the same as during the year that has just passed. The daily edition will on week days be a sheet of four pages, and on Sundays of five or eight pages, or 56 broad columns; while the weekly edition will be a sheet of eight pages of the same dimensions and character that we have been used to our friends.

THE SUN will continue to be the strenuous advocate of reform and retrenchment, and of the substitution of statesmanship, wisdom, and integrity for hollow pretence, imbecility, and treachery in the administration of public affairs. It will contend for the government of the people by the people and for the people, as opposed to government by fraud in the ballot-box and in the counting of votes, enforced by military violence. It will endeavor to supply its readers,—a body now not far from one million of souls—with the most careful, complete, and trustworthy accounts of current events, and will employ for this purpose a numerous and carefully selected staff of correspondents and correspondents. Its reports from Washington, especially, will be full, accurate and fearless; and it will doubtless continue to deserve and enjoy the hatred of those who hope by plundering the Treasury or by usurping what the law does not give them, while it will endeavor to merit the confidence of the public by defending the rights of the people against the encroachments of unjustified power.

The price of the daily SUN will be 55 cents a month or $6.50 a year, post paid, or with the Sunday edition $7.70 a year.

The SUNDAY edition alone, eight pages, $1.20 a year, post paid.

The WEEKLY SUN, eight pages of 56 broad columns, will be furnished during 1877 at the rate of $1 a year, post paid.

The benefit of this large reduction from the previous rate for the WEEKLY can be enjoyed by individual subscribers, without the necessity of making up clubs. At the same time, if any of our friends think it worth while to extend our circulation, we shall be grateful to them, and every such person who sends us ten or more subscribers from one place will be entitled to one copy of the paper for himself who out charge. At one dollar a year, postage paid, the expenses of paper and printing are barely repaid; and, considering the excellent character and the quality of its contents, we are confident the people will consider THE WEEKLY SUN the cheapest newspaper published in the world, and we trust also one of the very best. The reliable house of ALEX. FROTHINGHAM & CO., No. 12 Wall St., New York, publish a handsome eight-page weekly paper, called the Weekly Financial Report, which they send free to any out-of-town addition to a large number of editorials on financial and other topics, it contains very full and accurate reports of the sales and standing of every stock, bond and security dealt in at the Stock Exchange. Messrs. FROTHINGHAM & CO. are extensive brokers of large experience and tried integrity. In addition to their business in stocks, they sell what are termed "Privileges," or "Puts and Calls," the value of the favorite methods of legitimate speculation. Their advice is valuable, and by following it many have made fortunes.—[New York Metropolis.]

☞ All new Subscribers for 1877, paying in advance after November 1, 1876, will receive the paper weekly, from receipt of remittance to January 1st, 1877, without charge.

COMBINED PAPERS-FORTY-SEVENTH YEAR!

THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN.

THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN is published weekly on the following terms, when paid strictly in advance: ONE COPY, one year, $2.50; FOUR, one year, $8.00, and an additional copy for the year free to the sender of the Club; TEN COPIES, $20, and an additional copy for the year free to the sender of the Club.

THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN possesses an unequaled Corps of Correspondents, regular and occasional, among the Best Farmers of All Parts of the Country, and constantly reflects the practical condition and progress of the husbandry of every section of the United States and civilized world.

THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN gives in its Horticultural Department a continuous variety of information and suggestions, equal or superior in the aggregate to what is obtained in the monthly numbers of most magazines devoted to Horticulture.

THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN has probably done as much as all other Journals combined, to introduce and disseminate Improved Stock of every kind through the country; and commands to a greater degree than any contemporary, the confidence and support of breeders and purchasers.

THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN contains unusually full and trustworthy Market Reports, and devotes special attention to them and to Reports of the Crops, as throwing light upon one of the most important of all questions — When to Buy and When to Sell.

THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN embraces numerous minor departments of a practical character, such as the Dairy, the Poultry Yard, the Apiary, the Vineyard, and so on, and weekly presents a column or two for the Housewife, and an interesting variety of Fireside Reading. It contains a well-edited review of Current Events, and its advertising pages furnish a directory of all the principal agricultural and horticultural establishments of the country.

End of a Desperado.

The Matamoras (Mexico) Republic announces the death, at an advanced age, of Angelo Townsend, a man whose career in crime began in Canada West upward of twenty-five years ago, by the murder of a Postmaster in a small town in that country. From Canada West he fled to New York, where he resided, under an assumed name, until forced to abandon that city in order to escape punishment for a dual murder committed while engaged in a row with some sailors in a house of prostitution.

At that time the mining regions of Illinois furnished an asylum for those desirous of escaping from justice; and thither went Townsend, hiring out under an assumed name as a compositor in the office of the Galena, Ill., Gazette. An item clipped from a New York exchange offering $5,000 reward for the apprehension of one Angelo Townsend, indicted for murder, was handed him (to be "set up,") by the editor of said paper one day during his service in that office. He finished the "take," and, putting on his coat, quickly repaired to his boarding house, and, packing up his effects, hastily left the city. His sudden disappearance excited suspicion that he was the person described in the notice of reward, and vigorous search was at once instituted by the officers. No trace of the runaway was discovered, however, except a report that a man, partially answering to the description of Townsend, had hired out as a cook on a Mississippi steamer bound for New Orleans.

He was next heard of in New Mexico, and his identity fully established. Here he became the head of a small band of desperadoes, whose murders and robberies are matters of record in the criminal annals of the Territory. Once he was apprehended by a posse of officers, and taken to Galveston for a trial on the charge of murder and arson. While arraigned in the very bar of the court he succeeded in making his escape,—not, however, until he had stabbed to the heart the Sheriff, who sought to intercept him in his flight from justice. He secreted himself on board of a trading vessel bound for Vera Cruz, and, reaching that port without detection, made his escape to the fastnesses of the western border of Mexico, where he again called around him a half dozen or more escaped convicts and practiced villains, who saw in him a valiant and congenial leader. During the Maximilian invasion of Mexico Townsend left his brigand retreat and joined the cause of the Emperor, remaining in his service until his surrender and ignoble death, when he repaired to the city of Mexico, broken down with age, and incapacited from performing labor by reason of in the thigh. During his later years he had been an inmate of a charity hospital in San Luis Potosi, and on his death bed detailed the history of his life, which was published in connection with the announcement of his death.

The Rule of Contraries.

It doesn't require any astrologist, or medium, or gypsy with a dirty pack of cards. It is very simple, lies in a nutshell, and can be expressed in a very few words. The plan is this: If a girl expresses a fondness for majestic men with large whiskers, just make up your mind that she will marry a very small man with none. If she declares that "mind" is all she looks for, expect to see her stand before the altar with a very pretty fellow who has just sense enough to tie a cravat bow. If, on the contrary, she declares she must have a handsome husband, look about for the plainest person in the circle of her acquaintances, and declare "that is the man," for it will be. Men are almost as bad. The gentleman who desires a wife with a mind and mission marries a lisping baby, who screams at the sight of a mouse and hides her face when she hears a sudden knock at the door. And the gentleman who dreaded anything like strong-mindedness exults in the fact that his wife is everything he detested. If a girl says of one, "Marry him! I'd rather die!" look upon the affair as settled and expect cards to the wedding of these two people. If a man remarks of a lady, "Not my style at all," await patiently the appearance of his name in the matrimonial column in connection with that lady's. And if any two people declare themselves "friends and nothing more," you may know what will come next.

Too Candid by Half.

Truth and candor are becoming in a parson, but a story is told in the Watchman of one whose outspoken manner did not conduce to immediate popularity. In the general class, as it is called, Brother B—— said he had not enjoyed his mind very well through the week. There the pastor interrupted, saying, "Well, Brother B., if you will find some work and not let your wife do quite so much for the family, you will have more enjoyment." Sister B. said prayer had not given her the usual pleasure. "That is not strange," said the pastor; "go and be reconciled with sister Y., and prayer will be a pleasure." Brother D. sometimes doubted whether he knew Christ. "Any man will who is careless about paying his debts," was the pastoral response. Brother E. was very happy in the Lord, which met this—"You would be a happier man if you would not fret so much in your family." Sister F. was at peace, and the blood cleansed from all sin.

"Well, then, my sister, let your faith reach your purse, and give more to the Lord." Brother M. found pleasure only in saving others. "Then be more careful in your business, and correct your tricky reputation." Of course this thinned out the class.

Correspondence.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 12.

At no time during the campaign nor since its close have the leaders—the recognized oracles of the bogus democracy—shown such deep dejection as since the vote upon the reception of evidence in the Florida case; nor is there observable among many of them, any attempt to conceal the keen disappointment that has overtaken them. This is especially the case with those of them who urged the arbitration plan. Such unrepentant irreconcilables as Proctor Knott, however, find a little consolation in their record against the measure; and they lose no opportunity to harrow up the already overwrought sensibilities of their democratic fellows who voted to submit the cause of the reformer to arbitration, by reiterating, "I told you so." Mr. Hewitt, than whom no man, probably, has a more intimate knowledge of the disreputable tricks and ingenious swindles resorted to since the election to force Tilden into the White House, until the very utterance of "reform" has come to be regarded as the synonym of everything rascally and villainous, appears to have bent all the powers of his great mind to a correct diagnosis and prognosis of the case, and lugubriously announces that should Hayes be "counted in" he would be the last President that would ever be known to the Republic. Such weight as this conclusion is entitled to, will undoubtedly be accorded it; but he and other similarly endowed statesmen must forgive a little natural incredulity on the part of less prophetic citizens, when it is remembered how regularly every four years like predictions have been indulged in since Mr. Lincoln's election in 1860; and how Hewitt's party, for the four years immediately succeeding that event, exerted itself to make their predictions good, even to the extent of deluging the land with the lifeblood of hundreds of thousands of its citizens; but every presumption is against Mr. Tilden as desiring the perpetuation of the Republic under the control of the republican party.

A great deal of indignation has been excited by the outrageous treatment to which Messrs. Wells and Anderson have been subjected by their democratic custodian, Thompson, Sergeant-at-Arms of the House. Mr. Randall has disavowed all knowledge of it, and the less malignant of that party have condemned it. The place selected for their incarceration was in the "crypt,"—really a dungeon—where the sunlight never comes, which is damp, the moisture oozing from the walls, and which is in every way unsuited for human occupation even by vigorous men, for a few hours. Mr. Wells is above seventy years, yet he with his companion Anderson have been confined to this "hole in the wall" for days, and allowed communication with no one except under the surveillance of his keeper. It is an act of inquisitors. As a consequence he is seriously ill, unable to leave his room, and under the constant care of a physician. No one ought to be shocked, considering his antecedents, that Sam Cox made this old man's outrageous treatment a subject of jest and mirth in the House when it was under discussion, or that this exhibition of democratic brutality appears to strike others on his side as something remarkably funny, which they encouraged with smirks and giggles of satisfaction and approval.

David Dudley Field makes ineffectual attempts to hide his chagrin by the wildest and most irrelevant sallies of what would be taken for wit by his party friends under less depressing circumstances. But David has not added to his fame (acquired before police magistrates, and in his contest with the tax-ridden people of New York City in behalf of the chief among thieves, and the one altogether lovely with his party a few years ago,) in his reckless attempt to prove fraud on the part of the Louisiana Returning Board, by the testimony of such vagabond witnesses as Littlefield, Maddox and Pickett. Indeed it seems to be the impression that he has damaged rather than aided the cause of his client. There is now no doubt that he aimed to induce the Commission to go behind the Louisiana returns by the aid of this trio of adventurers; but the unsavory record of the three, as well as their self-confessed perjury and corruption has served to absolutely discredit their testimony even with democrats, who regard them with ill concealed feelings of disgust and contempt for general nastiness and bungling.

The critical condition of Secretary Morrill for some days past has been a source of great anxiety to his host of personal friends, and to the intelligent thousands all over the country, who appreciate his valuable services as head of the Treasury Department. Hon. A. H. Stephens who has, as was supposed, been dying for the past week, has for the thousandth time surprised every one by rallying again, and confident hopes are now indulged that he may again take his seat in the House.

The Southern Pacific railroad lobby is waiting for the lowest point of Congressional exhaustion, when by a vigorous onset, it hopes to accomplish something favorable in its behalf, while the purpose to oblige the Union and Central Pacific roads to provide sinking funds out of which to reimburse the Government for aid rendered in their construction, is being fought with grim determination by their Congressional friends.

LOGAN.

Counting the Votes.

After the votes of Florida, Georgia, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Kansas and Kentucky were counted, in joint convention on Monday, then came the certificate from Louisiana, showing eight votes for Hayes and Wheeler. Mr. Ferry stated that the certificate had been received by mail, and that no corresponding one had been received by messenger. (The messenger appointed for that purpose was Thomas C. Anderson, one of the Returning Board.) This was authenticated by Gov. Kellogg, he being himself one of the electors. The certificate having been read, the presiding officer handed to the tellers another certificate from Louisiana (with a corresponding one received by mail), showing eight votes for Tilden and Hendricks. This was authenticated by McEnery, as Governor of the State. Still a third certificate was opened and read, a corresponding one having been received by mail (with votes for Hayes and Wheeler) authenticated by Deslonde, Secretary of State.

[A certificate, received by mail by Mr. Ferry, was then read. It commenced by certifying that John Smith had been chosen elector from the first district; John Smith, No. 1, from the second; John Smith, No. 2, from third; John Smith, No. 3, from fourth; John Smith, No. 4, from fifth; John Smith, No. 5, from sixth, and John Smith, A, and John Smith, B, electors at large. At this point Senator Sargent said it was evident the return was a burlesque. Mr. Ferry said it had been received by mail, was properly endorsed, and it was his duty to submit all papers received by him. Mills, of Texas, insisted on the paper being read, and it was done. The certificate gave the electoral vote of John Smith of Louisiana, who seemed to be even more numerous than Cronin of Oregon, and quite as unanimous, to Cooper and Carey. Afterward the paper was omitted from the record of the joint convention.]

All these certificates were objected to by one party on the other; and the certificates, with the papers accompanying the same, together with the objections, were then submitted to the Electoral Commisson for judgment and decision. The Senate then withdrew.

The Electoral Commission met at 4:30 P. M., and received the papers in the Louisiana case. Senator McDonald and Representative Jencks appeared as objectors for the democrats, and Senator Howe and Representative Hurlburt for the republicans. The Commission then, on motion of Justice Field, adjourned to Tuesday at eleven o'clock A. M.

Those "Partisan Judges."

Serious a matter as the long dispute over the election has been, it has some comical features, and not the least ludicrous is the wailing of such rabidly-partisan democratic sheets as the Hartford Times and New Haven Register (papers that are quite as narrow and bitter and almost as mean in their political warfare as the New York Sun) over the "partisanship" of the Supreme Court judges on the Electoral Commission. Well, it is to be regretted that one of the democratic judges could not rise above his party and vote for honor and justice. It would perhaps be too much to expect this of Judge Field, for he is David Dudley Field's brother; but Judge Clifford, though a strong democrat, has always been considered a just man, and perhaps if the democratic papers keep up their appeals to the judges to "rise above party" Judge Clifford may yet succeed in doing it.

The Boston & Maine Trouble.

The strike of the Boston & Maine engineers seriously incommoded the public, but did not entirely stop passenger transportation. As soon as Superintendent Furber was warned that the strike was to take place at four o'clock Monday afternoon, he ordered all freight trains to be switched off on sidings wherever they might be, and the "preventer" engineers were distributed to the best advantage to take charge of engines as soon as they were abandoned by the regular engineers.

When the train from Boston for Portland reached a point just beyond Wells, Me., the engineer cut loose from his train, ran ahead, worked his engine back and forth on the track, so that nobody could get at it, drew the fire, blew off the water, and left the engine cold. The engineer of the three o'clock train from Boston for Newburyport performed a similar operation about two miles from Topsfield, Mass. This cutting loose from the trains is supposed to have been a little matter of individual spite against the substitutes, who were known to be on board the trains ready to take charge of the engines. After the time of the strike all the trains which were sent out were run by new men, a little late.

The train from Dover to Winnepisaukee was taken up by a conductor. On the Lowell branch a depot baggage master took a train to Boston. A train from Lawrence, with a Lawrence policeman as engineer, was pelted with bricks and snowballs at Haverhill, Mass., and the cab windows broken, but no other violence was reported.

Milton J. Davis and Jerome Cook, two of the striking engineers, were arrested at Kennebunk and put under $5000 bonds to answer charges of having run away with the company's property.

The strikers are backed by the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, a powerful organization, with a reserve fund, it is said, of $300,000. All the striking engineers and firemen, whether members of the Brotherhood or not, will be paid full wages by the association during the continuance of the strike or until they get other employment. The railroad authorities say they will never take the strikers back to work on any terms, but the latter are confident that they will go back, and on the terms already submitted.

The Telephone.

The first newspaper despatch ever sent over a telegraph wire by the human voice was published in the Boston Globe of Tuesday. It was an account of a public exhibition of the telephone in Salem by Prof. A. Graham Bell, its inventor, Mr. Thomas A. Watson being at the Boston end. The audience in Salem could hear a song sung in Boston, the tones being distinctly audible all over the hall; the Boston operator heard the applause of the Salem audience, and distinguished the voices of persons whom he knew when they spoke to him at the Salem end; and the despatch was sent by one Globe reporter in Salem to another in Boston, they talking together in an ordinary tone of voice.

Important Telegraphic Change.

The entire system of telegraph lines and offices of the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad Co., including its various divisions and branches through from Baltimore to Chicago and Cincinnati, was on Monday transferred from the Western Union Company to the Atlantic & Pacific Telegraph Company, giving to the latter Company the benefit of 140 new offices and an additional route for its Western business, with the use of over 3000 miles of wire heretofore included in the Southern division of the Western Union Telegraph Company. These lines and offices will constitute the Baltimore and Ohio division of the Atlantic & Pacific Telegraph Company; the local business of the Marietta and Cincinnati division will not be included in the new arrangement until about May 1st, when the contract with the Western Union Company on that division will expire in accordance with the required three months' notice given last week. The Atlantic & Pacific Company now has four independent routes from the seaboard West, together with numerous cross lines.

A Small Partisan.

The Washington correspondent of the Boston Post, who is as narrow in his partisanship as is the paper he writes for, thus refers to the burlesque certificate from Louisiana, read in joint convention on Monday: "The insult excited much indignation in members of both parties, and after the paper was read Mr. Ferry, by unanimous consent, ordered it suppressed. A man of ordinary sense would have exercised his discretion and suppressed the document. Mr. Ferry's allowing it to be read looked like an attempt to take petty revenge on Congress for depriving him of discretionary power and justified the taking it away from him." That correspondent is perfectly aware that Mr. Ferry had no more right to suppress the burlesque certificate than he had to suppress the McEnery one, both having been received by mail, each being properly endorsed, and each being really of the same value. Before the Electoral Bill was passed the democratic cry was that in counting the vote the Vice President had no discretionary power whatever; and this feeble attempt of the Post's correspondent to blame Mr. Ferry for not exercising a power of which in the same sentence he says he had been deprived, shows him to be even smaller in his partisanship than he had previously shown himself to be—which was not needed.

—What this country needs, says an experienced sufferer, is a religion which will make a man feel that it is just as cold for his wife to get up and build a fire as it is for himself.

JOTTINGS.

St. Valentine's Day.

Lent commences to-day.

Schooner Velocipede, Capt. Jamieson, of this port, landed during the week ending Feb. 10th sixty thousand pounds of fresh fish, stocking one thousand and twenty dollars on one week's fishing. The Velocipede has stocked since Dec. 22d, four thousand dollars, on fresh fish.

George Kennard, a brakeman upon the Eastern Railroad, has been arrested for the embezzlement of $280, he being entrusted with that amount to deliver to the Lynn station agent, which the latter failed to receive.

Lieut. Emery H. Taunt is ordered to this navy yard.

The public school of Newington have reopened, the measles (on account of which the school was closed) having abated.

Voters who have not yet decided how they will vote on the proposed Constitutional Amendment for cheapening and simplifying the administration of the law, may amuse themselves with the following, which is far from being an extreme case: Mrs. Kehoe sued the town of Derry for $7; and the case has just been tried, after being in court almost two years. It was tried at Exeter, by jury, in the Supreme Court, and the trial cost the tax-payers of the county $50. The case has probably cost Mrs. Kehoe as much as $50 more, and the tax-payers of Derry as much as $50 more; $150 spent on a $7 lawsuit! Mrs. Kehoe lost the case and at once gave notice of review. So the case will be tried again. As it was in the court nearly two years before the first trial, it will probably take two years more to reach the next trial and the county will have the privilege of investing $50 more, and Mrs. Kehoe $50 more, and Derry $50 more; $300 for $7!"

Plain Speaking.

In the House of Representatives, Monday, when David Dudley Field and Proctor Knott were trying to upset the decision of the Electoral Commission on the Florida case, Mr. Carr of Indiana, the democratic successor of the late Speaker Kerr, denounced the democratic leaders of the House for creating the Commission, and charged the democrats with treachery and dishonor for attempting to overthrow the result of the Commission. Mr. Carr said the democrats were estopped from raising any question against the Commission. The democratic leaders had proved themseves incompetent, or treacherous, or corrupt. He concluded: "In the name of the democratic party I absolve the Commission from all charges, save, it may be, that of a mistake; and in the name of the same great power I arraign the democratic majority of the House, and denounce it for faithlessness to its trusts." Field made a speech quite worthy of Fisk's and Tweed's adviser, declaring the decision of the Commission "an insolent mockery."

Observance of Lent.

The following has been issued by Archbishop Williams for the government of the Catholics during Lent, which begins to-day:

1. All the days of Lent, except Sundays, are fast days of obligation.

2. By dispensation the use of flesh meat is allowed, once a day only, on Mondays, Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays in Lent, except the Saturdays in Ember week and Holy week. The use of meat on Sundays is not limited as to the number of times.

3. Besides lard, fat rendered from any kind of meat may be used in preparing food on any day in Lent. This dispensation is also extended to the days of abstinence and fast days throughout the year.

4. A collation, not exceeding the fourth part of an ordinary meal, is allowed in the evening, at which eggs, fish, butter, cheese and milk may be used.

5. The use of flesh meat and fish at the same meal is not allowed.

6. The following persons are exempt from the obligation of fasting: All under twenty-one years of age and those of advanced age, the sick, those who cannot fast without grave injury to their health, women in pregnancy or nursing infants, and all those whose duties are of a very laborious or exhausting nature. Those who are excused from fasting are not thereby freed from the obligation of abstaining from flesh meat, except in case of sickness or the like.

Political.

Hon. Ira M. Gifford, of Iowa, who Littlefield swore offered him money to go to Washington with the Vernon parish return, saying he could get $100,000 from the National Republican Committee for the suppression of that evidence, publishes a denial of this story. He says: "Littlefield said prominent democrats (including Gov. Palmer) had approached him, and offered him large sums of money to disclose what he knew of the Returning Board. He being a republican, however, preferred to keep silence for a less sum than the democrats offered. Gov. Palmer approached him in various ways and intimated that he could get $10,000 for his information." Possibly Gov. Palmer did attempt to bribe Littlefield, but few people will believe it on the unsupported oath of an acknowledged perjurer, forger and thief like Littlefield.

The latest important witness raked up by David Dudley Field to testify before his committee was a man from Louisiana, who gave evidence convicting himself of fraud and forgery in such a hilarious manner as to convince the committee that he was pretty drunk. He thought he wasn't, but acknowledged that he had taken a little something during the day, and on being asked to name the intoxicating drinks he had imbibed replied, "a glass of ale, a glass of cider, a toddy, a cocktail, and a couple of cigars." Further questioning developed the fact that he had also fortified himself with two more toddies just before entering the committee room. The subsequent proceedings interested Field no more.

Since the decision of the High Commission with reference to Florida, the eulogy of Senator Conkling in the democratic newspapers has been absolutely suspended. This seems sudden.—Tribune.

The $8000 bribe money with which Tilden put up the Cronin job is the only one of the numerous election investments from that "barl" from which there is now any hope of realizing anything, and that hope is slim. In spite of some rather bothersome technicalities, the republicans have the best case there too.—Springfield Republican.

A Newburyport man who had expressed his anxiety to shoulder a musket and go and see Tilden inaugurated, was made the recipient of a box by express, last week, containing a wooden gun with Quaker accoutrements, and a full uniform of the Tilden National Guards. There was much "laffure" among his fellowmen.

In West Killingly, Conn., this winter, the authorities have furnished lodgings and shelter to 134 tramps, 131 of whom say that they voted for Tilden.

At a Hibernicon exhibition at a Roman Catholic Fair in Waterbury, Conn., on Wednesday night, some persons in the audience hissed a picture of Abraham Lincoln. Father Walsh, at the close of the entertainment, administered a just rebuke to those persons, and said that while he was not a republican, he considered President Lincoln an honest man and a martyred patriot. His remarks were heartily applauded by the more respectable portion of the audience.

The Laconia car shops are to start up with 175 or 200 hands, and the Laconia Manufacturing Company is employing a large number of operatives.

An attempt to break jail was made Sunday by the Hooke boys and Sherborn, confined in Dover jail for burglary. The jailer examined all the cells Sunday, and found a broken steel saw, cold chisel, knives filed like saws and other tools, and an inch-and-a-half iron grating sawed off, the nuts on the bolts broken, and other evidences of an escape planned.

Isaac Richmond was arrested in Lowell, Mass., on Monday, for embezzling from a Mr. Lucas, of Dover. Richmond was removed to Dover for examination.

Capt. David Wadsworth, of Nashua, takes charge of the county jail at Manchester, March 1st.

Cogent Reasons for a Grand Success.

Conspicuous among the highest examples of success which the present century can show is Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. The record of the triumphs over disease is to be traced in the written acknowledgments of thousands who have experienced its beneficent effects, and the evidence of its popularity is to be found in the vast and growing demand for the article in North And South America, Mexico, Guatemala, the West Indies, Australia and Europe. The reasons for its unparalleled success are cogent ones. The accumulated evidence of nearly thirty years shows that it is a certain remedy for malarial disease, as well as its surest preventive; that it eradicates dyspepsia, constipation, liver complaint and nervousness, counteracts a tendency to gout, rheumatism urinary and uterine disorders, that it imparts vigor to the feeble, and cheers the mind while it invigorates the body.

The Colonnade Hotel.

The Colonnade Hotel, Philadelphia, Pa., by its judicious reduction of rates, will maintain its famous reputation of a model first-class house, alive to the demands of the time.

Thousands of testimonials to the efficacy and remarkable cures of Adamson's Botanic Balsam can be produced from leading citizens of the New England States. It cures colds, coughs and all throat and lung troubles. Sold everywhere at 35 cents.

The Grand Central Hotel, New York, noted for its profuse and elaborate decorations and elegant table, now offers the same accommodations at a reduction from $4.00 to $2.50 and $3.00 per day.

Important to persons visiting New York or the Centennial. The Grand Union Hotel, New York, opposite the Grand Central Depot, has over 350 elegantly furnished rooms. Elevator, steam and all improvements. European plan. Carriage hire is saved, as baggage is taken to and from the depot free. Guests can live better for less money at the Grand Union than at any other first-class hotel. Stages and cars pass the Hotel constantly to all parts of the city, and to the Philadelphia depot.

MARINE CHRONICLE

Sch William Oliver, Jones, for this port old from Baltimore Feb 9.

—A wedding party invaded the County Clerk's office at Alton, Ill., nine days ago, and demanded a marriage license. "Certainly," said the genial clerk; "what are the ages?" The bridegroom's age was thirty-four; the bride's fourteen. The clerk hesitatingly suggested that it was against the law to issue a license to a girl under eighteen without the consent of her parents. Thereupon the bride's father stepped forward with his consent and blessing. "Why, she has already been married," said he, "and is now a widow." The clerk was convinced that a maiden who had a husband under ground was old enough to have another above ground.

Dr. A. J. Flagg's

COUGH & LUNG SYRUP.

A Safe and Sure Remedy.

The Cough and Lung Syrup

Is the remedy that during the past fifteen years has won for DR. FLAGG an extended reputation as a SPECIALIST for THROAT and LUNG Diseases. After so many years trial it can be truthfully said that it has NEVER FAILED, even in the WORST CASES. It is purely Vegetable, and its effect upon the system is at once Soothing and Tonic.

It Will Cure a Common Cold

In a few hours, not by drying it up, but by removing it from the system. TRY IT.

It will CURE a Chronic Cough, by soothing the irritated parts, and strengthening the system.

IT WILL CURE CONSUMPTION.

Even after all other remedies have failed. In the earlier stages of this disease it will effect a speedy and certain cure; and in many cases of advanced Consumption its effect has seemed almost miraculous, restoring to full strength and perfect health those whom physicians had given up as incurable. TRY IT.

IT WILL CURE CATARRH

More effectually than any other remedy, by simply removing the cause. TRY IT.

It will Cure Bronchitis, by allaying all irritation of the Throat. TRY IT.

It will Cure Asthma, affording immediate relief and a perfect cure. TRY IT.

It Will Cure Ulcerated Sore Throat.

TRY IT.

IT WILL CURE Loss of Voice, Night Sweats, Hectic Fever, AND ALL Symptoms of Consumption. TRY IT.

For every affection of the Throat and Lungs it only needs a trial to convince the most skeptical of its wonderful curative properties.

Remember that it

CURES COLDS, CURES COUGHS,

CURES CATARRH, CURES CONSUMPTION.

DR. WM. M. LADD, a leading Druggist of Claremont, certifies as follows:

For many years I have known Dr. A. J. Flagg as a successful practicing physician, and can assure the public that his representations relative to the Cough and Lung Syrup can be strictly relied upon. It has been used in his extended practice with marvelous success, and I know it to be all that he claims for it.

WM. M. LADD, M. D.

CLAREMONT, N. H., September, 1875.

DR. FLAGG MY DEAR SIR: Your Cough and Lung Syrup has proved a great benefit to me, giving relief from severe Coughs and Soreness of the Lungs, when all other remedies and physicians had failed. I have never taken a medicine more pleasant to the taste or more satisfactory in its results.

THE OLDEST ESTABLISHED HOSPITAL

IN THE UNITED STATES.

No. 9 Beaver Street, - - - Albany, N. Y

SURE CURES AND LOW PRICES.

Dr. YOUNG,

SUCCESSOR TO

Dr. TELLER,

DECEASED.

The above named private Hospital was established in Albany in 1825 by Dr. Lispenard and for a number of years its affairs were presided over by that gentleman, but for the past 20 years, Dr. Teller, who is now deceased, transacted the business of the Institution.

Owing to the great demand for more spacious apartments on account of the large increase of business, the Hospital has been removed to No. 9 Beaver Street, two doors above its old location, where patients will find magnificently furnished rooms for their reception, and are so arranged that patients do not come in contact with one another, seeing only the Doctor, thereby avoiding the unpleasantness of meeting others, which always occurred at the old office.

Ladies will find rooms provided for their especial accommodation and entirely private.

Dr. Young's great work for the married, or those contemplating marriage—100 pages—full of plates,—price 25 cents; Sent by all parts, under seal, by mail post paid.

TO THE LADIES—DR. YOUNG still retains the only agency in America for the sale of Dr. Vichol's Italian Female Monthly Pills. Sent by mail on receipt of $1.00, price per box.

Dr. YOUNG is the only agent for Dr. La Mott's celebrated Galvanic Belts.

Invalids out of the city can be cured by consulting the Doctor by letter, and enclosing remittance. Medicines sent by mail or express, securely packed from observation. All letters must be addressed to

Centaur Liniments.

The lame can be healed and the wounded made whole. We now know just what the Centaur Liniment will do. They will not mend broken bones or cure Cancer, but they will extract soreness, allay pain, cure Rheumatism and a larger range of flesh, bone and muscle ailments than any article ever before discovered.

Scientific skill cannot go beyond the effects of these remarkable preparations. Chronic Rheumatism of many years' standing, Neuralgia, Weak-Back, Fever Sores, Weeping-Sinews, Sciatica, Caked Breasts, Distorted Joints and Sprained Limbs of the worst kind are cured by the White Centaur Liniment.

It will destroy the pain and heal without a scar, all ordinary Burns and Scalds. It will extract the poison of Bites and Stings, and the frost from Frozen Limbs. It is very efficacious for Earache, Toothache, Itch and Cutaneous Eruptions.

Mr. Josiah Westake, of Marysville, O., writes:

"For years my Rheumatism has been so bad that I have been unable to stir from the house. The first three bottles of Centaur Liniment enabled me to walk without my crutches. I am mending rapidly. I think your Liniment simply a marvel.

C. H. Bennett, Druggist, Rock Prairie, Mo., says: "Centaur Liniment sells better and gives the best satisfaction of anything in the market."

What the Centaur Liniment has done for others it will do for you. It is handy, it is reliable, and it is cheap.

The Yellow Centaur Liniment

is worth its weight in gold to owners of horses and mules.

This Liniment has cured more Sprained, Sweeny, Ring-bone and Galled Horses in three years than have all the Farriers in the country in an age. Its effects are simply wonderful.

We have thousands upon thousands of certificates as strong as the following:

"My horse was lame for a year with a fetlock wrench. All remedies utterly failed to cure and I considered him worthless until I commenced to use Centaur Liniment, which rapidly cured him. I heartily recommend it.

REV. GEO. W. FERRIS,
Mamorville, Schoharie Co., N. Y."

DEAR SIRS.—I have used your Centaur Liniment in my family, and find it to be of great value. I gave send me two dollar's worth, one for the mules and horses. EILEY SICKLES.

FALLS STATION, WYOMING CO., PA.

It makes very little difference what the case is, whether it be Wrench, Sprain, Poll-Evil, Ringbone, Scratches or Lame uses of any kind, the effects are the same. Liverymen, Stage proprietors, Farmers, &c., should never be without the Yellow Centaur Liniment. It is sold everywhere, and warranted in its effects.

Castoria.

It is a mistake to suppose that Castoria is not adapted to grown persons as well as Children. They only need to increase the quantity. But children have so many complaints for which Castoria is adapted—like Wind Colic, Sour Stomach, Worms, Totter, Teething and Croup, that it is especially recommended for them.

Its effects are more certain than Castor Oil. It contains no alcohol and is as pleasant to take as honey. It never gripes. By regulating the stomach and bowels the Castoria cools the blood, expels worms and prevents feverishness, quiets the nerves and produces health—then of course children can sleep in quiet and mothers can rest.

Castoria is recommended by all physicians and nurses who have tried it, and it is having a rapidly increasing sale. It is prepared with great care after the recipe of Dr. Samuel Pitcher, of Mass., at the Laboratory of J. B. Rose & Co., 46 Dey St., N. Y.

The steamer Bavaria, recently burned at sea, and her cargo, were valued at half a million dollars.

Forty fishing smacks are missing from the ports of Yarmouth and Lowestaft, England, with two hundred men, and are supposed to have been lost in a recent heavy gale.

At Southold, Long Island, Monday, Ida Tinker, twenty-two years old, and a young man named Benjamin Franklin, were both drowned. They had passed Sunday night on a smack in the harbor, and in going ashore their boat capsized.

Llewellyn Nute of Wiscasset, Me., was waylaid near that town Saturday night by three men, who beat him insensible and robbed him of $120. He was then put into his sleigh, where he was subsequently discovered. No arrests.

Schooner C. P. Gerrish of Lubec, Me., Captain Pike, from New York for St. John with coal, went ashore at Petit Menan Thursday night, and is a total loss. All hands saved.

Archbishop Bayley of Baltimore is not in favor of "mixed marriages," and has issued some stringent regulations. These include the refusal of absolution to any Catholic young man who visits a Protestant young lady with a view to matrimony, and to any Catholic lady who receives the visits of a Protestant with the same end in view. The Archbishop of Baltimore should read the story about Mrs. Partington's attempt at sweeping back the Atlantic ocean with a twenty-fire cent corn broom.

Patrick F. Dennehy, serving a life sentence in the Rhode Island State Prison for murder, knocked down the overseer on Monday afternoon, and attempted to grasp his revolver. Elisha Peck, another prisoner, came to Denneby's assistance, but two other prisoners, Hackett and Mitchell, protected the officer. Denneby and Peck then ran into the yard and seized a plank, and were about to scale the walls, when the watchman on the wall kept them in check with a rifle until the warden and other officers appeared and placed the mutineers in irons.

Ex-Field-Marshal Henry Watterson makes the following announcement in a letter from Washington to the Courier-Journal: "The first of my 100,000 Kentuckians has already arrived at the capital. He is in arms, too—and he weighs eleven pounds."

An account of a remarkable cure from blue glass comes from Providence. The wife of a prominent manufacturer has been for three years afflicted with paralysis, which destroyed the use of her lower limbs, and after trying electricity and various other remedies in vain, she induced her husband to have a front window fitted up with the blue glass. This was done, and on the first sunny day the lady was placed in the blue light and left to herself. About two hours after some members of the family heard a noise in the room, and fearing that she had fallen from her chair, they rushed in and found her walking about the room. Continued blue-light baths have still further increased her strehgth and a permanent cure is hoped for.

The Roman Catholic Bishop O'Hara, of Pennsylvania, has issued a letter excommunicating the Ancient Order of Hibernians, and directing the clergy of his diocese to deny members of that order the sacrament.

The American Hotel block and Arcade building at Watertown, N. Y., have been purchased by Mrs. Judge Schley, formerly Mrs. Henry Keep, and they will be turned into a home, for the aged and infirm, to be called "Henry Keep's Home for the Infirm."

Henry Ward Beecher preached in Mr. Moody's church in Chicago, Sunday. The crowd was almost unprecedented. People gathered around the building from seven o'clock in the morning, and by the time of opening there were more seeking admittance than could have possibly been put into a building five times the size. Upwards of 20,000 people were turned away.

The youngest contributor to the Centennial Exhibition was Miss Mabel Thyng, aged three and a half years, the daughter of an artist in Salem, Mass. The little woman exhibited an outline drawing of a bell and a pear.

—Cider plays a great part in a Norman wedding. A young girl is seated upon a full cask, and she must drink both the first and last glass it contains in order to be married within a year.

—In Marlboro, Vermont, it is said are living a man and wife aged respectively 65 and 103 years. They were married when the man was a youth of 19 and the woman a maiden of 57. The woman had, when a girl, been courted by the father of the man who finally became and is now her husband.

CONDITION PILLS!

The Wonderful Remedy for Liver Complaint, Billiousness, Dyspepsia, Constipation, Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Headache, Kidney Complaint, Nervousness, Scrofula, Piles, and all diseases arising from a bad state of the Blood!

No medicine ever offered to the public has given such universal satisfaction as Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. Their praises are on every tongue where their merits are known. They strike at once at the seat of disease and show their healing power almost immediately. Thousands of voluntary testimonials of their merits have been received by the agent, from those who have been cured by them, of which the following are samples:

WEST LEBANON, ME., Feb. 22, 1

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I have been sick for four years with Dyspepsia, and for the past three years Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels. I have suffered all the pain I could endure and live. I have been confined to my room for two years, and could not sleep nights without the use of morphine. I have been given up by physicians as past cure. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, and they have done me more good than all the doctors I have had. I sleep well, I eat well and have no pain. They are all they are recommended to be. Please send me three packages, as two of my neighbors wish to try them. I enclose $1.50.

Your truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Another Letter from Maj. John W. Lord, one month later Wonderful Cures by Dr. Quain's Pills Effected on Him in Thirteen Days. First time Free from Pain for Three Years.

WEST LEBANON, ME., March 22, 1875.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I commenced taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS February 8th, and wrote you February 22d of their wonderful effect. I have continued to improve ever since. My appetite is good, and I sleep as well as I ever did in my life. I am free from pain for the first time in three years. When I was taken sick four years ago, I weighed one hundred and eighty-six pounds; I now weigh one hundred and thirty, but, as I am gaining in strength, I have faith I shall regain my flesh this summer, by the use of the Pills. I shal continue taking them for some time to come.

Yours truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Dr. Quain's Pills the Remedy for Soldiers' Aches and Pains.

WEST LEBANON, ME., June 1, 1875.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I am now able to walk out every day, and am gaining in strength very fast, all of which is due to you as agent for the best Pills in the world. I have taken no other medicine, and my improvement has been steady from the first taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done everything for me, and I will always advertise them direct to the soldiers, for they will certainly cure them of aches and pains, caused from exposure and hardship on the field. Please send me by return mail another package.

JOHN W. LORD.

Rheumatism for Twenty Years Cured by One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills—"The Best Medicine in the World."

EAST ANDOVER, N. H., Dec. 10, 1875.

MR. LANE—Dear Sir:—After taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS I know the value of them. I have done me, I take pleasure in sending you another testimonial. My father has been troubled with Rheumatism for twenty years or more, and has tried everything that could be thought of, but to no good. After taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS he could not lift his hand to his head or do any work at all, especially in the cold weather. A short time ago I induced him to go to some of these Pills. He believed nothing in the world would do him any good, but I gave him the last package I had, and I did not need them, and he was as free from the Rheumatic Complaint for years. No Rheumatism, no pain. What helped him? It was DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, the best medicine in the world. There is nothing like them. I know it, for I have tried them, and they are all, yes, more than they are recommended to be. Give them a fair trial and you will say so. I write this because I know the goodness of them and wish others to know the same. Some may think I am telling a big story, but remember I am not. Give these Pills a fair trial and you will say so. I write giving them half the praise they ought to have.

Yours with respect, ED. F. PEVARE.

Wonderful Effect of Four Doses of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills upon Neuralgia of Two Years' Duration—Testimony of Rev. J. S. Patton.

DAIN SPRINGS, MORRIS CO., TEXAS, Nov. 15, '75.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I have been afflicted for near twelve years with Neuralgia in the face and head. I tried all the best physicians, and could only get partly relieved. I also tried many other remedies with the same result. I have been confined to my room most all the time for eight or ten winters, and have been travelling and visiting medical springs, and I will say I suffered most intensely. The physicians pronounced my case the worst and most stubborn that they had had anything to do with. One told me I could never get well; they all advised me to go South and spend the winter, and that was the only chance for me, and I was trying to get ready to go to Florida, when through the kindness of Rev. H. M. Mathis, my affection was called to the advertisement of Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. I immediately sent to you for a package. I have taken four doses and I am almost free from pain. The improvement I feel seems to be that if your pills will cure me, they will cure anybody. I have five applications to send for the pills. Enclosed please find three dollars; send five packages to me and one to Mrs. Laura Sherrell Sulphur Springs, Hopkins county, Texas.

Yours truly, J. S. PATTON.

Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache.

LACONIA, N. H., Jan. 29, 1875.

THOS. W. LANE—Sir:—I have been troubled with Bad Blood, Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done me more good than all the medicine I ever took; I have taken considerable medicine within the last five years. For the nerves I think there is nothing so good as these pills. I can recommend them to all who are similarly afflicted, they have done me so much good. I think they will recommend themselves wherever they go. I shall recommend those Pills to all who need them. Please send me two packages more, one for myself and one for a lady friend of mine. Many thanks to the inventor, agent and advertiser of those Pills.

MRS. P. L. ELLIOTT.

PULMOCINE.

BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL

is no new discovery. Twenty-three years ago it was used by one of New England's most famous physicians as the best Pulmonary Curative so could prescribe, after dozen years spent in experimenting with it before he was satisfied that the Materia Medica could add nothing in its favor.

In the ultima thule of Medical Discovery.

Among its many ingredients are Wild Cherry Bark, Squill Root, Liquorice Root, Blood root, &c. It is a Blood Purifier, gently stimulating. It increases expectoration and is diuretic. It is sudorific and alterative. It is a necessary family medicine. It is a Tonic and a powerful aid to the digestive organs. It is a gentle sedative, and relieves nervousness. It is aromatic and agreeable to the taste.

CLEAR YOUR THROAT!

Relieve Your Lungs.

For the terrible diseases engendered by the busy trying climate of New England

PULMOCINE CORDIAL

Is a speedy and reliable Preventive and Remedy. Every family should have a bottle at hand to check the alarming growth of all Pulmonary Diseases. For the Asthma, Coughs, Croups, Laryngitis, & inflammation of the larynx, Diphtheria, and all kindred Throat Diseases at all times prevalent, it is the ounce of Prevention. Children attacked with Whooping Cough or Croup should be immediately cared for. These painful attacks come with scarcely a moment's warning, when a physician may be out of immediate reach. A dose of PULMOCINE CORDIAL gives speedy relief, and the little ones are spared hours of pain and agony. As "a stitch in time saves nine," so does the possession of this Family Medicine prevent the spread of disease. Parents seeing their children gasping with pain, friends and relatives beholding each other in peril from suffocation by the choking pain in the throat, paralyzed with fear and not knowing the best course to pursue, are liable to apply the wrong remedial agent. There is no safety in delay, no time to waste in such cases. CONSUMPTION, that fearful scourge of the human race, lies at the door of all this afflicted. BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL arrests it (unless in its advanced stage at which time there is no local cure) relieves the pressing, suffocating feeling at the lungs, and the patient's danger is past.

For Coughs,

Croup,

Diphtheria,

Asthma, etc.,

USE

Buchman's Pulmocine Cordail.

The Pulmocine Cordial is not a quack medicine, is not an experiment, is not composed of any ingredients "discovered" by "walking in pastures" in South America or anywhere else, nor by one who discovered a weed and thereby cured himself. Most of the ingredients are such as our best educated physicians daily use for the complaints specified in some form or other. The recipe is that perfected by one of New England's most learned and famous physicians, who used it entirely in his daily practice until his death. His offered to the profession and to the public, absolutely pure and unadulterated.

OF

FOREIGN LITERATURE.

THIRTY-THIRD YEAR.

THE ECLECTIC reprints from the foreign Quarterlies, Reviews, Magazines, and Journals, their choicest contents, including Essays, Scientific Papers, Biographical Sketches, Reminiscences of Travel and Adventure, Tales, Stories, and Poems. The field of selection is very large, and it is believed that the ECLECTIC presents a greater variety and higher standard of literature than any periodical can hope to do that depends exclusively upon home talent.

A knowledge of the current literature of other countries is indispensable to all who would keep pace with the progress of the human mind; and the ECLECTIC offers the best, and, indeed, the only opportunity for obtaining this knowledge within a reasonable compass, and at a moderate price.

Among the writers represented in recent numbers of the ECLECTIC are: The Rt. Hon. W. E. Gladstone, James Anthony Froude, Matthew Arnold, Charles Kingsley, Robert Buchanan, Geo. McDonald, John Ruskin, Alfred Tennyson, Thomas Hughes, William Black, Mrs. Oliphant, Thos. Hardy, William Morris, Miss Thackeray, Mrs. Alexander, Profs. Huxley and Tyndall, Richard Proctor, R. A., Prof. Owen, Dr. W. B. Carpenter, Max Muller, J. Norman Lockyer, Herbert Spencer, and others equally eminent. Besides the regular articles in the body of the magazine, there are four original Editorial Departments: Literary Notices, Foreign Literary Notes, Science and Art, and Varieties.

With regard to the character of the selections, the aim of the ECLECTIC is to be instructive without being dull, and entertaining without being trivial. While each number contains something to interest every member of the family circle, it addresses itself particularly to that great body of intelligent readers who seek profit as well as amusement in solid and healthful literature.

Besides the 128 pages of reading matter, each number of the magazine contains a Fine Steel-Engraving usually a portrait—executed in the most artistic manner.

TERMS.—Single copies, 45 cents; one copy one year $5; two copies, $9; five copies, $20. Trial subscriptions for three months, $1.

The ECLECTIC and any $4 Magazine to one address, $6.

All Assignments recorded at Washington. No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions.

R. H. EDDY, Solicitor of Patents.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MASON, Commissioner of Patents.

"Inventors cannot employ a person more trustworthy or more capable of securing for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office." EDMUND BURKE, Late Commissioner of Patents.

BOSTON, October 19, 1870.

R. H. EDDY, Esq.—Dear Sir: You procured for me, in 1866, my first patent. Since then you have acted for and advised me in hundreds of cases, and procured many patents, reissues and extensions. Have occasionally employed the best agencies in New York, Philadelphia and Washington, but I attribute my success mainly to the ability of my business, in you, and advise others to employ you.

Yours truly, GEORGE DRAPER.

No fees for making preliminary examinations. No additional fees for obtaining and conducting a rehearing. Special attention given to Interference Cases before the Patent Office, Extensions before Congress, Infringement Suits in different States, and all litigation appertaining to Inventions or Patents. Send for pamphlet. GILMORE & CO. FOR PAMPHLET OF SIXTY PAGES.

Old Bounty Land Warrants.

The last Report of the Commissioner of the General Land Office shows 2,897,500 acres of Bounty Land Warrants outstanding. These were issued under act of 1855 and prior acts. GILMORE & CO. pay cash for the required letter. When Assignments are imperfect we give instructions to perfect them.

Arrears of Pay and Bounty.

OFFICERS, SOLDIERS and SAILORS of the late war, or their heirs, are in many cases entitled to money from the Government of which they have no knowledge. Write full history of service, and state amount of pay and bounty received. Enclose stamp and GILMORE & CO., will reply. After examination, will be given you free.

Pensions.

All OFFICERS, SOLDIERS and SAILORS wounded, ruptured or injured in the late war, however slightly, can obtain a pension by addressing GILMORE & CO. Cases prosecuted by GILMORE & CO. before the Supreme Court of the United States, the Court of Claims and the Southern Claims Commission.

Each department of our business is conducted in a separate bureau, under the charge of the same experienced parties employed by the old firm. Prompt attention to all business entrusted to GILMORE & CO. is thus secured. We desire to win success by deserving it. ADDRESS

WHAT PAYS?

IT PAYS every Manufacturer, Merchant, Mechanic, Inventor, Farmer, or Professional Man, to keep informed on all the improvements and discoveries of the age.

It pays the head of every family to introduce into his household a newspaper that is instructive, one that fosters a taste for investigation, and promotes thought and encourages discussion among the members.

The Scientific American

which has been published weekly for the last thirty-one years, dids, to an extent beyond that of any other publication, in such it is the only weekly paper devoted to Mechanics in the United States, devoted to Manufactures, Mechanics, Inventions and New Discoveries in the Arts and Sciences.

Every number is profusely illustrated and its contents embrace the latest and most interesting information pertaining to the Industrial, Mechanical, and Scientific Progress of the world; Descriptions, with Beautiful Engravings, of New Inventions, New Implements, New Processes, and Improved Industries of all kinds; Useful Notes, Recipes, Suggestions and Advice by Practical Writers, for Workmen and Employers, in all the various arts, forming a complete repository of New Inventions and Discoveries; containing a weekly record, not only of the progress of the Industrial Arts in our own country, but also of All New Discoveries and Inventions in every branch of Engineering, Mechanics and Science abroad.

THE SCIENTIFIC AMERICAN has been the foremost of all industrial publications for the past thirty-one years. It is the oldest, largest, cheapest, and the best weekly illustrated paper devoted to Engineering, Mechanics, Chemistry, New Inventions, Science and Industrial Progress, published in the world.

The practical Recipes are well worth ten times the subscription price, and for the shop and house will save many times the cost of subscription.

Mechanics, Farmers, Mechanics, Engineers, Inventors, Manufacturers, Chemists, Lovers of Science, and People of all Professions, will find the SCIENTIFIC AMERICAN useful to them. It should have a place in every Family, Library, Study, Office and Counting Room; in every Reading Room, College and School. A new volume commences January 1st, 1877.

A year's numbers contain 832 pages and SEVERAL HUNDRED ENGRAVINGS. Thousands of volumes are preserved for binding and reference. Terms, $3.20 a year by mail, including postage. Discount to Clubs. Special circulars, giving Club rates sent free. Single copies mailed on receipt of 10 cents. May be had of all News Dealers.

PATENTS, In connection with the Scientific American, Messrs. MUNN & Co. are Solicitors of American and Foreign Patents, and have the largest establishment in the world. More than fifty thousand applications have been made for patents through their agency.

Patents are obtained on the best terms. Models of New Inventions and Sketches examined, and advice free. A special notice is made in the Scientific American of all Inventions Patented through this Agency, with the name and residence of the Patentee. Patents are often sold in part or in whole, to persons attracted to the invention by such notice. A Pamphlet, containing full directions for obtaining Patents sent free. The Scientific American Reference Book, a volume bound in cloth and gilt, containing the Patent Laws, Census of the U. S., and 182 Engravings of mechanical movements. Price 25 Cents.

PULMOCINE.

Lippincott's Magazine.

AN ILLUSTRATED MONTHLY OF POPULAR LITERATURE, SCIENCE, and ART.

Announcement for 1877.

The number for January begins the nineteenth volume of this Magazine, and while its past record will, it is hoped, be deemed a sufficient guarantee of future excellence, no efforts will be spared to diversify its attraction and to provide an increased supply of Popular Reading in the Best and Most Emphatic Sense. The great object and constant aim of the conductors will be to furnish the public with Literary Entertainment of a Refined and Varied Character, as well as to present in a graphic and striking manner the most recent information and soundest views on subjects of General Interest; in a word, to render LIPPINCOTT'S MAGAZINE strikingly distinctive in those features that are most attractive in Magazine Literature. The contributions now on hand, or specially engaged, embrace a highly attractive list of Tales, Short Stories, Descriptive Sketches, Narratives, Papers on Science and Art, Poems, Popular Essays, Literary Criticisms, etc., etc., by talented and well known writers. A large proportion of the articles, especially those descriptive of travel, will be profusely and beautifully illustrated. The pictorial embellishments of the Magazine constitute one of its many attractive features.

In addition to the general attractions of LIPPINCOTT'S MAGAZINE the Publishers would invite attention to the following

SPECIAL FEATURES FOR 1877.

1. A new serial story,

"THE MARQUIS OF LOSSIE,"

by George Macdonald, author of "Malcolm," "Alec Forbes," "Robert Falconer," etc.

To those of our readers who are familiar with "Malcolm," this new story from the pen of this distinguished writer will need no commendation, and his reputation is a guarantee to others of a deeply interesting and powerful story. It began in the November number, which time, with the beginning part, will be furnished gratis to all new subscribers for 1877.

2. A profusely illustrated series of sketches of

SWEDISH SCENERY AND LIFE,

by Prof. Willard Fiske, of Cornell University, who is thoroughly familiar with Sweden and its People from personal observation.

3. A series of popular papers on

ART AND ART MATTERS,

by Edward Strahan (Earl Shinkwin), author of "The New Hyperion," etc.

4. Illustrated Sketches of Travel, entitled

PICTURES FROM SPAIN,

by Edward King, author of "The Great South," etc.

5. Mrs. Lucy H. Hooper's Interesting and Piquant

PAPERS AND LETTERS FROM PARIS,

will be continued through the year.

6.

THE BEAUTIES OF THE RHINE,

will be described in a richly illustrated series of papers.

7. During the year will appear a number of handsomely illustrated articles descriptive of Adventure, Travel and Adventure in the United States, England, South America, Japan, Mongolia, and other countries.

AMONG THE BEST PEOPLE.

I.—IT PUBLISHES ALL THE NEWS. The current of no man, the slave of no party, it can afford to and does tell the truth about all.

II.—IT IS IMPARTIAL AND INDEPENDENT. Believing in the sufficiency of intelligent discussion to elicit the fullest and fairest information, to qualify them for the wisest discharge of their responsibility.

III.—IT IS, AS IT ALWAYS WAS, ESSENTIALLY REPUBLICAN. It may quarrel in the future, as it has done in the past, with errors of republican leaders or corruptions in the republican party, but can never cease to be true to republican principles, as it especially to have decided doctrines of civil service reform, hard money, the sanctity of the National faith, and equal justice to all classes at the South, which formed the distinctive issues of Gov. Hayes' admirable letter of acceptance.

IV.—ITS MORAL TONE IS PURE AND ELEVATED. The family circle is never profaned by anything which appears in the columns of THE TRIBUNE.

V.—THE CHOICEST STANDARD AND CURRENT LITERATURE of the day is presented in its columns, including Correspondence, Poems, Stories, and reviews from the most talented and popular writers

VI.—IT IS THE BEST AND CHEAPEST FARMERS' PAPER PUBLISHED. THE WEEKLY TRIBUNE has done more to make good farmers than any other influence which ever existed."

VII.—THE MARKET REPORTS of THE TRIBUNE are indispensable to every buyer and seller in the country. Quotations are given daily and weekly of almost every article bought and sold in the markets of the world, and with unvarying and almost infallible accuracy. As to Cattle, Dairy and Cheese, and other Markets are the recognized standard.

VIII.—MORE COPIES OF THE TRIBUNE are paid for and read by the American people than of any other newspaper of equal price in the country—a fact which is the best demonstration of the value of the paper.

IX.—THE READERS OF THE TRIBUNE represent largely the best enterprising and progressive minds of the country. Persons who are interested in pure politics, the advance of science, and the progress of opinion, will find their demands met by THE TRIBUNE.

X.—PUBLIC APPROVAL AND PROSPERITY have rewarded the independent and self-respectful course of THE TRIBUNE. It has a larger and stronger corps of earnest workers among its friends than ever before, and every week receives from old and new readers words of encouragement.

Notices of the Press.

The Magazine has attained in the one quarter century and more of existence to that point where it may be said of it, in the words of Dr. Johnson, "it is vain to blame and useless to praise." The lustre of its long-established popularity has increased as the years have passed, and its future seems as bright if not brighter than at any time since the golden hue of prosperity settled around its pages and best years. —Brooklyn Eagle.

Harper's Monthly is marked by the same characteristics which gave it circulation from the first with the better class of readers. It combines reading matter with illustrations, and is made up of clear and vivid the facts presented. Pictures merely designed to catch the eye of the ignorant are never inserted. —Chicago Journal.

LITTELL'S LIVING AGE FOR 1877. The continued and increasing success of this periodical (now over thirty-three years old) is doubtless owing to the fact that it still offers a comprehensive and cheap means of keeping well informed in the best literature of the day. With its weekly issue, and in three and a quarter thousand large pages of reading matter a year, it is enabled to present with freshness and satisfactory completeness able essays and reviews, concise serial and short stories, interesting sketches of travel and discovery, poetry, and valuable biographical, historical, scientific and political information from the entire body of foreign periodical literature.

Its pages are represented such eminent authors as Prof. MAX MULLER, Prof. Tyndall, Rt. Hon. W. E. Gladstone, Dr. W. B. Carpenter, Prof. Huxley, Richard A. Proctor, Frances Power Cobbe, The Duke of Argyll, Jas. A. Froude, Mrs. Muloch, Mrs. Oliphant, Mrs. Alexander, Miss Thackeray, Jean Ingelow, Geo. McDonald, Wm. Black, Mathew Arnold, Charles Kingsley, W. W. Story, Auerbach, Ruskin, Carlyle, Tennyson, Browning, and many others of equal science, fiction, history, biography, philosophy, poetry, theology, politics, criticism and art.

The subscription price ($8 a year) is cheap for the amount of reading furnished; while for those desiring the cream of both home and foreign literature, the publishers make a still cheaper offer, viz.: to one, postpaid, The Living Age and either one of the American $4 monthlies, or weeklies, for $9 00. With The Living Age and one or other of our leading American monthlies, a subscriber will at small cost, be put in "command of the whole situation."

An extra offer, also, is made to all new subscribers for 1877, viz.: to those who remit before the six numbers of 1876, containing, besides other valuable reading, the first installments of a new and unusually powerful serial story by George Macdonald, now appearing in The Living Age from advance sheets.

The volume begins Jan. 1st, and we recommend the period to the attention of our readers. We know of no other way in which so much of the best work of the best minds can be had in so convenient and so cheaply and conveniently as through this standard weekly magazine. Published by Littell & Gay, Boston.

CHILDREN TEETHING

MRS. WINSLOW'S

SOOTHING SYRUP!

For Children Teething,

greatly facilitates the process of teething, by softening the gums, reducing all inflammation—will allay ALL PAIN and spasmodic action, and

Sure to Regulate the Bowels.

Depend upon it, mothers, it will give rest to yourselves, and

Relief and Health to Your Infants.

We have put up and sold this article for years, and CAN SAY IN CONFIDENCE AND TRUTH of it, what we have never been able to say of any other medicine—NEVER HAS IT FAILED, IN A SINGLE INSTANCE, TO EFFECT A CURE, when timely used. Never did we know an instance of dissatisfaction by any one who used it. On the contrary, all are delighted with its operation, and speak in terms of highest commendation of its magical effects and medical virtues. We speak in this matter "WHAT WE DO KNOW," after years of experience, AND PLEDGE OUR REPUTATION FOR THE FULFILMENT OF WHAT WE HERE DECLARE. In almost every instance where the infant is suffering from teething and exhaustion, relief will be found in fifteen or twenty minutes after the first dose is administered.

This valuable preparation has been used with NEVER FAILING SUCCESS in

Thousands of Cases.

It not only relieves the child from pain, but invigorates the stomach and bowels, corrects acidity, and gives rest and energy to the whole system. It will almost instantly relieve

Griping in the Bowels and Wind Colic.

We believe it the BEST AND SUREST REMEDY IN THE WORLD, in all cases of DYSENTERY and DIARRHŒA IN CHILDREN, whether it arises from teething, or from any other cause. We would say to Mothers, that no one who has a child suffering from any of the foregoing complaints—do not let your prejudice, nor the prejudice of others, stand between your suffering child and the relief that will be SURE—yes, ABSOLUTELY SURE—to follow the use of this medicine, if timely used. Full directions for using will accompany each bottle.

THE SUN.

1877 NEW YORK. 1877

The different editions of THE SUN during the next year will be the same as during the year that has just passed. The daily edition will continue to be a sheet of four pages, and on Sundays a sheet of eight pages, or 56 broad columns; while the weekly edition will be a sheet of eight pages, of the same dimensions and character that are already familiar to our friends.

THE SUN will continue to be the strenuous advocate of retrenchment and economy, and of the substitution of statesmanship, wisdom, and integrity for hollow pretence, imbecility, and fraud in the administration of public affairs. It will continue to advocate the government of the people by the people and for the people, as opposed to government by frauds in the ballot-box and in the counting of votes, enforced by military violence. It will endeavor to supply its readers, on a body now not far from one million of souls—with the most careful, complete, and trustworthy accounts of current events, and will employ for this purpose a numerous and carefully selected staff of reporters and correspondents. Its reports from Washington, especially, will be full, accurate and fearless; and it will endeavor to continue to serve and enjoy the hatred of those who thrive by plundering the Treasury or by usurping what the law does not give them, while it will endeavor to merit the confidence of the public by defending the rights of the people against the encroachments of unjustified power.

The price of the daily SUN will be 55 cents a month or $6.50 a year, post paid, or with the Sunday edition $7.70 a year.

The SUNDAY edition alone, eight pages, $1.20 a year, post paid.

The WEEKLY SUN, eight pages of 56 broad columns, will be furnished during 1877 at the rate of $1 a year, post paid.

The low rate of this large reduction from the previous rate for the WEEKLY can be enjoyed by individual subscribers without the necessity of making up clubs. But to those who will do a little for their friends choose to aid in extending our circulation, we shall be grateful to them, and every such person who sends us ten or more subscribers from one place will be entitled to one copy of the paper for himself without charge. At one dollar a year, postage paid, the expenses of paper and printing will be nearly repaid; and, considering the size of the sheet and the quality of its contents, we are confident that every reader will consider THE WEEKLY SUN the cheapest newspaper published in the world, and we trust also one of the very best. Strange Sea Monsters.

Professor Richard P. Proctor writes, to the Echo: The sea-serpent has long been regarded by most persons as simply a gigantic fraud. Either the object which appeared like a sea-serpent was something altogether different—a floating tree entangled in seaweed, the serpentine outline of distant hills half lost under a scudding haze, a row of leaping porpoises, or, if a single living creature at all, then one of a known species seen under unusual and deceptive conditions—or else the circumstantial accounts which could not thus be explained away were concoctions of falsehood. Yet, as the naturalist Gosse long since pointed out, in his curious essay on "The Great Unknown," it is altogether unlikely that men know all the forms of animals which exist in the ocean, and the antecedent probability against the theory of existence of creatures such as the great sea serpent has been described to be is not sufficient to outweigh the evidence which has been given respecting such creatures.

No one who has read the account given by the officers and men of the Dædalus, for instance, can for a moment suppose that they were deceived in any one of the ways ingeniously imagined. We must assume that they all told untruths before we can reject the belief that some as yet unknown sea creature was seen by them. That creature may quite possibly not have been a serpent, properly so called; the picture drawn by one of the midshipmen may have been incorrect in details (as Professor Owen insisted it must have been;) but, unless the whole affair was a fraud, a sea animal was seen which had all the appearance of a gigantic serpent. And the idea of fraud in such matters is not nearly so reasonable as many seem to imagine. Travellers are sometime said to tell marvellous stories; but it is a noteworthy fact that in nine cases out of ten, the marvellous stories of travellers have been confirmed. Men ridiculed the tale brought back by those who had sailed far to the South that the sun there moves from right to left, instead of from left to right, as you face his noonday place; but we know that those travellers told the truth.

The first account of the giraffe was laughed to scorn, and it was satisfactorily proved that no such creature could possibly exist. The gorrilla would have been jeered out of existence but for the fortunate arrival of a skeleton of his at an early stage of our acquaintance with that prepossessing cousin of ours. Monstrous cuttlefish were thought to be monstrous lies, till the Alecton, in 1861, came upon one and captured its tail, whose weight of forty pounds led naturalists to estimate the entire weight of the creature at four thousand pounds, or nearly a couple of tons. In 1873, again, two fishermen encountered a gigantic cuttle in Conception Bay, Newfoundland, whose arms were about thirty feet in length, (the fishermen cut off from one arm a piece of twenty-five feet long,) while its body was estimated at sixty feet in length and five feet in diameter—so that the devil-fish of Victor Hugo's famous story was a mere baby cuttle by comparison with the Newfoundland monster. The mermaid, again, has been satisfactorily identified with the manatee, or "woman-fish," as the Portuguese call it, which assumes, says Captain Scoresby, "such positions that the human appearance is very closely imitated."

As for stories of sea-serpents, naturalists have been far less disposed to be incredulous than the general public. Dr. Andrew Wilson, for instance, after speaking of the recorded observations in much such terms as I have used above, says: "We may, then, affirm safely that there are many verified species of evidence on record of strange marine forms having been met with, which evidences, judged according to ordinary and common sense rules, go to prove that certain hitherto undescribed marine organisms do certainly exist in the sea depths." As to the support which natural history can give to the above proposition, "zoologists can but admit," he proceeds, "the correctness of the observation."

Certain organisms, and especially those of marine kind, (e. g., certain whales), are known to be of exceedingly rare occurrence. Our knowledge of marine reptilia is confessedly very small; and, best of all, there is no counter objection or feasible argument which the naturalist can offer by way of denying the above proposition. He would be forced to admit the existence of purely marine genera of snakes which possess compressed tails, adapted for swimming, and other points of organization admittedly suited for a purely aquatic existence. If, therefore, we admit the possibility—nay, even the reasonable probability—that gigantic members of these water snakes may occasionally be developed, we should state a powerful case for the assumed and probable existence of a natural "sea-serpent."

We confess we do not see how such a chain of probabilities can be readily set aside, supported as they are in the possibility of their occurence by zoological science, and in the actual details of the case by evidence as trustworthy in many cases as that received in our courts of law. When we remember how few fish or other inhabitants of the sea are ever seen compared with the countless millions which exist, that not one specimen of some tribes will be seen for many years in succession, and that some tribes are only known to exist because a single specimen or a single skeleton has been obtained, we may well believe that in the sea, as in heaven and earth, there are more things "than are known in our philosophy."

Counting the Votes.

The arguments of counsel before the Electoral Commission commenced on Tuesday. The democrats wanted six hours to present their arguments but the republicans wanted the four hour rule adhered to; and the Commission finally compromised on four and a half hours for each side. Trumbull, Matt Carpenter and Judge Campbell appear as counsel for the democrats, and Evarts, Stoughton and Shellabarger for the republicans. The Commission decided to sit until nine o'clock at night to hear argument, and Carpenter made a strong opening on the democratic side, arguing against the legality of the Louisiana Returning Board; but at half-past six he was so ill from the smoke of the candles with which the room was lighted that he could not proceed, and on motion of Mr. Abbott the Commission adjourned to ten o'clock Wednesday forenoon.

The Commission heard the rest of the counsel on Wednesday. A decision in the case is expected on Saturday.

News and Notes.

Mr. Arthur Cheney, of the Globe Theatre, Boston, was found on Fourth Avenue, Tuesday, insensible from a fall on the ice. He was found to be badly injured.

Fred May, one of the heroes of the battle of Slaughter's Station, is engaged to a daughter of the late Paran Stevens.

By a collision on the Troy & Boston Railroad, near the Hoosac tunnel, on Tuesday, one brakeman was killed, another had his legs broken, and a conductor was badly injured. No passengers were seriously hurt.

The Iglesias party in Mexico are reported to be gaining ground rapidly in the western part of the country.

The trial of the suit of H. H. Boody vs Samuel J. Tilden, for an accounting in an alleged joint transaction on Chicago and Salina Union stock in 1864, commenced Tuesday in the New York Superior Court. The plaintiff claims that the defendant was over-paid $26,000, through a mistake as to the profits of a pool. The defendant denies he ever was in the pool, says he was not over-paid, and he is not liable for accounting.

The Boston & Maine engineers' strike still continues. Tuesday evening there was a meeting in Faneuil Hall, which was addressed by Mr. Arthur, President of the Brotherhood of Engineers. Many of the substitute engineers have been bought off by the strikers, some of them at high prices. Other railroad companies are warned that if they loan engineers to the Boston & Maine the Brotherhood will order a general strike, if necessary to carry their point.

Chief Justice Church of New York, in a note to the New York Times, for the purpose of correcting a wrong impression, incidentally states that he has "always held the opinion that the authentication of the election of Presidential Electors according to the laws of each State is final and conclusive, and that there exists no power to go behind it." Judge Church is not only a good lawyer, but a very thorough-going democrat.

Concerning a current newspaper item stating that William Sabin of Sexton, Vt., has had 2874 fits in eight years, an average of 1 1-3 per day, a Vermont paper says not so; he has had but 3337 in nine years, or less than 1 1-4 a day. Besides, there is no such man as William Sabin of Sexton, Vt., and there is no such place as Sexton, Vt.

The Lehigh & Wilkesbarre Coal Company has been put in the hands of receivers, and the New Jersey Central Railroad also.

The Senate bill authorizing Latrobe, Frick and Garrett to lay Atlantic cables was passed by the House on Tuesday.

Henry Astor, a member of the rich Astor family, must pay to a little five year old girl, named Josephine Ash, twenty-five thousand dollars. The suit was commenced in Dutchess County, New York, some few months ago. The plaintiff is a daughter of one of Astor's tenants. He visited the house of his tenant, one Sunday, in an intoxicated condition, and donning a surplice, he began to preach in mimic fashion. The little girl was in the room, seated in a high chair, and because she laughed he knocked her on the floor, injuring her spine permanently. The jury rendered a verdict for twenty-five thousand dollars, and a motion for a new trial was promptly refused by the judge, who said that the verdict was a righteous one. The matter was carried before the General Term, and on Friday the motion was refused. The press and public say amen.

Political.

Hon. Zach. Chandler, Secretary of the Interior, receives the following deserved compliment from the New York Tribune—a paper that has never been over-lenient toward what it has regarded as Mr. Chandler's political mistakes. Speaking of the Californian who wrote to the Secretary offering him a sum of money if he would render a favorable decision in a certain case, the Tribune says "He ought to have known that this Secretary of the Interior, whatever his mistakes may have been, has never been for sale at any price."

It makes a big difference whose ox is gored. When the House committee on privileges and elections demanded the production of the bank accounts of Hon. Zach Chandler and Gen. McCormick, Chairman and Secretary of the National Republican Committee, the democrats howled for joy; but the drag proved only a "water-haul." Now the Senate committee has demanded of Conrad N. Jordan that he produce the bank accounts of Abe Hewitt, Uncle Tilden and Nephew Pelton, and the banker having failed to obey the order has been declared in contempt and his arrest ordered. The democrats have just discovered that it is a gross outrage—as indeed it is—to overhaul a man's private papers on the mere suspicion that something may be discovered against him.

Representative Purman, of Florida, on Tuesday in the House made a remarkable speech, in which, after defending the carpet-bag governments of the South, he declared that the Tilden electors were chosen in Florida, and that Cowgill, one of the Returning Board, was knowing to the frauds that gave the State to Hayes, and "said he would decide the case for Hayes if the frauds were properly covered up." Mr. Purman has been considered a strong republican, and his statement, if made before, would have had weight; but coming as it does after the electoral vote of Florida has been irrevocably counted for Hayes it gives rise to the ugliest suspicions concerning his motives and his truthfulness.

Hon. Daniel Marcy does not believe in putting men in office as a "reward of party zeal." John G. Thompson, chairman of the democratic State committee of Ohio, and Sergeant-at-Arms of the United States House of Representatives, acts in a way to lacerate Mr. Marcy's feelings on this point; for he has long had nearly every Ohio delegate to the Tilden convention on the pay roll of the House as deputy sergeants-at-arms, and has recently added to their number the southern telegraph operators who were kicked out of their positions by the Western Union for betraying their trusts. Littlefield, Maddox and Picketa, the fellows who commit wholesale perjury on "broad moral grounds" in the interests of Tilden and reform, are not yet appointed but probably soon will be.

New Hampshire Items.

Samuel J. Osgood, Past Grand Master in New Hampshire and Grand Representative to the Grand Lodge of Odd Fellows of the United States, died at Laconia, Wednesday morning.

Henry L. Ames of Royalston, Mass., twenty-eight years old, who eloped with his step-daughter, not yet fourteen years old, early in 1876, was arrested at Canaan in this State on Monday evening, where they have been living as man and wife. In default of bail he was sent to jail.

The town of Rumney boasts a snow-drift thirty feet high in one of the main roads, over which all travel has to climb.

A lady in Brookline is said to be the heaviest woman in the State. She weighs 396 pounds, and is but 30 years old.

The Temperance Reform Club of Keene are holding a weekly meeting in the City Hall, the City Fathers giving them the use of the same. The meetings are crowded, and new names are added to the lists nightly. The various religious Societies help all they can, the clergymen making short addresses. It is the best temperance movement ever made in this country, and is doing a great deal of good.

How They Raised a Dinner.

In the early days of Eureka, when coin was scarce and credit difficult to obtain, it used to worry some of the pioneers to keep a full larder. There were four jolly good fellows living in New York canyon, the owners of several fine locations, but bankrupt in purse, and their credit at the stores overdone. Their laziness was proverbial, and they lived by their wits and grew lean on their capital. While at breakfast, discussing the last remnants of provisions in the cabin, and already hungry in anticipation of the coming famine, it was suggested that a beef stew would be in order for dinner, provided the ingredients could be obtained. There was good water and excellent salt on hand; but the butcher was obdurate, and the grocery keeper hard of heart, and it needed considerable ingenuity to complete the list necessary to the concoction of the savory dish. After much consultation a plan was finally agreed on that promised success, and the quartet started for town to put the scheme in execution, one of the party providing himself with a couple of stout pins bent in the form of a hook—a necessary outfit if the plan worked. On arriving in town, two of the party lounged around the door of a grocery, where potatoes, onions, and other vegetables were temptingly exposed for sale, while the party with the pins and his companion proceeded to the butcher shop. One halted on the threshold and gazed up and down the street while the other engaged the butcher in an animated conversation, in the course of which he pointed to our friend, and hinted that it would be a most excellent joke to fasten a piece of meat to the idler's coat. The butcher saw the point and handed over a huge round steak, which, with the aid of the pins, was fastened to the apparently unconscious victim's coat-tail. As soon as it was secured in the desired position, he moved slowly up the street, leaving the butcher convulsed with laughter at the success of the joke. The attention of the bystanders was attracted to the strange appendage. Some shouted, others laughed, and the victim increased his pace to a run, followed by the mob. As he passed the grocery, the confederates stationed at that point put in execution their part of the scheme by liberally pelting him with potatoes and onions, an example followed by the bystanders. He did not stop—that was not in the play—but he was soon out of view up the canyon, going at a gait that would have astonished a race-horse. The excitement over, the three partners sauntered up the street, stopping by the way to fill their capacious pockets with the vegetables so freely used as missiles, and then joined their companion at the cabin, indulging their mirth over the complete success of their stratagem. The quartet partook of a savory beef stew at dinner, much to their gratification, and to the disgust of the butcher when the joke was explained to him. Eureka (Nev.) Sentinel.

Cogent Reasons for a Grand Success.

Conspicuous among the highest examples of success which the present century can show is Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. The record of the triumphs over disease is to be traced in the written acknowledgments of thousands who have experienced its beneficent effects, and the evidence of its popularity is to be found in the vast and growing demand for the article in North and South America, Mexico, Guatemala, the West Indies, Australia and Europe. The reasons for its unparalleled success are cogent ones. The accumulated evidence of nearly thirty years shows that it is a certain remedy for malarial disease, as well as its surest preventive; that it eradicates dyspepsia, constipation, liver complaint and nervousness, counteracts a tendency to gout, rheumatism urinary and uterine disorders, that it imparts vigor to the feeble, and cheers the mind while it invigorates the body.

The New Hampshire Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals acknowledge the receipt of two donations of twenty dollars each for the benefit of the society.

The Portsmouth Cornet Band give a promenade concert and dance at Congress hall this evening. Tickets fifty cents.

All the rage now—chemiloons.

The State Board of Agriculture, and the local agriculturists, are preparing for an extensive and interesting conference at their series of meetings in Greenland on the 20th. The arrangements are in a forward state, and those who are active in promoting the meeting, anticipate a big time, and a profitable season of discussion for the farmers.

At the annual meeting of the Portsmouth Gas Company, held Tuesday evening, Ichabod Goodwin, Christopher C. Jackson, Charles A. Shannon, Aaron Akerman and John Sise were chosen Directors, David Kimball Treasurer and Clerk, and Andrew J. Penhallow Auditor. The company has nearly finished a new gasometer, fifty-four feet deep and forty-nine feet in diameter, and are now charging $3.22 net per 1000 feet of gas. The affairs of the company are in a prosperous condition.

Some one asks "when will the smaller animals, cats, etc., be protected and considered to have rights as well as the brutes who go about on two legs calling themselves human beings?" There was one who recently deliberately kicked a harmless playful kitten, wounding it so that it was revolting to look at. In this instance it was the most wicked cruelty, for which there is no excuse. The perpetrator of the act must be a wretched being ranking lower than the lowest of dumb creatures.

BORROWED ITEMS.

We clip the following items from a Boston paper, having got tired of seeing them going the rounds unnoticed:

"Abel Lamprey of Portsmouth was thrown out of a sleigh on Saturday by his horse taking fright, and his right leg broken."

"A Portsmouth farmer had a cow that was taken sick last October, and after suffering four days it was killed. A post-mortem examination revealed eighteen nails and pieces of nails in its stomach, some of the nails being three and one-half inches long."

"Reports come from the towns around Portsmouth of an unprecedented scarcity of water. In many places wells and streams that never before failed now being dry, farmers are forced to drive stock a long distance, while supplies for domestic purposes are equally scarce. Unless rain comes soon a serious time is anticipated."

We do not know who Abel Lamprey is, never having heard of the gentleman; nor have we heard of his breaking his leg, except in the Boston papers. Neither did we hear of a man finding an iron mine in a cow, and don't believe it. Further, we have heard no particular complaints of scarcity of water—or rum, either—in Portsmouth or vicinity; and if water should get scarce in this city it won't matter much, as our two big brewers are running for office, and beer will be plenty enough for a month to come.

THE CABLE WAR.

The ocean-telegraph "fusionists" in England, foiled in the attempt to gobble up the Direct Cable Company by a stockholders' vote, have transferred the contest to a London law court, where it is sought to compel the Direct Company to carry out Mr. Penn's resolution appointing a committee to consider the expediency of amalgamation. Meantime the Anglo-American Company declares that it will give no quarter if its rival persists in serving the public at the rates which have reduced its dividends so largely. The New York Tribune remarks:

Viscount Monck, who makes this threat, ought to be wise in time. When a company with $27,000,000 capital and four cables threatens to destroy one with only $6,000,000 and a single cable, public sentiment is likely to be strongly aroused on the weaker side. As the only object of the Anglo-American Company in seeking to get control of the Direct Cable is to restore the former oppressive and exorbitant rates, which the rivalry of the latter company has forced down to a point something near reasonable, the recent action of the American Congress in passing the bill granting permission to the projected Baltimore line to lay cables between this country and Europe may have some influence in deciding the question. And it is pretty certain that the Anglo-American Company should manage to get control of the Direct Cable in connection of the latter with the shores of the Dominion and at Rye Beach would be summarily severed by the two Governments which, however, would not much annoy the monopolists, who only care to restore old rates and do not really need the Direct Cable to use; but it would be bad for stockholders in the Direct Cable Company.

The Irish Shrafting.

In a rather retired part of the south of Ireland, near to the once famous Skibbereen, a curious and not uninteresting custom prevails, called "shrafting." It takes its name from Shrove (otherwise Shraft) Tuesday, on which day a regular matrimonial "Tattersall" is held, where all the "likely" boys and girls in the parish are on view, and all the "matches" in the year are made. For days before there is quite a stir in the neighborhood, and a twitter runs through the entire female population. There is a universal sticking and buying of ribbons; every girl you meet on the road holds out her hand for a sixpence; and you can't speak to a domestic servant without her hanging out signals of distress. Indeed, there is this objectional side to the proceeding, that it disorganizes one's establishment; for just as you have caught and trained a neat-handed Phyllis for yourself, she is sure to be pounced on and carried off by some of the coast-guards, who always attend the shrafting from the fishing village near at hand. The shrafting is in itself a pretty sight, and would furnish a subject for the pencil of any wandering artist, if such came that way. The girls stand in a row on the village green, under the spreading branches of a fine old copper beach tree. There is every expression on their faces—anxiety, curiosity, timidity, dull stupidity, sharp shrewish interest; and here and there you come on such a pretty country beauty, with that indescribable half-arch, half-shy look in the eyes which Maclise has caught in perfection. At a little distance are clustered a lot of shame-faced looking men—"the boys," as they are called—all in their Sunday suits, and evidently ill at ease, eyeing with some distrust the superior attractions of the coast guards, who are like the red coats, favorites among the ladies. But that in reality matters little, as the real conduct of the affair is in the hands of "the powers that be," the fathers and mothers, who haggle and quarrel over their respective children, sometimes breaking up the negotiations abruptly, and carrying off either son or daughter, as the case may be, as they would an unsalable beast from a fair. Of course, little bits of romance crop up here, as elsewhere; cases of money versus love, and young hearts sold to the highest bidder, just as they are in a Belgravian drawing-room. By the by, what wouldn't our fashionable mothers and worn out chaperones give for a shrafting to be held once a year in Hyde Park; how much trouble and expense it would save; and what glorious fun it would be to see the Countess of D— and old Lady Mantower having a hand-to-hand fight over the persons of Lord Fizznoodle and the Honorable Emilia!—English Paper.

How the Accounts Were Furnished.

Clearly the best account of the recent duel was that given by a very grave business man, Mr. Lawrence R. Jerome. After being sworn, he stated to the grand jury that he was interviewed by reporters in bed before he got off his night-cap, was shadowed by them as if he were a great criminal, and interrogated by them at the moment when partaking of the strengthening potato and the invigorating chop. "Mr. Foreman," said he, "while I really knew nothing about the affair, I kept furnishing the reporters with most of the news that filled the papers relating to the duel. They persisted that I had something to do with arranging the preliminaries for the fight, and knowing that it was bread and butter to the reporters, and that they were paid by the yard for all such exciting information, I furnished them with principals and seconds on every occasion when asked. I did this, I repeat, to benefit the reporters mainly. I assure you, Mr. Foreman, I didn't know the first thing about the duel, but they would insist upon it that I knew all about it. I am glad the affair is brought to a close; I am glad to be here to relieve my mind and the public on this very exciting subject. I am a man of peace; I am a respector of the laws of the land; I would not counsel the shedding of blood in any other way except according to law and the doctors. There are some bloody minded men in the community, but I am not one of them. I hope, Mr. Foreman, you are satisfied that I am a law abiding citizen, and opposed to the use of firearms except in case of defense and invasion. If you have done with me, Mr. Foreman, I would like to retire and resume my pleasant occupation in Wall street, where I will be most happy to see any member of the grand inquest and to attend to any business in my line to the entire satisfaction of all parties." Mr. Jerome withdrew, and the grand jury joined in roars of laughter.

—Mr. Christiancy (Rep.) of Mich., in presenting to the United States Senate a petition from the citizens of Michigan, asking adoption of a sixteenth amendment to the Constitution of the United States prohibiting States from disfranchising persons on account of sex, said he was informed that there was not a single drunkard, gambler, or person of vicious life among the petitioners, and he believed the statement. His observations in the State of Michigan, where over forty thousand votes were given for female suffrage, satisfied him that the people advocating this amendment were among the most thoughtful and intelligent people of the country.

—The bal-masque was first introduced in Paris in 1715, but was nearly put an end to at once, owing to an incident which took place in 1721. Six men carried a palanquin, and made their way to the centre of the theatre, amid jokes of every nature. There they deposited their burden and withdrew. Becoming impatient at the unknown not drawing aside the curtains, a charming danseuse in domino peeped inside to invite the occupant to a menuet. She drew back in horror. The crowd tore open the screen, and before them was a corpse, a man with a dagger in his heart. The mystery never was cleared up.

—Isaac Wilson, aged fourteen, James Phalon, aged thirteen, and Eddie Wilson, aged eight, all of San Francisco, inspired by dime novels, plundered a butcher's shop, and with the money they got bought a horse and a shot-gun and started for the canyons to be robbers. Finding travel in the mountains rather light, they returned to town, where they were very soon arrested.

—A fond father wrote: "It generally takes twenty years of training to eradicate the word 'nice' from a woman's vocabulary. The falls of Niagara, the Psalms of David and the progress of the human race were all 'nice' to my eldest daughter till she got married."

Dr. A. J. Flagg's

COUGH & LUNG SYRUP.

A Safe and Sure Remedy.

The Cough and Lung Syrup

Is the remedy that during the past fifteen years has won for DR. FLAGG an extended reputation as a SPECIALIST for THROAT and LUNG Diseases. After so many years trial it can be truthfully said that it has NEVER FAILED, even in the WORST CASES. It is purely Vegetable, and its effect upon the system is at once Soothing and Tonic.

It Will Cure a Common Cold

In a few hours, not by drying it up, but by removing it from the system. TRY IT.

It will CURE a Chronic Cough, by soothing the irritated parts, and strengthening the system.

IT WILL CURE CONSUMPTION.

Even after all other remedies have failed. In the earlier stages of this disease it will effect a speedy and certain cure; and in many cases of advanced Consumption its effect has seemed almost miraculous, restoring to full strength and perfect health those whom physicians had given up as incurable. TRY IT.

IT WILL CURE CATARRH

More effectually than any other remedy, by simply removing the cause. TRY IT.

It will Cure Bronchitis, by allaying all irritation of the Throat. TRY IT.

It will Cure Asthma, affording immediate relief and a perfect cure. TRY IT.

It Will Cure Ulcerated Sore Throat.

TRY IT.

IT WILL CURE Loss of Voice, Night Sweats, Hectic Fever, AND ALL Symptoms of Consumption. TRY IT.

For every affection of the Throat and Lungs it only needs a trial to convince the most skeptical of its wonderful curative properties.

Remember that it

CURES COLDS, CURES COUGHS,

CURES CATARRH, CURES CONSUMPTION.

DR. WM. M. LADD, a leading Druggist of Claremont, certifies as follows:

For many years I have known Dr. A. J. Flagg as a successful practicing physician, and can assure the public that his representations relative to the Cough and Lung Syrup can be strictly relied upon. It has been used in his extended practice with marvelous success, and I know it to be as it claims to be its.

WM. M. LADD, M. D.

CLAREMONT, N. H., September, 1875.

DR. FLAGG My Dear Sir: Your Cough and Lung Syrup has proved a great benefit to me, giving relief from severe Coughs and Soreness of the Lungs, when all other remedies and physicians had failed. I have never taken a medicine more pleasant to the taste or more satisfactory in its results.

THE OLDEST ESTABLISHED HOSPITAL

— IN THE —

UNITED STATES.

No. 9 Beaver Street, - - - Albany, N. Y

SURE CURES AND LOW PRICES.

Dr. YOUNG,

SUCCESSOR TO

Dr. TELLER,

DECEASED.

The above named private Hospital was established in Albany in 1858 by Dr. Lispenard and for a number of years its affairs were presided over by that gentleman, but for the past 20 years, Dr. Teller, who is now deceased, transacted the business of the Institution.

Owing to the great demand for more spacious apartments on account of the large increase of business, the Hospital has been removed to No. 9 Beaver Street, two doors above the old location, where patients will find magnificently furnished rooms for their reception, and are so arranged that patients do not come in contact with one another, seeing only the doctor, thereby avoiding the unpleasantness of meeting others, which always occurred at the old office.

LADIES will find rooms provided for their especial accommodation and entirely private.

YOUNG MEN, addicted to secret habits, who have impaired their health and destroyed the vigor of their minds, thus depriving themselves of the pleasures of married life and also those afflicted with private diseases of any nature, are advised that in consulting Dr. Young they will find a physician fully qualified to cure and restore them to full health and manly vigor.

Dr. Teller's great work for the married, or those contemplating marriage—100 pages—full of plates—price 25 cents. Sent to all parts, under seal, by mail post paid.

TO THE LADIES—DR. YOUNG still retains the only agency in America for the sale of Dr. Vichol's Italian Female Monthly Pills. Sent by mail on receipt of $1.00, price per box.

DR. YOUNG is the only agent for Dr. La Mott's celebrated Galvanic Belts.

Invalids out of the city can be cured by consulting Dr. Young by letter, and enclosing remittance. Medicines sent by mail or express, securely packed from observation. All letters must be addressed to

Centaur Liniments.

The lame can be healed and the wounded made whole. We now know just what the Centaur Liniment will do. They will not mend broken bones or cure Cancer, but they will extract soreness, allay pain, cure Rheumatism and a larger range of flesh, bone and muscle ailments than any article ever before discovered.

Scientific skill cannot go beyond the effects of these remarkable preparations. Chronic Rheumatism of many years' standing, Neuralgia, Weak Back, Fever Sores, Weeping Sinews, sciatica, Caked Breasts, Distorted Joints and Sprained Limbs of the worst kind are cured by the White Centaur Liniment.

It will destroy the pain and heal without a scar, all ordinary Burns and Scalds. It will extract the poison of Bites and Stings, and the frost from Frozen Limbs. It is very efficacious for Earache, Toothache, Itch and Cutaneous Eruptions.

Mr. Josiah Westake, of Marysville, O., writes:

"For years my Rheumatism has been so bad that I have been unable to stir from the house. The first three bottles of Centaur Liniment enabled me to walk without my crutches. I am mending rapidly. I think your Liniment simply a marvel.

C. H. Bennett, Druggist, Rock Prairie, Mo., says:

"Centaur Liniment sells better and gives the best satisfaction of anything in the market."

What the Centaur Liniment has done for others it will do for you. It is handy, it is reliable, and it is cheap.

The Yellow Centaur Liniment

is worth its weight in gold to owners of horses and mules.

This Liniment has cured more Spoiled, Sweenied, Ring-boned and Galled Horses in three years than have all the Farriers in the country in an age. Its effects are simply wonderful.

We have thousands upon thousands of certificates as strong as the following:

"My horse was lame for a year with a fetlock wrench. All remedies utterly failed to cure and I considered him worthless. I commenced to use Centaur Liniment, which rapidly cured him. I heartily recommend it.

REV. GEO. W. FERRIS,
Manorville, Schoharie Co., N. Y."

DEAR SIRS.—I have used your Centaur Liniment in my family, and find it to be of great value. P case send me two dollar's worth, one for the mules and horses. MILEY SICKLES.

FALLS STATION, WYOMING CO., PA.

It makes very little difference what the case is, whether it be Wrench, Sprain, Poll-Evil, Ringbone, Scratches or Lame neck of any kind, the effects are the same. Liverymen, Stage proprietors, Farmers, &c., should never be without the Yellow Centaur Liniment. It is sold everywhere, and warranted in its effects.

Castoria.

It is a mistake to suppose that Castoria is not adapted to grown persons as well as Children. They only need to increase the quantity. But children have so many complaints for which Castoria is adapted—like Wind Colic, Sour Stomach, Worms, Tetter, Teething and Croup, that it is especially recommended for them.

Its effects are more certain than Castor Oil. It contains no alcohol and is as pleasant to take as honey. It never gripes. By regulating the stomach and bowels it thoroughly cools the blood, expels worms and prevents feverishness, quiets the nerves and produces health—then of course children can sleep in quiet and mothers can rest.

Castoria is recommended by all physicians and nurses who have tried it, and it is having a rapidly increasing sale. It is prepared with great care after the recipe of Dr. Samuel Pitcher, of Mass., at the Laboratory of J. B. Rose & Co., 46 Dey St., N. Y.

Daily Chronicle.

Old Time Chronicles, No. 147.

BY UNCLE JOSEPH.

The northerly part of Main street, Concord is well ornamented and shaded by large elms, and some of the oldest buildings of the city are there. When the place began to be a village, the cluster of houses was there. The old North church was there. When the State House was erected in 1816, much further south, but few buildings of any kind stood near it, and that immediate vicinity was but sparsely populated.

The first minister settled in town was Rev. Timothy Walker from Woburn, Mass., ordained in November, 1730. He continued till his death in 1782. He built a house in 1751, toward the north part of Main street. It is still standing and is the front part of the house now occupied by Joseph B. Walker, a descendant.

Mr. Walker had elm trees set near his house, it is said in 1764. These are among the trees that now adorn that part of the city. Two of these at the Walker place are very large, with extended branches. We did not measure them when there but should say they are from three to four feet in diameter.

We are enjoying great blessings in many ways, that come to us by what our forefathers did. A public spirit will lead us to labor for the good of generations that may be after us. Planting trees is one way of showing a public spirit. They should be around our dwellings, by the way side, near churches and in cemeteries.

ST. NICHOLAS.

"The King of all publications issued for the young on either side of the Atlantic."—Southampton (England) Observer.

The third volume of this incomparable Magazine is now completed. With its eight hundred royal octavo pages, and its six hundred illustrations, its splendid serials, its shorter stories, poems, and sketches, etc., in its beautiful binding of red and gold, it is the most splendid gift-book for boys and girls ever issued from the press. Price, $4; in gilt, $5.

"ST. NICHOLAS is full of the choicest things. The publication is, in all respects, the best of its kind. We have never yet seen a number that was not surprisingly good."—The Churchman, Hartford, Conn.

ST. NICHOLAS FOR 1877,

Which opens with November, 1876, begins a short and very entertaining Serial from the French, "The Kingdom of the Greedy," a Story adapted to the Thanksgiving season. Another serial, of absorbing interest to boys,

"HIS OWN MASTER,"

By J. T. Trowbridge,

Author of the "Jack Hazard Stories," begins in the Christmas Holiday Numbe

Besides serial stories, Christmas stories, lively sketches, poems and pictures for the holidays, and some astonishing illustrations of Oriental sports, with drawings by Skimmer artists, The Christmas Holiday Number of ST. NICHOLAS, superbly illustrated, contains a very interesting paper,

"THE BOYS OF MY BOYHOOD,"

By William Cullen Bryant;

"The Horse Hotel," a lively article, by Charles A. Barnard, splendidly illustrated; "The Moon in the Sky," by Richard A. Proctor; "A Christmas Play for Homes or Sunday-schools," by Dr. Eggleston; "The Twelvekinks' Christmas Tree," by Lucretia P. Hale; "Poetry and Carols of Winter," by Lucy Larcom, with pictures.

To Not Fail to Buy St. Nicholas for the Christmas Holidays. Price 25 cents.

During the year there will be interesting papers by Dr. Holland, William Cullen Bryant, John G. Whittier, Thomas Hughes, William Howitt, Dr. Holland, George MacDonald, Sanford R. Hunt, Frank R. Stockton, and others.

There will be stories, sketches, and poems, of special interest to girls, by Harriet Prescott Spofford, Susan Coolidge, Sarah Winter Kellogg, Elizabeth Stuart Phelps, Louisa Alcott, Lucretia P. Hale, Celia Thaxter, Mary Mapes Dodge, and many others. There will be also

"TWELVE SKY PICTURES,"

By Prof. Proctor, the Astronomer,

with maps, showing "The Stars of Each Month," which will be likely to surpass in interest any series on popular science recently given to the public.

Amusement and Instruction, with Fun and Frolic, and Wit and Wisdom, will be mingled as heretofore, and ST. NICHOLAS will continue to delight the young and give pleasure to the old.

The London Literary World says: "There is no magazine for the young that can be said to equ this choice production of SCRIBNER'S press. All the articles, whether in prose or rhyme, are throbbing with vitality. * * * The literature and artistic illustrations are both superb."

The London Daily News says: "We wish we could insert one in every periodical issued in England."

GOOD NEWS FOR BOYS AND GIRLS;

To meet the demand for a cheaper ST. NICHOLAS 5th Book, the price of vols. I and II has been reduced to $3 each. The three volumes, in an elegant library case, are sold for $10 (in full gilt, $15), so that all may give their children a complete set. These volumes contain more attractive material than fifty dollars' worth of the ordinary children's books.

Subscription price, $4 a year. The three bound volumes and a subscription, for one year, only $12. Subscribe with the nearest newsdealer, or send money in check, or P. O. money order, or in registered letter, to

SCRIBNER & Co., 743 Broadway, N. Y.

SCRIBNER'S MONTHLY,

An Illustrated Illustrated Magazine.

The prospectus for the new volume gives the titles of more than fifty papers (mostly illustrated), by writers of the highest merit. Under the head of

"FOREIGN TRAVEL,"

we have "A Winter on the Nile," by Gen. McClellan; "Sunshine and Shadow in Constantinople," by Charles Dudley Warner; "Out of My Window at Moscow," by Eugene Schuyler; "An American in Turkistan," etc. Three serial stories are announced:

by Dr. Holland, the Editor, whose story of "Seven-oaks" gave the highest satisfaction to the readers of the Monthly.

The scene of this latest novel is laid on the banks of the Hudson. The hero is a young man who has been always "tied to a woman's apron strings," but who, by the death of his mother, is left alone in the world,—is adrift on the current of life,—with a fortune, but without a purpose.

Another serial, "His Inheritance," by Miss Trafton, will begin on the completion of "That Lass o' Lowrie's," by Mrs. Hodgson Burnett. Mrs. Burnett's story, begun in August, has a pathos and dramatic power which have been a surprise to the public.

There is to be a series of original illustrated papers of "Popular Science," by Mrs. Herrick, each paper complete in itself.

There are to be, from various pens, papers on

"HOME LIFE AND TRAVEL,"

also, practical suggestions as to town and country life, village improvements, and other timely topics.

Mr. Barnard's articles on various industries of great Britain include the history of "Some Experiments in Co-operation," "A Scottish Loaf Factory," in the November number, and "Wool Lane, Rochdale," in December. Other papers are, "The British Workingman's Home," "A Nation of Shopkeepers," "Harmony a Week for the Child," etc.

A richly illustrated series will be given on "American Sports in Field and Flood," by various writers, and each on a different theme. The subject of

"HOUSEHOLD AND HOME DECORATION"

will have a prominent place, whilst the latest productions of American humorists will appear from month to month. The list of shorter stories, biographical and other sketches, etc., is a long one.

The editorial department will continue to employ the ablest pens both at home and abroad. There will be a series of letters on literary matters, from London, by Mr. Stedman.

We mean to make the magazine sweeter and purer, higher and nobler, more genial and generous in all its utterances and influences, and a more welcome visitor than ever before in homes of refinement and culture.

FIFTEEN MONTHS FOR $4.00.

SCRIBNER for December, now ready, contains the opening chapters of "Nicholas Minturn." The three numbers of SCRIBNER for August, September, and October, containing the opening chapters of "That Lass o' Lowrie's," will be given to every new subscriber (who requests it), and whose subscription begins with the present volume, i.e., with the November number.

Subscription price, $4 a year—25 cents a number. Special terms on bound volumes. Subscribe with the nearest bookseller, or send a check or P. O. money order to

DR. QUAIN'S MAGIC CONDITION PILLS!

The Wonderful Remedy for Liver Complaint, Biliousness, Dyspepsia, Constipation, Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Headache, Kidney Complaints, Nervousness, Scrofula, Piles, and all diseases arising from a bad state of the Blood!

No medicine ever offered to the public has given such universal satisfaction as Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. Their praises are on every tongue where their merits are known. They strike at once at the seat of disease and show their healing power almost immediately. Thousands of voluntary testimonials of their merits have been received by the agent, from those who have been cured by them, of which the following are samples:

Dyspepsia Four Years, Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels Three Years, Confined to my Room Two Years, Pain so I Could Not Sleep Without Morphine. One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills Made Me Eat Well, Sleep Well and Free from Pain, after being given up by Physicians.

WEST LEBANON, ME., Feb. 29, 1

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I have been sick for four years with Dyspepsia, and for the past three years Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels. I have suffered all the pain I could endure and live. I have been confined to my room for two years, and could not sleep nights without the use of morphine. I have been given up by physicians as past cure. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, and they have done me more good than all the doctors I have had. I sleep well, I eat well and have no pain. They are all they are recommended to be. Please send me three packages, as two of my neighbors wish to try them. I enclose $1.00. Your truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Another Letter from Maj. John W. Lord, one month later Wonderful Cures by Dr. Quain's Pills Effected on Him in Thirteen Days. First time Free from Pain for Three Years.

WEST LEBANON, ME., March 22, 1875.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I commenced taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS February 9th, and wrote you February 22d of their wonderful effect. I have continued to improve ever since. My appetite is good, and I sleep as well as I ever did in my life. I am free from pain for the first time in three years. When I was taken sick four years ago, I weighed one hundred and eighty-six pounds; I now weigh one hundred and thirty, as I am gaining flesh as fast as my strength, I have faith I shall regain my flesh this summer, by the use of the Pills. I shall continue taking them for some time to come. Yours truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Dr. Quain's Pills the Remedy for Soldiers' Aches and Pains.

WEST LEBANON, ME., June 1, 1875.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I am now able to walk out every day, and am gaining in strength very fast, all of which is due to you as agent for the best Pills in the world. I have taken no other medicine, and my improvement has been steady since first taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done everything for me, and I will say to you, advertise them direct to the soldiers, for they will certainly cure them of aches and pains caused from exposure and hardships in the field. Please send me by return mail another package. JOHN W. LORD.

Rheumatism for Twenty Years Cured by One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills—"The Best Medicine in the World."

EAST ANDOVER, N. H., Dec. 10, 1875.

MR. LANE—Dear Sir:—As I know the value of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS and the good they have done me, I take pleasure in giving them publicity, so I send you another testimonial. My father has been troubled with rheumatism for twenty years or more, and has tried everything that could be thought of, but to no good. At times it would be so bad that he could not lift his hand to his head or do any work at all, especially in cold weather. A short time ago I advised him to get some of these Pills. He believed nothing in them, but I gave him the last package I had of you, as I did not need them, and he has not been free from the Rheumatic Complaint for years. No Rheumatism, no pain. What did him? It was DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, the best medicine in the world. There is nothing like them. I know it, for I have tried them, and they are all, yes, more than they are recommended to be. Give them a fair trial and you will find so. I write this because I know the goodness of them and wish others to know the same. Some may think I am telling a big story. I am. But remember I am not giving them half the praise they ought to have.

Yours with respect, ED. F. PEVARE.

Wonderful Effect of Four Doses of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills upon Neuralgia of Twelve Years' Duration—Testimony of Rev. J. S. Patton.

DAINGERFIELD, MORRIS CO., TEXAS, Nov. 15, 75.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I have been afflicted for near twelve years with Neuralgia in the face and head, and at times I do not know how many physicians, and could only get partly relieved. I have tried many patent medicines with the same result. I have been confined to my room most all the time for eight or ten winters, and have been traveling and using medical springs, and still suffered most intensely. The physicians pronounced my case the worst and most stubborn that they had had anything to do with. One told me I could never get well; they all advised me to go South and spend the winter, and thought there was the only chance for me, and I was trying to get ready to go to Florida, when through the kindness of Rev. H. H. Mathis, my attention was called to the advertisement of Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. I immediately sent to you for a package. I have taken four doses and I am almost free from pain. The impression here seems to be that if your pills will cure me, they will cure anyone. I have five packages to send for the pills. Enclosed please find three dollars; send five packages to me and one to Mrs. Laura Sherrell Sulphur Springs, Hopkins county, Texas.

Yours truly, J. S. PATTON.

Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache.

LACONIA, N. H., Jan. 29, 1875.

THOS. W. LANE—Sir:—I have been troubled with Bad Blood, Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done me more good than all the medicine I ever took; I have taken considerable medicine within the last five years. For the nerves I think there is nothing so good as those pills. I can recommend them to all who are similarly afflicted, they have done me so much good. I think they will recommend themselves wherever they go. I shall recommend those Pills to all who need them. Please send me two packages more, one for myself and one for a lady friend of mine. Many thanks to the inventor, agent and adviser of those Pills. MRS. P. L. ELLIOTT.

PULMOCINE.

BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL

is no new discovery. Twenty-three years ago it was used by one of New England's most famous physicians as the best Pulmonary Curative as could prescribe, after a dozen years spent in experimenting with it before he was satisfied that the Materia Medica could add nothing in its favor.

Among its many ingredients are Wild Cherry Bark, Squill Root, Liquorice Root, Blood root, &c. It is a Blood Purifier, gently stimulating. It increases expectoration and is diuretic. It is sudorific and alterative. It is a necessary family medicine. It is a Tonic and a powerful aid to the digestive organs. It is a gentle sedative, and relieves nervousness. It is aromatic and agreeable to the taste.

CLEAR YOUR THROAT!

Relieve Your Lungs.

For the terrible diseases engendered by the damp trying climate of New England

PULMOCINE CORDIAL

Is a speedy and reliable Preventive and Remedy. Every Family should have a bottle at hand to check the sudden growth of all Pulmonary Diseases. For the Asthma, Coughs, Croups, Laryngitis, or inflammation of the larynx, Diphtheria, and all kindred Throat Diseases at all times prevalent, it is the choice of Prevention. Children attacked with Whooping Cough or Croup should be immediately cared for. These painful attacks come with scarcely a moment's warning, when a physician may be out of immediate reach. A dose of PULMOCINE CORDIAL gives speedy relief, and the little ones are spared hours of pain and agony. As "a stitch in time saves nine," so does the possession of this Family Medicine prevent the spread of disease. Parents seeing their children gasping with pain, friends and relatives beholding each other in peril from suffocation by the choking pain in the throat, paralyzed with fear and not knowing the best course to pursue, are liable to apply the wrong remedial agent. There is no safety in delay, this is no waste in such cases. CONSUMPTION, that fearful scourge of the human race, lies at the door of all this afflicted. BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL arrests it (unless in its advanced stage at which time there is no local cure) relieves the pressing, suffocating feeling at the lungs, and the patient's danger is past.

For Coughs,

Croup,

Diphtheria,

Asthma, etc.

USE

Buchman's Pulmocine Cordial.

The Pulmocine Cordial is not a quack medicine, is not an experiment, is not composed of any ingredients "discovered" by "walking in pastures" in South America or anywhere else, nor by one who discovered a weed and thereby cured himself. Most of the ingredients are such as our best educated physicians daily use for the complaints specified in some form or other. The recipe is that perfected by one of New England's most learned and famous physicians, who used it entirely in his daily practice until his death. Its offered to the profession and to the public, absolutely pure and unadulterated.

OF

FOREIGN LITERATURE.

THIRTY-THIRD YEAR.

THE ECLECTIC reprints from the foreign Quarterlies, Reviews, Magazines, and Journals, their choicest contents, including Essays, Scientific Papers, Biographical Sketches, Reminiscences of Travel and Adventure, Tales, Stories, and Poems. The field of selection is very large, and it is believed that the ECLECTIC presents a greater variety and higher standard of literature than any periodical. Its hope to do that depends exclusively upon home talent.

A knowledge of the current literature of other countries is indispensable to all who would keep pace with the progress of the human mind; and the ECLECTIC offers the best, and, indeed, the only opportunity for obtaining this knowledge within a reasonable compass, and at a moderate price.

Among the writers represented in recent numbers of the ECLECTIC are: The Rt. Hon. W. E. Gladstone, James Anthony Froude, Matthew Arnold, Charles Kingsley, Robert Buchanan, Geo. Meredith, John Ruskin, Alfred Tennyson, Thomas Hughes, William Black, Mrs. Oliphant, Thos. Hardy, William Morris, Miss Thackeray, Mrs. Alexander, Prof. Huxley and Tyndall, Richard Proctor, B. A., Prof. Owen, Dr. W. B. Carpenter, Max Müller, J. Norman Lockyer, Herbert Spencer, and others equally eminent. Besides the regular articles in the body of the magazine, there are four original Editorial Departments: Literary Notices, Foreign Literary Notes, Science and Art, and Varieties.

With regard to the character of the selections, the aim of the ECLECTIC is to be instructive without being dull, and entertaining without being trivial. While each number contains something to interest every reader of the family circle, it endeavors itself particularly to that great body of intelligent readers who seek profit as well as amusement in solid and healthful literature.

Besides the 128 pages of reading matter, each number of the magazine contains a Fine Steel-Engraving, usually a portrait—executed in the most artistic manner.

TERMS.—Single copies, 45 cents; one copy one year $5; two copies, $9; five copies, $20. Trial subscriptions for three months, $1.

The ECLECTIC and any $4 Magazine to one address, $8.

Postage free to all subscribers. Address,

"Inventors cannot employ a person more trustworthy or more capable of securing them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office." EDMUND BURKE, Late Commissioner of Patents.

BOSTON, October 19, 1870.

R. H. EDDY, Esq.—Dear sir: You procured for me, in 1840, my first patent. Since then you have acted for and advised me in hundreds of cases, and procured many patents, reissues and extensions. I have occasionally employed the best agencies in New York, Philadelphia and Washington, but I still give you almost the whole of my business in your line, and advise others to employ you.

Yours truly, GEORGE DRAPER.

WHAT PAYS?

IT PAYS every Manufacturer, Merchant, Mechanic, Inventor, Farmer, or Professional Man, to keep informed on all the improvements and discoveries of the age.

It pays the head of every family to introduce into his household a newspaper that is instructive, one that fosters a taste for investigation, and promotes thought and encourages discussion among the members.

The Scientific American

which has been published weekly for the last thirty-one years, does this, to an extent beyond that of any other publication; in fact it is the only weekly paper published in the United States, devoted to Manufactures, Mechanics, Inventions and New Discoveries in the Arts and Sciences.

Every number is profusely illustrated and its contents embrace the latest and most interesting information pertaining to the Industrial, Mechanical, and Scientific Progress of the world; Descriptions, with Beautiful Engravings of New Inventions, New Implements, New Processes, and Improved Industries of all kinds; Useful Notes, Recipes, Suggestions and Advice by Practical Writers, for Workmen and Employers, in all the various callings, forming a complete repository of New Inventions and Discoveries; containing a weekly record, not only of the progress of the industrial Arts in our own country, but also of all New Discoveries and Inventions in every branch of Engineering, Mechanics and science abroad.

THE SCIENTIFIC AMERICAN has been the foremost of all industrial publications for the past thirty-one years. It is the oldest, largest, cheapest, and the best weekly illustrated paper devoted to Engineering, Mechanics, Chemistry, New Inventions, Science and Industrial Progress, published in the world.

The practical Recipes are well worth ten times the subscription price, and for the shop and house will save many times the cost of subscription.

Merchants, Farmers, Mechanics, Engineers, Inventors, Manufacturers, Chemists, Lovers of Science, and People of all Professions, will find the SCIENTIFIC AMERICAN useful to them. It should have a place in every Family, Library, Study, Office and Counting Room; in every Reading Room, College and School. A new volume commences January 1st, 1877.

A year's numbers contain 832 pages and SEVERAL HUNDRED ENGRAVINGS. Thousands of volumes are preserved for binding and reference. Terms, $3.20 a year by mail, including postage. Discount to Clubs. Special circulars, giving Club rates sent free. Single copies mailed on receipt of 10 cents. May be had of all News Dealers.

PATENTS. In connection with the Scientific American, Messrs. MUNN & CO. are Solicitors of American and Foreign Patents, and have the largest establishment in the world. More than fifty thousand applications have been made for patents through their agency.

Patents are obtained on the best terms. Models of New Inventions and Sketches examined, and advice free. A special notice is made in the scientific American of all Inventions Patented through this Agency, with the name and residence of the Patentee. Patents are often sold in part or in whole, to persons attracted to the invention by such notice. A Pamphlet, containing full directions for obtaining Patents sent free. The scientific American Reference Book, a volume bound in cloth and gilt, containing the Patent Laws, Census of the U. S., and 145 Engravings of mechanical movements. Price 25 Cents.

Lippincott's Magazine.

AN ILLUSTRATED MONTHLY OF POPULAR LITERATURE, SCIENCE, and ART.

Announcement for 1877.

The number for January begins the nineteenth volume of this Magazine, and while its past record will, it is hoped, be deemed a sufficient guarantee of future excellence, no efforts will be spared to diversify its attractions and to provide an instructive and Popular Reading in the Most Recent and Most Emphatic Sense. The great object and constant aim of the conductors will be to furnish the public with Literary Entertainment of a Refined and Varied Character, as well as to present in a graphic and striking manner the most recent information and soundest views on subjects of General Interest; in a word, to render LIPPINCOTT'S MAGAZINE strikingly distinctive in those features that are most attractive in Magazine Literature. The contributions now on hand, or engaged and coming, embrace a highly attractive list of Tales, Short Stories, Descriptive Sketches, Narratives, Papers on Science and Art, Poems, Popular Essays, Literary Criticism, etc., etc., by talented and well known writers. A large proportion of the articles, especially those descriptive of travel, will be profusely and beautifully illustrated. The pictorial embellishments of the Magazine constitute one of its many attractive features.

In addition to the general attractions of LIPPINCOTT'S MAGAZINE the Publishers would invite attention to the following

SPECIAL FEATURES FOR 1877.

1. A new serial story,

"THE MARQUIS OF LOSSIE,"

by George Macdonald, author of "Malcolm," "Alec Forbes," "Robert Falconer," etc.

To those of our readers who are familiar with "Malcolm," this new story from the pen of this distinguished writer will need no recommendation, and his reputation is a guarantee to others of a decidedly interesting and powerful story. It began in the November number, which issue, with the December part, will be furnished free of charge to subscribers for 1877.

2. A profusely illustrated series of sketches of

SWEDISH SCENERY AND LIFE,

by Prof. Willard Fiske, of Cornell University, who is thoroughly familiar with Sweden and its People from personal observation.

3. A series of popular papers on

ART AND ART MATTERS,

by Edward Strahan (Earl Shinn), author of "The New Hyperion," etc.

4. Illustrated Sketches of Travel, entitled

PICTURES FROM SPAIN,

by Edward King, author of "The Great South," etc.

5. Mrs. Lucy H. Hooper's Interesting and Piquant

PAPERS AND LETTERS FROM PARIS,

will be continued through the year.

6.

THE BEAUTIES OF THE RHINE,

will be described in a richly illustrated series of papers.

During the year will appear a number of handsomely illustrated short articles, descriptive of Life, Travel and Adventure in the United States, England, South America, Japan, Mongolia, and other countries.

AMONG THE BEST PEOPLE.

I.—IT PUBLISHES ALL THE NEWS. The servant of no man, the slave of no party, it can afford to and does tell the truth about all.

II.—IT IS IMPARTIAL AND INDEPENDENT. Believing in intelligent suffrage, it aims to furnish voters the intelligence (derived from impartial sources) them for the wisest discharge of their responsibility.

III.—IT IS, AS IT ALWAYS WAS, ESSENTIALLY REPUBLICAN in its advocacy of the future, as it has done in the past, with errors of republican leaders or corruptions in the republican party; but can never cease to be true to republican principles, as I especially to those golden doctrines of civil service reform, hard money, the sanctity of the National faith, and equal rights to all citizens at the ballot-box, which formed the corner-stones of Gov. Hayes' admirable inaugural.

IV.—ITS MORAL TONE IS PURE AND ELEVATED. The family circle is never profaned by anything which appears in the columns of THE TRIBUNE.

V.—THE CHOICEST STANDARD AND CURRENT LITERATURE, in brief and pure form, will be presented in its columns, including Correspondence, Poems, Stories, and Reviews from the most talented and popular writers.

VI.—IT IS THE BEST AND CHEAPEST FARMER'S PAPER PUBLISHED. "THE WEEKLY TRIBUNE has done more to make good farmers than any other influence which ever existed."

VII.—THE MARKET REPORTS of THE TRIBUNE are indispensable to every buyer and seller in the country. Quotations are given daily and weekly or almost every article bought and sold in the markets of the world, and invariably unvarying and almost infinite accuracy. In Cattle, Butter and Cheese, and other Markets are the recognized standard.

VIII.—SCORES OF TIMES THE TRIBUNE are paid for and read by the American people than of any other newspaper of equal price in the country—a fact which is the best demonstration of the value of the paper.

IX.—THE READERS of THE TRIBUNE represent largely the best enterprising and intelligent people of the country. Persons who are interested in pure politics, the advance of science, and the progress of opinion, will find their demands met by THE TRIBUNE.

X.—PUBLIC APPROVAL AND PROSPERITY have rewarded the independent and self-respectful course of THE TRIBUNE. It has a larger and stronger corps of editorial assistants than its friends imagined ever before, and constantly receives from old and new readers words of encouragement.

LITTELL'S LIVING AGE FOR 1877. The continued and increasing success of this periodical (now over thirty-three years old) is doubtless owing to the fact that it affords a comprehensive and cheap means of keeping well informed on the best literature of the day. With its weekly issue, and its three and a quarter thousand large pages of reading matter a year, it is enabled to present with freshness and satisfactory completeness able essays and reviews, choice serial and short stories, interesting sketches of travel and discovery, poetry, and valuable biographical, historical, scientific and political information from the entire body of foreign periodical literature.

In its pages are represented such eminent authors as Prof. Max Müller, Prof. Tyndall, Rt. Hon. W. E. Gladstone, Dr. W. B. Carpenter, Prof. Huxley, Richard A. Proctor, Frances Power Cobbe, The Duke of Argyll, Jas. A. Froude, Mrs. Mulock, Mrs. Oliphant, Mrs. Alexander, Miss Thackeray, Jean Ingelow, Geo. McDonald, Wm. Black, Matthew Arnold, Harry Kingsley, W. W. Story, Auerbach, Ruskin, Carlyle, Tennyson, Browning, and many other leaders in science, fiction, history, philosophy, poetry, theology, politics, criticism and art.

The subscription price ($8 a year) is cheap for the amount of reading furnished; while for those desiring the cream of both home and foreign literature, the publishers make a still cheaper offer, viz.: to one, postpaid, The Living Age and either one of the American $4 monthlies, or weeklies, a year for $10 50. With The Living Age and one or other of our leading American monthlies, a subscriber will at small cost, be put in possession of the whole situation.

An extra offer, also, is made to all new subscribers for 1877, viz.: to send them gratis the six numbers of 1876, containing, besides other valuable reading, the first installments of a new and unusually powerful serial story by George MacDonald, now appearing in The Living Age from advance sheets.

The volume begins Jan. 1st, and we recommend be periodical to the attention of our readers. We know of no other way in which so much of the best work of the best minds of the time can be obtained so cheaply and conveniently as through this unrivaled weekly magazine. We have put up and sold this article for years, and DO SAY IN CONFIDENCE AND TRUTH of it, what we have never been able to say of any other medicine—NEVER HAS IT FAILED, IN A SINGLE INSTANCE, TO EFFECT A CURE, when timely used. Never did we know an instance of dissatisfaction by any one who used it. On the contrary, all to whom we have recommended it, speak in terms of highest commendation of its magical effects and medical virtues. We speak in this matter "WHAT WE DO KNOW," after years of experience, AND PLEDGE OUR REPUTATION FOR THE FULFILMENT OF WHAT WE HERE DECLARE. In almost every instance where the infant is suffering from pain and exhaustion, relief will be found in fifteen minutes after the first dose of the syrup is administered.

This valuable preparation has been used with NEVER FAILING SUCCESS in

Thousands of Cases.

It not only relieves the child from pain, but invigorates the stomach and bowels, corrects acidity, and gives tone and energy to the whole system. It will almost instantly relieve

Griping in the Bowels and Wind Colic.

We believe it the BEST AND SUREST REMEDY IN THE WORLD, in all cases of DYSENTERY and DIARRHŒA IN CHILDREN, whether it arises from teething, or from any other cause. We would say to every mother who has a child suffering from any of the foregoing complaints—do not let your prejudice, nor the prejudice of others, stand between your suffering child and the relief that will be SURE—yes, ABSOLUTELY SURE—to follow the use of this medicine. Timely used. Full directions for using will accompany each bottle.

THE SUN.

1877 NEW YORK. 1877

The different editions of THE SUN during the next year will be the same as during the year that has just passed. The daily will be issued every day of the week in a sheet of four pages, and on Sundays a sheet of eight pages, or 56 broad columns; while the weekly edition will be a sheet of eight pages of the same dimensions and character that are already familiar to our friends.

THE SUN will continue to be the strenuous advocate of reform and retrenchment, and of the substitution of statesmanship, wisdom, and integrity for hollow pretence, imbecility, and fraud in the administration of public affairs. It will contend for the government of the people by the people and for the people, as opposed to government by fraude in the ballot-box and in the counting of votes, enforced by military violence. It will endeavor to interest its readers,—a body now not far from one million of souls—with the most exact, complete, and trustworthy accounts of current events, and will employ for this purpose a numerous and carefully selected staff of reporters and correspondents. Reports from Washington, especially, will be full, accurate and fearless; and after election the public can be sure of and enjoy the hatred of those who thrive by plundering the Treasury or by usurping what the law does not give them. While it will endeavor to merit the confidence of the public by defending the rights of the people against the encroachments of unjustified power.

The price of the daily SUN will be 55 cents a month or $6.50 a year, post paid, or with the Sunday edition $7.70 a year.

The SUNDAY edition alone, eight pages, $1.20 a year, post paid.

The WEEKLY SUN, eight pages of 56 broad columns, will be furnished during 1877 at the rate of $1 a year, post paid.

The benefit of this large reduction from the previous rate will be realized by our subscribers, who shall be grateful to them, and every such person who sends us ten or more subscribers from one place will be entitled to one copy of the paper for himself without charge. At one dollar a year, postage paid, the expense of the paper to the publisher is more than repaid; and, considering the size of the sheet and the quality of its contents, we are confident the people will consider THE WEEKLY SUN the cheapest newspaper published in the world, and we trust also one of the very best. The reliable house of AKEL FROTHINGHAM & Co., No. 12 Wall St., New York, publish a handsome eight-page weekly paper, called the Weekly Financial Review, which they send free to any address. In addition to a large number of editorials on financial and other topics, it contains very full and accurate reports of the sales and standing of every stock, bond and security dealt in at the Stock Exchange. AKEL FROTHINGHAM & Co. are extensive brokers of large experience and tried integrity. In addition to their stock brokerage business, they sell what are termed "Privileges," or "Puts and Calls," one of the favorite methods of legitimate speculation. Their advice is valuable, and by following it many have made fortunes.—[New York Metropolis.]

☞ All KEW Subscribers for 1877, paying in advance $4 for a year, will receive THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN free from the date of their subscription, for the remainder of the year, from receipt of remittance to January 1st, 1877, without charge.

COMBINED PAPERS—FORTY-SEVENTH YEAR!

THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN.

THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN is published weekly on the following terms, when paid strictly in advance: ONE COPY, one year, $2.50; FOUR COPIES, $10, and an additional copy for the year free to the sender of the Club; TEN COPIES, $20, and an additional copy for the year free to the sender of the Club.

THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN possesses an unequaled Corps of Correspondents, regular and occasional, among the Best Farmers of All Parts of the Country, and constantly reflects the practical condition and wants of the husbandry of every section of the United States and civilized world.

THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN gives in its Horticultural Departments a continuous variety of information and suggestions, equal or superior in the aggregate to what is obtained in the monthly numbers of most magazines devoted to Horticulture.

THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN has probably done as much as all other Journals combined, to introduce and disseminate Improved Stock of every kind through the country; and commands to a greater degree than any contemporary, the confidence and support of breeders and purchasers.

THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN contains unusually full and trustworthy Market Reports, and devotes special attention to them and to the Prospects review Crops, as throwing light upon one of the most important of all questions — When to Buy and When to Sell.

THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN embraces numerous minor departments of a practical character, such as the Dairy, the Poultry Yard, the Apiary, the Vineyard, and so on, and weekly presents a column or two for the Housewife, and an interesting variety of Fireside Reading. It contains a well-edited review of Current Events, and its advertising pages furnish a directory of all the principal agricultural and horticultural establishments of the country.

Fashions in Hairdressing.

Very plain styles are now preferred for dressing the hair for the street and for mornings in the house. Cable cords or twisted ropes of hair in two thick loops are worn at the back of the head, drooping low, as chatelaines. The switches made up of short hair on stems will not answer for these ropes, as long hair is needed to keep the ropes smooth. These loops are fastened together at the nape of the neck with a long brooch of gold or of faceted steel. The ribbon bows, worn last season for tying chatelaines, have fallen into disuse, though a small bow with ends is sometimes placed on the crown of the head to conceal the termination of the loops. The front hair is worn in large waves if it is thick enough, but if not, an invisible or false front is used, and is surmounted by a nest of finger puffs directly on the top of the head. Light blonde hair is still worn rough and fluffy, but it is not regularly creped. Dark hair is worn smoother than fair hair, and must be laid flatly in long waves, or in the water waves that require so little hair, or more stylish still, in the Montague locks that are made of thick curves laid irregularly on the forehead. Side locks, just in front of the ear, are turned toward the face. These locks and the Montague curls are glued down with bandoline to keep them in place.

Hair oils and pomades have happily gone entirely out of use; only the cleanly bandoline is used. The special object with the hairdresser is to follow the shape of the head, displaying its natural outlines, and, above all, not increasing the size. Experienced hairdressers study each head to bring out its good points and conceal its bad ones. If it is too flat on top, some finger puffs are added there; if it is too long, the back hair is placed very low, or else in a knot just on top; if it is a round and very small head, the classic Grecian coiffure is made very dressy for evening by a few short, natural-looking curls, worn drooping behind, while the front hair and sides are in long, loose waves. Yellow ivory or else tortoise shell combs are worn in the back hair, placed a trifle to one side. Side combs are also used again. The French twist is worn by ladies who find high coiffures unbecoming. It is rolled very high and as small as possible, and it is finished on top by a Recambier bow of hair, or else a cluster of hair loops. The coiffures of the time of the First Empire are said to be coming into use again. These are liked by brunettes with thick massive hair, and are copied from portraits of Josephine and Hortense. The front hair is short, thick curls parted in the middle. New York Tribune.

—The Norfolk (Va.) Landmark says, that on the night of the first appearance of Miss Neilson, the Grand Duke Alexis engaged a negro hackman to take himself and suite to the wharf. On reaching the street at the conclusion of the entertainment, he was approached by the darkey, who said, "Is you de Juke?" On being answered in the affirmative, the sable John remarked, "Well, sah, de carriage is waitin." The Grand Duke was struck with the simplicity of American manners.

—One of the lady teachers in the Peoria High School went out coasting a short time ago. But the cunning of her girlhood had forsaken her, for she steered wildly, and before she got half way down the hill she ran into two sleds and over three boys, knocked the overshoes off a fat man, scared a woman with a market basket and a baby into convulsions, ran under a cow, and knocked a howl as long as a clothes line out of a Dalmatian dog, and finally went bulging through a rail fence and scalped herself and broke her leg. And she only weighed 102 pounds when she started. Truly, in the midst of life we are in mischief.—Burlington Hawkeye.

—The "cultured" clergymen and laymen of Boston find a good deal to say condemnatory of Mr. Moody's intellectual qualities. They sneer at his eloquence, make fun of his diction and logic, and declare that while many of his statements are positive they would not bear argument. It is singular that religion is most attractive to the masses when expounded by these "uncultured" evangelists. Moody, according to all accounts accomplished wonders in Chicago, where a score or more of "cultured" clergymen accomplished very little except to erect handsome church edifices and get their congregations hopelessly in debt. The same is true of New York and will no doubt be the case in Boston. Theological seminaries are able to give a man a knowledge of certain theories of religion, but practical Christianity is ignored, and consequently more than half the ministers turned out are mere professionals—preach for a living and that is all. Moody's success is owing to his earnestness and apparent sincerity, and because he does not split hairs on certain points of theology. Religion is nothing more than a faith, and that preacher is the most successful who appeals to the sympathetic nature of his hearers. It does not do to investigate into the matter too far. If Moody was a learned man he would not enter upon his work with half the earnestness and sincerity that now characterizes it. The man seems to be christianizing the clergymen, for which result the country owes him a debt of gratitude. When all clergymen become simple Christians the glaring social evils now upheld by the church will gradually disappear.—New Haven Union.

Reform Telegrams.

The Senate Committee on Privileges and Elections on Wednesday evening were occupied with the examination of Alfred B. Hinman and A. W. Shaw of Detroit, who have had business transactions with J. H. N. Patrick of Omaha, Nebraska, and who have communicated with him by telegraph, in cipher, for years past. The key to the cipher used by them is "the Household English Dictionary," and by the aid of this key the following translation of the cipher despatches, relative to the Oregon electoral case, were made out:

PORTLAND, Nov. 28.

W. T. Pelton, 15 Gramercy Park, New York: Certificate will be issued to one democrat; must purchase republican elector to recognize and act with democrat, and secure vote and prevent trouble; deposit $10,000 to my credit with Kountz Brotbers, Wall street. Answer. J. H. N. PATRICK.

I fully endorse this. J. K. KELLY.

NEW YORK, Nov. 29.

J. H. N. Patrick, Portland, Oregon: No. How soon will Governor have decided certificate, if you make obligation contingent on result in March? It can be done if necessary. (No signature.)

PORTLAND, Nov. 30.

W. T. Pelton, 15 Gramercy Park, N. Y. Governor all right; without reward will issue certificate Tuesday; this is a secret. The republicans threaten if a certificate is issued to ignore the democratic claim and fill the vacancy, and thus defeat the action of the Governor. One elector must be made to recognize the democrat to secure a majority. Have employed three lawyers; editor only republican paper; as one lawyer's fee $3000; will take $5000 for republican elector; must raise money; can't make fee contingent; sail Saturday; Kelly and Billings will act; communicate with them; must act prompt. (No signature.)

NEW YORK, Dec. 1.

J. H. N. Patrick: Can't you send a special messenger and convene Legislature by Tuesday, and elect an elector if necessary. The expense would be paid. See proceedings other States telegraphed you. Consult Governor and Senator. Answer. (No signature.)

PORTLAND, Dec. 2.

W. T. Pelton, 15 Gramercy Park, New York: Impossible to convene Legislature. P. left before telegraph arrived. Can't draw the $. Deposit Charles Dimond, 115 Liberty street, to order Bush & Ladd, Salem. Must have it Monday. Can't understand laughable Everett House, last your telegram. K. for. P.

NEW YORK, Dec. 3.

Hon. James H. Kelly: Telegraph Hemlock go ahead; you shall be reimbursed; do not fail; all important; advise progress. (No signature.)

SALEM, Oregon, Dec. 5.

W. T. Pelton, 15 Gramercy Park, N. Y.: Can't you deposit the eight, Charles Dimond, subject the order Ladd & Bush, Salem; can't get money here; must have it Wednesday; telegraph me Salem. Vier will not fail "dectrinal." (No signature.)

San Francisco, Dec. 6.

Hon. Jhn. H. Kelly: The eight deposited as directed this morning. Let no technicality prevent winning. Use your discretion. (No. signature.)

Political.

The Boston Post puts the cipher dispatches (from Patrick in Oregon to Nephew Pelton in New York, showing the need of "purchasing one republican elector" and demanding the money to pay for him, and the answers from New York showing that the money was sent and urging the corruptionists to go ahead as they "will be reimbursed,") under the heading "Nothing of Importance Developed." Bringing bribery home to Tilden's front door is not of any great importance, certainly.

A striking illustration of the hard times among politicians as well as among other folks is afforded in the fact that among the special police sworn in at the Capitol the other day were two ex-Governors, one ex-Judge and one ex-Congressman, and several prominent State politicians who have been hanging about Washington for months waiting for something to turn up.

Now it is a partisan Commission, a mongrel court, and a fifteen-headed anaconda.

About Mr. Maddox's character. The opinion of those who know him best seems to be that he never had any.

A vigorous yelp comes up from Washington for a leader for the leaderless democracy. The utter failure of all those who have attempted to drag the party out of the mire has made clear their inability to achieve the task, and a new man is now demanded. The Washington correspondent of the Cincinnati Enquirer sends this wail over the wires: "The main trouble is that the democrats are without a consulting head. The rank and file have lost faith in Hewitt. He has too many bonds and too much dyspepsia to view the situation from a practical standpoint. Col. Pelton is here, but his judgment is as vapid as a school-girl's composition. If he didn't happen to be the nephew of his uncle he would be too small a factor in the squabble to be seen through a microscope. It needs a man of nerve and brain to sail the ship. The head for the occasion is wanting, although all the smallfry think they could manage affairs, if given the chance."

A Washington correspondent says the apostasy of Mr. Purman, the republican member of the House from Florida, was not at all unexpected. It is openly charged that he has had the speech delivered by him prepared for a considerable period, during which he has been trying to get the promise of office from the republicans as the condition of its suppression. Failing to draw the republicans into negotiation, he has carried his wares into the democratic market, and his price is said to be a liberal slice of the honors and emoluments of office of representation in the forty-fifth Congress. Purman has a certificate of election, but his seat is contested by a democrat, who, in consideration of Purman's secession from the republican party, is to consent to a division of the spoils.

The real estate pool committee of the House has "struck ile." A contractor was examined on Thursday, and implicated a good many prominent persons in unrighteous practices. The most prominent persons mentioned were ex-Senator Sprague of Rhode Island, who, he said, was interested in a patent, and Col. W. T. Pelton, Tilden's secretary, who, he said, had to do with several pavement contracts. Eldredge of Wisconsin, formerly a democratic leader in the House, and two republican ex-Congressmen from Pennsylvania, were also smirched.

News and Notes.

Gov. Packard, of Louisiana, was shot at and wounded in the knee, on Thursday.

The following message in a bottle has been found on the Scotch coast:—"The Pete Durbrovacki was wrecked near St. Kilda on the 17th of January. Captain and eight of the crew are at St. Kilda." The Austrian bark Pete Durbrovacki left Glasgow, Jan. 12, for New York. St. Kilda is an island in the Atlantic, 82 miles west of Harris, (Hebrides.)

Considerable excitement having been caused recently at Rising Sun, Indiana, by the robbery of graves by resurrectionists, the citizens have been making efforts to prevent such occurrences. On Wednesday the body of a little girl was buried, and friends hired two men to watch the grave. Mayor Gillispie also sent two watchers to the grave, not knowing of the action of the relatives of the deceased. The result was a fusillade between the watchers, each being mistaken for body-snatchers. Henry Summers of the Mayor's party was slightly wounded, and Joseph Jones of the other party dangerously wounded, receiving the whole load of shot in his side.

Two schooners were capsized in Tangier Sound during the gale on Monday. The crew of one were picked up by a passing vessel, but all hands on board of the other perished. It is also reported that three oyster pungies were capsizad and it is feared the crews were lost.

By a coal-mine explosion in France, on the 13th, fifty-five miners lost their lives.

The strike of the engineers of the Boston & Maine Railroad, so far as the corporation is concerned, is at an end. The company have succeeded in employing all the firemen and engineers necessary to run the trains, and a notice has been posted on the door of the Superintendent's office in Boston that no more engineers or firemen are wanted. Superintendent Furber says that the thing is probably ended and that the road has come out ahead.

Detectives in New York on Wednesday captured, at Solar's restaurant on University place, Billy Connors, a notorious cracksman, and one of the seven men who on the night of the 26th of January, 1875, bound and gagged the cashier of the National Bank of Northampton, Mass., with his family, blew open the bank vaults, and carried off $720,000 in money and securities which never since have been recovered. Connors and his wife were living sumptuously at the restaurant. The prisoner was committed to prison. Two of Connors' confederates, Robert Scott and J. H. Dunlap, arrested in Philadelphia, had a preliminary hearing and were committed in default of bail to await a further hearing.

John F. Haines, once a three card monte man, is engineering a big temperance revival at Saco.

Sentimental suicides are becoming very common in the United States. About a fortnight ago a young lady, who was engaged to be married and apparently happy, committed suicide in Marion, Iowa. A few mornings after the funeral, her lover called a young lady cousin into his room, and, remarking hastily that he was going to his sweetheart, shot himself in the heart. A brother of the dead girl went to the house to see her lover's remains, and, catching sight of the pistol, seized it and did his best to shoot himself, but did not succeed.

There was a Yale "rush" at Sachem's Wood last Saturday evening. The Freshmen collected near a fence on the crest of a ridge and brandished a heavy cane—their "banger." Their leader posted half a dozen of his strongest men in the centre to protect the precious hickory, and then marshalled the rest of his host to meet the onset of the enemy. With shout and shriek the Sophomores sprang upon the Freshmen, their plan of battle being to break the cordon around the "banger-holders," and then to send in their stoutest men to capture the prize. The course of the combatants was turned down the side of the ridge toward the street; a hundred voices shouted at once; the Sophomores seized the "banger;" the whole undergraduate mass plunged down the bank; the Freshmen recovered their prize; one young fellow was trodden under foot and carried off the ground badly hurt, and finally, after a half-hour's struggle, the Sophomores bore away the trophy. When the battle was over the boys marched down the street with torn shirts, red backs and wet faces, singing college choruses.

We have taken wood, potatoes, corn, eggs, butter, onions, cabbages, chickens, stone, lumber, labor, sand, calico, sauerkraut, second-hand clothing, coon-skins and bug-juice on subscriptions, in exr time, and now a man writes us to know if we would send the paper six months for a large owl. There are few things an editor would refuse on subscription, and if we come across any fellow who is out of owl, and is in need of one, we will do it.—Osborne (Kan.) Farmer.

San Francisco papers cry aloud for street sprinklers and talking of impeaching their aldermen for letting dust accumulate.

Cogent Reasons for a Grand Success.

Conspicuous among the highest examples of success which the present century can show is Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. The record of the triumphs over disease is to be traced in the written acknowledgments of thousands who have experienced its beneficent effects, and the evidence of its popularity is to be found in the vast and growing demand for the article in North and South America, Mexico, Guatemala, the West Indies, Australia and Europe. The reasons for its unparalleled success are cogent ones. The accumulated evidence of nearly thirty years shows that it is a certain remedy for malarial disease, as well as its surest preventive; that it eradicates dyspepsia, constipation, liver complaint and nervousness, counteracts a tendency to gout, rheumatism, urinary and uterine disorders, that it imparts vigor to the feeble, and cheers the mind while it invigorates the body.

The Colonnade Hotel.

The Colonnade Hotel, Philadelphia, Pa., by its judicious reduction of rates, will maintain its famous reputation of a model first-class house, alive to the demands of the time.

Thousands of testimonials to the efficacy and remarkable cures of Adamson's Botanic Balsam can be produced from leading citizens of the New England States. It cures colds, coughs and all throat and lung troubles. Sold everywhere at 35 cents.

The Grand Central Hotel, New York, noted for its profuse and elaborate decorations and elegant table, now offers the same accommodations at a reduction from $4.00 to $2.50 and $3.00 per day.

Important to persons visiting New York or the Centennial. The Grand Union Hotel, New York, opposite the Grand Central Depot, has over 350 elegantly furnished rooms. Elevator, steam and all improvements. European plan. Carriage hire is saved, as baggage is taken to and from the depot free. Guests can live better for less money at the Grand Union than at any other first-class hotel. Stages and cars pass the Hotel constantly to all parts of the city, and to the Philadelphia depot.

JOTTINGS.

The experiment tried in Liverpool of opening cheap coffee houses for the sale of cocoa, coffee, tea and bread, to counteract the influence of the grog shops, is proving very successful. Eighteen have already been established, and though most of the sales are for only a half penny, they not only meet expenses, but will pay a good dividend on the outlay. They are considered a most effective weapon against intemperance in Liverpool, and would undoubtedly prove so in this city, if it were practicable to establish them in sufficient numbers to enable a man to get a temperance drink at a small price whenever he wants it. Many a man takes a punch or a glass of whiskey when he would prefer to take a cup of good, hot coffee or tea at the same price; but the whiskey is for sale everywhere, right under the thirsty man's nose, while the coffee or tea can only be procured at the expense of time and trouble. Why not establish temperance bar-rooms?

The Bow Mission service on Sunday will be an object lesson entitled "The Voyage of Life," and as it is intended exclusively for the children (should there be enough of them to fill the room) an usher will be in attendance to seat all the children first, after which, should any room remain, parents and others will be welcome.

A little son of Rev. A. C. Hardy, formerly of this city and now of Fisherville, while sliding down the side of a ravine near his father's house in Fisherville recently, ran into an apple tree and received a very severe shock and bad bruises. He was taken up insensible, but medical aid was summoned and he soon recovered consciousness. No bones were broken, and his injuries are not dangerous.

E. C. Spinney, Esq., of Kittery, is shipping large quantities of pressed hay the present winter from the towns of Eliot, Kittery and York to the Boston market, which is said to be of a superior quality.

Col. William H. Hackett, having some legal business to transact at the Shoals on Thursday, chartered the steamer Clara Bateman to take him out, and improved the occasion to give a few of his friends a breath of salt air.

The number of letters sent from the post office here for the four weeks ending Feb. 10, was 3676.

Work has again been suspended at the navy yard.

It is reported that Mrs. Dolly Bidwell, the well-known actress, who is now closing an engagement in Boston, is to leave the stage on and after this week and embark on the sea of matrimony. A rich New York broker is said to be the happy man.—Times.

A rare and exquisitely beautiful Australian plant, with a long name which we are very glad we have forgotten, is in bloom at Pearson's green-house on Broad street. It is a thing of beauty, though it will probably not last forever.

The annual report of the school committee for 1876, gives the following summary of expenditures: For teaching, $20,257.57; care of rooms, $884.51; fuel, $1819.14; books and stationery, $290.95; printing, $84.75; contingent expenses, $282.79; making a total expenditure of $23,623.71. The appropriations were as follows: General appropriation for 1876, $20,000; revenue from literary fund, $639.45; supplementary appropriations, $3,500; total, 24,139.45. There remains unexpended the sum of $515,74.

Dr. Everett's lectures at Franklin Hall have been attended by audiences limited only by the capacity of the room, and the general verdict is that they are the most practical and useful lectures on hygieine delivered in this city for many years.

POLITICAL NOTES.

The Boston Post says: "The Democratic County Committee of Rockingham county met at Newmarket Wednesday to discuss campaign interests. The members appear to be sanguine and hopeful of success." We venture the assertion that the democratic committee of Rockingham county have no hope of success, however sanguine they may "appear to be," for the democracy know that there is no more doubt of the success of the republican County ticket than there is of the success of the republican State ticket—and "Old White Oak" will be left further to leeward this year than he was last.

On the Congressional ticket the republicans of the first district have got to make a fight; they will make a fight; and although they will have to contend against money and beer we believe the fight will be successful, and that the district will be represented in the next Congress. No comparison can be made between the fitness of Hon. Gilman Marston for Congress and the unfitness of Hon. Frank Jones, nor is any needed, for both candidates are well known. "The era of good feeling" got along some time ago, so reference to candidates' war records is not permissible; but it should not be urged against Gen. Marston that he fought gallantly for the Union all through the war, while Mr. Jones gave all his influence to the other side. If fitness for the position of Congressman decides the question, Gen. Marston will be triumphantly chosen; if money and beer are omnipotent, Frank Jones will secure another term.

The democratic nominations have great pecuniary strength in this district. The democrats acknowledge that their candidate for Governor "bleeds" well, if he does not run very well; and the money he puts out to help himself will of course help the Congressional and Senatorial tickets also. Then the candidates for Congressman and State Senator are both brewers, both well to do, and both ready to contribute liberally to the cause of reform; indeed, it is popularly supposed that Frank Jones' first (and last) election to Congress cost him six if not ten years' salary as Congressman, and that he will expend as much or more this year rather than be defeated. Besides this, the Eastern Railroad was made to do good work in Mr. Jones' interest at the last election, — but whether or no he can make use of that concern this year we cannot say.

But though the democrats have the advantage in money and beer, all the advantages are not on their side. The republican candidate for Governor is as strong as the democratic candidate is weak—Benjamin F. Prescott's name is worth more than Daniel Marcy's money; Emmons B. Philbrick is popular, fully the equal of Marcellus Eldredge, and will carry the full party strength, which the latter we do not believe will do; and Gilman Marston is immeasurably the superior of Frank Jones in every requisite for a Congressman, except in the manufacture of beer. And it is encouraging to the republicans to remember that the Cambridgeport foundries, the Gloucester fishing schooners and the marine barracks at the navy yard, will not this year be enabled to take any important part in the elections; their old wards, Three and Six, in which they voted two years ago, no longer exist as they then did, and every name on the check list has to have a residence set against it. This will make a difference of at least two hundred votes in favor of the republican candidates; and as the republican majority in this Congressional District at the Presidential election was eight hundred, we are confident that anything like the usual republican canvass will result in sending Gen. Marston to Congress by a rousing majority.

The final issue of the Presidential contest, also, will exert a marked effect on the election here. If President-elect Hayes is inaugurated, the democratic candidates may as well withdraw; if Tilden is counted in, the republicans will have to fight to hold their own.

New Hampshire Items.

A Mr. Piper of Alton is drawing wood to this village with a team of six fine looking cows. They make a nice team for all purposes for which oxen are used, and to their other good qualities add that of affording an abundant supply of milk, butter and cheese. To work them moderately, feeding them well at the same time, does not injure them for either breeding or dairy purposes. So it is said.—Wolfeborough News.

A daughter of Warren Eastman of Claremont was probably fatally burned Wednesday noon, while eating dinner in the Pearl street school, her clothes taking fire from the stove, completely burning them off before aid could reach her.

—When the Young Athenian on the fence asked,—Shall I marry, or remain single? the Old Greek answered,—Do either, and you will repent!

—The Norristown Herald says that the Tennessee farmer who reported that shower of snakes in Tennessee "wouldn't let the telegraph operator smell his breath."

—A lady in Charlestown, Mass., heard her little son use a bad word, which he picked up on the street. In correcting him she said, "Eddie, do you know that God hears you when you say bad words? He does hear you and it grieves Him very much." Presently Eddie came to his mother and said, "Mamma, does God hear you when you scrape the bottom of the flour barrel?"—Boston Transcript.

A Dedham, Mass., business man wended his way home to dinner, and, arrived at the house, was surprised to find all the doors locked. Fearing that some serious mishap had befallen the partner of his joys and sorrows, and none of the neighbors being able to give him any information, he procured a hatchet and broke an entire window sash to fragments. Upon crawling into the room, he found the following note lying on a table: "Dear Hubby, I have gone to hear Moody and Sankey. You will find the key to the front door on the left-hand corner of the porch, and some cold ham in the pantry. I will pray for you." The husband's remarks on reading the note showed the need of somebody praying for him.

Overhead telegraphs are rapidly disappearing throughout Europe. In London the telegraph department, which is now in the hands of the State by purchase, has done a great deal to abolish the long lines of wire dangerously stretching overhead, and to carry them along in iron pipes underground. In Prussia scarcely a telegraph post remains. Germany in general will probably follow Prussia in particular in this respect. France and Italy are also "following suit." The great difficulty is the cost, which is heavy in towns. It is estimated that $2,500 per mile would about cover the expense of laying down the iron pipes under London pavements—quite apart from the cost of the pipe themselves, and of the continuous wires between them. In small towns and in country places it is less expensive.

DIED.

MELCHER. In Boston, Feb. 15, Captain George Melcher, aged 80 years.

☞ Funeral from the Unitarian church on Saturday, at 2 30 P. M.

—A hint to mothers—Treat your babies kindly, but not cordial-ly.

—An English merchant was dining with a Chinese mandarin, when it struck him that perhaps the dish which he had eaten of so heartily might have been stewed cats, for he heard that they ate cats in China. The Chinaman didn't know English, so his guest, anxiously pointing to the dish, inquired, "Miow, miow?" "No, no," said the mandarin, "bow-wow."

—Gov. Bross illustrates the marvelous growth of Chicago by saying that in 1850 he saw a wolf pass his door on Michigan Avenue, now the principal residence street of the city. His friends amuse themselves by telling him that he has had better luck than the general run of Western editors. The wolf generally squatted in front of their doors and howled.

The statutes of the land are explicit concerning this crime, but so mild is the action of Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets, that no one having used them has yet suffered from purgery.

Dr. A. J. Flagg's

COUGH & LUNG SYRUP.

—o—

A Safe and Sure Remedy.

—o—

The Cough and Lung Syrup

Is the remedy that during the past fifteen years has won for DR. FLAGG an extended reputation as a SPECIALIST for THROAT and LUNG Diseases. All who have used this great trial it can be truthfully said that it has NEVER FAILED, even in the WORST CASES. It is purely Vegetable, and its effect upon the system is at once Soothing and Tonic.

It Will Cure a Common Cold

In a few hours, not by drying it up, but by removing it from the system. TRY IT.

It will CURE a Chronic Cough, by soothing the irritated parts, and strengthening the system.

IT WILL CURE CONSUMPTION.

Even after all other remedies have failed. In the earlier stages of this disease it will effect a speedy and certain cure; and in many cases of advanced Consumption its effect has seemed almost miraculous, restoring to full strength and perfect health those whom physicians had given up as incurable. TRY IT.

IT WILL CURE CATARRH

More effectual by than any other remedy, by simply removing the cause. TRY IT.

It will Cure Bronchitis, by allaying all irritation of the Throat. TRY IT.

It will Cure Asthma, affording immediate relief and a perfect cure. TRY IT.

It Will Cure Ulcerated Sore Throat.

TRY IT.

IT WILL CURE Loss of Voice, Night Sweats, Hectic Fever, AND ALL Symptoms of Consumption. TRY IT.

For every affection of the Throat and Lungs it only needs a trial to convince the most skeptical of its wonderful curative properties.

Remember that it

CURES COLDS, CURES COUGHS,
CURES CATARRH, CURES CONSUMPTION.

DR. WM. M. LADD, a leading Druggist of Claremont, certifies as follows:

For many years I have known Dr. A. J. Flagg as a successful practicing phys cian, and can assure the public that his representations relative to the Cough and Lung Syrup can be strictly relied upon. It has been used in his extended practice with marvellous success, and I know it to be all that he claims for it.

WM. M. LADD, M. D.

CLAREMONT, N. H., September, 1875.

DR. FLAGG My Dear Sir: Your Cough and Lung Syrup has proved a great benefit to me, giving relief from severe Coughs and soreness of the Lungs, when all other remedies and physicians had failed. I have never taken a medicine more pleasant to the taste or more satisfactory in its results.

THE OLDEST ESTABLISHED HOSPITAL

— IN THE —

No. 9 Beaver Street, - - - Albany, N. Y

SURE CURES AND LOW PRICES.

Dr. YOUNG,

SUCCESSOR TO

Dr. TELLER,

DECEASED.

The above named private Hospital was established in Albany in 1835 by Dr. Lispenard and for a number of years its affairs were presided over by that gentleman, but for the past 20 years, Dr. Teller, who is now deceased, transacted the business of the institution.

Owing to the great demand for more spacious apartments on account of the large increase of business, the Hospital has been removed to No. 9 Beaver Street, two doors above its old location, where patients will find magnificently furnished rooms for their reception, and are so arranged that patients do not come in contact with one another, feeling only the doctor, thereby avoiding the unpleasantness of meeting others, which always occurred at the old office.

LADIES will find rooms provided for their especial accommodation and entirely private.

YOUNG MEN, addicted to secret habits, who have impaired their health and destroyed the vigor of their minds, thus depriving themselves of the pleasures of married life and also those afflicted with private diseases of any nature, are advised that in consulting Dr. Young they will find a physician fully qualified to cure and restore them to full health and manly vigor.

Dr. Teller's great work for the married, or those contemplating marriage—100 pages—full of plates,—price 25 cents. Sent to all parts, under seal, by mail post paid.

TO THE LADIES—Dr. YOUNG still retains the only agency in America for the sale of Dr. Vichois's Italian Female Monthly Pills. Sent by mail on receipt of $1.00, price per box.

DR. YOUNG is the only agent for Dr. La Motte's celebrated Galvanic Belts.

Invalids out of the city can be cured by consulting he Doctor by letter, and enclosing remittance. Medicines sent by mail or express, securely packed from observation. All letters must be addressed to

Centaur Liniments.

The lame can be healed and the wounded made whole. We now know just what the Centaur Liniment will do. They will not mend broken bones or cure Cancer, but they will extract soreness, allay pain, cure Rheumatism and a larger range of flesh, bone and muscle ailments than any article ever before discovered.

Scientific skill cannot go beyond the effects of these remarkable preparations. Chronic Rheumatism of many years' standing, Neuralgia, Weak-Back, Fever Sores, Weeping-Sinews, Pelaiics, Caked Breasts, Distorted Joints and Sprained Limbs of the worst kind are cured by the White Centaur Liniment.

It will destroy the pain and heal without a scar, all ordinary Burns and Scalds. It will extract the poison of Bites and Stings, and the frost from Frozen Limbs. It is very efficacious for Ear-ache, Toothache, Itch and Cutaneous Eruptions.

Mr. Josiah Westake, of Marysville, O., writes:

"For years my Rheumatism has been so bad that I have been unable to stir from the house. The first three bottles of Centaur Liniment enabled me to walk without my crutches. I am mending rapidly. I think your Liniment simply a marvel.

C. H. Bennett, Druggist, Rock Prairie, Mo., says:

"Centaur Liniment sells better and gives the best satisfaction of anything in the market."

What the Centaur Liniment has done for others it will do for you. It is handy, it is reliable, and it is cheap.

The Yellow Centaur Liniment

is worth its weight in gold to owners of horses and mules.

This Liniment has cured more Sprained, Swenied, Ring-boned and Galled Horses in three years than have all the Farriers in the country in an age. Its effects are simply wonderful.

We have thousands upon thousands of certificates as strong as the following:

"My horse was lame for a year with a fetlock wrench. All remedies utterly failed to cure and I considered him worthless until I commenced to use Centaur Liniment, which rapidly cured him. I heartily recommend it.

REV. GEO. W. FERRIS,
Manorville, Schoharie Co., N. Y."

DEAR SIRS,—I have used your Centaur Liniment in my family, and find it to be of great value. P case send me two dollar's worth, one for the mules and horses.

RILEY SICKLES.
FALLS STATION, WYOMING CO., PA.

It makes very little difference what the case is, whether it be Wrench, Sprain, Poll-Evil, Ringbone, Scratches or Lame ness of any kind, the effects are the same. Liverymen, Stage proprietors, Farmers, &c., should never be without the Yellow Centaur Liniment. It is sold everywhere, and warranted to its effects.

Castoria.

It is a mistake to suppose that Castoria is not adapted to grown persons as well as Children. They only need to increase the quantity. But children have so many complaints for which Castoria is adapted—like Wind Colic, Sour Stomach, Worms, Water, Teething and Croup, that it is especially recommended for them.

Its effects are more certain than Castor Oil. It contains no alcohol and is as pleasant to take as honey. It never gripes. By regulating the stomach and bowels the Castoria cools the blood, expels worms and prevents feverishness, quiets the nerves and produces health—then of course children can sleep in quiet and mothers can rest.

Castoria is recommended by all physicians and nurses who have tried it, and it is having a rapidly increasing sale. It is prepared with great care after the recipe of Dr. Samuel Pitcher, of Mass., at the Laboratory of J. B. Rose & Co., 40 Dey St., N. Y.

Daily Chronicle.

—A majority of the Electoral Tribunal "eight up the other seven," the Philadelphia Bulletin imagines.

—Forty-seven sentimental young idiots of Los Angeles, Cal., paid a physician $3 a piece to be vaccinated with the virus from the arm of a popular belle. The first one used it all up, but the other 46 didn't know the difference.

—School inspector (to urchin)—"Now, Johnny, how many can you count?" Johnny—"One, two, three, four, five, six, seven, eight, nine, ten." Inspector—"Good, Johnny, go on." Johnny (after a moment's thought)—"Jack, queen, king, ace."

—It is related of a Justice of the Peace in New Bedford, who has little respect for conventionalities, that he performed the shortest marriage ceremony yet noted. A couple walked into his office and laid down a marriage license on his table. He inquired, "Did you come to be married?" They answered, "Yes." "Go out; you are married." And they went wonderingly.

—Heliotypes of exquisite lace are taken on paper or silk for fans, and unless you feel of them with the fingers you can't tell the difference between the lace and the printing. If a narrow lace border is sewed to the edge of the fan the deception is complete. This opens an extraordinary prospect for future dress trimmings; lace flounces can be heliotyped on any colored silk skirt, and there will be no ripping off or tearing in a crowd; lace aprons can be made from the very costliest of patterns, and yet not cost much.

ST. NICHOLAS.

"The King of all publications issued for the young on either side of the Atlantic."—Southampton (England) Observer.

The third volume of this incomparable Magazine is now completed. With its eight hundred royal octavo pages, and its six hundred illustrations, its splendid serials, its shorter stories, poems, and sketches, etc., in its beautiful binding of red and gold, it is the most splendid gift-book for young people ever issued from the press. Price, $4; in full gilt, $5.

"ST. NICHOLAS is full of the choicest things. The publication is, in all respects, the best of its kind. We have never yet seen a number that was not surprisingly good."—The Churchman, Hartford, Conn.

ST. NICHOLAS FOR 1877,

Which opens with November, 1876, begins a short and very entertaining Serial from the French, "The Kingdom of the Greedy," a Story adapted to the Thanksgiving season. Another serial, of absorbing interest to boys,

"HIS OWN MASTER,"

By J. T. Trowbridge,

Author of the "Jack Hazard Stories," begins in the Christmas Holiday Number.

Besides serial stories, Christmas stories, lively sketches, poems and pictures for the holidays, and some astonishing illustrations of Oriental sports, with drawings by Siamese artists, The Christmas Holiday Number of ST. NICHOLAS, superbly illustrated, contains a very interesting paper,

"THE BOYS OF MY BOYHOOD,"

By William Cullen Bryant;

"The Horse Hotel," a lively article, by Charles A. Barnard; splendidly illustrated "The Moon in the Sky," by Richard A. Proctor; "A Christmas Play for Homes or Sunday-schools," by Dr. Eggleston; "The Peterkins' Christmas Tree," by Lucretia P. Hale; "Poetry and Carols of Winter," by Lucy Larcom, with pictures.

Do Not Fail to Buy St. Nicholas for the Christmas Holidays. Price 25 cents.

During the year there will be interesting papers for boys, by William Cullen Bryant, John G. Whittier, Thomas Hughes, William Howitt, Dr. Holland, George MacDonald, Sanford B. Hunt, Frank R. Stockton, and others.

There will be stories, sketches, and poems, of special interest to girls, by Harriet Prescott Spofford, Susan Coolidge, Sarah Winter Kellogg, Elizabeth Stuart Phelps, Louisa Alcott, Lucretia P. Hale, Celia Thaxter, Mary Mapes Dodge, and many others. There will be also

"TWELVE SKY PICTURES,"

By Prof. Proctor, the Astronomer,

with maps, showing "The Stars of Each Month," which will be likely to surpass in interest any series on popular science recently given to the public.

Amusement and Instruction, with Fun and Frolic, and Wit and Wisdom, will be mingled as heretofore, and ST. NICHOLAS will continue to delight the young and give pleasure to the old.

The London Literary World says: "There is no magazine for the young that can be said to equal it for the choice production of Scribner's press. All the articles, whether in prose or rhyme, are throbbing with vitality. * * * The literature and artistic illustrations are both superbly."

The London Daily News says: "We wish we could point to its equal in our own periodical literature."

GOOD NEWS FOR BOYS AND GIRLS;

To meet the demand for a cheaper St. NICHOLAS Gift-Book, the price of vols. I and II has been reduced to $3 each. The three volumes, in an elegant library case, are sold for $10 (in full gilt, $15), so that all may give their children a complete set. These volumes contain more attractive material than fifty dollars' worth of the ordinary children's books.

Subscription price, $4 a year. The three bound volumes and a subscription for this year, only $12. Subscribe with the nearest newsdealer, or send money in check, or P. O. money order, or in registered letter, to

SCRIBNER & Co., 743 Broadway, N. Y.

SCRIBNER'S MONTHLY,

An Unrivaled Illustrated Magazine.

The promotions for the new volume gives the titles of more than fifty papers (mostly illustrated), by writers of the highest merit. Under the head of

"FOREIGN TRAVEL,"

we have "A Winter on the Nile," by Gen. McClellan; "Sauntering About Constantinople," by Charles Dudley Warner; "Out of My Window at Moscow," by Eugene Schuyler; "At Amerbach on the Turkistan," etc. Three serial stories are announced:

by Dr. Holland, the Editor, whose story of "Seven-oaks" gave the highest satisfaction to the readers of the Monthly.

The scene of this latest novel is laid on the banks of the Hudson. The hero is a young man who has been used to a woman's apron-strings," but who, by the death of his mother, is left alone in the world,—to drift on the current of life,—with a fortune, but without a purpose.

Another serial, "His Inheritance," by Miss Tracy, will be on the completion of "Without a Home" by Lowrie's," by Mrs. Hodgson Burnett. Mrs. Burnett's story, begun in August, has a pathos and dramatic power which have been a surprise to the public.

There is to be a series of original illustrated papers of "Popular Science," by Mrs. Herrick, each paper complete in itself.

There are to be, from various pens, papers on

"HOME LIFE AND TRAVEL."

Also, practical suggestions as to town and country fe, village improvements, etc., by well-known specialists.

Mr. Barnard's articles on various industries of real Britain include the history of "Some Experiments in Co-operation," "A Scotchish Loaf Factory," in the November number, and "Toad Lane, Rochdale," in December. Other papers are, "The British Workingman's Home," "A Nation of Shopkeepers," "Halcyony a Week for the Child," etc.

A richly illustrated series will be given on "American Society Flood and Field," by various writers, and each on a different theme. The subject of

"HOUSEHOLD AND HOME DECORATION"

will have a prominent place whilst the latest productions of American humorists will appear from epoch to month. The list of shorter stories, biographical and other sketches, etc., is a long one.

The editorial department will continue to employ the ablest pens both at home and abroad. There will be a series of letters on literary matters, from London, by Mr. Welford.

We mean to make the magazine sweeter and purer, higher and nobler, more social and generous in all its utterance and influences, and a more welcome visitor than ever before in homes of refinement and culture.

FIFTEEN MONTHS FOR $4.00.

SCRIBNER for December, now ready, contains the opening chapters of "Nicholas Minturn." The three numbers of SCRIBNER for August, September, and October, containing the opening chapters of "That Lass o' Lowrie's," will be given to every new subscriber (who requests it), and whose subscription begins with the present volume, i.e., with the November number.

Subscription price, $4 a year—25 cents a number. Special terms on bound volumes. Subscribe with the nearest bookseller, or send a check or P. O. money order to

CONDITION PILLS!

The Wonderful Remedy for Liver Complaint, Biliousness, Dyspepsia, Constipation, Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Headache, Kidney Complaint, Nervousness, Scrofula, Piles, and all diseases arising from a bad state of the Blood!

Is the ultima thule of Medical Discovery.

No medicine ever offered to the public has given such universal satisfaction as Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. Their praises are on every tongue where their merits are known. They strike at once at the seat of disease and show their healing power almost immediately. Thousands of voluntary testimonials of their merits have been received by the agent, from those who have been cured by them, of which the following are samples:

Dyspepsia Four Years, Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels Three Years, Confined to my Room Two Years, Pain so I Could Not Sleep Without Morphine. One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills Made Me Eat Well, Sleep Well and Free from Pain, after being given up by Physicians.

WEST LEBANON, ME., Feb. 22, 1

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I have been sick for four years with Dyspepsia, and for the past three years Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels. I have suffered all the pain I could endure and live. I have been confined to my room for two years, and could not sleep nights without the use of morphine. I have been given up by physicians as past cure. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, and they have done me more good than all the doctors I have had. I sleep well, I eat well and have no pain. They are all they are recommended to be. Please send me three packages, as two of my neighbors wish to try them. I enclose $1.50.

Your truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Another Letter from Maj. John W. Lord, one month later Wonderful Cures by Dr. Quain's Pills Effected on Him in Thirteen Days. Feel time Free from Pain for Three Years.

WEST LEBANON, ME., March 22, 1875.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I commenced taking Dr. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS February 9th, and write you February 22d of their wonderful effect. I have continued to improve ever since. My appetite is good, and I sleep as well as I ever did in my life. I am free from pain for the first time in three years. When I was taken sick four years ago, I weighed one hundred and eighty-six pounds; I now weigh one hundred and thirty, but as I am gaining in strength, I hope I shall regain my flesh this summer, by the use of the Pills. I shal continue taking them for some time to come.

Yours truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Dr. Quain's Pills the Remedy for Soldiers' Aches and Pains.

WEST LEBANON, ME., June 1, 1875.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I am now able to walk out every day, and am gaining in strength very fast, all of which I owe to you as agent for the best Pills in the world. I have taken no other medicine, and my improvement has been steady since first taking Dr. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done everything for me, and I will say to you, advertise them direct to the soldiers, for they will certainly cure them of aches and pains caused from exposure and hardship on the field. Please send me by return mail another package.

JOHN W. LORD.

Rheumatism for Twenty Years Cured by One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills—"The Best Medicine in the World."

EAST ANDOVER, N. H., Dec. 10, 1875.

MR. LANE—Dear Sir:—As I know the value of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS and the good they have done me, I take pleasure in giving them praise; so I send you another testimonial. My father has been troubled with Rheumatism for twenty years or more, and has tried everything that could be thought of, but to no good. At times it would be so bad that he could not lift his hand to his head or do any work at all, especially in cold weather. A month ago I advised him to get some of these Pills. He believed nothing in them, but I gave him the last package I had of you, as I did not need them, and has not been as free from the Rheumatic Complaint for years. No Rheumatism, no pain. What helped him? It was DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, the best medicine in the world. There is nothing like them. I know it, for I have tried them, and they are all, yes, more than they are recommended to be. Give them a fair trial and you will say so. I write this because I have the goodness of them and wish others to know the same. Some may think I am telling a big story. I am. But remember I am not giving them half the praise they ought to have.

Yours with respect, ED. F. PEVARE.

Wonderful Effect of Four Doses of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills upon Neuralgia of Twelve Years' Duration—Testimony of Rev. J. S. Patton.

DAINGERFIELD, MORRIS CO., TEXAS, Nov. 15, '75.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I have been afflicted for near twelve years with Neuralgia in the face and head. I tried I do not know how many physicians only get partially relieved. I also tried many patent medicines with the same result. I had suffered so much that I was almost all the time for eight or ten winters, and have been traveling and visiting medical springs, and I still suffered most painfully. Your agent came to see me the worst and most stubborn that they had had anything to do with. One bottle I could never get well; they did me so good. I have spent the winter, and thought that was the only chance for me, and I was trying to get ready to go to Florida, when through the kindness of Rev. H. M. Mathis, my attention was called to the advertisement of Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. I immediately sent to you for a package. I have taken four doses and I am almost free from pain. The impression here seems to be that if your pills will cure me they will cure anybody. I have five applications to send for the pills. Enclosed please find three dollars; send five packages to me and one to Mrs. Laura Sherrell Sulphur Springs, Hopkins county, Texas.

Yours truly, J. S. PATTON.

Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache.

LACONIA, N. H., Jan. 29, 1875.

THOS. W. LANE—Sir:—I have been troubled with Bad Blood, Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done me more good than all the medicine I ever took; I have taken considerable medicine within the last five years. For the nerves I think there is nothing so good as those pills. I shall recommend them to all who are similarly afflicted, they have done me so much good. I think they will recommend themselves wherever they go. I shall recommend them to all who need them. Please send me two packages more, one for myself and one for a lady friend of mine. May thanks to the inventor, agent and advertiser of those Pills.

MRS. P. L. ELLIOTT.

PULMOCINE.

BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL

is no new discovery. Twenty-three years ago it was used by one of New England's most famous physicians as the best Pulmonary Curative so could prescribe, after dozen years spent in experimenting with it before he was satisfied that the Materia Medica could add nothing in its favor.

Is the ultima thule of Medical Discovery.

Among its many ingredients are Wild Cherry Bark, Squill Root, Liquorice Root, Blood root, &c. It is a Blood Purifier, gently stimulating. It increases expectoration and is diuretic. It is sudorific and alterative. It is a necessary family medicine. It is a Tonic and a powerful aid to the digestive organs. It is a gentle sedative, and relieves nervousness. It is aromatic and agreeable to the taste.

CLEAR YOUR THROAT!

Relieve Your Lungs.

For the terrible diseases engendered by the lung-trying climate of New England

PULMOCINE CORDIAL

Is a speedy and reliable Preventive and Remedy. Every Family should have a bottle at hand to check the sudden growth of all Pulmonary Diseases. For the Asthma, Coughs, Croups, Laryngitis, or inflammation of the larynx, Diphtheria, and all kindred Throat Diseases at all times prevalent, it is the ounce of Prevention. Children attacked with Whooping Cough or Croup should be immediately cared for. These painful attacks come with scarcely a moment's warning, when a physician may be out of immediate reach. A dose of PULMOCINE CORDIAL gives speedy relief, and the little ones are spared hours of pain and agony. As "a stitch in time saves nine," so does the possession of this Family Medicine prevent the spread of disease. Parents seeing their children gasping with pain, friends and relatives beholding each other in peril from suffocation by the choking pain in the throat, paralyzed with fear and not knowing the best course to pursue, are liable to apply the wrong remedial agents. There is no safety in delay, no time to waste in such cases. CONSUMPTION, that fearful scourge of the human race, lies at the door of all this afflicted. BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL arrests it (unless in its advanced stage at which time there is no local cure) relieves the pressing, suffocating feeling at the lungs, and the patient's danger is past.

For Coughs,

Croup,

Diphtheria,

Asthma, etc.,

USE

Buchman's Pulmocine Cordail.

The Pulmocine Cordial is not a quack medicine, is not an experiment, is not composed of any ingredients "discovered" by "walking in pastures" in South America or anywhere else, nor by one who discovered a weed and thereby cured himself. Most of the ingredients are such as our best educated physicians daily use for the complaints specified in some form or other. The recipe is that perfected by one of New England's most learned and famous physicians, who used it entirely in his daily practice until his death. It is offered to the profession and to the public, absolutely pure and unadulterated.

OF

FOREIGN LITERATURE.

THIRTY-THIRD YEAR.

THE ECLECTIC reprints from the foreign Quarterlies, Reviews, Magazines, and Journals, their choicest contents, including Essays, Scientific Papers, Biographical Sketches, Reminiscences of Travel and Adventure, Tales, Stories, and Poems. The field of selection is very large, and it is believed that the ECLECTIC presents a greater variety and higher standard of literature than any periodical can hope to do that depends exclusively upon home talent.

A knowledge of the current literature of other countries is indispensable to all who would keep pace with the progress of the human mind; and the ECLECTIC offers the best, and, indeed, the only opportunity for obtaining this knowledge within a reasonable compass, and at a moderate price.

Among the writers represented in recent numbers of the ECLECTIC are: The Rt. Hon. W. E. Gladstone, James Anthony Froude, Matthew Arnold, Charles Kingsley, Robert Buchanan, Geo. McDonald, John Ruskin, Alfred Tennyson, Thomas Hughes, William Black, Mrs. Oliphant, Thos. Hardy, William Morris, Miss Thackeray, Mrs. Alexander, Profs. Huxley and Tyndall, Richard Proctor, B. A., Prof. Owen, Dr. W. B. Carpenter, Max Muller, J. Norman Lockyer, Herbert Spencer, and others equally eminent. Besides the regular articles in each body of the magazine, there are four original Editorial Departments: Literary Notices, Foreign Literary Notes, Science and Art, and Varieties.

With regard to the character of the selections, the aim of the ECLECTIC is to be instructive without being dull, and entertaining without being frivolous. While each number contains something to interest every member of the family circle, it addresses itself particularly to that great body of intelligent readers who seek profit as well as amusement in solid and healthful literature.

Besides the 128 pages of reading matter, each number of the magazine contains a Fine Steel-Engraving, usually a portrait—executed in the most artistic manner.

TERMS,—Single copies, 45 cents; one copy one year $5; two copies, $9; five copies, $20. Trial subscriptions for three months, $1.

The ECLECTIC and any $4 Magazine to one address, $8.

Postage free to all subscribers. Address,

"Inventors cannot employ a person more trustworthy or more capable of securing for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office." EDMUND BURKE, Late Commissioner of Patents.

BOSTON, October 19, 1870.

R. H. EDDY, Esq.—Dear sir: You procured for me, in 1849, my first patent. Since then you have acted for and advised me in hundreds of cases, and procured many patents, reissues and extensions. I have occasionally employed the best agencies in New York, Philadelphia and Washington, but I still give you almost the whole of my business, in your line, and advise others to employ you.

Yours truly, GEORGE DRAPER.

WHAT PAYS?

IT PAYS every Manufacturer, Merchant, Mechanic, Inventor, Farmer, or Professional Man, to keep informed on all the improvements and discoveries of the age.

It pays the head of every family to introduce into his household a newspaper that is instructive, one that fosters a taste for investigation, and promotes thought and encourages discussion among the members.

The Scientific American

which has been published weekly for the last thirty-one years, does this, to an extent beyond that of any other publication; in fact it is the only weekly paper published in the United States, devoted to Manufactures, Mechanics, Inventions and New Discoveries in the Arts and Sciences.

Every number is profusely illustrated and its contents embrace the latest and most interesting information pertaining to the Industrial, Mechanical, and Scientific Progress of the world; Descriptions, with Beautiful Engravings of New Inventions, New Implements, New Processes, and Improved Industries of all kinds; Useful Notes, Recipes, Suggestions and Advice by Practical Writers, for Workm n and Employers, in all the various arts, forming a complete repertory of New Inventions and Discoveries; containing a weekly record, not only of the progress of the Industrial Arts in our own country, but also of all New Discoveries and Inventions in every branch of Engineering, Mechanics and science abroad.

THE SCIENTIFIC AMERICAN has been the foremost of all industrial publications for the past thirty-one years. It is the oldest, largest, cheapest, and the best weekly illustrated paper devoted to Engineering, Mechanics, Chemistry, New Inventions, Science and Industrial Progress, published in the world.

The practical Recipes are well worth ten times the subscription price, and for the shop and house will save many times the cost of subscription.

Merchants, Farmers, Mechanics, Engineers, Inventors, Manufacturers, Chemists, Lovers of Science, and People of all Professions, will find the SCIENTIFIC AMERICAN useful to them. It should have a place in every Family, Library, Study, Office and Counting Room; in every Reading Room, College and School. A new volume commences January 1st, 1877.

A year's numbers contain 832 pages and SEVERAL HUNDRED ENGRAVINGS. Thousands of volumes are preserved for binding and reference. Terms, $3.20 a year by mail, including postage. Discount to Clubs. Special circulars, giving Club rates sent free. Single copies mailed on receipt of 10 cents. Back numbers and all News Dealers.

PATENTS. In connection with the Scientific American, Messrs. MUNN & Co are Solicitors of American and Foreign Patents, and have the largest establishment in the world. More than fifty thousand applications have been made for patents through their agency.

Patents are obtained on the best terms. Models of New Inventions and Sketches examined, and advice free. A special notice is made in the Scientific American of all Inventions Patented through this Agency, with the name and residence of the Patentee. Patents are often sold in part or in whole, to persons attracted to the Invention by such notice. A Pamphlet, containing full directions for obtaining Patents sent free. The Scientific American Reference Book, a volume bound in cloth and gilt, containing Patent Laws, Census of the U. S., and 145 Engravings of mechanical movements. Price 25 Cents.

Lippincott's Magazine.

AN ILLUSTRATED MONTHLY OF POPULAR LITERATURE, SCIENCE, and ART.

Announcement for 1877.

The number for January begins the nineteenth volume of this Magazine, and while its past record will, it is hoped, be deemed a sufficient guarantee of future excellence, no efforts will be spared to diversify its attractions and to provide an increased supply of Popular Reading in the Best and Most Emphatic Sense. The great object and constant aim of the conductors will be to furnish the public with Literary Entertainment of a Refined and Varied Character, as well as to present in a graphic and striking manner the most recent information and soundest views on subjects of General Interest; in a word, to render LIPPINCOTT'S MAGAZINE strikingly distinctive in those features that are most attractive in Magazine Literature. The contributions now on hand, or specially engaged, embrace a highly attractive list of Tales, Short Stories, Descriptive Sketches, Narratives, Papers on Science and Art, Poems, Popular Essays, Literary Criticisms, etc., etc., by latest and well known writers. A large proportion of the articles, especially those descriptive of travel, will be profusely and beautifully illustrated. The pictorial embellishments of the Magazine constitute one of its most attractive features.

In addition to the general attractions of LIPPINCOTT'S MAGAZINE the Publishers would invite attention to the following

SPECIAL FEATURES FOR 1877.

1. A new serial story,

THE MARQUIS OF LOSSIE,"

by George Macdonald, author of "Malcolm," "Alec Forbes," "Robert Falconer," etc.

To the numerous readers who are familiar with "Malcolm," this new story from the pen of this distinguished writer will need no recommendation, and his reputation is a guarantee to others of a deeply interesting and powerful story. It began in the November number, which sold out rapidly, and the December part, will be furnished gratis to all new subscribers for 1877.

2. A profusely illustrated series of sketches of

SWEDISH SCENERY AND LIFE,

by Prof. Willard Fiske, of Cornell University, who is thoroughly familiar with Sweden and its People from personal observation.

3. A series of popular papers on

ART AND ART MATTERS,

by Edward Strahan (Earl Shinn), author of "The New Pompeii," etc.

4. Illustrated Sketches of Travel, entitled

PICTURES FROM SPAIN,

by Edward King, author of "The Great South," etc.

5. Mrs. Lucy H. Hooper's Interesting and Piquant

PAPERS AND LETTERS FROM PARIS,

will be continued through the year.

6.

THE BEAUTIES OF THE RHINE,

will be described in a richly illustrated series of papers.

7. During the year will appear a number of handsomely illustrated short articles, descriptive of Life, Travel and Adventure in the United States, England, South America, Japan, Mongolia, and other countries.

AMONG THE BEST PEOPLE.

I.—IT PUBLISHES ALL THE NEWS. The servant of no man, the slave of no party, it can afford to and does tell the whole truth about all.

II.—IT IS IMPARTIAL AND INDEPENDENT. Believing in intelligent suffrage, it aims to furnish voters the fullest facts to inform their judgments, and leave them for the wisest discharge of their responsibility.

III.—IT IS, AS IT ALWAYS WAS, ESSENTIALLY REPUBLICAN in its support of the Union, as it has done in the past, with errors of republican leaders or organizations in the republican party; but can never cease to be true to republican principles, as I especially to those golden doctrines of civil service reform, hard money, the sanctity of the National faith, and equal justice to all classes at the South, which formed the cornerstones of Gov. Hayes' admirable letter of acceptance.

IV.—ITS MORAL TONE IS PURE AND ELEVATED. The family circle is never profaned by anything which appears in the columns of THE TRIBUNE.

V.—THE CHOICEST STANDARD AND CURRENT LITERATURE of the day is reproduced in its columns, including Correspondence, Poems, Stories, and Reviews from the most talented and popular writers

VI.—IT IS THE BEST AND CHEAPEST FARMER'S PAPER PUBLISHED. "THE WEEKLY TRIBUNE has done more to make good farmers than any other influence which ever existed."

VII.—THE MARKET REPORTS of THE TRIBUNE are indispensable to every buyer and seller in the country. Quotations are given daily and weekly or almost every article bought and sold in the markets of the world, and with unvarying and almost infallible accuracy. In Cattle, Butter and Cheese, and other Markets are the recognized standard.

VIII.—MORE COPIES of THE TRIBUNE are paid for and read by the American people than of any other newspaper of equal price in the country—a fact which is the best demonstration of the value of the paper.

IX.—THE READERS of THE TRIBUNE represent largely the best enterprising and progressive minds of the country. Persons who are interested in pure politics, the advance of science, and the progress of opinion, will find their demands met by THE TRIBUNE.

X.—PUBLIC APPROVAL AND PROSPERITY have rewarded the independent and self-respectful course of THE TRIBUNE. It has a larger and strongcr corps of earnest workers among its friends than ever before, and constantly receives from old and new readers words of encouragement.

LITTELL'S LIVING AGE FOR 1877. The continued and increasing success of this periodical (now over thirty-three years old) is doubtless owing to the fact that it affords a comprehensive and cheap means of keeping well informed in the best literature of the day. With its weekly issue, and its three and a quarter thousand large pages of reading matter a year, it is enabled to present with freshness and satisfactory completeness able essays and reviews, choice serial and short stories, interesting sketches of travel and discovery, poetry, and valuable biographical, historical, scientific and political information from the entire body of foreign periodical literature.

In its pages are represented such eminent authors as Prof. Max Müller, Prof. Huxley, Rt. Hon. W. E. Gladstone, Dr. W. B. Carpenter, Prof. Huxley, Richard A. Proctor, Prof. Tyndall, Rt. Hon. The Duke of Argyll, Jas. A. Froude, Mrs. Muloch, Mrs. Oliphant, Mrs. Alexander, Miss Thackeray, Jean Ingelow, Geo. McDonald, Wm. Black, Matthew Arnold, Henry Kingsley, W. W. Story, Auerbach, Ruskin, Carlyle, Tennyson, Browning, and many other leading lights of science, fiction, history, biography, philosophy, poetry, theology, politics, criticism and art.

The subscription price ($8 a year), is cheap for the amount of reading furnished; while for those desiring the cream of both home and foreign literature, the publishers make a still cheaper offer, viz.: to send, postpaid, The Living Age and either one of the American $4 monthlies, or weeklies, a year for $10.50. With The Living Age and one or other of our leading American monthlies, a subscriber will at small cost, be put in possession of the whole situation.

An extra offer, also, is made to all new subscribers for 1877, viz.: to send them gratis the six numbers of 1876, containing, besides other valuable reading, the first installments of a new and unusually powerful serial story by George MacDonald, now appearing in The Living Age from advance sheets.

The Volume begins Jan. 1st, and we recommend be particular to the selection of our readers. We know of no other way in which so much of the best work of the best mind of the time can be obtained so cheaply and conveniently as through this standard weekly magazine. Published by Littell & Gay, Boston.

"A Complete Pictorial History of the Times."—"The best, cheapest, and most successful Family Paper in the Union."

Harper's Weekly.

ILLUSTRATED.

Notices of the Press.

Harper's Weekly should be in every family throughout the land, as a purer, more interesting, higher-toned, better-illustrated paper is not published in this or any other country.—Commercial Bulletin, Boston.

The Weekly is the only illustrated paper of the day that in its essential characteristics is recognized as a national paper.—Brooklyn Eagle.

The leading articles in Harper's Weekly on political topics are models of high-toned discussion, and its pictorial illustrations are often corroborative argument of no small force.—Examiner and Chronicle, N. Y.

The Weekly has to a still larger degree distanced all competitors as an illustrated newspaper. Its editorials are among the most able of their kind, and its other reading matter is at once learned, brilliant, and amusing. Its illustrations are abundant and of rare excellence.—Christian Advocate, N. Y.

CHILDREN TEETHING

MRS. WINSLOW'S

SOOTHING SYRUP!

For Children Teething,

greatly facilitates the process of teething, by softening the gums, reducing all inflammation—will allay ALL PAIN and spasmodic action, and is

Sure to Regulate the Bowels.

Depend upon it, mothers, it will give rest to yourselves, and

Relief and Health to Your Infants.

We have put up and sold this article for years, and CAN SAY IN CONFIDENCE AND TRUTH of it, what we have never been able to say of any other medicine—NEVER HAS IT FAILED, IN A SINGLE INSTANCE, TO EFFECT A CURE, when timely used. Never did we know an instance of dissatisfaction by any one who used it. On the contrary, all are delighted with its operations, and speak in terms of highest commendation of its magical effects and medical virtues. We speak the truth, and neither "WHAT WE DO KNOW," after years of experience, AND PLEDGE OUR REPUTATION FOR THE FULFILMENT OF WHAT WE HERE DECLARE. In almost every instance where the infant is suffering from pain and wakefulness, and will be known by its sleep or twenty minutes after the syrup is administered.

This valuable preparation has been used with NEVER FAILING SUCCESS in

Thousands of Cases.

It not only relieves the child from pain, but invigorates the system, and makes it healthy and vigorous; gives tone and energy to the whole system. It will almost instantly relieve

Griping in the Bowels and Wind Colic.

We believe it the BEST AND SUREST REMEDY IN THE WORLD, in all cases of DYSENTERY AND DIARRHŒA IN CHILDREN, whether it arises from teething or from any other cause. We would say to every mother who has a child suffering from any of the foregoing complaints—do not let your prejudices, nor the prejudices of others, stand between your suffering child and the relief that will be SURE—yes, ABSOLUTELY SURE—to follow the use of this medicine, if timely used. Full directions for using will accompany each bottle.

THE SUN.

1877 NEW YORK. 1877

The different editions of THE SUN during the next year will be the same as during the year that has just passed. The daily edition will still be issued in a sheet of four pages, and on Sundays a sheet of eight pages, or 56 broad columns; while the weekly edition will be a sheet of eight pages of the same dimensions and character that are already familiar to our friends.

THE SUN will continue to be the strenuous advocate of reform and retrenchment, and of the substitution of statesmanship, wisdom, and integrity for hollow pretence, imbecility, and fraud in the administration of public affairs. It will contend for the government of the people by the people and for the people, as opposed to government by frauds in the ballot-box and in the counting of votes, enforced by military violence. It will endeavor to supply its readers, as body now not far from one million of souls—with the most careful, complete, and trustworthy accounts of current events, and will employ for this purpose a numerous and carefully selected staff of reporters and correspondents. Its reports from Washington, especially, will be full, accurate and fearless; and it will doubtless continue to deserve and enjoy the hatred of those who drive by plundering the Treasury or by usurping what the law does not give them, while it will endeavor to merit the confidence of the public by defending the rights of the humble against the encroachments of unjustified power.

The price of the daily SUN will be 55 cents a month or $6.50 a year, post paid, or with the Sunday edition $7.70 a year.

The SUNDAY edition alone, eight pages, $1.20 a year, post paid.

The WEEKLY SUN, eight pages of 56 broad columns, will be furnished during 1877 at one dollar a year, post paid.

The benefit of this large reduction from the previous rate for the WEEKLY can be enjoyed by individual subscribers without the necessity of making up clubs. To the subscribers from one place who may choose to aid in extending our circulation, we shall be grateful to them, and every such person who sends us ten or more subscribers from one place will be entitled to one copy of the paper for himself without charge, at the rate of one dollar a year, post paid, the expenses of paper and printing are barely repaid; and, considering the size of the sheet and the quality of its contents, we are confident the people will consider THE WEEKLY SUN the cheapest newspaper published in the world, and we trust also one of the very best. COMBINED PAPERS—FORTY-SEVENTH YEAR!

THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN.

THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN is published weekly on the following terms, viz: ONE COPY, one year, $2.00; FOUR COPIES, $10, and an additional copy for the year free to the sender of the Club; TEN COPIES, $20, and an additional copy for the year free to the sender of the Club.

THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN possesses an unequaled Corps of Correspondents, Regular and occasional, among the Best Farmers of All Parts of the Country, and constantly reflects the practical condition and progress of the husbandry of every section of the United States and civilized world.

THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN gives in its Horticultural Department a continuous variety of information and suggestions, equal or superior in the aggregate to what is obtained in the monthly numbers of most magazines devoted to Horticulture.

THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN has probably done as much as all other Journals combined, to introduce and disseminate improved Stock of every kind through the country; and commands to a greater degree than any contemporary, the confidence and support of breeders and purchasers.

THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN contains unusually full and trustworthy Market Reports, and devotes special attention to them and to the Prospects of the Crops, as throwing light upon one of the most important of all questions.—When to Buy and When to Sell.

THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN embraces numerous minor departments of a practical character, such as the Dairy, the Poultry Yard, the Apiary, the Vineyard, and so on, and weekly presents a column or two for the Housewife, and an interesting variety of Fireside Reading. It contains a well-edited review of the Livestock Markets, and its advertising pages furnish a directory of all the principal agricultural and horticultural establishments of the country.

Portsmouth Chronicle.

—There is a man living at Craddox, Ky., who is six feet and eleven and a half inches high.

—A gentleman had occasion to correct his daughter, aged four, recently. After it was over and she had sat a while, she went to her mother and inquired, "Don't you think it would do papa good to go out doors?"

—The Manchester, Eng., butchers are buying up patriarchal old bulls and matronly cows, which they kill and exhibit as real American beef, not frozen, retailing the tough carcasses at a low price. The customers, disgusted at the experiment of trying to eat the stringy meat, return and demand their "Hold Hinglish roast beef," when the butchers supply them, at the old price, from an American carcass.

—The charges of ungentlemanly conduct and unfairness made against the American crews at the Centennial regatta, last summer, by the London Rowing Club and correspondents of London papers, have been pronounced groundless by Mr. Charles Barrington, of the Irish crew and son of Sir Croker Barrington, who says he saw the race from the best position, and that the Englishmen were beaten on their merits.

—A bank book was presented at the Springfield Institute for Savings one day last week, which had not been seen by the bank officials since the original deposit was made thirty-two years ago. The amount of the deposit was $300, while the interest alone has mounted to $1649. During all this time the owner of the book had never entered the bank or asked a question as to her property, which she now comes to claim.

—Hague's Dramatic Journal supplies the following proverbs: "What cannot be cured—must be eaten fresh. A bird in hand—will fly away unless held tight. Little pitchers—don't hold much. There's many a slip—on a skating rink. Judge not a man by the coat—that he steals. Boys will be boys—they can't be girls. It's an ill wind that—blows your hat off. You can't make a silk purse out of—unbleached calico.

—A Western lawyer, who was defending a young man in an action for damages for having kissed a girl without her permission, "rose to the occasion," and exclaimed: "Gentlemen of the jury, look at the fair plaintiff, and see if she's a bit damaged. No, sir. She's as pooty as an angel at this very minute. Besides, gentlemen, my client could kiss a dozen gals without damagin' any of 'em a bit, and he's willin' to be put to the test at any time—yes, now, if the court please." The jury let him off light.

—There was a grand ball at Indian Rock, D. T., a fortnight ago. Among the lovely girls who danced were Miss Three Bears, dressed in a beautiful new calico worth 12 1-2 cents a yard and trimmed with blue beads; Miss Bellyfat, the Uncapapa chief's daughter, arrayed in buckskin embroided with beads, and in leggins of scarlet cloth; and Miss Antelope, Running Antelope's ruddy daughter, dressed in a beautiful blanket and black cloth leggins, wit hair closely oiled to her head.

—A Nebraska paper notices a man whose wife whose comb ned weight turned the scales at 830 pounds. He weighed 480 and the lady 350 pounds. Ten children have been born unto them, seven of whom are now living. With pride does the old gentleman turn to his offspring, and especially to a nineteen-year-old son, who weighs 200 pounds, is as strong as an ox and as good natured as his father. A six-year-old girl weighs over 100, and the remainder holds out in the same proportion.

—Not long ago, several boys were standing around a bonfire in Manchester, England, when suddenly a sharp sound was heard like a clapping of hands, and one of the boys, a lad about fifteen years old, dropped dead. On examination the surgeon found that a bullet had entered the boy's head exactly at the top, penetrated the skull and brain three inches downward, and then smashed the bones at the nose. Although the bullet had been battered to an almost shapeless mass, the goverument mark upon it was clearly discernable. The ball had been fired from a Snider rifle, and as the police frequently complained that volunteers discharged their pieces into the air, there was no doubt death had been caused through such culpable carelessness and ignorance. The momentum of a bullet falling half a mile is about equal to its velocity when fired from the muzzle of a gun.

—A department clerk in Washington with $1500 a year lives in three rooms on the fourth floor of a tenement house, with his wife, two children, and—a mother-in-law. The front room serves for a parlor and dining-room; they have a gas stove for cooking in the little room, and the mother-in-law has a turn-up bedstead there. In the back room the rest of the family sleep. Their servant comes in the morning and goes home at nightfall; and they have six table boarders! Dishes too elaborate for the gas stove are ordered from a restaurant; and no lady enters the Epiphany on Sunday who wears more elegant dry goods than the enterprising feminine who engineers that menage. The crowding and confusion of the week are as naught when she devoutly bows her beplumed head and murmurs the Litany, conscious all the while that in so doing she can scan the dresses in the pew before her, and decide how to make over last year's costume.

Counting the Votes.

The arguments of counsel in the Louisiana case closed at 4:30 P. M. on Thursday, and the Commission then held a session with closed doors, adjourning at 5:30 to 10 o'clock Friday forenoon, after adopting an order that a vote should be taken on the admissibility of the evidence proffered at four o'clock Friday, afternoon. The Secretary was ordered to notify counsel that the decision of the Commission would be communicated to them at 4:15 o'clock. It is understood there was no discussion upon the question before the Commission beyond the preliminary arrangements.

A despatch over the Western Union Line, dated Washington, 5:30 P. M., Friday, says: "The Commision, by a vote of eight to seven, decided not to admit evidence."

The New Orleans Sensation.

The attempted assassination of Governor Packard of Louisiana occasioned much excitement in Washington. Despatches from New Orleans say the assailant, who gives the name (probably the true one) of Wm. H. Welden, gained admittance to Packard's office by claiming to be a correspondent of the Philadelphia Press,—with which paper, however, he has no connection. He suddenly drew a pistol and aimed it at Packard's head, but the latter struck down his hand and the bullet but slightly grazed his knee. Welden was instantly shot by a bystander, but was not dangerously wounded. He is probably insane. Some of the republicans considered the assault a democratic attempt to get rid of Packard; and some of the democrats asserted it to have been only a put-up-job by the republicans. The two parties evidently have no high opinion of each other.

News and Notes.

The New York Sun's charge against Gen. Babcock, turns out to have arisen from a blunder of the clerk of Holman's committee, who fancied he had discovered a defalcation of $600,000, more or less, and at once notified the Sun. Babcock's accounts are proved to be correct within less than eleven dollars.

Prominent merchants and business men in Montreal and New York, several United States inspectors, the railroad baggage-master and telegraph operator at Montreal, and others, have been detected in wholesale smuggling of goods from Canada into the United States. Many arrests have been made, among them one McClanahan of Montreal, who is worth $500,000.

A large barn, on South street, Biddeford, owned by Postmaster Hamilton, with forty tons of hay, farming tools, etc., was burned to the ground Wednesday evening. Insured for $1000.

Thirty-five thousand valentines went through the New York post-office on the 14th, the largest number that ever passed through that office; at Boston the number was 10,000, a falling off from former years.

Schooner Grecian Bend has been abandoned at sea; crew saved. Schooner M. M. Knowles, 382 tons, from Boston for Turk's island, is five months out and missing; supposed lost, with all hands. Fishing schooner Mary Burnham, of Gloucester, sailed Dec. 28th, has not been heard of since, and is supposed lost, with her crew of eleven men.

The store of William Stens & Co., lace dealers, in New York, was robbed of from $25,000 to $40,000 worth of laces on Wednesday night.

Chicago had one of the coolest robberies ever known there, a few days ago. Two men, under plea of examining the gas-meter, entered the front door of the house of A. S. Seeley, a rich citizen, while three others gained admittance at the kitchen. Old Mrs. Seeley, the servant-girl and a boy were seized and threatened with knives if they made a noise, while the robbers took out a small safe, and, though people were constantly passing within eight feet, broke it open with sledges and cold chisels, securing $600 in money and over $200,000 in notes, deeds and bonds. They then ransacked the house, stole $75 in jewelry, fastened the inmates into a closet, broke the burglar alarm, and quietly escaped.

New York is not to be afflicted with Mardi Gras mummeries, the police authorities forbidding the street show as against the law.

Zachariah L. Barton, a carpenter, committed suicide in his shop in Boston, Thursday, by cutting his throat with a drawshave. He had previously made attempts on his life, at one time firing three pistol-shots at himself, at another time hanging himself, and at another time cutting his throat with a razor. Mental depression resulting from the death of his wife a year or more ago was the cause.

Reform a la Tilden.

"It is the people have done this. They want reform, and they know they can get it here" [pointing to himself].

That was the modest way in which Samuel J. Tilden "whispered to a few friends" on being informed that he had nominated himself as the democratic candidate for President,—that his wholesale advertising of his virtues through paid-for puffs in the newspapers, and the golden arguments taken to St. Louis by his chief striker, John Morrissey, had not been wasted. Mr. Tilden evidently considered himself the incarnation of true reform; and he was so anxious "the people" should have the article of reform they wanted, and of which he is sole patentee and manufacturer, that he was willing to expend a whole bar'l of money to secure it for them. Republican corruption in politics needed putting down, and the great reformer was willing to do it if it did take $3000 to buy a democratic elector, $5000 to buy a republican elector, and any needed amount to buy Gov. Grover and Senator Kelly. Of course neither Tilden, Pelton, "Patrick," Grover or Kelly expected their cipher telegrams would be deciphered; if they had they would have been more careful; but the fact that they have been found out in their bribery schemes does not in the least impugn the purity of their motives. "The people" wanted reform—that is, Sam. Tilden; and he tried to purchase it for them.

Political.

A democratic exchange insists that the Oregon Pelton-Patrick telegrams should not injure Mr. Tilden's good name. Well, they don't.

The Washington correspondent of the Boston Globe says: "The sensations of the town here are the complicity of Colonel Pelton, Tilden's private secretary, with the District real estate pool and the reported shortage in Babcock's accounts. The former cannot be doubted, and the democratic leaders are utterly disgusted with that and the Oregon cipher despatches, which are the worst yet published. Babcock had published to-day a statement to the effect that his accounts had been audited and found all right, and further developments are awaited."

Samuel J. Tilden is the first man who ever attempted to buy the Presidency of the United States.

The democrats would like to know if a private citizen has any rights a Congressional committee is bound to respect. Here is a Senate committee demanding the bank accounts of Hewitt, Tilden and Nephew Pelton during the campaign, that they may know where the bar'l o' money was sent. The bank account of the republican managers, ransacked by the democratic House committee, revealed nothing which the democrats could use to advantage; then what an outrage it is to overhaul the accounts of Pelton and Tilden, which will show where the bribe-money for Oregon came from. Let's have fair play.

It is easy enough to see now what prompted the democratic assertions (made when the Western Union Telegraph Company decided to give up all telegrams demanded) that Tilden's nephew and private secretary, Pelton, had sent "indiscreet" telegrams, during the campaign, and that Tilden was so angry "when he found it out" that he threatened to discharge him if he did so any more. They feared the cipher telegrams would be explained, and hoped to make Pelton a scapegoat for Tilden. But it is too thin.

The democracy consider the seizing of telegrams the meanest thing.

When President Tilden delivers his inaugursl message, it is understood he will denounce republican corruption to the extent of two columns, and urge a Constitutional amendment making bribery punishable with disqualification for holding office—not to be retroactive, however.

New Hampshire Items.

Dr. George A. Crosby, of Manchester, was married in San Francisco on Wednesday evening to Miss Mary J. Bryant, daughter of the Mayor of that city. The newly married couple intend visiting several important places of the South, spending from four to six weeks, after which they go to Manchester, which is to be their home.

James Draper's house in Enfield was burned Thursday.

The Station Master at Shelburne, Thomas J. Hubbard, fell dead at his house Wednesday evening.

On the 3d inst. Rev. Joseph C. Emerson, formerly pastor of the Methodist church in Fisherville, started from Fernandina Island, Fla., in a sail boat to attend a conference meeting at Jacksonville, a distance of forty miles. Nothing further has been heard from him. A few days since the boat and Mr. Emerson's personal baggage were picked up, and there seems to be no doubt that the missing man has been drowned. Mr. Emerson was widely known in this State, and his death will be much regretted.

Lawrence Fox, a Manchester barber, about twenty-six years old, somewhat under the influence of liquor, on Tuesday night, the 13th, stabbed Mary Ann Kelley, aged about twenty-two years, with a jack-knife in the left breast, the blade penetrating the lung. He has been paying attention to her for some time. The girl's mother says Mary refused to marry him, whereupon he stabbed her. The girl's statement is somewhat conflicting, but it is evidently a love affair. Fox is under arrest. The stabbing has been kept quiet awaiting the result of her injuries, her condition being considered critical.

Mrs. Charlotte Coney, aged forty-six years, was found frozen to death a mile from Nashua, Thursday afternoon. She left her house the previous evening under the influence of liquor, and wandered into the woods to the spot where she was found.

'Bout Ship.

Whatever the result of the great civil commission, sitting in Washington, to settle the Presidential controversy, it will forever remain the brightest page of "the Centennial year"—the general concession, we mean, of both political parties to a fair and legal settlement of the controversy.—New Haven Register, Jan. 30.

We know now what we did not dream could be the case—that the Commission is a partisan tribunal, deserving of no respect, and as such, we firmly believe, it will pass into history.—New Haven Register, Feb. 12.

Two of the most celebrated artists the world has ever known dwelt in the same city. One delighted in delineating beauty in all its graces of tint, form, and motion. His portraits were instinct with the charm of physical vigor. The graceful, half-voluptuous outline of form and feature harmonized with delicately blended tints. On his canvas, the homeliest faces had an almost irresistible charm. The other found pleasure only in depicting weird and gloomy subjects. Above all, did he excel in painting the portraits of the dying. The agonizing death-throe, the ghastly face and form, were all depicted with marvelous fidelity. There existed between these artists the most intense dislike. At length this dislike culminated. The beauty-loving artist had been engaged in painting the portrait of a beautiful woman. Connoisseurs pronounced it the most wonderful piece of art that had ever been produced. His brother artist was jealous of his fame and sought revenge. By bribing the keeper of the studio he gained access to the picture each night. At first he was content to only deaden the brilliancy of the complexion and eyes, efface the bloom from cheek and lip and paint a shadow on either cheek. Later, his strokes grew bolder and freer, and one morning the artist awoke to find the entire outline of the portrait changed. He could scarcely recognize in the emaciated form and haggard countenance the glowing conception he had embodied. The pallid face and expressionless eyes he had attributed to a lack of genuineness in his materials; but when the outlines were changed he suspected the cause and indignantly dismissed the keeper. What the revengeful artist marred by a few rapid strokes of his skillful brush was only restored by years of patient industry. Reader, need we name the artists,—Health, who paints the flowers and "grassy carpet" no less than the human form divine,—Disease, the dreaded artist who revels among the ruins both of nature and humanity,—and Carelessness, the keeper to whom Health often intrusts his portraits. And is it not the beauty of woman, the most admired of all the works which adorn the studio of Health, that Disease oftenest seeks to mar? The slightest stroke of his brush upon the delicate organization leaves an imprint that requires much skill and patience to efface. Restoration must be prompt. Carelessness must be dismissed. Let suffering women heed the warning are Disease has marred their chief beauty—Health—beyond reparation. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription has been used by thousands of these sufferers, and they are unanimous in their praise of its excellence. If you would be transformed from the pallid, nervous invalid into a happy, vigorous woman, try it.

Every one speaks well of it, and those who have been there once patronize the place ever afterwards. Is it necessary to add that we refer to the Colonnade Hotel on Chestnut Street, Philadelphia, Pa.?

Thousands of testimonials to the efficacy and remarkable cures of Adamson's Botanic Balsam can be produced from leading citizens of the New England States. It cures colds, coughs and all throat and lung troubles. Sold everywhere at 25 cents.

The Grand Central Hotel, New York, noted for its profuse and elaborate decorations and elegant table, now offers the same accommodations at a reduction from $4.00 to $2.50 and $3.00 per day.

Important to persons visiting New York or the Centennial. The Grand Union Hotel, New York, opposite the Grand Central Depot, has over 350 elegantly furnished rooms. Elevator, steam and all improvements. European plan. Carriage hire is saved, as baggage is taken to and from the depot free. Guests can live better for less money at the Grand Union than at any other first-class hotel. Stages and cars pass the Hotel constantly to all parts of the city, and to the Philadelphia depot.

JOTTINGS.

A despatch from Washington came over the Atlantic & Pacific wires Friday afternoon, announcing that "The Tribunal will take evidence," and the democracy grasped at it like a thirsty man at a straw when the other end is stuck in a mint julep. [This strikes us as being more expressive that the old simile of a drowning man catching at a straw.] Sounds as of jubilation were heard, the Times office roosters showed themselves on the outer wall, and the democratic headquarters was thrown open; but then came another despatch saying the Commission had voted not to take evidence, and straightway the wet blanket with which our democratic brethren have so long been covered again enveloped them. The Times office roosters were immediately cooped up once more.

Mr. Horatio W. Trefethen of Kittery has been appointed a branch pilot on the Piscataqua river.

There is a little war going on among the knights of the razor in this city. The regular price of a shave is fifteen cents; hair cutting and shampooing, twenty-five cents each. But one barber reduced the prices to ten cents for a shave and fifteen for hair cutting, and now another one announces shaving for six cents.

The Appledore House at the Shoals has been enlarged during the winter by the addition of two wings, giving thirty more rooms. It won't make any difference; the ever-popular Appledore will be over-crowded during the season, no matter how many additions the Laighton Brothers may make to it.

Dr. R. Miles Le Poer will speak again at the Reform Club meeting, Sunday evening, at Franklin Hall. Five cents will give you a good seat.

Travellers on the morning trains hence to Boston deplore the action of the managers of the Eastern Railroad who have farmed out the sale of newspapers on the cars to a man who has a monopoly of the transfer coach system in Boston. We were on the second train last week and not a paper was to be bought in the cars, the passengers at Newburyport and Salem getting out and purchasing of the local dealers. The managers cannot afford to let the patrons of the road be disappointed in this matter, as without their papers they will spend their time in berating the officials of the road for this neglect.—Journal.

We learn that George E. Hodgdon, Esq., is contemplating a removal from this city, to North Carolina, probably, in a short time, to take up his residence there for the future. We wish him the best of luck—if he did engineer the democratic gerrymander of Portsmouth through the Legislature, under the Weston administration.

Mr. Wilbur, of Hampton, and Mr. Frank Rand, of Greenland, have decided to build a box factory, saw and grist mill, near the Eastern Railroad station in Greenland. The proprietors are men of enterprise, fully capable of managing the business, and will give it their personal attention. Mr. Wilbur has had many years experience in the mill business, and there is little doubt the undertaking will be a success.

Mr. Matthew J. Lowd, of Greenland, while endeavoring to back a load of wood into a yard on Middle street in this city a few days ago, upset the load, on which he was riding, and was thrown to the ground, the wood falling upon and around him. Those who saw the accident thought he must be killed, but he got out with no further hurts than a few bruises and a slightly wrenched back.

James W. Blake, of Hampton, recently shot a bald-headed eagle measuring seven feet from tip to tip of its wings.

In his lecture last Sunday evening Rev. B. F. McDaniel stated that the Worcester Spy was the oldest newspaper of continuous publication in this country. This honor belongs to the NEW HAMPSHIRE GAZETTE, published at Portsmouth, which is the Spy's senior by fourteen years, having been established in 1756.—Exeter News-Letter.

A North Hampton correspondent of the Exeter News Letter says that at a recent levee in North Hampton "the singing by Miss Carrie Seavey of Portsmouth, a little girl only four years old, was something extraordinary."

Judge Nathan Clifford's boyish days were passed in the town of Greenland.

The band concert and dance of the Portsmouth Cornet Band, Thursday evening, was but moderately attended, there being little left over after paying expenses. The concert was a good one, the band showing very great improvement in playing.

In the Supreme Court at Exeter, Monday, case Mary A. Dow vs. Eastern railroad, to recover $650 for a horse killed, and a wagon and harness destroyed by reason of being struck by the Bangor Express train, while the team was standing on the track at Hampton Falls, after milk cans had been unloaded from it into a car standing on a side track, was decided. The defence was that the railroad was not liable, but the plaintiff was in fault in leaving the horse on the track after the cans were unloaded into the car, and thus contributed to the accident by the negligence on the part of her servant. The plaintiff claimed that the horse and wagon and harness were worth six hundred and fifty dollars. The jury gave a verdict for one half the amount claimed. Marston for plaintiff; W. H. Y. Hackett and William H. Hackett for deft.

A SURPRISE.

Not long since a letter was found by the ladies of the family of one of our well known citizens, thrust under the front door of the fine new house into which they had recently moved. The letter was not signed with any name, but simply gave notice to the ladies that the friends of the head of the house proposed on a certain evening to "give him a surprise," and the writer thus generously gave the ladies warning, that they might be found with their lamps trimmed and burning. The note said the invaders would "bring their own music," so it was assumed that dancing was on the programme of the evening's entertainment.

The thoughtful warning was heeded, and when the eventful evening arrived it found the house brilliantly lighted up, the larder over-stocked with choice confections and rare game, meats, ices and other eatables, the costly carpets covered with canvas for the merry dancers to prance about on, and all other preparations made for a royal good time,—for the "beneficiary" of the evening is not one to do anything of that kind at the halves.

All was ready. Then they waited. Not a blessed soul came—which is probably where the "surprise" came in. But it was a mean joke to perpetrate, anyway, whoever did it.

MONEY AND EDUCATION.

When Mr. Frink took the chair at the democratic State convention he made a speech, in which he said: "Wealth alone has never been able to purchase a [democratic] nomination. Education alone has not been the passport to our party favors." Then the convention nominated Mr. Marcy for Governor—proving one of Mr. Frink's statements true, at any rate.

Now the Exeter News-Letter asks conundrums about Hon. Frank Jones' nomination, as follows: "If Jones was not nominated for his money, then what on earth was it done for? He has sat in Congress two years, a failure so conspicuous and so self-conscious that he talked of resigning during the first session. There is not a man of his constituency who can point to a single act of his as a representative that can be called creditable to either himself or the district. * * Jones was nominated two years ago with the clearly implied understanding that he was to put $50,000 into the canvass; * * he expended much more than this, so zealous was he in behalf of his own election, and * * the use of his position as a director of the Eastern Railroad has added largely to the financial embarrassment of that concern. These are not things to be guessed at. They stand out conspicuously, forming one of the most disgraceful chapters in the political history of the State. And now he comes forward again, presenting not a single claim of service rendered in behalf of a re-election, but presuming that there is enough cheap purchasable material in the district to elect him again. We wonder if there is."

But the democratic nomination for State Senator from this district gives the best illustration of which exerts most influence in securing a democratic nomination—money or education. The prominent candidates before the convention were Mr. Marcellus Eldredge, of this city. G. Harrison Jenness, Esq., of Rye, and Col. Jerome C. Butler, the candidate of last year. What especial fitness Mr. Eldredge has for the position to which he aspires, beyond being a man of large means, we do not know; he has never been a leader in public affairs; but Mr. Jenness is a man of education and extensive information, an able speaker and well known newspaper correspondent, an earnest and efficient worker in the cause of education, and has filled various positions of public trust with honor to himself and his constituents. But though possessed of a comfortable property, honestly earned by hard work, Mr. Jenness is not wealthy, so Mr. Eldredge secured the "prize" of a democratic nomination,—and we are glad of it, in a party view, for we are confident Mr. Jenness would have received quite a number of votes, on the score of his eminent fitness for public life, which Mr. Eldredge will not receive.

Certainly, Mr. Frink spoke truth when he said "Education alone has not been the passport to our party favors."

—When Herbert Spencer's friends dine with him they always sit down to a dinner of Herb's.

—Another humiliation for poor Tweed! A water-proof-oil company has taken for its trade-mark the portly figure of the old man, standing in a heavy rain storm, with a shabby umbrella over his head, but with his huge diamond still gleaming in his shirt front. How people do like to kick a man when he is down!

—McCullough was once playing the part of the "Prince of Morocco" in the Merchant of Venice, at the old Metropolitan Theatre, when the boys put up a job on him. You know they put three caskets on a table, one of which the Prince opens. Some wag got the caskets from the property man and fixed a jack-in-the-box inside, so that when the lid was opened the jack would fly up. John walked up, bent over the box and turned the key, when up flew one of those elongated jacks with a red wooden head, and hit John on the nose. You never saw such an astonished man since Balaam's ass attempted to draw his master into a conversational debate, and, of course, the whole effect of the scene was lost amid the roar of the audience. As soon as McCullough got behind the scenes he suspected poor Jack Billings, who had no hand in the trick, and blackened an eye for him.

—Horace Maynard of Tennessee, Minister to Turkey, was once amusingly served by a counterfeiter, whom he defended and by a great effort managed to get acquitted. His client gave him a handsome fee and immediately left the town, and poor Maynard presently found that he had been paid in counterfeit money. If every lawyer who defends a scamp could be paid in his client's own rascality, this world would be better in a hurry.

—Unless a large sum of money is raised inside of a month the Yale University crew will be disbanded, as the navy is in a precarious financial condition.

COUGH & LUNG SYRUP.

—o—

A Safe and Sure Remedy.

—o—

The Cough and Lung Syrup

Is the remedy that during the past fifteen years has won for DR. FLAGG an extended reputation as a SPECIALIST for THROAT and LUNG Diseases. After so many years trial it can be truthfully said that it has NEVER FAILED, even in the WORST CASES. It is purely Vegetable, and its effect upon the system is at once Soothing and Tonic.

It Will Cure a Common Cold

In a few hours, not by drying it up, but by removing it from the system. TRY IT.

It will CURE a Chronic Cough, by soothing the irritated parts, and strengthening the system.

IT WILL CURE CONSUMPTION.

Even after all other remedies have failed. In the earlier stages of this disease it will effect a speedy and certain cure; and in many cases of advanced Consumption its effect has been almost miraculous, restoring to full strength and perfect health those whom physicians had given up as incurable. TRY IT.

IT WILL CURE CATARRH

More effectual by than any other remedy, by simply removing the cause. TRY IT.

It will Cure Bronchitis, by allaying all irritation of the Throat. TRY IT.

It will Cure Asthma, affording immediate relief and a perfect cure. TRY IT.

It Will Cure Ulcerated Sore Throat.

TRY IT.

IT WILL CURE Loss of Voice, Night Sweats, Hectic Fever, AND ALL Symptoms of Consumption. TRY IT.

For every affection of the Throat and Lungs it only needs a trial to convince the most skeptical of its wonderful curative properties.

Remember that it

CURES COLDS, CURES COUGHS,

CURES CATARRH, CURES CONSUMPTION.

DR. WM. M. LADD, a leading Druggist of Claremont, writes as follows:

For many years I have known Dr. A. J. Flagg as a successful practising physician, and can assure the public that his representations relative to the Cough and Lung Syrup can be strictly relied upon. It has been used in his extensive practice with marvellous success, and I know it to be all that he claims for it.

WM. M. LADD, M. D.

CLAREMONT, N. H., September, 1875.

DR. FLAGG: My FATHER'S Cough and Lung Syrup has proved a great benefit to me, giving relief from severe Coughs and soreness of the Lungs, when all other remedies and physicians had failed. I have never taken a medicine more pleasant to the taste or more satisfactory in its results.

THE OLDEST ESTABLISHED HOSPITAL

— IN THE —

UNITED STATES.

No. 9 Beaver Street, - - - Albany, N. Y

SURE CURES AND LOW PRICES.

Dr. YOUNG,

SUCCESSOR TO

Dr. TELLER,

DECEASED.

The above named private Hospital was established in Albany in 1835 by Dr. Lispenard and for a number of years the cures were presided over by that gentleman, but for the past 20 years, Dr. Teller, who is now deceased, transacted the business of the Institution.

Owing to the great demand for more spacious apartments on account of the large increase of business, the Hospital has been removed to No. 9 Beaver Street, two doors above its old location, where patients will find magnificently furnished rooms for their reception, and are so arranged that patients do not come in contact with one another, seeing only the doctor, thereby avoiding the unpleasantness of meeting others, which always occurred at the old office.

LADIES will find rooms provided for their especial accommodation and entirely private.

YOUNG MEN, addicted to secret habits, who have impaired their health and destroyed the vigor of their minds, thus depriving themselves of the pleasures of married life and also those afflicted with private diseases of any nature, are advised that in consulting Dr. Young they will find a physician fully qualified to cure and restore them to full health and manly vigor.

Dr. Teller's great work for the married, or those contemplating marriage—100 pages—full of plates,—price 25 cents. Sent to all parts, under seal, by mail post paid.

TO THE LADIES—DR. YOUNG still retains the only agency in America for the sale of Dr. Vichot's Italian Female Monthly Pills. Sent by mail on receipt of $1.00, price per box.

Dr. YOUNG is the only agent for Dr. La Mott's celebrated Galvanic Belts.

Invalids out of the city can be cured by consulting he Doctor by letter, and enclosing remittance. Medicines sent by mail or express, securely packed from observation. All letters must be addressed to

Centaur Liniments.

The lame can be healed and the wounded made whole. We now know just what the Centaur Liniment will do. They will not mend broken bones or cure Cancer, but they will extract soreness, allay pain, cure Rheumatism and a larger range of flesh, bone and muscle ailments than any article ever before discovered.

Scientific skill cannot go beyond the effects of these remarkable preparations. Chronic Rheumatism of many years' standing, Neuralgia, Weak-Back, Fever Sores, Weeping-Sinews, Sciatica, Caked Breasts, Distorted Joints and Sprained Limbs of the worst kind are cured by the White Centaur Liniment.

It will destroy the pain and heal without a scar, all ordinary Burns and Scalds. It will extract the poison of Bites and Stings, and the frost from Frozen Limbs. It is very efficacious for Ear-ache, Tooth-ache, Itch and Cutaneous Eruptions.

Mr. Josiah Westake, of Marysville, O., writes:

"For years my Rheumatism has been so bad that I have been unable to stir from the house. The first three bottles of Centaur Liniment enabled me to walk without my crutches. I am mending rapidly. I think your Liniment simply a marvel.

C. H. Bennett, Druggist, Rock Prairie, Mo., says:

"Centaur Liniment sells better and gives the best satisfaction of anything in the market."

What the Centaur Liniment has done for others it will do for you. It is handy, it is reliable, and it is cheap.

The Yellow Centaur Liniment

is worth its weight in gold to owners of horses and mules.

This Liniment has cured many Sprained, Sweeney, Ring-bone and Galled Horses in three years than have all the Farriers in the country in an age. Its effects are simply wonderful.

We have thousands upon thousands of certificates as strong as the following:

"My horse was lame for a year with a follock wrench. All remedies utterly failed to cure and I considered him worthless until I commenced to use Centaur Liniment, which rapidly cured him. It beartily recommend it.

REV. GEO. W. FERRIS,
Manorville, Schoharie Co., N. Y."

DEAR SIRS,—I have used your Centaur Liniment in my family, and find it to be of great value. I cause send me two dollar's worth, one for the mules and horses. RILEY SICKLES.

FALLS STATION, WYOMING CO., PA.

It makes very little difference what the case is, whether it be Wrench, Sprains, Bell-Evil, Ringbone, Scratches or Lame ness of any kind, the effects are the same. Liverymen, Stage proprietors, Farmers, &c., should never be without the Yellow Centaur Liniment. It is sold everywhere, and warranted in its effects.

Castoria.

It is a mistake to suppose that Castoria is not adapted to grown persons as well as Children. They only need to increase the quantity. But children have so many complaints for which Castoria is adapted—like Wind Colic, Sour Stomach, Worms, Fever, Teething and Croup, that it is especially recommended for them.

Its effects are more certain than Castor Oil. It contains no alcohol and is as pleasant to take as honey. It never gripes. By regulating the stomach and bowels the Castoria cools the blood, expels worms and prevents feverishness, quiets the nerves and produces health—then of course children can sleep in quiet and mothers can rest.

Castoria is recommended by all physicians and nurses who have tried it, and it is having a rapidly increasing sale. It is prepared with great care after the recipe of Dr. Samuel Pitcher, of Mass., at the Laboratory of J. B. Rose & Co., 46 Dey St., N. Y.

Daily Chronicle.

—Parson Brownlow quietly remarks that "it was a solemn and affecting sight to see two men who 'swore off' together on New Year's day, suddenly meet at the same bar, early on the morning of January 3d.

—A citizen of Eureka having occasion to go home rather unexpectedly a night or two since caught a gentleman acquaintance in the act of kissing his wife. On relating the circumstance to a friend he was asked if he punished the guilty couple, and replied: "No, not exactly; but they must have seen from the way I slammed the door that I was not satisfied."

—Robinson is his name. He is a Boston lawyer, uncommonly pious and extremely High Church. He thinks it needful to sow seed by all waters, and so has his note paper branded with Scripture texts. The other day he had occasion to write for a favor from the court to Chief-Justice Gray, and he unluckily used a sheet of paper which was headed, "Ye were all bought with a price." Some slanderous wag has been telling that the application wasn't granted.

—New York is giving big "charity balls" for the poor; and it must be quite a treat to a starving man or woman to read that Mrs. So-and-so wore white silk, court train, trimmed with knife-pleated ruffles; and that Mrs. Lotty's diamonds were valued at $10,000. Such gorgeous descriptions are calculated to appease a man's hunger and cheer him up. But, after all, the best charity ball for a hungry man is a codfish ball.—Norristown Herald.

ST. NICHOLAS.

"The King of all publications issued for the young on either side of the Atlantic."—Southampton (England) Observer.

The third volume of this incomparable Magazine is now completed. With its eight hundred royal octavo pages, and its six hundred illustrations, its splendid serials, its shorter stories, poems, and sketches, etc., etc., in its beautiful binding of red and gold, it is the most splendid gift-book for boys and girls ever issued from the press. Price, $4; in full gilt, $5.

"ST. NICHOLAS is full of the choicest things. The publication is, in all respects, the best of its kind. We have never yet seen a number that was not surprisingly good."—The Churchman, Hartford, Conn.

ST. NICHOLAS FOR 1877,

Which opens with November, 1876, begins a short and very entertaining serial from the French, "The Kingdom of the Greedy," a Story adapted to the Thanksgiving season. Another serial, of absorbing interest to boys,

"HIS OWN MASTER,"

By J. T. Trowbridge,

Author of the "Jack Hazard Stories," begins in the Christmas Holiday Number.

Besides serial stories, Christmas stories, lively sketches, poems and pictures for the holidays, and some astonishing illustrations of Oriental sports, with drawings by Siamese artists, The Christmas Holiday Number of ST. NICHOLAS, superbly illustrated, contains a very interesting paper,

"THE BOYS OF MY BOYHOOD,"

By William Cullen Bryant;

"The Horse Hotel," a lively article, by Charles A. Barnard, splendidly illustrated; "The Clock in the Sky," by Richard A. Proctor; "A Chapter of Accidents in the Homes or Sunday-school," by Dr. Eggleston; "The Fourteen Christmas Tree," by Lucretia P. Hale; "Poetry and Carols of Winter," by Lucy Larcom, with pictures.

Do Not Fail to Buy St. Nicholas for the Christmas Holidays. Price 25 cents.

During the year there will be interesting papers by Mrs. William Cullen Bryant, Rebecca Harding Davis, Thomas Hughes, William Howitt, Dr. Holland, George MacDonald, Sanford B. Hunt, Frank R. Stockton, and others.

There will be stories, sketches, and poems, of special interest to girls, by Harriet Prescott Spofford, Sarah Coolidge, Sarah Winter Kellogg, Elizabeth Stuart Phelps, Louisa Alcott, Lucretia P. Hale, Celia Thaxter, Mary Mapes Dodge, and many others. There will be also

"TWELVE SKY PICTURES,"

By Prof. Proctor, the Astronomer,

with maps, showing "The Stars of Each Month," which will be likely to surpass in interest any series on popular science recently given to the public.

Amusement and Instruction, with Fun and Frolic, and Wit and Wisdom, will be mingled as heretofore, and ST. NICHOLAS will continue to delight the young and give pleasure to the old.

The London Literary World says: "There is no magazine for the young that can be said to equal this choice production of SCRIBNER'S press. All the articles, whether in prose or rhyme, are throbbing with vitality. * * * The literature and artistic illustrations are both superb."

The London Daily News says: "We wish we could point out its equal in our own periodical literature."

GOOD NEWS FOR BOYS AND GIRLS;

To meet the demand for a cheaper ST. NICHOLAS Gift-Book, the price of vols. I and II has been reduced to $3 each. The three volumes, in an elegant library case, are sold for $10 (in full gilt, $12), so that all may give their children a complete set. These volumes contain more attractive material than fifty holiday books of the ordinary size, costing twice as much.

Subscription price, $4 a year. The three bound volumes and a subscription for this year, only $12. Subscribe with the nearest newsdealer, or send money in check, or P. O. money order, or in registered letter, to

SCRIBNER & CO., 743 Broadway, N. Y.

SCRIBNER'S MONTHLY.

An Unrivaled Illustrated Magazine.

The prospectus for the new volume gives the titles of more than fifty papers (mostly illustrated), by writers of the highest merit. Under the head of

"FOREIGN TRAVEL,"

we have "A Winter on the Nile," by Gen. McClellan; "Sauntenings in Most Constantinople," by Charles Dudley Warner; "Out of My Window at Moscow," by Eugene Schuyler; "An American in Turkistan," etc. Three serial stories are announced:

by Dr. Holland, the Editor, whose story of "Seven-oaks" gave the highest satisfaction to the readers of the Monthly.

The scene of this latest novel is laid on the banks of the Hudson. The hero is a young man who has been always "tied to a woman's apron strings," but who, by the death of his mother, is left alone in the world,—to drift on the current of life,—with a fortune, but without a purpose.

Another serial, "His Inheritance," by Miss Trafton, will begin on the completion of "That Lass o' Lowrie," by Mrs. Frances Hodgson Burnett. Mrs. Burnett's story, begun in August, has a pathos and dramatic power which have been a surprise to the public.

There is to be a series of original illustrated papers of "Popular Science," by Mrs. Herrick, each paper complete in itself.

There are to be, from various pens, papers on

"HOME LIFE AND TRAVEL,"

too, practical suggestions as to town and country life, village improvements, etc., by well-known specialists.

Mr. Burnard's articles on various industries of great Britain include the history of "Some Experiments in Co-operation," "A Scottish Leaf Factory," in the November number, and "Coal Land, Roothole." In December, Other papers are, "The British Workingman's Home," "A Nation of Shopkeepers," "Hymns in Money's Worth for the Child," etc.

A richly illustrated series will be given on "American Sports by Flood and Field," by various writers, and each on a different theme. The subject of will have a prominent place, whilst the latest productions of American humorists will appear from month to month. The list of shorter stories, biographical and other sketches, etc., is a long one.

"HOUSEHOLD AND HOME DECORATION"

The editorial department will continue to employ the ablest pens both at home and abroad. There will be a series of letters on literary matters, from London, by Mr. Wolfgrl.

We aim to make the SCRIBNER magazine sweeter and purer, higher and nobler, more genial and generous in all its utterances and influences, and a more welcome visitor than ever before in homes of refinement and culture.

FIFTEEN MONTHS FOR $4.00.

SCRIBNER for December, now ready, contains the opening chapters of "Nicholas Minturn." The three numbers of SCRIBNER for August, September, and October, containing the opening chapters of "That Lass o' Lowrie," will be given to every new subscriber (who requests it), and whose subscription begins with the present volume, i.e., with the November number.

Subscription price, $4 a year—25 cents a number. Special terms are bound volumes. Subscribe with the nearest bookseller, or send a check or P. O. money order to

DR. QUAIN'S MAGIC CONDITION PILLS!

The Wonderful Remedy for Liver Complaint, Biliousness, Dyspepsia, Constipation, Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Headache, Kidney Complaint, Nervousness, Scrofula, Piles, and all diseases arising from a bad state of the Blood!

No medicine ever offered to the public has given such universal satisfaction as Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. Their praises are on every tongue where their merits are known. They strike at once at the seat of disease and show their healing power almost immediately. Thousands of voluntary testimonials of their merits have been received by the agent, from those who have been cured by them, of which the following are samples:

Dyspepsia Four Years, Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels Three Years, Confined to my Room Two Years, Pain so I Could Not Sleep Without Morphine. One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills Made Me Eat Well, Sleep Well and Free from Pain, after being given up by Physicians.

WEST LEBANON, ME., Feb. 22, 1

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I have been sick for four years with Dyspepsia, and for the past three years Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels. I have suffered all the pain I could endure and live. I have been confined to my room for two years, and could not sleep nights without the use of morphine. I have been given up by physicians as past cure. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, and they have done me more good than all the doctors I have had. I sleep well, I eat well and have no pain. They are all they are recommended to be. Please send me three packages, as two of my neighbors wish to try them. I enclose $1.50.

Your truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Another Letter from Maj. John W. Lord, one month later Wonderful Cures by Dr. Quain's Pills Effected on Him in Thirteen Days. First time Free from Pain for Three Years.

WEST LEBANON, ME., March 23, 1875.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I commenced taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS February 9th, and wrote you February 22d of their wonderful effect. I have continued to improve ever since. My appetite is good, and I sleep as well as I ever did in my life. I am free from pain for the first time in three years. When I was taken sick four years ago I weighed one hundred and eighty-six pounds; I now weigh one hundred and one pounds, but I gain in flesh and strength, I have faith I shall regain my flesh this summer, by the use of the Pills. I shal continue taking them for some time to come.

Yours truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Dr. Quain's Pills the Remedy for Soldiers' Aches and Pains.

WEST LEBANON, ME., June 1, 1875.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I am now able to walk out every day, and am gaining in strength very fast, all of which is due to you as agent for the best Pills in the world. I have taken no other medicine, and my improvement has been steady since first taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done everything for me, and I will say to you, advertise them, direct to the soldiers, for they will certainly cure them of aches and pains caused from exposure and hardship on the field. Please send me by return mail another package.

JOHN W. LORD.

Rheumatism for Twenty Years Cured by One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills—"The Best Medicine in the World."

EAST ANDOVER, N. H., Dec. 10, 1875.

MR. LANE—Dear Sir:—As I know the value of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS and the good they have done me, I feel obligated to write you again for fear so I send you another testimonial. My father has been troubled with rheumatism for twenty years or more, and has tried everything that could be tried of it, but to no good. At times it would be so bad that he could not lift his hand to his head or do any work at all, especially in cold weather. A short time ago I advised him to get some of these Pills. He believed nothing in them, but I gave him the last package I had of you, as I did not need them, and he has not been as free from the Rheumatic Complaint for years. No Rheumatism, no pain. What helped him? It was DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, the best medicine in the world. There is nothing like them. I know it, for I have tried them, and they are all, yes, more than they are recommended to be. Give them a fair trial and you will say so. I write this because I know the goodness of them and wish others to know the same. Some may think I am telling a big story I am. But remember I am not giving them half the praise they ought to have.

Yours with respect, ED. F. PEVARE.

DAINGERFIELD, MORRIS CO., TEXAS, Nov. 15, 75.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I have been afflicted for near twelve years with Neuralgia in the face and neck, and have tried in vain to cure many physicians, and could only get partly relieved. I also tried many patent medicines with the same result. I now commenced using your pills most all the time for eight or ten winters, and have been traveling and visiting medical springs, and I still suffered most intensely. The physicians pronounced my case the worst and most stubborn that they had had anything to do with. One told me I could never get well; they all advised me to go South and spend the winter, and thought that was the only chance for me, and I was trying to get ready to go to Florida, when through the kindness of Rev. H. M. Mathis, my attention was called to the advertisement of Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. I immediately sent to you for a package. I have taken four doses and I am almost free from pain. The rest of my life seems to be that if your pills will cure me, they will cure anybody. I have five applications to send for the pills. Enclosed please find three dollars; send five packages to me and one to Mrs. Laura Sherrell Sulphur Springs, Hopkins county, Texas.

Yours truly, J. S. PATTON.

Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache.

LACONIA, N. H., Jan. 29, 1875.

THOS. W. LANE—Sir:—I have been troubled with Bad Blood, Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done me more good than all the medicine I ever took; I have taken considerable medicine within the last five years. For the nerves I think there is nothing so good as those pills. I can recommend them to all who are similarly afflicted, they have done me so much good. I think they will recommend themselves wherever they go. I shall recommend them to all who need them. Please send me two packages more, one for myself and one for a lady friend of mine. Many thanks to the inventor, agent and advertiser of those Pills.

MAGIC

BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL

CONDITION PILLS!

The Pulmocine Cordial is not a quack medicine, is not an experiment, is not composed of any ingredients "discovered" by "walking in pastures" in South America or anywhere else, nor by one who discovered a weed and thereby cured himself. Most of the ingredients are such as our best educated physicians daily use for the complaints specified in some form or other. The recipe is that perfected by one of New England's most learned and famous physicians, who used it entirely in his daily practice until his death. His offered to the profession and to the public, absolutely pure and unadulterated.

is no new discovery. Twenty-three years ago it was used by one of New England's most famous physicians as the best Pulmonary Curative we could prescribe, after dozen years spent in experimenting with it before e was satisfied that the Materia Medica could add nothing in its favor.

Among its many ingredients are Wild Cherry Bark, Squill Root, Liquorice Root, Blood root, &c. It is a Blood Purifier, gently stimulating. It increases expectoration and is diuretic. It is sudorific and alterative. It is a necessary family medicine. It is a Tonic and a powerful aid to the digestive organs. It is a gentle sedative, and relieves nervousness. It is aromatic and agreeable to the taste.

DATE SLIPS,

PULMOCINE CORDIAL

Is a speedy and reliable Preventive and Remedy. Every Family should have a bottle at hand to check the sudden growth of all Pulmonary Diseases. For the Asthma, Coughs, Croups, Laryngitis, or Inflammation of the larynx, Diphtheria, and all kindred Throat Diseases at all times prevalent, it is the ounce of Prevention. Children attacked with Whooping Cough or Croup should be immediately cared for. These painful attacks come with scarcely a moment's warning, when a physician may be out of immediate each. A dose of PULMOCINE CORDIAL gives speedy elief, and the little ones are spared hours of pain and agony. As "a stitch in time saves nine," so does the possession of this Family Medicine prevent the spread of disease. Parents seeing their children gasping with pain, friends and relatives beholding each other in peril from suffocation by the choking pain in the throat, paralyzed with fear and not knowing the best course to pursue, are liable to apply the wrong remedial agents. There is no safety in delay, no time to waste in such cases. CONSUMPTION, that fearful scourge of the human race, lies at the door of all thus afflicted. BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL arrests it (unless in its advanced stage at which time there is no local cure) relieves the pressing, suffocating feeling at the lungs, and the patient's danger is past.

OF

FOREIGN LITERATURE.

THIRTY-THIRD YEAR.

THE ECLECTIC reprints from the foreign Quarterlies, Reviews, Magazines, and Journals, their choicest contents, including Essays, Scientific Papers, Biographical Sketches, Reminiscences of Travel and Adventure, Tales, Stories, and Poems. The field of selection is very large, and it is believed that the ECLECTIC presents a greater variety and higher standard of literature than any periodical can hope to do that depends exclusively upon home talent.

A knowledge of the current literature of other countries is indispensable to all who would keep pace with the progress of the human mind; and the ECLECTIC offers the best, and, indeed, the only opportunity for obtaining this knowledge within a reasonable compass, and at a moderate price.

Among the writers represented in recent numbers of the ECLECTIC are: The Rt. Hon. W. E. Gladstone, James Anthony Froude, Matthew Arnold, Charles Kingsley, Robert Buchanan, Geo. McDonald, John Ruskin, Alfred Tennyson, Thomas Hughes, William Black, Mrs. Oliphant, Thos. Hardy, William Morris, Miss Thackeray, Mrs. Alexander, Profs. Huxley and Tyndall, Richard Proctor, R. A., Prof. Owen, Dr. W. B. Carpenter, Max Muller, J. Norman Lockyer, Herbert Spencer, and others equally eminent. Besides the regular articles in the body of the magazine, there are four original Editorial Departments: Literary Notices, Foreign Literary Notes, Science and Art, and Varieties.

With regard to the character of the selections, the aim of the ECLECTIC is to be instructive without being dull, and entertaining without being trivial. While each number contains something to interest every member of the family circle, it addresses itself particularly to that great body of intelligent readers who seek profit as well as amusement in solid and healthful literature.

Besides the 128 pages of reading matter, each number of the magazine contains a Fine Steel-Engraving (usually a portrait)—executed in the most artistic manner.

TERMS.—Single copies, 45 cents; one copy one year $5; two copies, $8; five copies, $20. Total subscriptions for three months, $1.

The ECLECTIC and any $4 Magazine to one address, $8.

Postage free to all subscribers. Address,

WHAT PAYS?

IT PAYS every Manufacturer, Merchant, Mechanic, Inventor, Farmer, or Professional Man, to keep informed on all the improvements and discoveries of the age.

It pays the head of every family to introduce into his household a newspaper that is instructive, one that fosters a taste for investigation and promotes thought and encourages discussion among the members.

The Scientific American

which has been published weekly for the last thirty-one years, does this, to an extent beyond that of any other publication, in fact it is the only weekly paper published in the United States, devoted to Manufactures, Mechanics, Inventions and New Discoveries in the Arts and Sciences.

Every number is profusely illustrated and its contents embrace the latest and most interesting information pertaining to the Industrial, Mechanical, and Scientific Progress of the World; Descriptions, with Beautiful Engravings of New Inventions, New Implements, New Processes, and Improved Industries of all kinds; Useful Notes, Recipes, Suggestions and Advice by Practical Writers, for Workmen and Employers, in all the various arts, forming a complete repertory of New Inventions and Discoveries; containing a weekly record, not only of the progress of the industrial arts in our own country, but also of all New Discoveries and Inventions in every Branch of Engineering, Mechanics and Science abroad.

THE SCIENTIFIC AMERICAN has been the foremost of all industrial publications for the past thirty-one years. It is the oldest, largest, cheapest, and the best weekly illustrated paper devoted to Engineering, Mechanics, Chemistry, New Inventions, Science and Industrial Progress, published in the world.

The practical Recipes are well worth ten times the subscription price, and for the shop and house will save many times the cost of subscription.

Merchants, Farmers, Mechanics, Engineers, Inventors, Manufacturers, Chemists, Lovers of Science, and People of all Professions, will find the SCIENTIFIC AMERICAN useful to them. It should have a place in every Family, Library, Store, Office and Counting Room: in every Reading Room, College and School. A new volume commences January 1st, 1877.

A year's numbers contain 832 pages and SEVERAL HUNDRED ENGRAVINGS. Thousands of volumes are preserved for binding and reference. Terms, $3.20 a year by mail, including postage. Discount to Clubs. Special circulars, giving Club rates sent free. Single copies mailed on receipt of 10 cents. May be had of all News Dealers.

PATENTS. In connection with the Scientific American, Messrs. MUNN & Co. are Solicitors of American and Foreign Patents, and have the largest establishment in the world. More than fifty thousand applications have been made for patents through their agency.

Patents are obtained on the best terms. Models of New Inventions and Sketches examined, and advice free. A special notice is made in the Scientific American of all Inventions Patented through this Agency, with the name and residence of the Patentee. Patents are often sold in part or in whole, to persons attracted to the invention by such notice. A Pamphlet, containing full directions for obtaining Patents sent free. CHAPTER I.

IN THE BLACK FOREST.

In the midst of the Black Forest, in Germany, lies hidden the picturesque village of Zorlitz.

The principal building in the village is the little wooden Lutheran church, the only house of worship.

The pastor of this church, a year or two ago, was Herr Brocken, or Father Brocken, as he was affectionately called by his people. He was a kindly, simple-hearted man.

Here he had dwelt twenty years, the father, the pastor and guide of simple people; here his wife had recently died; and here he hoped to be buried. He was childless, his family consisting of an old housekeeper and a young girl known as his niece.

This niece of the pastor was the idol of the good people of Zorlitz. She tended the peasants in their illnesses; she visited the quaint old houses like a sunbeam, bringing with her always warmth and sunshine.

One afternoon in June, at the time we have indicated, our heroine, after making a call upon a sick old woman, began the ascent of the steep hill in the direction of the parsonage. When half-way up the slope, she turned aside into the woods, pursuing a shaded path at an easy pace, swinging her broad-brimmed hat by its ribbons from her arm, and carolling a German song in a sweet voice that roused the birds to emulation.

She was about seventeen years of age, tall, slim, and graceful, with a beauty unmistakably English, and yet more unmistakably patrician.

This girl, with her wonderful beauty, which would have made a sensation in the queen's drawing room, with her exquisite refinement of looks and manner that declared her gentle birth and breeding, possessed a grandly generous nature, a warm heart, and impulsive temperament, and, withal, a personal magnetism that attracted every one to her.

She had been thoroughly well educated, the good pastor and his wife having gloried in her keen intellect, and in her thirst for knowledge. They had taught her various languages, music, for which she had a positive genius, drawing and painting, and various feminine arts; but her accomplishments were among the least of her charms.

The path along which she was walking came out upon a spring, whose clear pool was shadowed by bending trees. This was a favorite resort of the young girl, and she sat down upon the green bank, the song dying on her lips, and a strange gravity overspreading her face.

"Oh, dear," she said, sighing; "I am so tired of this dear, stupid old Zorlitz. I wish that I could see something of the world outside. I have read of the great towns, of different peoples, of life beside which ours is stagnation. I am growing discontented. Must I live here all my life, and die, and be buried here, knowing nothing of any better existence? If it were not for leaving uncle I'd beg to be allowed to go somewhere as governess. But I can't leave him, and he will never leave Zorlitz. And yet I'd give half my remaining life for a change—if I might only go somewhere and see something of the world."

Did some mischievous spirit hear her complaint and resolve to grant her wish? For a change in her life was close at hand—a change greater than even her vivid imagination would have dared conceive. That very hour was the last she would ever know of commonplace existence. Perhaps it was as well that she could not read the strange future before her, else she might have shrunk from it in terror and misgiving, preferring the safe shelter of the Zorlitz parsonage in the depths of the Black Forest to the whirling vortex, the perils and troubles lying in wait for her in the great "world outside."

She was still musing discontentedly when a sudden rifle-shot rang out sharply upon the air—a deer went flying past—and a stinging pain in the girl's left arm sent a thrill of faintness quivering through her.

A low cry escaped her as she realized that she had been shot. That cry was echoed from the horrified lips of two huntsmen, who bounded into the glade, and halted abruptly at sight of her.

"By Jove!" cried one, speaking in the English language. "A perfect Diana, Glenham! And you've shot her!"

The other raised his hand in an imperious gesture, commanding silence, and advanced towards the fainting girl, his countenance still wearing an expression of horror, in which were now mingled a deep pity and keen remorsefulness.

The girl had fainted quite away by the time he had reached her. Flinging down his unlucky rifle, the young man devoted himself to her recovery with peculiar gentleness and reverence, and with an assiduity that speedily recalled her to consciousness. She opened her eyes upon the strangers, blushed vividly, and arose unsteadily to her feet, retreating a few paces.

"A perfect little queen!" cried the gentleman who had before spoken. "Who would have dreamed of finding such a magnificent little beauty in this wilderness! I say, Glenham—"

The girl's pale face flushed scarlet.

"Pardon," she said, speaking in English, with an accent as pure as that of the gentleman; "but I understand English."

The two young men were, for the moment, covered with confusion. Then the one who had been called Glenham addressed himself to the young lady, avowed himself the author of her injury, lamented his own awkwardness, and begged to be permitted to examine her arm to ascertain the extent of her wound, and to endeavor to alleviate her suffering.

His evident sorrow, his chivalric courtesy, impressed the girl, who quietly gave assent, and permitted him to examine her arm.

"My friend, in his chagrin at his awkwardness, has forgotten to introduce himself," said the gentleman who had first spoken. "Permit me to remedy this deficiency. He is Gordon, Earl of Glenham, of Yorkshire, England. And I have the honor to be his very good friend, Maldred Crafton. We came on an exploring and hunting expedition to these wilds, little expecting to find here a fellow-countrywoman."

The young lady acknowledged the introductions with a bow, and responded:

"I fear that I cannot lay claim to the same nationality with yourself. I am Cecil Rosse, the niece of Herr Brocken, the Lutheran pastor of Zorlitz."

To the girl, reared in that secluded region, seeing, besides her aged relative, only the rude peasants of Zorlitz, young Lord Glenham appeared a very demi-god.

He was strikingly handsome, with a distinguished presence. He was about twenty-eight years of age, yet he retained a youthful freshness of feeling, was chivalrous and noble in the highest degree, and was not only unmarried, but he had never loved.

His companion, Maldred Crafton, was his intimate friend and distant relative, who possessed a small fortune, was about thirty years of age, and also unmarried. The intimacy between the two men was inexplicable, for never were two persons more unlike than Lord Glenham and Maldred Crafton. His lordship was too noble and unsuspicious to discern the real nature of his kinsman, which was sly and scheming, intensely avaricious, and utterly unscrupulous. Yet Crafton's exterior was plausible and insinuating; he was singularly gentle in his manners; and his black eyes and swarthy features had been too well trained to reveal the secrets of his soul.

Cecil Rosse was not sufficiently skilled in physiognomy to read the characters of these two men. She only knew that she liked Lord Glenham, and with her liking came an instinctive faith in him. As for Crafton, she felt for him a singular distrust and an aversion that was destined to grow and strengthen into a stronger emotion.

An increased pallor and sudden compression of her perfect lips brought Lord Glenham hastily to her assistance. Her wound was but slight, and when Lord Glenham had completed his small attempt at surgery, and the wounded arm had been well bandaged, Cecil Rosse thanked him courteously and avowed her intention of hastening home.

"We will accompany you, Miss Rosse," said the earl. "No, do not refuse. You are not able to go alone. Lean upon me—else I shall think you have not forgiven me!"

Cecil took his arm and led the way by the forest-path in the direction of her home. A few minutes' walk brought them out upon the steep village street and very near the parsonage. As they entered the little garden-gate, the old housekeeper, Gretchen, came out to meet them with loud expressions of alarm at the evident weakness of her young mistress. She fairly worshipped the pastor's neice, and Chill forced a smile and discouraged her arm from its support as she said:

"Hush, Gretchen, you will alarm my uncle. I am not seriously hurt."

She hastened to explain the recent accident, and then invited her companion to enter the house.

"Not now," answered Lord Glenham. "But we will avail ourselves of your kind invitation to-morrow."

He raised his hat courteously, and waited until Cecil had entered the dwelling with her old servant, and then he led the way down to the village.

At a little distance from the parsonage Lord Glenham halted and looked back, a new light in his eyes, a new glow on his face.

"So he loves her, too?" thought Crafton, his soul convulsed with baffled fury. "But he has not won her, and he never shall. For I love her, too—this patrician beauty of the Black Forest—I love her, and I swear by all that is holy that she shall be my wife. My wife, and not his. He will woo her openly; that I cannot do, lest he know me for his rival. Yet it shall go hard if I do not undermine him, cause her to refuse him, and then win her for myself. The first thing to be done is to discover how this English-looking and English-speaking young lady happens to be the niece of a German pastor. Ah, my lord, cherish your little fancies, dream your little dreams, while I step in and win the prize before your very eyes!"

The next day the young Englishmen called. Their interview with the old pastor was a pleasant one. Cecil was transcendently lovely. Both of the young men were desperately in love with her, and each resolved, if possible, to win her for his wife.

They settled themselves comfortably at Zorlitz, hunted in the forest, and visited the parsonage daily. Absorbed in his books, the Herr Pastor paid little heed to the visitors, whom Cecil entertained. June faded into July, and August came and went, and still the Englishmen lingered at Zorlitz. No one but sharp-eyed old Gretchen suspected that they were the lovers of "little Cecil," or saw the change in her young mistress.

"She loves the English lord," the old woman said to herself, well contented. "And he loves her. The Herr Pastor is failing—no one can see it but I—but when he dies the little fraulein will have a grand home and a protector, and will not be driven to earn her own living, as I have often feared."

I was plain to Crafton that the young earl was the favored lover of Cecil, but this conviction by no means dampened the ardor of his own love, or caused him to desist from his suit.

"I shall win her!" he said to himself, grimly. "I can work and wait. In spite of any obstacle in my path, in spite of Glenham's beauty, rank, and wealth, in spite of the fact even that the girl loves him and dislikes me, I will win her! I devote myself, mind and body, heart and soul, to the task—but if I should fail—as I shall not—I would utterly destroy the girl before any other should possess her!"

The hard, evil look in his eyes attested to the truthfulness of this declaration.

As the month of August draw to a close, Lord Glenham began to make preparations to quit Zorlitz, as he had to return home to keep his engagements with a party of guests whom he had invited to spend the month of September with him at his shooting-box in the Scottish Highlands. On the eve of his departure he called upon Herr Brocken, avowed his love for Cecil, and asked for her hand in marriage. The old pastor was deeply moved, and after considerable hesitation, revealed to the young man a secret which affected him profoundly. On recovering from the shock, he asked:

"Does Cecil know her history?"

"No; I have not dared yet to tell her."

"Then keep it a secret still from her. She must never know it. And give her to me, Mein Herr, if she will marry me, and let me guard and protect her—"

"You are generous, my lord, but this cannot yet be. You shall not marry her on a generous impulse. Besides, she is too young. Go back to your own country for one year, leave her to me, and if, another summer, you still love Cecil, come and claim her. But now you must not speak to her of love. She is but a child—she is only seventeen."

Lord Glenham was forced to acquiesce in the old pastor's decision.

Cecil was called in, and the earl took leave of her in her guardian's presence. His lordship's tongue was silenced upon the subject of love, but his eyes told the tale his lips had been forbidden to utter, and the girl's soul thrilled under his worshipping gaze.

"I am going away, Cecil," said his lordship, with a tenderness he could not repress. "I am going home to England, but I shall return next summer. Good-by, Cecil—good-by, my darling!"

The sorrow in her sweet eyes robbed him of his self-control. He caught her to his breast and showered kisses on her pure young face in an irrepressible agitation. Then gently, putting her from him, he wrung the pastor's hand and dashed from the house.

An hour later Lord Glenham and Maldred Crafton left Zorlitz on they way to England, the latter promising to himself a speedy and secret return.

That evening, as the good old pastor sat alone in his study, meditating upon the great event of the day, the door opened and old Gretchen came in, bearing in one hand a lighted candle, in the other a small packet upon which was impressed the London postmark.

The pastor torn open the packet as soon as Gretchen had retired. Two English banknotes fell upon his knee, and a folded sheet of paper, upon which he saw handwriting, followed them.

The old scholar started, recoiling, his gentle face growing troubled and perplexed.

"A letter?" he muttered. "The first letter I ever received from Cecil's former guardian. I have received fifty pounds from him every year, but never a scrap of writing before. What has he to say to me? Does he intend to take the child from me? Is the long mystery of fourteen years to be cleared away at last?"

Herr Brocken unfolded the mysterious letter, a strange agitation quivering through all his nerves. He believed himself to stand upon the threshold of the solution of the strange mystery of Cecil's origin. A blur obscured his vision. He removed his spectacles and wiped them with a trembling hand. Then he spread out the sheet of paper, his eager old eyes fairly devouring its contents.

The letter, as he noticed after reading it, was written upon plain white paper, without water-mark or imprint of any sort whatever. The handwriting was coarse, and slanted backwards, with evident attempt at disguise. There was no date to the letter, which was as follows:

"HERR BROCKEN: It is now fourteen years since I left with you the little, nameless child whom you agreed to bring up, and in all that time I have never written a line to you, nor have I heard from you directly, but I am aware that the child is, unfortunately, still alive. I have remitted regularly to you for her support the sum of fifty pounds per annum. I remit that sum herewith, as usual, in Bank of England notes. As she is now about seventeen years old, and quite able to make her own way, I shall not send any more money for her. As this is the first, it will also be the last communication you will ever receive from me.

"I suppose that she has been brought up in accordance with my instructions, as a German peasant-girl. I suppose, also, that she is contented with her lot, since she has never known any other. If she should marry some wood-carver of your people, then my best wishes for her welfare will have been fulfilled.

"It is scarcely necessary for me to repeat what I told you fourteen years ago, that the girl has no friends save those she may have made at Zorlitz; no relations; and that the best she can do for herself is to live and die in the obscurity of the Black Forest. My care and concern for her end herewith. Neither she nor you will ever hear from me again."

There was no signature to this epistle. Herr Brocken read it over the second time and sighed heavily.

"The unknown guardian washes his hands of Cecil," he muttered. "All connection between the girl and her early past is now completely severed. She will never solve the mystery, will never know her origin. I almost wish that I had not sent Lord Glenham away, and yet I could not do otherwise. According to the traditions and usage of the world, a girl like Cecil, no matter how great her beauty, genius, and goodness, is no fitting wife for a great lord."

The door opened while his eyes were riveted on the paper, and Cecil came in slowly, half shyly.

The pastor made a movement to put the letter in his desk, but changed his purpose.

"My dear," he said, "you seem somehow less of a child to me than usual to-night. My heart is heavy and sore with many burdens. Shall I lay them upon your young shoulders?"

The tender young face at once grew stronger, with a gravity and courage that touched the old scholar.

"I did not know that you were bearing secret burdens, uncle," said Cecil. "Let me help you. Do you need money?"

The pastor glanced at the two bank-notes on his desk.

"No, dear, it is not any fear of poverty that troubles me," he said, gently. "I feel strangely weak. I realize to-night that I am growing old. I may not live another year, and there are things you ought to know. I will tell them to you now. Cecil, this handsome English lord asked me to-day for my consent to address you as your sztor."

The girl blushed and paled, and her eyes glowed with a swift and dazzling splendor.

"What did you say, uncle?" she whispered after a little pause.

"I bade him wait a year. I told him that you were too young to marry."

"He loves me! He loves me!" Cecil said to herself softly, her glorious young beauty radiant as a star. "And he is coming back next year! Oh, uncle, I am the happiest girl in all the world to-night!"

The old pastor sighed and stroked her hair with a shaking hand. A great struggle was going on within him. At last a look of decision settled upon his careworn features, and with his trembling hand resting on Cecil's head he told her her history as far as he knew it. He also informed her that he had told it to Lord Glenham, and that it seemed to make him love her all the more. He then handed her the letter from her unknown guardian, closed his eyes and leaned back in his chair. His face looked singularly worn and sorrowful in the dim light, and there was a weariness in the drooping features that told of extreme physical weakness. No one marked the rapid change of expression in the young face at his knee, the passionate anguish in the sweet eyes, the tense lines about the lovely mouth, the bitterness, horror, and despair indicated in all her perfect features.

The letter fell at last from Cecil's hand, and the bright head drooped to the pastor's knee, while Cecil gave way to a burst of passionate weeping.

"My child," said the old scholar, arousing himself with his former bewildered expression, "hush, dear, you pain me. I would have kept this from you if I had dared. Lord Glenham may come back. Goodness, beauty, and genius are of more value than ancestry. Put the letter in your pocket. It may prove a clew some day."

He took from the desk a small packet, which he opened.

"My good wife wrote out the history of your coming here," he said, "and here it is. We both signed it. And the good wife, who was clever with her pencil, made that night, after your guardian's departure, a sketch of his face. Here it is. It can perhaps do you no good, but as the man might have been your father, we preserved it for you!"

Cecil seized the paper eagerly, and stared at the picture with great, devouring eyes.

It represented a young man with a fair, English face; a heavy, cruel mouth; small, blue eyes, the left one having a peculiar droop; and with a large mole on the left cheek. The face was hard, cold, and unpleasant, and Cecil shuddered as she slowly studied it, feeling a quick sense of repulsion towards it.

"Do you think that he was my father?" she asked.

"The good wife thought not. But he might have been. Men can be very cruel to their own flesh and blood when they are supremely selfish. Keep the picture, dear. And now, dear Cecil, we must say goodnight."

Cecil knelt down beside him, and he laid his hands on her head and blessed her. Then he embraced her tenderly, as she arose, and dismissed her.

The old pastor leaned back in his chair. His long, scanty locks fell around his venerable face, and his eyelids drooped wearily.

"Poor little Cecil!" he said to himself, yet without seeming to realize his words. "I seem to have the gift of second-sight to-night. A terrible future yawns before her. Poor little one! God shield her!"

When morning dawned, he still sat in his easy-chair, but his head was thrown back, the gentle smile was frozen on his features, which were rigid as marble.

The old pastor had gone to join his good wife. He was dead, and Cecil Rosse was left alone in the world to meet the terrible perils in store for her!

The grief of Cecil, when, the next morning, she discovered the old pastor sitting dead in his chair, was indescribable. She felt that she was now indeed alone, and without a guide in the world. But old Gretchen, and all the neighbors comforted her, and by the time the funeral ceremonies had ended, and the affairs of the pastor's estate had been settled, she had recovered her usual elasticity of spirits and had resolved upon her course, which was to go to England, accompanied by Gretchen, and see if she could not find some trace of her family. As they set out, old Gretchen, looking back at the forest-village through her tears, muttered:

"I hope that we ain't rushing straight into trouble! And yet a creeping feeling comes over me that there are dark days ahead! I wish I could read the future!"

Counting the Votes.

On Friday, after the decision of the Commission not to overthrow the rights of the State of Louisiana, reserved to it (as to all other States) by the Constitution of the United States, the counsel for both sides rested their cases, declining to argue further. The Commission then again went into secret session, and adopted the following resolution, offered by Senator Morton:

Resolved, That the persons named as electors in certificate No. 1 were the lawful electors of the State of Louisiana, and that their votes are the votes provided by the Constitution of the United States, and should be counted for President and Vice-President.

Justices Miller and Bradley and Representative Hoar were appointed a Committee to draft a report of the decision, with a brief statement of the reasons therefor, to be signed by the members agreeing therein, and to be transmitted to the joint session of the two Houses, as required by the Electoral act.

On Saturday the Senate sent to the House a notice that the Senate was ready to meet the House to proceed with the count. Salary-grab Randall, the Speaker, for half an hour refused to recognize the Secretary of the Senate—a boorish insult never before offered by one branch of Congress to the other, it having always been the practice to suspend even the roll-call to receive a message from the other House. The House, without receiving the Senate's message, adjourned to Monday; and the Senate did likewise on being informed of the action of the House. The Republicans were very indignant at Randall's course in refusing to recognize the Secretary of the Senate. It is believed that no precedent for such a proceeding can be found in the history of the government. The course of Randall is regarded as the first step toward revolution,—or, rather, the second, the first having been taken when, in obedience to caucus dictation, he appointed both tellers in counting the vote from, his own party, a thing never done before by any Speaker.

The Situation.

The democracy all over the country are terribly exercised and demoralized by the action of the Electoral Commission. When they forced its acceptance upon the republicans, in spite of the adverse vote of a majority of the republican Congressmen and the earnest opposition of very many of the leading republican papers of the country, they announced it as a tribunal whose decisions no true patriot and honest man would combat; and democratic conventions in their resolutions, democratic governors in their inaugurals, and democratic candidates in their letters of acceptance fully endorsed it; now the whole lot of them are hopping mad, Judge Bradley is "Joe Bradley," and they now say the Commission is an infamous partisan concern, and that the democracy cannot in honor submit to any such decisions as have been given. The trouble is that the Commission has decided that a man who was not legally elected shall not steal the Presidency.

Satisfied that they had no chance of winning under the Constitutional method of counting the vote, the democrats were willing to "compromise" on anything that would give them a chance; and they would undoubtedly have acquiesced in the findings of the tribunal they created, had those findings been entirely in favor of the democratic party,—and so would the republicans, for not one, even of the most bitter opponents of the Commission among the republican leaders and papers, but has insisted from the moment the Electoral Bill was passed that the decision of the Commission must be accepted by the republicans as final, even though Mr. Hayes was thereby cheated of his election. The republicans, the "compromise" having been forced upon them by the democracy, have steadily announced that they should consider themselves bound by its decisions; the democrats, having created a tribunal to suit themselves, now announce that they will not be bound by its decisions because they are not in their favor!

What the democratic hot-heads propose to do is not yet made clear, nor is it certain that the rule-or-ruin men will be able to bull-doze the honorable men of the party, who still consider their solemn pledges worth standing by, into any extreme measures. The scheme most talked of is the filibustering dodge, by which the House, through objecting to the vote of each State and then taking a recess until next day, can prevent the completion of the count under the Electoral Bill until after the third of March, thus forcing a new election upon the country. But we are not quite prepared to believe the democrats so utterly reckless as to take this course; if they do, the country will not have to wait long to find it out. The democratic party never has paid any respect to its most solemn pledges, we know; but the party that by mere factious opposition should prolong the uncertainty and uneasiness of the past four months until next autumn would be utterly crushed at the polls, and the democratic leaders know it.

As a conclusion we quote a few sentences from the Cincinnati Enquirer, the leading Tilden and reform paper of the west: "The Electoral Tribunal owes its creation and present existence to the Democrats. The plan is to reconcile whatever line of battle is determined upon with the policy which called the Grand Overturning Tribunal into life. It is a Democrat baby, and its decisions must be treated with tender hands. * * * The Grand Tribunal is organized for the steal of a Presidency, and opinions differ whether it is not a good plan to stop the thief."

The thief has been stopped. The "Grand Tribunal" which was "organized to steal a Presidency" and "owes its creation and present existence to the democrats," has refused to "steal a Presidency" for them, and given it to its rightful owner. And we very much mistake the temper of the republicans if democratic clamor will bull-doze them, after having twice won the Presidency, into yielding another point to the supporters of the great claimant.

News and Notes.

At Wilkesbarre, Pa., Wednesday, the privilege of a High Mass at the Catholic Church, was denied over the remains of Mayor Kearney, as he was a prominent Free Mason. He was interred, however, in the Catholic Cemetery, by special permission of Bishop O'Hara.

Miss Annie Bragdon, of Hyde Park, Mass., died of hydrophobia on Saturday, from the effects of a dog-bite inflicted last September. At least two other persons were bitten at the same time by the same animal.

Herbert and Willie Thorpe, aged seven and ten years were drowned, in Canton, Mass., on Saturday, by falling into a pond through the ice.

Joe Coburn, the notorious prize fighter and bully, on Thursday shot two police officers without any provocation, and will be likely to transfer his residence from behind the bar of his drinking saloon to State prison. Coburn was drunk when he did the shooting. Both the officers will recover.

John Leon, of New York, on Friday shot, stabbed and beat his married daughter, a Mrs. Massoni, fatally injuring her, and stabbed her father-in-law, John Massoni, who attempted to protect his son's wife. The murderer was arrested.

The strike on the Boston & Maine Railroad is a total failure at present, the road now having all the help needed and running its trains very nearly on time. How it may turn out in the end, if a general strike on all the railroads throughout New England (which is hinted at by the strikers) is ordered by the Brotherhood, we cannot say, but we believe even that would fail. Such a strike would be a public calamity, however it might result to the engineers or the railroads.

James F. Dugan, a young man, was burned to death Wednesday in an effort to rescue a favorite dog from a burning stable on Staten Island.

The Great Reformer.

The democratic and "independent" papers do not seem very much shocked at the revelations of the Oregon despatches—not enough shocked to make them say much editorially. The story that Tilden was ignorant of the shameful attempt to buy up the electoral vote of Oregan will not bold water, for the despatches sent to Pelton by the immaculate Patrick (endorsed by the reform Senator, Kelly,) were sent to Tilden's residence at Gramercy Park and not to the Liberty street bureau; and the one which announced the success of the infamous scheme was sent direct to Tilden himself, and translated from the thieves' Latin in which it was sent reads as follows:

PORTLAND, OREGON, Dec. 1.

To Samuel J. Tilden, 15 Grammercy Park, New York:

I shall decide every point in the case of post-office elector in favor of the highest democratic elector and grant the certificate according on morning of sixth inst. Confidential. (Signed) GOVERNOR.

Verily, Tilden's method of introducing his patent article of "reform" is as queer as the article itself.

The Oregon despatches seriously compromise two prominent democratic officials, Senator Kelly and ex-Governor (now Senator-elect) Grover, of Oregon. Kelly had sworn that the money sent for to Tilden was intended solely to pay lawyers, but it was proved that he "fully endorsed" the scheme to buy a republican elector and a democratic governor. He however explains that he did not know the contents of the cipher despatch to which his name was signed, as Patrick lied to him about it, which is possibly the truth. Gov. Grover's case is much worse. He testified on oath before the Senate committee that he had given no information to any person whatever in regard to issuing the electoral certificates prior to the date of his action. One of the despatches signed "Governor," which unquestionably came from him, and was addressed to Mr. Tilden, dated the 1st of December, six days in advance of the meeting of the Electoral College, states that he should decide every point in favor of the highest democratic elector and grant a certificate accordingly. This despatch convicts Grover of perjury as flatly as Tilden's contradictory oaths convicted that model reformer.

A Novel Ship-Launch.

One of the most striking engineering operations of the time is the launching of the immense iron steamer L'Amerique, stranded high and dry on the sands of the New Jersey coast. A net work of massive chains, ropes and blocks surrounds the ship and resolves itself into five immense hawsers firmly anchored out at sea. Two of them are the direct pulling power worked by the engines, while others are to carry the great ship gently out toward the sea as she is dragged along. All the cables are tightened by the engine power until they are stiff and straight, and draw the ship by their elasticity, until they hang by their own weight, when they are again tightened. The process is necessarily slow, to avoid straining the ship, but it has already been removed three hundred feet, and with a favorable wind and tide it is expected that a movement of one hundred feet more will see L'Amerique afloat, sound and uninjured, and all that it will be necessary to do will be to put on a new coat of paint on her bottom, and she will be ready to resume her voyages. Great walls of sand and mud surround her which are not dug away, and the work is done by the main force of dead pulls on the hawsers. It seems almost incredible that there should be sufficient power in the engine to do it, as well as strength in the hull to endure such a strain, but it is being done, and if no heavy storm intervenes to cast her higher up, she will be afloat in a few days. If we are not mistaken, it is the first event of the kind in naval history, and its success will be desired almost as much in the interest of mechanical science, as by the owners and the wrecking company who have undertaken the work.

Cogent Reasons for a Grand Success.

Conspicuous among the highest examples of success which the present century can show is Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. The record of the triumphs over disease is to be traced in the written acknowledgments of thousands who have experienced its beneficent effects, and the evidence of its popularity is to be found in the vast and growing demand for the article in North and South America, Mexico, Guatemala, the West Indies, Australia and Europe. The reasons for its unparalleled success are cogent ones. The accumulated evidence of nearly thirty years shows that it is a certain remedy for malarial disease, as well as its surest preventive; that it eradicates dyspepsia, constipation, liver complaint and nervousness, counteracts a tendency to gout, rheumatism, urinary and uterine disorders, that it imparts vigor to the feeble, and cheers the mind while it invigorates the body.

JOTTINGS.

Harper's Magazine for March is out, and for sale at Foster's, Moses Brothers' and Lowd's bookstores. It has eight illustrated articles, with eighty-three illustrations, and the usual amount of varied and entertaining reading matter.

In view of the present apparent certainty of President Hayes' inauguration, it may not be premature to suggest to the local democracy that they need not throw away the big white shirt that they had made to carry in the procession with which they proposed to celebrate Tilden's election, nor the five hundred tin horns imported by Congressman Jones to be blown by the processionists. We presume the republicans will purchase the political material referred to if offered cheap, for use in their procession, —that is, unless the democratic clubs should conclude to join in a grand jollification by both parties, as they on the day after election suggested the republicans should do. Should the democrats conclude to take part in the rejoicings over the inauguration of the legally elected President they will want their big shirt and tin horns for their own use.

The members of the High School enjoyed a rich musical treat on Saturday. Misses Emma and Nellie Bailey, of Bridgeton, Maine, who are the guests of Charles A. Shannon, Esq., were present and favored the school with unusually fine music upon the piano, and some excellent singing. Miss Emma is a remarkably fine pianist, and her singing of a portion of Tennyson's idyl, "The Brook," was particularly good. Miss Nellie Sang twice, and very sweetly too. The exercises on the part of the school consisted of compositions, declamations and music. Mr. Bartlett, Chairman of the Committee, made some excellent remarks, and was followed by Mr. Shannon, to whom the credit of having furnished the school with so rich an entertainment is due.

Commander George C. Remey is ordered to the command of the Enterprise.

First Lieutenant B. R. Russell, U. S. M. C., is ordered to duty at the marine barracks at Washington.

The ship Thriumphant, commanded by Capt. Libbey of this city, arrived at Liverpool on the 15th inst., having made the passage from San Francisco in 113 days.

The schooner Louisa A. Johnson, from Philadelphia with coal, struck on York Ledge, Friday morning, owing to the carelessness of the helmsman, all hands but he being below at breakfast when she struck. She came off leaking badly, and filled so rapidly that she had to be ran ashore in a cove near Portland Light. The vessel is a total loss, with no insurance. The crew saved only their clothing. Part of the coal may be saved by divers. The vessel was owned at Port Jefferson, N. Y., registered 226 tons, and had on board 500 tons of coal.

INHUMAN PARENTS.

Many of the readers of the CHRONICLE are probably not aware of the active existence in our city of a Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children. But such is the case and the fact carries with it the inference that there are some among us who are cruel to their little ones. One of the officers of the above-named organization relates the following as illustrating the cases for the relief of which the Society was formed:

A family named Nolan, consisting of a father, mother and child of about six years, last summer lived in Newington. The father, some time during the autumn, was sent to Brentwood for drunkenness, leaving the mother—whose habits were exceedingly dissipated—alone with the little girl, who, by the way, is a deaf mute. It soon came to the knowledge of some of the officers of the aforementioned Society that the child was being neglected and abused. An investigation revealed the fact that the mother would shut the little dumb girl alone in the house at night after putting her to bed, and visiting the city, would spend the night in a drunken debauch. It was further found that the inhuman mother was in the habit of whipping the child, and otherwise maltreating it.

An effort was at once made to get the little girl away from its mother's custody and into the care of some one who would at least treat it kindly. A number of obstacles to the consummation of this presented themselves, one after another. In the first place, a home must be secured. The Governor of the State was appealed to, to know if the child could be sent to the Hartford Deaf and Dumb Asylum for Orphans, there being a State appropriation for the support of a certain number of such children there. The application was not successful, because the beneficiary was not old enough. The Home for Little Wanderers in Boston was visited, but none but residents of the State of Massachusetts were there admitted. The North End Mission, the Children's Mission, the Orphan's Home (all of Boston) were next successively applied to, but in vain. The Orphan's Asylum at Franklin, in this State, was next sought. The Superintendent, the President and others were written to over and over again, without eliciting even a response to one single letter! It was afterward found through the inquiries of a third party that the Asylum was limited in its capacity, and full.

While these avenues of charity were being sought the little deaf and dumb girl was in the keeping of its mother, who meanwhile got drunk, and was sent to Brentwood for six months. Pending her departure the county commissioners were applied to and the child was allowed to accompany her mother to the County House, where she would at least be looked after and properly clothed and fed, until some better place was obtained for her. After much writing, waiting and watching for a suitable home, and when everything seemed to mock at the perseverance of those who had the matter in charge, a good friend suggested that there might be a place for the little one in the Orphans' Deaf Mute Asylum in Concord, under the patronage (we believe) of the Episcopal Church in that city. The application was made by the kind friend referred to, and resulted in securing for the little unfortunate a nice, comfortable home in the Asylum. The little girl was at once taken from her temporary residence in Brentwood, brought to this city, provided with plenty of warm clothing, (not omitting a pretty doll and other playthings), and on Thursday last she was taken to the Home that was so long and so patiently sought for her, and where we trust she is now happy.

Political.

Michael Ryan, charged with being an accomplice with Eph Holland in the Cincinnati election frauds was arrested in New York Wednesday, and committed without bail by the United States Commissioner. Other arrests are expected.

Charles H. Pearce, one of the Florida Electors, may be a convicted felon, sure enough, but that does not count in Florida. He served one term as a democratic Senator, and the fact that he was a felon did not injure him as a candidate.

"After all," the Louisville Courier-Journal remarks, "we are ready just now to say that the course of those republicans who are denouncing Justices Clifford and Field for voting contrary to the judicial majority on the Commission is no more illogical than the action of those democrats who are violently denouncing Justices Bradley, Miller and Strong for voting against them."

The New York Evening Post trusts that "the 'Household English Dictionary' is not a trustworthy key. If it is, we have reached the most disgraceful part of the Presidential business; and Mr. Field will have to rise in the House of Representatives and make another speech on fraud."

The New Orleans democracy are greatly excited over the decision in the Louisiana case, and the Democrat, "Governor" Nicholls' official organ, yells for "wah." The White Leagues are said to have been ordered to New Orleans, and things look squally down there. Were a man of James Buchanan's stamp in the Presidential chair a White League rebellion would no doubt come off at once, but as it is they will probably talk some before they commence to clean out the national forces.

Judge Abbott, who occupies the seat in Congress to which Mr. Frost was elected, and who owes his seat to one of the worst partisan outrages of the present partisan House, considers the decision of the three-cornered Commission on the Louisiana case "infamous" for its partisanship.

The Justice of the Supreme Court of the United States who left the bench to join the rebellion was selected to make the closing argument for Mr. Tilden in the Louisiana case before the Electoral Commission.

—On February 12, 1869, Hon. Murray McConnell, one of the wealthiest citizens of Jacksonville, Ill., was found lying dead in his own residence, his head crushed in apparently by repeated blows from an iron poker. From that day to this no light had been shed on the question of who was the perpetrator of the horrible deed. One Robinson, a hotel clerk of Jacksonville, was arrested and tried for the crime, but was acquitted by the jury, the evidence proving utterly insufficient to fix the offence upon him. Thursday last a prisoner in the McLean County Jail, at Bloomington, named John Pierson, who was arrested for swindling and who has served at least five terms in the Illinois Penitentiary, confessed to the State's Attorney, that he is McConnell's murderer. He relates that he went to McConnell's office to ask for money to leave the city with; that McConnell called him vile names and ordered him out of the house, whereupon he picked up the fire poker and struck him several times with it. He then fled, and did not stop on his travels until he had reached Sedalia, Mo. Pierson is about fifty years old and is known as a desperate character.

Ex-Slaves in Congress.

We have in Congress now several men who about ten years ago were plantation slaves. We have a man who twenty years ago was sold on an auction block for $1,300. He sits in the hall of the house of representatives by the side of H. B. Payne, the banker millionaire of Cleveland. In 1860, when the latter was laboring in the Charleston convention to secure the nomination of Stephen A. Douglass, and to postpone the war, the former was picking cotton in the fields of Alabama. There is another man who was sold by a North Carolina planter to a planter in Alabama because he was discovered at night with a spelling book in his hand. There is a man in the United States Senate, sitting next to Frederick Theodore Frelinghuysen (as bright an example of statesmanship and aristocracy as we have in this country), who ten years ago could neither read nor write, and who was emancipated from slavery by Abraham Lincoln.—Washington Letter.

Dr. A. J. Flagg's

COUGH & LUNG SYRUP.

A Safe and Sure Remedy.

The Cough and Lung Syrup

Is the remedy that during the past fifteen years has won for DR. FLAGG an extended reputation as a SPECIALIST for THROAT and LUNG Disease. After so many years trial it can be truthfully said that it has NEVER FAILED, even in the WORST CASES. It is purely Vegetable, and its effect upon the system is at once Soothing and Tonic.

It Will Cure a Common Cold

In a few hours, not by drying it up, but by removing it from the system. TRY IT.

It will CURE a Chronic Cough, by soothing the irritated parts, and strengthening the system.

IT WILL CURE CONSUMPTION.

Even after all other remedies have failed. In the earlier stages of this disease it will effect a speedy and certain cure; and in many cases of advanced Consumption its effect has seemed almost miraculous, restoring to full strength and perfect health those whom physicians had given up as incurable. TRY IT.

IT WILL CURE CATARRH

More effectual y than any other remedy, by simply removing the cause. TRY IT.

It will Cure Bronchitis, by allaying all irritation of the Throat. TRY IT.

It will Cure Asthma, affording immediate relief and a perfect cure. TRY IT.

It Will Cure Ulcerated Sore Throat.

TRY IT.

IT WILL CURE Loss of Voice, Night Sweats, Hectic Fever, AND ALL Symptoms of Consumption. TRY IT.

For every affection of the Throat and Lungs it only needs a trial to convince the most skeptical of its wonderful curative properties.

Remember that it

CURES COLDS,
CURES COUGHS,
CURES CATARRH
CURES CONSUMPTION.

DR. WM. M. LADD, a leading Druggist of Claremont, certifies as follows:

For many years I have known Dr. A. J. Flagg as a successful practicing physician, and can assure the public that his representations relative to the Cough and Lung Syrup can be safely relied upon. It has been used in his extended practice with marvellous success, and I know it to be a fitting medium for it.

THE OLDEST ESTABLISHED HOSPITAL
— IN THE —
UNITED STATES.
No. 9 Beaver Street, - - - Albany, N. Y
SURE CURES AND LOW PRICES.

Dr. YOUNG,
SUCCESSOR TO
Dr. TELLER,
DECEASED.

The above named private Hospital was established in Albany in 1835 by Dr. Lispenard and for a number of years its affairs were presided over by that gentleman, but for the past 30 years, Dr. Teller, who is now deceased, transacted the business of the Institution.

Owing to the great demand for more spacious apartments on account of the large increase of business, the Hospital has been removed to No. 9 Beaver Street, two doors above its old location, where patients will find magnificently furnished rooms for their reception, and are so arranged that patients do not come in contact with one another, seeing only the doctor, thereby avoiding the unpleasantness of meeting others, which always occurred at the old office.

LADIES will find rooms provided for their especial accommodation and entirely private.

YOUNG MEN, addicted to secret habits, who have impaired their health and destroyed the vigor of their minds, thus depriving themselves of the pleasures of marriage and also those afflicted with private diseases of any nature, are advised that in consulting Dr. Young they will find a physician fully qualified to cure and restore them to full health and manly vigor.

Dr. Teller's great work for the married, or those contemplating marriage—100 pages—full of plates,—Price 25 cents. Sent to all parts, under seal, by mail post paid.

TO THE LADIES—DR. YOUNG still retains the only agency in America for the sale of Dr. Vichol's Italian Female Monthly Pills. Sent by mail on receipt of $1.00, price per box.

DR. YOUNG is the only agent for Dr. La Mott's celebrated Galvanic Belts.

Invalids out of the city can be cured by consulting by letter, and enclosing remittance. Medicines sent by mail or express, securely packed from observation. All money must be addressed to

Centaur Liniments.

The lame can be healed and the wounded made whole. We now know just what the Centaur Liniment will do. They will not mend broken bones or cure Cancer, but they will extract soreness, allay pain, cure Rheumatism and a larger range of flesh, bone and muscle ailments than any article ever before discovered.

Scientific skill cannot go beyond the effects of these remarkable preparations. Chronic Rheumatism of many years' standing, Neuralgia, Weak Back, Fever Sores, Weeping-Sinews, Sciatica, Caked Breasts, Distorted Joints and Sprained Limbs of the worst kind are cured by the White Centaur Liniment.

It will destroy the pain and heal without a scar, all ordinary burns and scalds. It will extract the poison of Bites and Stings, and the venomous Freezes Limbs. It is very efficacious for Ear-ache, Tooth-ache, Itch and Cutaneous Eruptions.

Mr. Josiah Westake, of Marysville, O., writes:

"For years my Rheumatism has been so bad that I have been unable to stir from the house. The first three bottles of Centaur Liniment enabled me to walk without any crutches. I am mending rapidly. I think your Liniment simply a marvel.

C. H. Bennett, Druggist, Rock Prairie, Mo., says: "Centaur Liniment sells better and gives the best satisfaction of anything in the market."

What the Centaur Liniment has done for others it will do for you. It is handy, it is reliable, and it is cheap.

The Yellow Centaur Liniment

is worth its weight in gold to owners of horses and mules.

The Liniment has cured more Sprained, Sweenied, Ring-boned and Galled Horses in three years than have all the Farriers in the country in an age. Its effects are simply wonderful.

We have thousands upon thousands of certificates as strong as the following:

"My horse was lame for a year with a fetlock wrench. All remedies utterly failed to cure and I considered him worthless until I commenced to use Centaur Liniment, which rapidly cured him. I heartily recommend it.

REV. GEO. W. FERRIS,
Manorville, Schoharie Co., N. Y."

DEAR SIRS,—I have used your Centaur Liniment in my family, and find it to be of great value. P case send me two dollar's worth, one for the mules and horses.

RILEY SICKLES.
FALLS STATION, WYOMING CO., PA.

It makes very little difference what the case is, whether it be Wrench, Sprain, Poll-Evil, Ringbone, Scratches or Lame ness of any kind, the effects are the same. Liverymen, Stage proprietors, Farmers, &c., should never be without the Yellow Centaur Liniment. It is sold everywhere, and warranted in its effects.

Castoria.

It is a mistake to suppose that Castoria is not adapted to grown persons as well as Children. They only need to increase the quantity. But children have so many complaints for which Castoria is adapted—like Wind Colic, Sour Stomach, Worms, Tetter, Heading and Croup, that it is especially recommended for them.

Its effects are more certain than Castor Oil. It contains no alcohol and is so pleasant to take as honey. It never gripes. By regulating the stomach and bowels the Castoria cools the blood, expels worms and prevents feverishness, quiets the nerves and produces health—then of course children can sleep in quiet and mothers can rest.

Castoria is recommended by all physicians and nurses who have used it, and it is hastening rapidly increasing sale. It is prepared with great care after the recipe of Dr. Samuel Pitcher, of Mass., at the Laboratory of J. B. Rose & Co., 46 Dey St., N. Y.

Daily Chronicle.

—Two brothers were caught in a terrible snow storm in Minnesota, when they were miles from any habitation. They struggled on, blinded by the snow, their feet and hands slowly freezing in the intense cold. At length one could not walk any further, and he was carried awhile by the other. Then the latter went on alone until he reached a house. Assistance was promptly sent to the man left behind, who was found dead.

—This is the old Hebrew cabalistic legend of Lilith, the first wife of Adam, as told by M. D. Conway, in his lecture on the devil: "She was a cold, passionless, splendid beauty, with wondrous golden hair. She was created Adam's equal in every respect; and, therefore, properly enough, refused to obey him. For this she was driven from the garden of Eden, and Eve was created—made to order, so to speak—of one of Adam's ribs. Then the golden-haired Lilith—jealous, enraged, pining for her first home in Paradise—entered in the form of a serpent, crept into the garden of Eden, and tempted Adam and Eve to their destruction. And, from that day to this, Lilith, a cold, passionless beauty, with golden hair, has roamed up and down the earth, snaring the sons of Adam, and destroying them. You may always know her dead victims, for, whenever a man has been destroyed by the hands of Lilith, you will always find a single golden hair wrapped tight around his lifeless heart. To this day many and many a son of Adam is lured to death and ruin from having the golden hair of a woman wrapped too tight around his heart."

ST. NICHOLAS.

"The King of all podkleteers seems for the young on either side of the atlantic."—Southampton (England) Observer.

The third volume of this incomparable Magazine is now issued. With its eight hundred royal octavo pages, and its six hundred illustrations, its splendid serials, its shorter stories, poems, and sketches, etc., in its so-to-speak binding of red and gold, it is the most splendid gift-book for boys and girls ever issued from the press. Price, $4; in full gilt, $5.

"ST. NICHOLAS is full of the choicest things. The Publishers, in all respects, the best of its kind. We have never yet seen a number that was not surprisingly good."—The Churchman, Hartford, Conn.

ST. NICHOLAS FOR 1877,

Which opens with November, 1876, begins a short and very entertaining Serial from the French, "The Kingdom of the Greedy," a story adapted to the Thanksgiving season. Another serial, of a soothing interest is boys,

"HIS OWN MASTER,"

By J. T. Trowbridge,

Author of the "Jack Hazard stories," begins in the Christmas Holiday Number.

Besides serial stories, Christmas stories, lively sketches, poems and pictures for the holidays, and some astonishing illustrations of Oriental sports, with drawings by Siamese artists, the Christmas Holiday Number of ST. NICHOLAS, superbly illustrated, contains a very interesting paper,

"THE BOYS OF MY BOYHOOD,"

By William Cullen Bryant;

"The Horse Hotel," a lively article, by Charles A. Barnard, splendidly illustrated; "The Clock in the Sky," by Richard A. Proctor; "A Christmas Day for Jack's Sunday-school," by Dr. Eggleston; "The Wonders of Corcovado Tower," by Lucretia P. Hale; "Poetry and Carols of Winter," by Lucy Larcom, with pictures.

Do Not Fail to Buy St. Nicholas for the Christmas Holidays. Price 25 cents.

During the year there will be ink-resting papers by Dr. Holland, by William Cullen Bryant, John G. White, Thomas Hughes, William Howitt, Dr. Holland, George Macdonald, Sanford B. Hunt, Frank R. Stockton, and others.

There will be stories, sketches, and poems, of special interest to girls, by Mrs. Dodge, Celia Thaxter, Susan Coolidge, Sarah Winter Kellogg, Elizabeth Stuart Phelps, Louisa Alcott, Lucretia P. Hale, Celia Thaxter, Mary Mapes Dodge, and many others. There will be also

"TWELVE SKY PICTURES,"

By Prof. Proctor, the Astronomer,

with maps, showing "The Stars of Each Month," which will be likely to surpass in interest any series on popular science recently given to the public.

Announcements and Introductions, Fun and Frolic, and Wit and Wisdom, will be mingled as heretofore, and ST. NICHOLAS will continue to delight the young and give pleasure to the old.

The London Literary World says: "There is no magazine for the young that can be said to equal in point and production ST. NICHOLAS. All the articles, whether in prose or rayme, are throbbing with vitality. * * * The literature and artistic illustrations are both superb."

The London Daily News says: "We wish we could point out its equal in our own periodical literature."

GOOD NEWS FOR BOYS AND GIRLS:

To most be deemed for a cheaper St. NICHOLAS Gift Book, the price of vols. I and II has been reduced to $3 each. The three volumes, in an elegant library case, are sold for $10 (in full gilt, $15), so that all may give their children a complete set. These volumes contain more attractive material than fifty dollars' worth of the ordinary children's books.

Subscription price, $4 a year. The three bound volumes, and a subscription for three years, only $12. Subscribe with the nearest newsdealer, or send money in check, or P. O. money order, or in registered letter, to

SCRIBNER & CO., 743 Broadway, N. Y.

SCRIBNER'S MONTHLY,

An Illustrated Illustrated Magazine.

The prospectus for the new volume gives the titles of more than fifty papers (nearly illustrated), by writers of the highest merit. Under the head of

"FOREIGN TRAVEL,"

we have "A Winter on the Nile," by Gen. McClellan; "Sauntering About Constantinople," by Charles Dudley Warner; "Out of My Window at Moscow," by Eugene Schuyler; "An American in Turkistan," etc. Three serial stories are announced:

"NICHOLAS MINTORN,"

by Dr. Holland, the Editor, whose story of "Seven-Oaks" gave the highest satisfaction to the readers of the Monthly.

The scene of this latest novel is laid on the banks of the Hudson. The hero is a young man who has been always "tied to a woman's apron strings," but who, by the death of his mother, is left alone in the world, and on the current of life, with a fortune, but without a purpose.

Another serial, "His Inheritance," by Miss Trafton, will be on the completion of "That Lass o' Lowrie's," by Mrs. Hodgson Burnett. Mrs. Burnett's story, begun in August, has a pathos and dramatic power which have been a surprise to the public.

There is to be a series of original illustrated papers on "Popular Science," by Mrs. Herrick, each paper complete in itself.

There are to be, from various pens, papers on

too, practical suggestions as to town and country life, village improvements, etc., by well-known specialists.

Mr. Barnard's articles on various industries of real Britain include the history of "Some Experiments in Co-operation," "A Scottish Leaf Factory," in the November number, and "Tool Lane, Birmingham," in December. Other papers are, "The British Workingman's Home," "A Nation of Shopkeepers," "Haymow a Week for the Child," etc.

A series of illustrated articles by Mr. Hallock, "American Sports by Flood and Field," by various writers, and each on a different theme. The subject of

"HOUSEHOLD AND HOME DECORATION"

will have a prominent place whilst the latest productions of American humorists will appear from month to month. The list of shorter stories, biographical and miscellaneous articles, etc., is a long one.

The editorial department will continue to employ the ablest pens both at home and abroad. There will be a series of letters on literary matters, from London, by Mr. Welford.

We mean to make the magazine sweeter and purer, brighter and sunlier, more genial and generous in all its utterances and influences, and a more welcome visitor than ever before to homes of refinement and culture.

FIFTEEN MONTHS FOR $4.00.

SCRIBNER for December, now ready, contains the opening chapters of "Nicholas Minturn." The three numbers of SCRIBNER for August, September, and October, containing the opening chapters of "That Lass o' Lowrie's," will be given to every new subscriber (who requests it), and whose subscription begins with the present volume, i.e., with the November number.

Subscription price, $4 a year—35 cents a number. Special terms on bound volumes. Subscribe with the nearest bookseller, or send a check or P. O. money order to

MAGIC

CONDITION PILLS!

The Wonderful Remedy for Liver Complaint, Biliousness, Dyspepsia, Constipation, Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Headache, Kidney Complaint, Nervousness, Scrofula, Piles, and all diseases arising from a bad state of the Blood!

Is the ultima thule of Medical Discovery.

No medicine ever offered to the public has given such universal satisfaction as Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. Their praises are on every tongue where it merits are known. They strike at once at the seat of disease and show their healing power almost immediately. Thousands of voluntary testimonials of their merits have been received by the agent, from those who have been cured by them, of which the following are samples:

Dyspepsia Four Years, Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels Three Years, Confined to my Room Two Years, Pain as I Could Not Sleep Without Morphine. One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills Made Me Eat Well, Sleep Well and Free from Pain, after being given up by Physicians.

WEST LEBANON, ME., Feb. 22, 1

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I have been sick for four years with Dyspepsia, and for the past three years Constipation and inflammation of the Bowels. I have suffered all the pain I could endure and live. I have been confined to my room for two years, and could not sleep nights without the use of morphine. I have been given up by physicians as past cure. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, and they have done me more good than all the doctors I have had. I sleep well, I eat well and have no pain. They are all they are recommended to be. Please send me three packages, as two of my neighbors wish to try them. I enclose $4.50. Your truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Another Letter from Maj. John W. Lord, one month later—Wonderful Cures by Dr. Quain's Pills Effected on Him in Thirteen Days. First time Free from Pain for Three Years.

WEST LEBANON, ME., March 22, 1875.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I commenced taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS February 8th, and now you February 22d of their wonderful effect. I have continued to improve ever since. My appetite is good, and I sleep as well as I ever did in my life. I am free from pain for the first time in three years. When I was taken sick four years ago, I weighed one hundred and eighty-six pounds; I now weigh one hundred and thirty, and, as I am gaining in strength, I have laid aside my cane. I shall go East this summer, by the use of the Pills. I shall continue taking them for some time to come. Yours truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Dr. Quain's Pills the Remedy for Soldiers' Aches and Pains.

WEST LEBANON, ME., June 1, 1875.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I am now able to walk out every day, and am gaining in strength very fast, all on account of the one dozen packages of the best Pills in the world. I have taken no other medicine, and my improvement has been steady since first taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done everything for me, and I will say to you, advertise them abroad to the soldiers, for they will certainly cure them of aches and pains caused from exposure and hardship on the field. Please send me by return mail another package. JOHN W. LORD.

Rheumatism for Twenty Years Cured by One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills—"The Best Medicine in the World."

EAST ANDOVER, N. H., Dec. 10, 1875.

MR. LANE—Dear Sir:—As I know the value of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS and the good they have done me, I take pleasure in giving them praise; so I send you one dollar for another box. I have been troubled with Rheumatism for twenty years or more, and has tried everything that could be thought of, but to no good. At times it would be so bad that he could not lift his hand to his head or go any work at all, especially in cold weather. A short time ago Individual him to get some of these Pills. He believed nothing in them, but I gave him the last package I had on me, as I did not need them, and he has not been as free from the Rheumatic Complaint for years. No Rheumatism, no pain. We had proved him? It was DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, the best medicine in the world. There is nothing like them. I know it, for I have tried them, and they are all, yes, more than they are recommended to be. Give them a fair trial and you will say so. I write this because I know the goodness of them and wish others to know the same. Some may think I am telling a big story. I am. But remember I am not giving them half the praise they ought to have. Yours with respect, ED. F. PEVARE.

Wonderful Effect of Four Doses of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills upon Neuralgia of Twelve Years' Duration—Testimony of Rev. J. S. Patton.

DAINGERFIELD, MORRIS CO., TEXAS, NOV. 16, 75.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I have been afflicted for near twelve years with Neuralgia in the face and head. I cheer I do not know how many physicians I have taken, and spent much money, I also tried many patent medicines with the same result. I have been confined to my room most all the time for eight or ten winters, and have been traveling and visiting medical springs, and I still suffered most intensely. Two physicians told me plainly my case the worst and most stubborn that they had had anything to do with. One said he I could never get well; they all advised me to go South and spend the winter, and thought that was the only chance for me, and I was trying to get ready to go to Florida, when through the kindness of Rev. H. M. Mathis, my attention was called to the advertisement of Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. I immediately sent to you for a package. I have taken four doses and I will assure you there is no pain. The impression here seems to be that if your pills will cure me, they will cure anybody. I have sent applications to send for the pills. Enclosed please find three dollars, send five packages to me and one to Mrs. Laura Sherrell Sulphur Springs, Hopkins county, Texas. Yours truly, J. S. PATTON.

Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache.

LACONIA, N. H., Jan. 29, 1875.

THOS. W. LANE—Sir:—I have been troubled with Bad Blood, Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache. I have taken one package of Dr. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done me more good than all the medicine I ever took; I have taken considerable medicine within the last five years. For the proves I think there is nothing so good as these pills. I can recommend them to all who are similarly afflicted, they have done me so much good. I think they will recommend themselves wherever they are. I shall recommend these Pills to all who need them. Please send me two packages more, one for myself and one for a lady friend of mine. Many thanks to the inventor, agent, and advertiser of those Pills. MRS. P. L. ELLIOTT.

PULMOCINE.

BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL

is no new discovery. Twenty-three years ago it was used by one of New England's most famous physicians as the best Pulmonic Cordial he could prescribe, after a dozen years spent in experimenting with it before he was satisfied that the Materia Medica could add nothing in its favor.

Among its many ingredients are Wild Cherry Bark, Squill Root, Liquorice Root, Blood root, &c. It is a Blood Purifier, gently stimulating. It increases expectoration and is diuretic. It is sudorific and alterative. It is a necessary family medicine. It is a Tonic and a powerful aid to the digestive organs. It is a gentle sedative, and relieves nervousness. It is aromatic and agreeable to the taste.

PULMOCINE CORDIAL

is a speedy and reliable Preventive and Remedy. Every Family should have a bottle at hand to check the sudden growth of all Pulmonary Diseases. For the Asthma, Coughs, Croups, Laryngitis, or inflammation of the larynx, Diphtheria, and all kindred Throat Diseases at all times prevalent, it is the ounce of Prevention. Children attacked with Whooping Cough or Croup should be immediately cared for. These painful attacks come with scarcely a moment's warning, when a physician may be out of immediate reach. A dose of PULMOCINE CORDIAL gives speedy relief, and the little ones are spared hours of pain and agony. As "a stitch in time saves nine," so does the possession of this Family Medicine prevent the spread of disease. Parents seeing their children gasping with pain, friends and relatives beholding each other in peril from suffocation by the choking pain in the throat, paralyzed with fear and not knowing the best course to pursue, are liable to apply the wrong remedial agent. There is no safety in delay, no time to waste in such cases. CONSUMPTION, that fearful scourge of the human race, lies at the door of all this afflicted. BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL arrests it (unless in its advanced stage at which time there is no local cure) relieves the pressing, suffocating feeling at the lungs, and the patient's danger is past.

For Coughs,

Croup,

Diphtheria,

Asthma, etc.,

The Pulmocine Cordial is not a quack medicine, is not an experiment, is not composed of any ingredients "discovered" by "walking in pastures" in South America or anywhere else, nor by one who discovered a weed and thereby cured himself. Most of the ingredients are such as our best educated physicians daily use for the complaints specified in some form or other. The recipe is that perfected by one of New England's most learned and famous physicians, who used it entirely in his daily practice until his death. It is offered to the profession and to the public absolutely pure and unadulterated.

OF

FOREIGN LITERATURE.

THIRTY-THIRD YEAR.

THE ECLECTIC reprints from the foreign Quarterlies, Reviews, Magazines, and Journals, their choicest contents, including Essays, Scientific Papers, Biographical Sketches, Reminiscences of Travel and Adventure, Tales, Stories, and Poems. The field of selection is very large, and it is believed that the ECLECTIC presents a greater variety and higher standard of literature than any periodical can hope to do that depends exclusively upon home talent.

A knowledge of the current literature of other countries is indispensable to all who would keep pace with the progress of the human mind; and the ECLECTIC offers the best, and, indeed, the only opportunity for obtaining this knowledge within a reasonable compass, and at a moderate price.

Among the writers represented in recent numbers of the ECLECTIC are: The Rt. Hon. W. E. Gladstone, James Anthony Froude, Matthew Arnold, Charles Kingsley, Robert Buchanan, Geo. McDonald, John Ruskin, Alfred Tennyson, Thomas Hughes, William Black, Mrs. Oliphant, Thos. Hardy, William Morris, Miss Thackeray, Mrs. Alexander, Prof. Huxley and Tyndall, Richard Proctor, R. A., Prof. Owen, Dr. W. B. Carpenter, Max Muller, J. Norman Lockyer, Herbert Spencer, and others equally eminent. Besides the regular articles in the body of the magazine, there are four original Editorial Departments: Literary Notices, Foreign Literary Notes, Science and Art, and Varieties.

With regard to the character of the selections, the aim of the ECLECTIC is to be instructive without being dull, and entertaining without being trivial. While each number contains something to interest every member of the family circle, it addresses itself particularly to that great body of intelligent readers who seek profit as well as amusement in solid and healthful literature.

Besides the 128 pages of reading matter, each number of the magazine contains a Fine Steel-Engraving usually a portrait—executed in the most artistic manner.

TERMS.—Single copies, 45 cents; one copy one year $5; two copies, $8; five copies, $20. Trial subscriptions for three months, $1.

The ECLECTIC and any $4 Magazine to one address, $6.

WHAT PAYS?

IT PAYS every Manufacturer, Merchant, Mechanic, Inventor, Farmer, or Professional Man, to keep informed on all the improvements and discoveries of the age.

It pays the head of every family to introduce into his household a newspaper that is instructive, one that fosters a taste for investigation, and promotes thought and encourages discussion among the members.

The Scientific American

which has been published weekly for the last thirty-one years, does this, to an extent beyond that of any other publication; in fact it is the only weekly paper published in the United States, devoted to Manufactures, Mechanics, Inventions and New Discoveries in the Arts and Sciences.

Every number is profusely illustrated and its contents embrace the latest and most interesting information pertaining to the Industrial, Mechanical, and Scientific Progress of the world; Descriptions, with Beautiful Engravings of New Inventions, New Implements, New Processes, and Improved Industries of all kinds; Useful Notes, Recipes, Suggestions and Advice by Practical Writers, for Workmen and Employers, in all the various arts, forming a complete repertory of New Inventions and Discoveries; giving a weekly record, not only of the progress of the Industrial Arts in our own country, but also of all New Discoveries and Inventions in every branch of Engineering, Mechanics and science abroad.

THE SCIENTIFIC AMERICAN has been the foremost of all industrial publications for the past thirty-one years. It is the oldest, largest, cheapest, and the best weekly illustrated paper devoted to Engineering, Mechanics, Chemistry, New Inventions, Science and Industrial Progress, published in the world.

The practical Recipes are well worth ten times the subscription price, and for the show and hints will save many times the cost of subscription.

Merchants, Farmers, Mechanics, Engineers, Inventors, Manufacturers, Chemists, Lovers of Science, and People of all Professions, will find the SCIENTIFIC AMERICAN useful to them. It should have a place in every Family, Library, Study, Office and Counting Room; in every Reading Room, College and School. A new volume commences January 1st, 1877.

A year's numbers contain 832 pages and SEVERAL HUNDRED ENGRAVINGS. Thousands of volumes are preserved for binding and reference. Terms, $3.20 a year by mail, including postage. Discount to Clubs. Special circulars, giving Club rates sent free. Single copies mailed on receipt of 10 cents. May be had of all News Dealers.

PATENTS, American, Messrs. Munn & Co are Solicitors of American and Foreign Patents, and have the largest establishment in the world. More than fifty thousand Applications have been made for patents through their agency.

Patents are obtained on the best terms. Models of New Inventions and Sketches examined, and advice free. A special notice is made in the Scientific American of all Inventions Patented through this Agency, with the name and residence of the Patentee. Patents are often sold in part or in whole, to persons attracted to the Invention by such notice. A Pamphlet, containing full directions for obtaining Patents sent free. The Scientific American Reference Book, a volume bound in cloth and gilt, containing the Patent Laws, Census of the U. S., and 142 Engravings of mechanical movements. Price 25 Cents.

Lippincott's Magazine.

AN ILLUSTRATED MONTHLY OF POPULAR LITERATURE, SCIENCE, and ART.

Announcement for 1877.

The number for January begins the nineteenth volume of this Magazine, and while its past record will, it is hoped, be deemed a sufficient guarantee of future excellence, no efforts will be spared to diversify its attractions and to provide an increased supply of Popular Reading in the Best and Most Emphatic Sense. The great object and constant aim of the conductors will be to furnish the public with Literary Entertainment of a Refined and Varied Character, as well as to give an insight into the striking manner the most recent information and soundest views on subjects of General Interest, in a form, to render LIPPINCOTT'S MAGAZINE strikingly distinctive in those features that are most attractive in Popular Literature. The contributions now on hand, or specially engaged, embrace a highly attractive list of Tales, Short Stories, Descriptive Sketches, Narratives, Papers on Science and Art, Poems, Popular Essays, Literary Criticisms, etc., etc., by talented and well known writers. A large proportion of the articles, specially these descriptive of travel, will be profusely and beautifully illustrated. The pictorial embellishments of the Magazine constitute one of its many attractive features.

In addition to the general attractions of LIPPINCOTT'S MAGAZINE the Publishers would invite attention to the following

SPECIAL FEATURES FOR 1877.

1. A new serial story,

"THE MARQUIS OF LOSSIE,"

by George Macdonald, author of "Malcolm," "Alec Forbes," "Robert Falconer," etc.

To those of our readers who are familiar with "Malcolm," this new story from the pen of this distinguished writer will need no recommendation, save his reputation is a guarantee to others of a deeply interesting and powerful story. It began in the November number, and will continue in the December part, will be furnished gratis to all new subscribers for 1877.

2. A profusely illustrated series of sketches of

SWEDISH SCENERY AND LIFE,

by Prof. Willard Fiske, of Cornell University, who is thoroughly familiar with Sweden and its people from personal observation.

3. A series of popular papers on

ART AND ART MATTERS,

by Edward Strahan (Earl Shinn), author of "The New Hyperion," etc.

4. Illustrated Sketches of Travel, entitled

PICTURES FROM SPAIN

by Edward King, author of "The Great South," etc.

5. Mrs. Lucy H. Hooper's Interesting and Elegant

PAPERS AND LETTERS FROM PARIS,

will be continued through the year.

6.

THE BEAUTIES OF THE RHINE,

will be described in a richly illustrated series of papers.

7. During the year will appear a number of handsomely illustrated short articles, descriptive of Life, Travel and Adventure in the United States, England, South America, Japan, Mongolia, and other countries.

AMONG THE BEST PEOPLE.

I.—IT PUBLISHES ALL THE NEWS. The servant of no man, the slave of no party, it canfaithfully and does tell the truth about all.

II.—IT IS IMPARTIAL AND INDEPENDENT. Believing in intelligent suffrage, it aims to furnish voters the fullest and fairest information, to qualify them for the wisest discharge of their responsibility.

III.—IT IS, AS IT ALWAYS WAS, ESSENTIALLY REPUBLICAN. If any quarrel in the future, as it has done in the past, with errors of republican leaders or corruptions in the republican party; built can never cease to be true to republican principles, and especially to those golden doctrines of civil service reform, land money, the sanctity of the National faith, and equal justice to all classes at the South, which formed the cornerstones of Gov. Hayes' admirable letter of acceptance.

IV.—ITS MORAL TONE IS PURE AND ELEVATED. The family circle is never profaned by anything which appears in the columns of THE TRIBUNE.

V.—THE CHOICEST STANDARD AND CURRENT LITERATURE of the day is presented in the columns, including Correspondence, Poems, Stories, and reviews from the most talented and popular writers.

VI.—IT IS THE BEST AND CHEAPEST FARMER'S PAPER PUBLISHED. "THE WEEKLY TRIBUNE has done more to make American farmers than any other influence which ever existed."

VII.—THE MARKET REPORTS of THE TRIBUNE are indispensable to every merchant and seller in the country. Quotations are given daily and weekly of almost every article bought and sold in the markets of the world, and with unerring and almost infallible accuracy. In Cattle, Butter and Cheese, and other Markets are the recognized standard.

VIII.—MORE COPIES OF THE TRIBUNE are paid for and read by the American people than of any other newspaper of equal price in the country—a fact which is the best demonstration of the value of the paper.

IX.—THE READERS of THE TRIBUNE represent larger, on the best average, the intelligence and wealth of the country. Persons who are interested in pure politics, the current news of science, and the progress of opinion, will find their demands met by THE TRIBUNE.

X.—PUBLIC APPROVAL AND PROSPERITY have rewarded the independent and self-respectful course of THE TRIBUNE. It has a larger and stronger circle of earnest friends and readers than it has ever before, and constantly receives from old and new readers words of encouragement.

LITTELL'S LIVING AGE FOR 1877. The continued and increasing success of this periodical (now over thirty-three years old) is doubtless owing to the fact that it still retains its comprehensive and cheap mode of keeping well informed in the best literature of the day. With its weekly issue, and its three and a quarter thousand large pages of reading matter a year, it is enabled to present with freshness and satisfactory completeness the choicest essays and reviews, choice serial and short stories, interesting sketches of travel and discovery, poetry, and valuable biographical, historical, scientific and political information from the entire body of foreign periodical literature.

In its pages are represented such eminent authors as Dr. Mac Munn, Dean Stanley, Prof. Huxley, Mr. Gladstone, Dr. W. B. Carpenter, Prof. Huxley, Richard Ayton, Francis Power Cobbe, The Duke of Argyll, Jas. A. Froude, Mrs. Muloch, Mrs. Oliphant, Mrs. Alexander, Miss Thackeray, Jean Ingelow, Rev. McDonald, Wm. Black, Matthew Arnold, Henry Kingsley, W. W. Story, Auerbach, Ruskin, Carlyle, Tennyson, Browning, and many other leaders in science, fiction, history, biography, philosophy, poetry, theology, politics, criticism and art.

The subscription price ($8 a year) is cheap for the amount of reading furnished; while for those desiring the cream of both home and foreign literature, the publishers feel it still the best offer, viz.: to send, postpaid, The Living Age and either one of the American $4 monthlies, or weeklies, a year for $10 50. With The Living Age and one of our leading American monthlies, a subscriber will at small cost, be put in "command of the whole situation."

An extra offer, also, is made to all new subscribers for 1877, viz.: to send them gratis the six numbers of 1876, containing, besides other valuable reading, the first installments of a new and unusually powerful serial story by George MacDonald, now appearing in The Living Age from advance sheets.

The volume begins Jan. 1st, and we recommend he preferred to the attention of our readers. We know of no other way in which so much of the best work of the best minds of the time can be obtained so cheaply and conveniently as through this standard weekly magazine. Published by Littell & Gay, Boston.

THE SUN.

1877 NEW YORK. 1877

The different editions of THE SUN during the next year will be the same as during the year that has just passed. The daily edition will on week days be a sheet of four pages, and on Sundays a sheet of eight pages, or 56 broad columns; while the weekly edition will be a sheet of eight pages of the same dimensions and character that are already familiar to our friends.

THE SUN will continue to be the strenuous advocate of reform and retrenchment, and of the substitution of statesmanship, wisdom, and integrity for blow hard, imbecility, and fraud in the administration of public affairs. It will contend for the government of the people by the people and for the people, as opposed to government by frauds in the ballot-box and in the counting of votes, enforced by military violence. It will endeavor to supply its readers,—a body now not far from one million of souls—with the most careful, complete, and trustworthy accounts of current events, and will employ for this purpose a numerous and carefully selected staff of reporters and correspondents. Its reports from Washington, especially, will be full, accurate and fearless; and it will doubtless continue to deserve and enjoy the hatred of those who thrive by plundering the Treasury or by usurping what the law does not give them, while it will endeavor to merit the confidence of the public by defending the rights of the people against the encroachments of unjustified power.

The price of the daily SUN will be 55 cents a month or $6.50 a year, post paid, or with the Sunday edition $7.70 a year.

The SUNDAY edition alone, eight pages, $1.20 a year, post paid.

The WEEKLY SUN, eight pages of 56 broad columns, will be furnished during 1877 at the rate of $1 a year, post paid.

The benefit of this large reduction from the previous rate for the WEEKLY can be enjoyed by individual subscribers without the necessity of making up clubs. At the same time, if any of our friends choose to aid in extending our circulation, we shall be grateful to them, and every such person who sends us ten or more subscribers from one place will be entitled to one copy of the paper for himself without charge. At one dollar a year, postage paid, the expenses of paper and printing are barely repaid; and, considering the size of the sheet and the quality of its contents, we are confident the people will consider THE WEEKLY SUN the cheapest newspaper published in the world, and we trust also one of the very best.

CHARLES E. LAIGHTON & SON.

$25, $50, $100, $200, $500.

The reliable house of ALEX. FROTHINGHAM & CO., No. 12 Wall St. New York, publish a handsome eight-page weekly paper, called the Weekly Financial Report, which they send free to any address. In addition to a large number of editorials on financial and other topics, it contains very full and accurate reports of the sales and standing of every stock, bond and security dealt in at the Stock Exchange. Messrs. FROTHINGHAM & CO. are extensive brokers of large experience and tried integrity. In addition to their regular business, they sell what are termed "Privileges," or "Puts and Calls," now one of the favorite methods of legitimate speculation. Their advice is valuable, and by following it many have made fortunes.—[New York Metropolis.]

☞ All New Subscribers for 1877, paying in advance after November 1, 1876, will receive the paper weekly, from receipt of remittance to January 1st, 1877, without charge.

COMBINED PAPERS—FORTY-SEVENTH YEAR!

THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN.

THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN is published weekly on the following terms, when paid strictly in advance: ONE COPY, one year, $2.50; FOUR COPIES, $10, and an additional copy for the year free to the sender of the Club. TEN COPIES, and an additional copy for the year free to the sender of the Club.

THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN possesses an unequaled Corps of Correspondents, regular and special, among the Best Farmers of All Parts of the Country, and constantly reflects the practical condition and prospects of the husbandry of every section of the United States and civilized world.

THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN gives in its Horticultural department, the latest and most informative hints and suggestions, equal or superior in the aggregate to what is obtained in the monthly numbers of most magazines devoted to Horticulture.

THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN has probably done as much as all other Journals combined, to introduce and disseminate Improved Stock and Seeds, Every Where through the country; and commands to a greater degree than any contemporary, the confidence and support of breeders and purchasers.

THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN contains unusually full and trustworthy Market Reports, and devotes special attention to these and to the Prospects of the Crops, as throwing light upon one of the most important of all questions— When to Buy and When to Sell.

THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN embraces numerous minor departments of a practical character, such as the Dairy, the Poultry Yard, the Apiary, the Vineyard, and so on, and weekly presents a column or two for the Housewife, and an interesting variety of Fireside Reading. It contains a well-edited review of Current Events, and its advertising pages furnish a directory of all the principal agricultural and horticultural establishments of the country.

A Pathetic Tale.

An affecting story comes to us from Oakland. It appears that a wealthy middle-aged Englishman had become somewhat jealous of his young and pretty wife, a not uncommon incident, we are sorry to say, in the lives of wealthy middle-aged men in this part of the globe. A young New Yorker, with engaging manners and a cutaway coat, was the cause of all his disquietude, so the disturbed Benedict concluded to try the threadbare dodge of ostensibly going up to Sacramento for a week. The second day, however, he quietly returned and let himself quietly into the house as a domestic smelling committee of one. In the library were several coats of mail brought over from the shore of Albion's ancestral home. It struck him as a happy idea that he should hide in one of these, which he managed to do with great difficulty, as the armors were clamped upright to the floor, and he had great trouble in letting himself down into one, and then screwing everything all snug and tight afterwards. This done, he awaited developments. This was in the afternoon. To his great astonishment nine o'clock passed without any one calling, or his wife coming down stairs. About one A. M. he fell asleep through fatigue, and began snoring. The butler thought he heard burglars about, so he came down stairs in his nightgown, with a double-barrelled gun under his arm. The jealous gentleman had just begun to dream he was an iron-clad when a handful of quail shot took him in the breast-plate, and, amid his terrified shrieks, the butler promptly put the other load into the pier-glass, under the impression that another burglar was drawing a bead on him. After the whole neighborhood was aroused the mistake was discovered, and the battered party extracted by the aid of a blacksmith. Amid the snickers of the entire assembly the chagrined man crawled up stairs to his bed-room. A small note was sticking on the pincushion. His wife had eloped the morning before!"—San Francisco Mail.

A Great Pickpocket.

She wore one of those pockets behind, in which, beside her handkerchief, she had deposited an apple, a handful of peanuts, a quarter of a pound of gum-drops, a little bottle of ammonia, and some other trifles. She and her swain, after admiring the complexion of the huge beast, turned their backs upon him to watch the monkey and the live kangaroo, and gaze into each other's eyes; to do this the better they leaned back against the rope which enclosed the stately monarch of the south, who saw the apple protruding from the pocket of the unconscious fair one. He hesitated a moment and was lost to all sense of honor or self-respect, for with shuffling movements he emulated the example of our common mother, plucked and ate the fruit, scooped out the gum-drops and peanuts with a sly wink at his nephew, who was looking with anxiety at the proceedings. But the lion mouthful the majestic beast took in the ammonia bottle by mistake, the cork came out, and about an ounce of hartshorn ran down the throat of the beast. This beverage is said to have a reviving and stimulating influence, and in this case it proved its power, for a more revived elephant was never seen on earth. The big elephant has learned a lesson in morals which will probably induce him to let other people's pockets alone, though nobody dares to carry a bottle within range of his proboscis.—Kansas City Times.

"Felt it Pull, of Course!"

There was a Sunday School celebration within a hundred miles of Chicago, not long ago, and the minister made a speech to the children, in which he endeavored to teach the nature of faith. So he told them the following story by way of illustration:

In the deepening twilight of a summer's evening a pastor called at the residence of one of his parishioners, and found seated in the doorway a little boy with hands extended upward, holding a line.

"What are you doing here, my little friend?" inquired the minister.

"Flying my kite," was the prompt reply.

"Flying your kite!" exclaimed the pastor; "I can see no kite—you can see none."

"I cannot see it, but I know it is there, for I feel it pull!"

The children were all deeply interested, and the clergyman continued:

"Now in a few days the mother of the little boy was about to die, and she said to him:

"My son, when I am an angel I will come if I can and be with you and shield you from all harm, and watch to see that you grow up a good man. Will you try to think sometimes that I am by your side?"

And the little boy said he would.

"Now, my dear children," said the minister, "when that blessed angel came back from Heaven and hovered over her child, and placed her hand among the fair golden hair, how did he know that she was there, for he could not see her?"

"Why, he felt her pull, of course!" roared the class in unison, and with the promptness of absolute necessity.

The speaker sat down all of a sudden, and the exercises concluded with the singing of a hymn.

Counting the Votes.

The democrats in Congress had a caucus in Representatives Hall on Saturday night. More than a dozen speeches were made, some of which were of a heated tone, but the cool and temperate sort prevailed, and the caucus ended by the adoption of a resolution offered by Mr. Reagan of Texas, which pledged the democrats in Congress not to make any factious opposition to the continuance of the electoral count, while it protested against the action of the Electoral Commission relative to Florida and Louisiana. This resolution was adopted as a substitute for one offered by Mr. Cochrane of Pennsylvania, which proposed that the House should, by taking recesses from time to time, prevent the completion of the electoral count before the 4th of March. The members who advocated the idea embodied in Cochrane's resolution were Hurd of Ohio, Thompson of Massachusetts, Lynde of Wisconsin, Southard of Ohio and Jones of Kentucky. The members who opposed any attempt to interfere with the Electoral Commission were Singleton of Mississippi, Reagan of Texas, Young of Tennessee, Tucker of Virginia, Senator Bayard of Delaware, David Dudley Field and Senator Kernan. The vote against Mr. Cochrane's resolution stood more than two to one, and the vote by which Reagan's resolution was adopted was 66 to 40. The advocates of the filibustering policy were in a minority of less than one-third, and good order and good sense prevailed. It is settled once for all, therefore, that the democrats will make no objection to the continuance of the work of the Electoral Commission.

The Senate and House met in joint convention on Monday at 11 o'clock, and the decision of the Commission in the Louisiana case was read. Gibson of Louisiana then sent a formal objection to the counting of the vote of Louisiana to the Speaker's desk, and an hour was spent in reading it; a second objection, signed by Thompson of Massachusetts, and a third, signed by the men who voted in the democratic caucus Saturday night to filibuster till March 4th to prevent the election of a President, were also sent up and read. At one o'clock the Senate withdrew, and on motion of Fernando Wood, the House took a recess until Tuesday at ten o'clock A. M., twenty-three democrats voting against taking the recess. The recess was ordered by 140 yeas to 130 nays.

Congress.

The state of legislation in Congress is such that unless earnest efforts are made by both democrats and republicans an extra session of the Forty-fifth Congress will be rendered unavoidable. There are but eleven working days of this session, and only two of the Appropriation bills have become laws leaving ten to be disposed of. The Consular, Diplomatic, and Pension bills have been passed. The Indian, Fortification, and Military Academy bills are before the Conference Committees and will be acted upon this week. The Legislative, Judicial, and Post Office bills are ready for the action of the Senate and will be called up as soon as the legislative business is resumed. The Naval and Deficiency bills are before the Senate Committee on Appropriations, and will be reported this week. The Sundry Civil, River and Harbor, and Army bills have not yet passed the House of Representatives. The General Appropriation bills are in a more backward condition than usual, and it will be necessary to have prolonged sessions to finish up the business before the 4th of March.

How The "Reform" Campaign Was Conducted.

Eph Holland, the notorious "sporting man" of Cincinnati who engineered the Goss-Allen prize fight and was assistant-engineer of the "reform" campaign in Ohio in the October election, was recently arrested in New York and taken back to Cincinnati. Holland acknowledges that he had a man from Chicago, named Burns, with twelve men; a man named Fairchild from Pittsburg, with eight men, and Mike Gleason from New York with eighteen men, who cast about 500 votes. He received 1000 from the democratic Committee, and was promised more from individual politicians who failed to pay him the money. These frauds (and others previously exposed, the perpetrators of which to the number of a dozen or so are now in the Ohio penitentiary,) gave the "Bounding Banning" an election to Congress over Judge Stanley Matthews, by a majority of sixty-seven; and this exposure of the manner in which Banning was elected will probably result in his bounding out of Congress, unless the democrats should have majority enough to be able to do as they did in the Frost-Abbott and Platte-Goode cases, where they gave the seats to men whom they did not even pretend had a shadow of right to them, simply because they were democrats.

"A Obstnit Pack."

Not long ago a deputy sheriff, in attendance upon a court in one of the interior counties of this State, found in the jury room, after a disagreeing jury had been discharged, a note addressed to the Judge and evidently written by a juror, in which the magistrate was informed that it was of no use to keep the jury longer, as "the juror are a obstnit pack, Mr. Judge you might just as well send us home." It was subsequently found that the "obstnit" part of the jury numbered eleven, and the impartial portion of the jury consisted solely of the writer of the note.

There is another jury, now in session in Washington, the majority of which is being denounced by wholesale as "a obstnit pack," and with about as much propriety as the eleven New Hampshire jurors were denounced by their one opponent. A majority of this National Jury hold one opinion and the minority another; and this minority, and their supporters outside the jury room, are unsparing in their maledictions against the "partisanship" of the majority, because the latter do not yield to the former, who have given "a strict party vote" on every question brought before them.

Nothing but a "party vote," it seems, was expected of the Congressional members of this jury,—though at least two members, the democratic Senators Bayard and Thurman, are on the record as having in the past vigorously denounced the theory that Congress had any right to go behind the electoral certificates given by a State in accordance with its own legal forms; but it was hoped that the Supreme Court Judges would give an impartial and non-partisan decision. Now the majority of these judges are of the opinion that Congress has no right to "go behind the returns," but the minority are not satisfied with that opinion, and the action of the majority in not yielding to the opinion of the minority is roundly abused as being obstinate and partisan. The fact that every democrat on the Commission voted steadily against the State Rights theory which has been the corner stone of the democratic structure for fifty years, seems to make no difference to the democracy; Tilden could be elected (they say) by utterly ignoring that theory, so it is partisanship on the part of the republicans not to ignore it. The democracy have always maintained that all rights not specially granted to the central government by the Constitution were reserved to the States, while the republicans have maintained that rights not specially reserved to the States were vested in the general government; but in this electoral vote business there is no valid reason for a controversy, as the Constitution expressly reserves to the States the sole right to deal with the question, and until it became necessary to set aside the Constitution by resolution of Congress in Tilden's interest, neither republican or democrat ever pretended that a right expressly reserved to the States could be taken from them by anything short of a Constitutional Amendment. Yet this is just what the democratic minority of the national jury wanted to do, and because the majority would not assent to such an extreme centralizing view "the juror are a obstnit pack."

As the one dissenting juror had more to say about obstinacy than did the other eleven, even so the minority of the Commission have done about all the talking in that body about partisanship; and yet, to the outside observer, it would seem that the "obstnit pack" of eleven did not possess all the obstinacy in the New Hampshire jury, nor the majority of the Commission display all the partisanship.

News and Notes.

Rear Admiral Charles Henry Davis, the senior officer of this grade in the service, and Superintendent of the Naval Observatory, died at Washington on Sunday, aged 69 years. He was born in Boston and was a brother-in-law of Prof. Pierce of Harvard. He was for many years stationed at Cambridge in connection with scientific duties as relating to the Nautical Almanac. He entered the service Aug. 12, 1823, and was appointed a Rear Admiral in 1863. By the rules of the navy he should have been retired seven years ago, but he, together with Rear Admiral Rodgers, received the thanks of Congress for services rendered on the Mississippi during the war, which entitled them to ten years' extra active service. This being the case his death will cause no vacancy, Admiral Davis has been in the service for about fifty-three years, his last foreign station being at the head of the Brazilian Squadron.

Chief Engineer Wood, U. S. N., will soon be relieved as Chief of the Bureau of Steam Engineering. Chief Engineer Wm. R. Shock is mentioned as his probable successor.

A life buoy marked "George Cromwell," has been picked up in Placentia Bay, Newfoundland. The steamer, no doubt, struck on Cape St. Mary's on the night of the 5th of January. Cape St. Mary's is 25 miles west of Cape Race, where the George Washington of the same line was wrecked. The land in the neighborhood is rugged and affords little chance of saving life. It is supposed all hands were drowned. About the 11th inst. wreckage began to land seven miles south of Placentia Harbor, including butter, a cabin door, a life buoy, and a case of geese.

Thomas Lockwood died of hydrophobia in Providence, Monday.

The Wamsutta Mills operatives in New Bedford struck on Monday.

Joe Coburn, the prize-fighter who shot two policemen in New York, is confined in the Tombs without bail, and the probability is that this notorious ruffian will soon be inside the penitentiary. Good job, too.

William H. Sidle, assistant cashier of the First National Bank of Minneapolis, Minnesota, was shot in the head and mortally wounded, Saturday, on the street in that city, by a young woman named Noonan, whom he had seduced and deserted. Sidle was highly connected.

At the telegraphers' reception in Chicago on Feb. 12, the dancers waltzed to music played in Milwaukee, 85 miles away. A waltz and several marches were transmitted by means of the wonderful telephone, the wires playing as distinctly and perfectly as human hands. The telephone or vocal telegraph is a flexible disk, two feet or more in diameter and very thin, connected with a powerful magnet and communicating by means of wires with a similar disk and magnet at the other end of the line. This sensitive disk receives and communicates the acoustic vibrations. The cheapness and simplicity of the instrument adapt it for use at spiritualistic seances, where it will be a decided improvement upon the accordions and banjos now employed. The music of the spheres will then be of a higher order than negro minstrelsy. When the art patrons of New York come to their senses and build a hall for Mr. Thomas's orchestra, connections can be made with the concert rooms of the principal cities, and classical music will be on tap near and far, with the travelling expenses of the musicians reduced to a minimum.—Tribune.

Maine has repealed the law giving bounties for the wolves and bears. Too many bear and wolf scalps were brought from the British Provinces into Maine, to collect bounty on.

Cogent Reasons for a Grand Success.

Conspicuous among the highest examples of success which the present century can show is Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. The record of the triumphs of disease is to be traced in the written acknowledgments of thousands who have experienced its beneficent effects, and the evidence of its popularity is to be found in the vast and growing demand for the article in North and South America, Mexico, Guatemala, the West Indies, Australia and Europe. The reasons for its unparalleled success are cogent ones. The accumulated evidence of nearly thirty years shows that it is a certain remedy for malarial disease, as well as its surest preventive; that it eradicates dyspepsia, constipation, liver complaint and nervousness, counteracts a tendency to gout, rheumatism urinary and uterine disorders, that it imparts vigor to the feeble, and cheers the mind while it invigorates the body.

E. G PIERCE, JR., P. M.

JOTTINGS.

Hon. Frank Jones has written a letter—or at least a letter is published over his name—accepting the democratic nomination for Congress from this district. The "heft" of the letter is an explanation of why he voted for the three-cornered Commission, the reason being that he supposed it would elect Tilden,—which, we may remark, the people neglected to do in November.

The Kearsarge Flute and Drum Band are to give a concert in Newmarket Town Hall on Saturday evening, Feb. 24th. Messrs. Hickey and McCarthy will also give their champion lighning drill, as an additional attraction on the same occasion.

The Farmers' Meeting at Greenland Academy, this afternoon and evening, will be addressed by Hon. John B. Smith, of Durham, on fruit growing; Hon. James O. Adams, of Manchester, on manures, animal and chemical; and Col. John M. Weare, of Seabrook, on better stock. The farmers of the County are invited to be present, take part in the discussion, and give their methods of preparing and applying manure and fertilizers; also tell the way they best succeed with their fruit trees, time of trimming, manner of preparing fruit for market, etc. If time admits, Mr. Adams will give a special address in the evening, adapted to the tastes of a miscellaneous audience. The young folks are especially invited.

The blue-glass epidemic has broken out in this city, but as yet it presents only a very mild type of the complaint. Several windows are of the same color as the feelings of Tilden's supporters. The blue-glass cure is to be tried on the sinners who attend the Moody and Sankey meetings in Boston, judging from the following, which we clip from a Boston paper: "A coat of blue paint on a portion of the windows on the south side of the monitor roof of the Tabernacle softens the rays of the sun very materially as they stream in upon people on the platform. All the windows on that side are to be colored in the same manner."

The Kittery Reform Club will give an entertainment in Trefethen's Hall in that town on the evening of Thursday, Feb. 22d, the first anniversary of the Club's formation. Mrs. Roberts will read Whittier's poem, "The Reformers of England," and other pieces; "Irish Assurance, or Yankee Modesty," will be presented by members of the Club, to be followed by "A Drop Too Much," a temperance drama; and a class of ten children, directed by Col. Littlefield, will furnish vocal music for the occasion. The Kittery Reform Club has done and is doing a good work, and the members mean to give a good evening's amusement to all who may attend their anniversary celebration.

If Hon. Frank Jones had not already had himself renominated for Congress, we fancy he would now willingly allow some other man to be nominated. Wonder if he doesn't now regret that he didn't stick to the resolution he announced some time ago, not to be a candidate for re-election.

Rev. E. M. Grant, of this city, will lecture in the Universalist church in Biddeford next Sunday evening, on the subject of temperance and reform clubs.

The flags at the navy yard were displayed at half-mast on Monday, and a salute of minute guns fired, as a mark of respect to the late Rear-Admiral Bailey.

PORTSMOUTH SAVINGS BANK.

A special meeting of the corporators of the Portsmouth Savings Bank was held on Monday afternoon, when the by-laws were changed, fixing the rate of interest to be paid on deposits on and after the first of July next, at four per cent. per annum. This restores it to the rate paid in former times, before the high rates paid in Manchester, Newburyport and other cities induced our people to send their money out of town to be placed in savings banks in order to receive a higher rate of interest than was paid here.

This action will of course increase the extra dividends which are made every two years, and we think will commend itself to all; we have had enough of high rates of interest and non-payment of principal; and the bank, in following the lead of many of the largest and soundest institutions of Boston and New York, has done well. It never was in a better condition than now, and never stood higher in the confidence of the public.

THAT INVESTIGATION.

The disappointed Journal man occupies nearly a column of last week's edition of his paper in assailing me for interfering with the annual installment of pap that he has hitherto so regularly drawn from the city treasury. I do not propose to waste much paper in replying extendedly to his whimperings, for two reasons, one of which is, that I recognize the fact that it is reasonable and natural for Mr. Brewster to miss and be loth to lose a job which he had held for so many years that he had come to regard it as his right, and concerning which none should say, "why is this?" The other reason is that I have acted in accordance with my best judgment, and while I may have erred, I have so far satisfied my conscience that I should do just so again under similar circumstances. In regard to his flings about "bribery," and so forth, I have only to say that such charges have no other foundation than in the imagination of one who well "knows how it is himself,"—in other words, Mr. Brewster evidently gauges me by his own narrow measure when he sarcastically accuses me of being "influenced." He mournfully says "the time for a paying job in the printing line has passed away," and then adds: "we could print the city accounts at some profit for $2.49 per page!" Well may he sigh when he remembers his old prices of $3.90 or more per page! An unfair profit, surely, according to his own words. His generous allusion to my "grant of assent" is funny, but admitting it to be true, I think an honest hog is to be preferred to a dishonest man. I hope the readers of the CHRONICLE will forgive me for investing the Journal man with the importance that is implied by condescending to reply to a second wail of his. I promise not to repeat the offence.

SAMUEL A. SPINNEY.

THAT FOG-SIGNAL.

A bill has been introduced in the National House of Representatives by Hon. Frank Jones, providing for the erection of a Daboll fog whistle in the lighthouse on Whale's-back, and the Appropriation Committee have agreed to recommend that a sufficient sum be appropriated for the same. Mr. Jones' bill will become a law and the long-needed signal will ere long be put in place. All the mariners doing business at this port and along this coast unite in thanking Mr. Jones for introducing and successfully managing the matter in Congress.—Times.

We are glad to be able to say that Mr. Jones has done one thing for the benefit of the public during his stay in Congress; that he has done his duty in bringing to the attention of Congress a matter which all the papers of this city—the CHRONICLE and Journal in particular—have earnestly advocated, viz., the establishment of a suitable fog-signal as a guide for vessels entering Portsmouth harbor. But the thanks of "all the mariners" to Mr. Jones "for introducing and successfully managing the matter in Congress" may as well be delayed until Congress has acted upon it, notwithstanding "the Appropriation Committee have agreed to recommend that a sufficient sum be appropriated for the same." The Times predicts that "Mr. Jones' bill will become a law and the long-needed signal will ere long be put in place;" we predict that it will not be done with any appropriation made by this Congress, nor during the present year. A recommendation of the appropriation committee does not appropriate any money, and a big appropriation is needed to provide a fog-signal on Whale's-back. The buildings on White Island have been in a disgraceful condition for years; the light-house authorities have earnestly besought money to put them in proper condition, and a year ago the appropriation committee included $6000 for that purpose in their estimates, but the money was not appropriated, and the buildings are still a disgrace to the government. The democratic committee may be willing to help a democratic candidate along in his race for a seat in the next Congress, by promising almost anything; but it will be time enough for "all the mariners" to give thanks for the success of Mr. Jones' efforts when they hear the fog-horn's dulcet tones as they feel about for the harbor's mouth in a fog or run for shelter in a southeast snowstorm.

Mr. Jones has done well in introducing the subject in Congress, and we are willing he should make out of it all the political capital to which he is entitled; but before a fog-whistle is placed on Whale's-back just so much red tape has got to be measured, and a place has got to be prepared for the whistle's reception. In that exposed situation a fog-signal must be placed high enough to be out of the way of the sea and the heaviest of the spray—sixty feet above the high-water level, at least; there is no room for it and its gear in the new tower; and the old tower, which was condemned years ago by the light-house engineers as being unsafe for a light-house, is quite as unsafe now for a signal-tower. Before a fog-signal is placed in it, it must be taken down and rebuilt, and we do not imagine that can be done for less than thirty thousand dollars. [The cost of the new tower was about $90,000.] This sum, or whatever larger or smaller sum the light-house engineers may decide is needed for this purpose, we do not dare hope will be appropriated by the present Congress, in addition to the sum required for the fog-signal; and we therefore fear that our contemporary's glorification of Hon. Frank Jones for procuring a fog-horn to be placed on Whale's-back is a severe case of hallooing before you are out of the wood. We shall be only too happy to find that we are mistaken.

New Hampshire Items.

G. W. Hancock, for many years employed by the Amoskeag Manufacturing Company of Manchester, died suddenly Saturday night in an apoplectic fit, aged sixty-three years. He was a prominent citizen and in high standing in the Masonic brotherhood.

A child of Byron C. Spooner, of Bethlehem, sixteen months old, was burned to death on Sunday.

Michael Christie, a Nashua saloon keeper, is under arrest for a felonious assault on a Mrs. Pond, Monday.

D. W. Pollard, twenty-one years of age, whose parents reside near Nashua, committed suicide in the insane hospital at Jacksonville, Ill., a day or two ago, where he was employed as apothecary. He attended an entertainment held in the institution on Wednesday evening, and immediately after its close the report of a pistol was heard in his room, and his friends going in found him unconscious on his bed with a revolver in his hand and a bullet in his right temple. He had also taken a dose of chloral. In a farewell note no reason was assigned, but mental anguish of late was referred to. He was not in trouble, debt, or love, or even known to be insane; hence his deliberate suicide is unaccountable.

The Problem of Life.

The Irishman who read the newspaper wrong side up, when asked what news, replied, "Big storm at sea; ships upside down." Equally understood are the works and dissertations that treat upon those vital questions whereon hinge the success or failure of every person's life. To many, life is a sealed book, and though they live to old age, they die ignorant of the power that lies dormant within them. The recent work, "The People's Common Sense Medical Adviser," from the pen of R. V. Pierce, M. D., of Buffalo, N. Y., discusses these matters fully and ably in their various phases. Price $1.50. Nearly 1,000 pages, illustrated, bound in cloth and gilt, and about 100,000 copies have already been sold. Address the Author, R. V. Pierce, M. D., Buffalo, N. Y.

Dr. A. J. Flagg's

COUGH & LUNG SYRUP.

—o—

A Safe and Sure Remedy.

—o—

The Cough and Lung Syrup]

is the remedy that during the past fifteen years has won for DR. FLAGG an extended reputation as a SPECIALIST for THROAT and LUNG Diseases. After so many years trial it can be truthfully said that it has NEVER FAILED, even in the Worst CASES. It is purely Vegetable, and its effect upon the system is at once Soothing and Tonic.

It Will Cure a Common Cold

In a few hours, not by drying it up, but by removing it from the system. TRY IT.

It will CURE a Chronic Cough, by soothing the irritated parts, and strengthening the system.

IT WILL CURE CONSUMPTION.

Even after all other remedies have failed. In the earlier stages of this disease it will effect a speedy and certain cure; and in many cases of advanced Consumption its effect has seemed almost miraculous, restoring to full strength and perfect health those whom physicians had given up as incurable. TRY IT.

IT WILL CURE CATARRH

More effectual by than any other remedy, by simply removing the cause. TRY IT.

It will Cure Bronchitis, by allaying all irritation of the Throat. TRY IT.

It will Cure Asthma, affording immediate relief and a perfect cure. TRY IT.

It Will Cure Ulcerated Sore Throat.

TRY IT.

IT WILL CURE Loss of Voice, Night Sweats, Hectic Fever, AND ALL Symptoms of Consumption. TRY IT.

For every affection of the Throat and Lungs it only needs a trial to convince the most skeptical of its wonderful curative properties.

Remember that it]

CURES COLDS,
CURES COUGHS,
CURES CATARRH
CURES CONSUMPTION.

DR. WM. M. LADD, a calling Druggist of Claremont, certifies as follows:

For many years I have known Dr. A. J. Flagg as a successful practicing physician, and can assure the public that his representations relative to the Cough and Lung Syrup can be relied upon. It has been used in his extended practice with marvellous success, and I know it to be a I that he claims for it.

WM. M. LADD, M. D.

CLAREMONT, N. H., September, 1875.

DR. FLAGG My Dear Sir: Your Cough and Lung Syrup has proved a great benefit to me, giving relief from severe Coughs and Soreness of the Lungs, when all other remedies and physicians had failed. I have never taken a medicine more pleasant to the taste or more satisfactory in its results.

MOLASSES!

FOR SALE BY

LAFAYETTE LAIGHTON.

ESTABLISHED IN 1835.

THE OLDEST ESTABLISHED HOSPITAL

IN THE

UNITED STATES.

No. 9 Beaver Street, - - - Albany, N. Y

SURE CURES AND LOW PRICES.

Dr. YOUNG,

SUCCESSOR TO

Dr. TELLER,

DECEASED.

The above named private Hospital was established in Albany in 1858 by Dr. Lispenard and for a number of years its affairs were presided over by that gentleman, but for the past 10 years, Dr. Teller, who is now deceased, transacted the business of the Institution.

Owing to the great demand for more spacious apartments on account of the large increase of business, the Hospital has been removed to No. 9 Beaver Street, two doors above its old location, where patients will find magnificently furnished rooms for their reception, and are so arranged that patients do not come in contact with one another, seeing only the doctor, thereby avoiding the unpleasantness of meeting others, which always occurred at the old office.

LADIES will find rooms provided for their especial accommodation and entirely private.

YOUNG MEN, addicted to secret habits, who have impaired their health and destroyed the vigor of their minds, thus depriving themselves of the pleasures of married life and also those afflicted with private diseases of any nature, are advised that in consulting Dr. Young they will find a physician fully qualified to cure and restore them to full health and manly vigor.

Dr. Teller's great work for the married, or those contemplating marriage—300 pages—full of plates—price 25 cents. Sent to all parts, under seal, by mail post paid.

TO THE LADIES—DR. YOUNG still retains the only agency in America for the sale of Dr. Vichol's Italian Female Monthly Pills. Sent by mail on receipt of $1.00, price per box.

DR. YOUNG is the only agent for Dr. La Motte's celebrated Galvanic Belts.

Invalids out of the city can be cured by consulting he Doctor by letter, and inclosing remittance. Medicines sent by mail or express, securely packed from observation. All letters must be addressed to

Centaur Liniments.

The lame can be healed and the wounded made whole. We now know just what the Centaur Liniment will do. They will not mend broken bones nor cure Cancer, but they will extract soreness, allay pain, cure Rheumatism and a larger range of flesh, bone and muscle ailments than any article ever before discovered.

Scientific skill cannot go beyond the effects of these remarkable preparations. Chronic Rheumatism of many years' standing, Neuralgia, Weak Back, Fever Sores, Weeping-Sinews, Sciatica, Caked Breasts, Distorted Joints and Sprained Limbs of the worst kind are cured by the White Centaur Liniment.

It will destroy the pain and heat without a scar, all ordinary Burns and Scalds. It will extract the poison of Bites and Stings, and the frost from Frosted Limbs. It is very efficacious for Ear-ache, Tooth-ache, Itch and Cutaneous Eruptions.

Mr. Joshua Westake, of Marysville, O., writes:

"For years my Rheumatism has been so bad that I have been unable to stir from the house. The first three bottles of Centaur Liniment enabled me to walk without my crutches. I am mending rapidly. I think your Liniment simply a marvel.

C. H. Bennett, Druggist, Rock Prairie, Mo., says: "Centaur Liniment is better and gives the best satisfaction of anything in the market."

What the Centaur Liniment has done for others it will do for you. It is handy, it is reliable, and it is cheap.

The Yellow Centaur Liniment

is worth its weight in gold to owners of horses and mules.

This Liniment has cured more Sprained, Sweenied, Ring-boned and Galled Horses in three years than have all the Farriers in the country in an age. Its effects are daily wonderful.

We have thousands upon thousands of certificates as strong as the following:

"My horse was lame for a year with a sciatic wrench. All remedies utterly failed to cure and I considered him worthless until I came across the Centaur Liniment, which rapidly cured him. I heartily recommend it.

REV. GEO. W. FERRIS,
Manorville, Schoharie Co., N. Y."

DEAR SIRS,—I have used your Centaur Liniment in my family, and find it to be of great value. I can send me two dollar's worth, one for the mules and horses.

RILEY SICKLES.
FALLS STATION, WYOMING CO., PA.

It makes very little difference what the case is, whether it be Wrench, Sprain, Poll-Evil, Ringbone, Scratches or Lame neck of any kind, the effects are the same. Livery men, Stage proprietors, Farmers &c., should never be without the Yellow Centaur Liniment. It is sold everywhere, and warranted in its effects.

Castoria.

It is a mistake to suppose that Castoria is not adapted to grown persons as well as Children. They only need to increase the quantity. But children have so many complaints for which Castoria is adapted—like Wind Colic, Sour Stomach, Worms, Tetter, Teething and Cromp, that it is especially recommended for them.

Its effects are more certain than Castor Oil. It contains no alcohol and is as pleasant to take as honey. It never gripes. By regulating the stomach and bowels the Castoria cools the blood, expels worms and prevents feverishness, quiets the nerves and produces health—then of course children can sleep in quiet and mothers can rest.

Castoria is recommended by all physicians and nurses who have tried it, and it is having a rapidly increasing sale. It is prepared with great care after the recipe of Dr. Samuel Pitcher, of Mass., at the Laboratory of J. B. Rose & Co., 46 Dey St., N. Y.

Daily Chronicle.

A Cure for Wounds.

As soon as a wound is inflicted get a little stick—a knife or file-handle will do—and commence to tap gently on the wound. Do not stop for the hurt but continue until it bleeds freely and becomes perfectly numb. When this point is reached you are safe,—all that is necessary is to protect it from dirt. Do not stop short of the bleeding and numbness and do not on any account close the opening with plaster. Nothing more than a little simple cerate or a clean cloth is necessary. We have used and seen this used on all kinds of simple punctures for thirty years and never knew a single instance of a wound becoming inflamed or sore after treatment as above. Among other cases: A coal-rake-tooth going entirely through the foot—a rusty darning needle through the foot—a bad bite by a sucking pig—several instances of file-shanks through the hands—and numberless cases of rusty nails, awls, etc., but we never knew a failure of this treatment.—Scientific American.

—A wealthy young man in San Francisco shot himself because a servant girl refused his offer of marriage. The wound is not fatal, but the offer was.

—A young lady of Norfolk was so agitated while dancing with the Grand Duke that she fainted in his arms. The scion of nobility merely passed her over to one of the ladies with the remark "Toodemthinovitch," and secured another partner.

ST. NICHOLAS.

"The king of all publications issued for the young on either side of the Atlantic."—Southampton (England) Observer.

The third volume of this incomparable Magazine is now completed. With its eight hundred royal octavo pages, and its six hundred illustrations, its splendid serials, its shorter stories, poems, and sketches, etc., etc., in its beautiful binding of red and gold, it is the most splendid gift-book for boys and girls ever issued from the press. Price, $4; in full gilt, $5.

☞ NICHOLAS is full of the choicest things. The publication is, in all respects, the best of its kind. We have never yet seen a number that was not surprisingly good.—The Churchman, Hartford, Conn.

ST. NICHOLAS FOR 1877,

Which opens with November, 1876, begins a short and very entertaining serial from the French, "The Kingdom of the Greedy," a Story adapted to the Thanksgiving season. Another serial, of absorbing interest to boys,

"HIS OWN MASTER,"

By J. T. Trowbridge,

Author of the "Jack Hazard stories," begins in the Christmas Holiday Number.

Besides serial stories, Christmas stories, lively sketches, poems and pictures for the holidays, and some astonishing illustrations of Oriental sports, with drawings by Japanese artists, The Christmas Holiday Number of ST. NICHOLAS, superbly illustrated, contains a very interesting paper,

"THE BOYS OF MY YOUTHHOOD,"

By William Cullen Bryant;

"The Horse Hotel," a lively article, by Charles A. Barnard, splendidly illustrated; "The Clock in the Sky," by Richard A. Proctor; "A Christmas Play for Home or Sunday-school," by Dr. Hale; "The Peterkins' Christmas Tree," by Lucretia P. Hale; "Poetry and Carols of Winter," by Lucy Larcom, with pictures.

Do Not Fail to Buy St. Nicholas for the Christmas Holidays. Price 25 cents.

During the year there will be interesting papers for boys, by William Cullen Bryant, John G. Whittier, Thomas Hughes, William Howitt, Dr. Holland, George MacDonald, Sanford B. Hunt, Frank R. Stockton, and others.

There will be stories, sketches, and poems, of special interest to girls, by Harriet Prescott Spofford, Susan Coolidge, Sarah Winter Kellogg, Elizabeth Stuart Phelps, Louisa Alcott, Lucretia P. Hale, Celia Thaxter, Mary Mapes Dodge, and many others. There will be also

"TWELVE SKY PICTURES,"

By Prof. Proctor, the Astronomer,

with maps, showing "The Stars of Each Month," which will be likely to surpass in interest any series on popular science recently given to the public.

Amusement and Instruction, with Fun and Frolic, and Wit and Wisdom, will be mingled as heretofore, and ST. NICHOLAS will continue to delight the young and give pleasure to the old.

The London Literary World says: "There is no magazine for the young that can be said to equal this choice production of SCRIBNER'S press. All the articles, whether in prose or rhyme, are throughout with vitality. * * * The literature and artistic illustrations are both superb."

The London Daily News says: "We wish we could point out its equal in our own periodical literature."

GOOD NEWS FOR BOYS AND GIRLS;

To meet the demand for a cheaper ST. NICHOLAS Gift Book, the price of which and II has been reduced to $3 each. The three volumes, in an elegant library case, are sold for $10 (in full gilt, $15), so that all may give their children a complete set. These volumes contain more attractive material than fifty dollars' worth of the ordinary children's books.

Subscription price, $4 a year. The three bound volumes and a subscription for this year, only $12. Subscribe with the nearest newsdealer, or send money in check, or P. O. money order, or in registered letter, to

SCRIBNER & CO., 743 Broadway, N. Y.

SCRIBNER'S MONTHLY,

An Illustrated Illustrated Magazine.

The prospectus for the new volume gives the titles of more than fifty papers (mostly illustrated), by writers of the highest merit. Heads of

"FOREIGN TRAVEL,"

are have "A Winter on the Nile," by Gen. McClellan; "Sauntering About Constantinople," by Charles Dudley Warner; "Out of My Window at Moscow," by Eugene Schuyler; "An American in Turkistan," etc. Three serial stories are announced:

by Dr. Holland, the Editor, whose story of "Seven-Oaks" gave the highest satisfaction to the readers of the Monthly.

The scene of this latest novel is laid on the banks of the Hudson. The hero is a young man who has been accustomed to "yield to a woman's across strings," but who, by the death of his mother, is left alone in the world,—to drift on the current of life,—with a fortune, but without a purpose.

Another serial, "His Inheritance," by Miss Trafton, will begin on the completion of "That Lass o' Lowrie's," by Mrs. Hodgson Burnett. Mrs. Burnett's story, begun in August, has a pathos and dramatic power which have been a surprise to the public.

There is to be a series of original illustrated papers of "Popular Science," by Mrs. Herrick, each paper complete in itself.

There are to be, from various pens, papers on

"HOME LIFE AND TRAVEL."

lso, practical suggestions as to town and country life, village improvements, etc., by well-known specialists.

Mr. Barnard's articles on various industries of real Britain include the history of "Some Experiments in Co-operation," "A Scottish Leaf Factory," in the November number, and "Toad Lane, Rochdale," in December. Other papers are, "The British Workingman's Home," "A Nation of Shopkeepers," "Hodgeny a Week for the Child," etc.

A richly illustrated series will be given on "American Sports by Field and Field," by various writers, and each on a different theme. The subject of will have a prominent place, whilst the latest predictions of American humorists will appear from month to month. The list of shorter stories, biographical and other sketches, etc., is a long one.

"HOUSEHOLD AND HOME DECORATION"

The editorial department will continue to employ the ablest pens both at home and abroad. There will be a series of letters on literary matters, from London, by Mr. Welford.

We mean to make the magazine sweeter and purer, higher and nobler, more genial and generous in all its utterances and influences, and a more welcome visitor than ever before in homes of refinement and culture.

FIFTEEN MONTHS FOR $4.00.

SCRIBNER for December, now ready, contains the opening chapters of "Nicholas Minturn." The three numbers of SCRIBNER for August, September, and October, containing the opening chapters of "That Lass o' Lowrie's," will be given to every new subscriber (who requests it), and whose subscription begins with the present volume, i.e., with the November number.

Subscription price, $4 a year—35 cents a number. Special terms on bound volumes. Subscribe with the nearest bookseller, or send a check or P. O. money order to

DR. QUAIN'S MAGIC CONDITION PILLS!

The Wonderful Remedy for Liver Complaint, Billiousness, Dyspepsia, Constipation, Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Headache, Kidney Complaint, Nervousness, Scrofula, Piles, and all diseases arising from a bad state of the Blood!

No medicine ever offered to the public has given such universal satisfaction as Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. Their praises are on every tongue where their merits are known. They strike at once at the seat of disease and show their healing power almost immediately. Thousands of voluntary testimonials of their merits have been received by the agent, from those who have been cured by them, of which the following are samples:

Dyspepsia Four Years, Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels Three Years, Confined to my Room Two Years, Pain so I Could Not Sleep Without Morphine. One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills Made Me Eat Well, Sleep Well and Free from Pain, after being given up by Physicians.

WEST LEBANON, ME., Feb. 22, 1

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I have been sick for four years with Dyspepsia, and for the past three years Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels. I have suffered all the pain I could endure and live. I have been confined to my room for two years, and could not sleep nights without the use of morphine. I have been given up by physicians as past cure. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, and they have done me more good than all the doctors I have had. I sleep well, I eat and I have no pain. They are all they are recommended to be. Please send me three packages, as some of my neighbors wish to try them. I remain yours $1.50.
Your truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Another Letter from Maj. John W. Lord, one month later Wonderful Cures by Dr. Quain's Pills Effected on Him in Thirteen Days. First time Free from Pain for Three Years.

WEST LEBANON, ME., March 22, 1875.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I commenced taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS February 9th, and write you February 22d of their wonderful effect. I have continued to improve ever since. My appetite is good, and I sleep as well as I ever did in my life. I am free from pain for the first time in three years. When I was taken sick four years ago, I weighed one hundred and eighty-six pounds; I now weigh one hundred and thirty-four, and as fast as I gain strength, I have faith I shall regain my then strength, by the use of the Pills. I shall continue taking them for some time to come.
Yours truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Dr. Quain's Pills the Remedy for Soldiers' Aches and Pains.

WEST LEBANON, ME., June 1, 1875.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I am now able to walk out every day, and am gaining my strength very fast, all of which I owe to your invaluable Pills in the world. I have taken no other medicine, and my improvement has been rapid since first taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done everything for me, and I would advise them to the soldiers, for they will certainly cure them of aches and pains. Please send me Exposure and hardship on the field. Please send me by return mail another package.

Rheumatism for Twenty Years Cured by One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills—"The Best Medicine in the World."

EAST ANDOVER, N. H., Dec. 10, 1875.

MR. LANE—Dear Sir:—I know the value of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS and do not hesitate in giving them praise; for I have tried them, and they are the best medicine for rheumatism for twenty years or more. No Rheumatic Complaint can withstand them, and I gave him the last package I did not need them, but I gave him the last package, as I did not need them, but I gave him the last package, as I did not need them, but I gave him the last package, as

WHAT PAYS?

IT PAYS every Manufacturer, Merchant, Mechanic, Inventor, Farmer, or Professional Man, to keep informed on all the improvements and discoveries of the age.

It pays the head of every family to introduce into his household a newspaper that is instructive, one that fosters a taste for investigation, and promotes thought and encourages discussion among the members.

The Scientific American

which has been published weekly for the last thirty-one years, does this, to an extent beyond that of any other publication; in fact it is the only weekly paper published in the United States, devoted to Manufactures, Mechanics, Inventions and New Discoveries in the Arts and Sciences.

Every number is profusely illustrated and its contents embrace the latest and most interesting information pertaining to the Mechanical, Mechanical, and Scientific Progress of the world; Descriptions, with Beautiful Engravings of New Inventions, New Implements, New Processes, and Improved Industries of all kinds; Useful Notes, Recipes, Suggestions and Advice by Practical Writers, for Workmen and Employers, in all the various arts, forming a complete repertory of New Inventions and Discoveries, constituting a weekly record, not only of the progress of the Industrial Arts in our own country, but also of all New Discoveries and Inventions in every branch of Engineering, Mechanics and Science abroad.

THE SCIENTIFIC AMERICAN has been the foremost of all industrial publications for the past thirty-one years, this is the oldest, largest, cheapest, and the best weekly illustrated paper devoted to Engineering, Mechanics, Chemistry, New Inventions, Science and Industrial Progress, published in the world.

The practical Recipes are well worth ten times the subscription price, and for the shop and house will save many times the cost of subscription.

Merchants, Farmers, Mechanics, Engineers, Inventors, Manufacturers, Chemists, Lovers of Science, and People of all Professions, will find the SCIENTIFIC AMERICAN useful to them. It should have a place in every Family, Library, Study, Office and Counting Room: in every Reading Room, College and School. A new volume commences January 1st, 1877.

A year's numbers contain 832 pages and SEVERAL HUNDRED ENGRAVINGS. Two volumes of volumes are preserved for binding and reference. Terms, $3.20 a year by mail, including postage. Discount to Clubs. Special circulars, giving Club rates sent free. Single copies mailed on receipt of 10 cents. May be had of all News Dealers.

PATENTS, In connection with the Scientific American, Messrs. MUNN & CO. are Solicitors of American and Foreign Patents, and have the largest establishment in the world. More than fifty thousand applications have been made for patents through their agency.

Patents are obtained on the best terms. Model of New Inventions and Sketches examined, and advice free. A special notice is made in the Scientific American of all Inventions Patented through this Agency, with the name and residence of the Patentee. Patents are often sold in part or in whole, to persons attracted to the Invention by such notice. A Pamphlet, containing full directions for obtaining Patents sent free. "A Complete Pictorial History of the Times."—"The best, cheapest, and most successful Family Paper in the Union."

Harper's Weekly.
ILLUSTRATED.

Notices of the Press.

Harper's Weekly should be in every family throughout the land, as a purer, more interesting, higher-toned, better illustrated paper is not published in this or any other country.—Commercial Bulletin, Boston.

The Weekly is the only illustrated paper of the day that in its essential characteristics is recognized as a national paper.—Brooklyn Eagle.

The leading articles in Harper's Weekly on political topics are models of high-toned discussion, and its pictorial illustrations are often corroborative argument of no small force.—Examiner and Chronicle, N. Y.

The Weekly has to a still larger degree distanced all competitors as an illustrated newspaper. Its editorials are among the most able of their kind, and its other reading matter is at once learned, brilliant, and amusing. Its illustrations are abundant and of rare excellence.—Christian Advocate, N. Y.

Lippincott's Magazine.

AN ILLUSTRATED MONTHLY OF POPULAR LITERATURE, SCIENCE, and ART.

Announcement for 1877.

The number for January begins the nineteenth volume of this Magazine, and while its past record will, it is hoped, be deemed a sufficient guarantee of future excellence, no efforts will be spared to diversify its attractions and to provide an increased supply of Popular Reading in the Best and Most Emphatic Sense. The great object and constant aim of the conductors will be to furnish the public with Literary Entertainment of a Refined and Varied Character, as well as to present in a graphic and striking manner the results of the most recent and soundest views on subjects of General Interest; in a word, to render LIPPINCOTT'S MAGAZINE strikingly distinctive in those features that are most attractive in Magazine Literature. The contributions now on hand, or specially engaged, embrace a highly attractive list of Tales, Short Stories, Descriptive Sketches, Narratives, Papers on Science and Art, Poems, Popular Essays, Literary Criticisms, etc., etc., by talented and well known writers. A large proportion of the articles, especially those descriptive of travel, will be profusely and beautifully illustrated. The pictorial embellishments of the Magazine constitute one of its many attractive features.

In addition to the general attractions of LIPPINCOTT'S MAGAZINE the Publishers would invite attention to the following

SPECIAL FEATURES FOR 1877.

1. A new serial story,
"THE MARQUIS OF LOSSIE,"
by George MacDonald, author of "Malcolm," "Alec Forbes," "Robert Falconer," etc.
To those of our readers who are familiar with "Malcolm," this new story of the same pen of this distinguished writer will need no recommendation, and his reputation as a story-teller is equal to others of a deeply interesting and power ful story. It began in the November number, which issue, with the December part, will be furnished gratis to all new subscribers for 1877.
2. A profusely illustrated series of sketches of
SWEDISH SCENERY AND LIFE,
by Prof. Willard Fiske, of Cornell University, who is thoroughly familiar with Sweden and its People from personal observation.
3. A series of popular papers on
ART AND ART MATTERS,
by Edward Strahan (Earl Shinn), author of "The New Republic," etc.
4. Illustrated Sketches of Travel, entitled
PICTURES FROM SPAIN,
by Edward King, author of "The Great South," etc.
5. Miss Lucy H. Hooper's interesting and "Piquant" PAPERS AND LETTERS FROM PARIS, will be continued through the year.
6.
THE BEAUTIES OF THE RHINE,
will be described in a richly illustrated series of papers.

During the year will appear a number of handsomely illustrated short articles, descriptive of Life, Travel and Adventure in the United States, England, South America, Japan, Mongolia, and other countries.

For Sale by all Book and Newsdealers.

TRIBUNE.
The Leading American Newspaper.

Largest Circulation
AMONG THE BEST PEOPLE.

I.—IT PUBLISHES ALL THE NEWS. The servant of no man, the slave of no party, it can afford to and does tell the truth about all.

II.—IT IS IMPARTIAL AND INDEPENDENT. Believing in intelligent suffrage, it aims to furnish voters the fullest and fairest information, to qualify them for the wisest discharge of their duties.

III.—IT IS, AS IT ALWAYS WAS, ESSENTIALLY REPUBLICAN. It may quarrel in the future, as it has done in the past, with those corrupt or republican leaders or corruptions in the republican party; but it can never cease to be true to republican principles, and especially to those principles of civil service reform, hard money, the sanctity of the National faith, and equal justice to all classes and to the South, which formed the corner-stones of Gov. Hayes' admirable letter of acceptance.

IV.—ITS MORAL TONE IS PURE AND ELEVATED. The family circle is never profaned by anything which appears in the columns of THE TRIBUNE.

V.—THE CHOICEST STANDARD AND CURRENT LITERATURE of the day is presented in its columns, including Correspondence, Poems, Stories, and reviews from the most talented and popular writers.

VI.—IT IS THE BEST AND CHEAPEST FARMER'S PAPER PUBLISHED. "THE WEEKLY TRIBUNE has done more to make good farmers than any other influence which ever existed."

VII.—THE MARKET REPORTS OF THE TRIBUNE are indispensable to every buyer and seller in the country. Quotations are given daily and weekly of almost every article bought and sold in the markets of the world, and with unvarying and almost infallible accuracy. In CATTLE, Butter and Cheese, and other Markets are the recognized standard.

VIII.—MORE COPIES OF THE TRIBUNE are paid for and read by the American people than of any other newspaper of equal price in the country—a fact which is the best demonstration of the value of the paper.

IX.—THE READERS OF THE TRIBUNE represent largely the best enterprising and progressive minds of the country. Persons who are interested in pure politics, the advance of science, and the progress of opinion, will find their demands met by THE TRIBUNE.

X.—PUBLIC APPROVAL AND PROSPERITY have rewarded the independent and self-respectful course of THE TRIBUNE. Its circulation from old and er corps of earnest workers among its friends than ever before, and is constantly receiving from old and new readers words of encouragement.

Notices of the Press.

The Magazine has attained in its one quarter century and more of existence to that point where it may be said of it, in the words of Dr. Johnson, "It is vain to blame and useless to praise." The issues of its long-ago attained reputation has increased as the years have passed, and its future seems as bright if not brighter than at any time since the golden hue of prosperity settled around its later and best years.—Brooklyn Eagle.

Harper's Monthly is marked by the same characteristics which gave it circulation from the first with the higher classes of readers. It combines reading matter with illustrations in a way to make clear and vivid the facts presented. Pictures merely designed to catch the eye of the ignorant are never inserted.—Chicago Journal.

LITTELL'S LIVING AGE FOR 1877. The continued and increasing success of this periodical (now over thirty-three years old) is doubtless owing to the fact that it affords a comprehensive and cheap means of keeping well informed in the best literature of the day. With its weekly issue, and its three and a quarter thousand large pages of reading matter a year, it is enabled to present with freshness and substantial completeness able essays and reviews, choice serial and short stories, interesting sketches of travel and adventure, poetry, and valuable biographical, historical, scientific and political information from the entire body of foreign periodical literature.

In its pages it represents the best current authors as Prof. Max Muller, Prof. Tyndall, Rt. Hon. W. E. Gladstone, Dean Stanley, Mr. A. W. B. Carpenter, Prof. Huxley, Richard A. Proctor, Frances Power Cobbe, The Duke of Argyll, Jas. A. Froude, Mrs. Muloch, Mrs. Oliphant, Mrs. Alexander, Miss Thackeray, Miss Jean Ingelow, Geo. McDonald, Wm. Black, Matthew Arnold, Henry Kingsley, W. W. Story, Archbishop Trench, Ruskin, Carlyle, Tennyson, Browning, and many other readers in science, fiction, history, biography, philosophy, poetry, theology, politics, criticism and art.

The subscription price ($8 a year) is cheap for the amount of reading furnished; while to those desiring the cream of the best foreign periodical literature, the publishers make a still cheaper offer, viz.: to send, postpaid, The Living Age and either one of the American $4 monthlies, or weeklies, a year for $10.50. With The Living Age and one or other of our leading American monthlies, a subscriber will at small cost, be put in "command of the whole situation."

An extra offer, also, is made to all new subscribers for 1877, viz.: to send them gratis the six numbers of 1876, containing, besides other valuable reading, the first instalments of a new and unusually powerful serial story by George MacDonald, now appearing in The Living Age from advance sheets.

The volume begins Jan. 1st, and we recommend he periodical to the attention of our readers. We know of no other way in which so much of the best work of the best minds of the time can be obtained so cheaply and conveniently as through this standard weekly magazine. Published by Littell & Gay, Boston.

THE SUN.
1877 NEW YORK. 1877
The different editions of THE SUN during the next year will be the same as during the year that has just passed. The daily edition will consist of a sheet of four pages, and on Sundays a sheet of eight pages, or of twelve columns; while the weekly edition will be a sheet of eight pages of the same dimensions and character that are already familiar to readers of THE SUN.
THE SUN will continue to be the strenuous advocate of reform and retrenchment, and of the substitution of statesmanship, wisdom, and integrity for hollow pretence, imbecility, and fraud in the administration of public affairs. It will contend for the government of the people by the people and for the people, as opposed to government by frauds in the ballot-box and in the counting of votes, enforced by military violence. It will endeavor to supply its readers—a body now not far from one million of souls—with the most current, complete, and trustworthy accounts of current events, and will employ for this purpose a numerous and carefully selected staff of reporters and correspondents. Its reports from Washington, especially, will be full, accurate and fearless; and it will continue hereafter to deserve and enjoy the hatred of those who thrive by plundering the Treasury or by usurping what the law does not give them, while it will endeavor to merit the confidence of the public by defending the rights of the people against the encroachments of unjustified power.
The price of the daily SUN will be 55 cents a month or $6.50 a year, post paid, or with the Sunday edition $7.70 a year.
The Sunday edition alone, eight pages, $1.20 a year, post paid.
The WEEKLY SUN, eight pages of 56 broad columns, will be furnished during 1877 at the rate of $1 a year, post paid.
The benefit of this large reduction from the previous rate for the WEEKLY can be enjoyed by individual subscribers without the necessity of making up clubs. At the same time, if any of our friends choose to aid in extending our circulation, we shall be grateful to them, and every such person who sends us ten or more subscribers from one place will be entitled to one copy of the paper for himself without charge. At one dollar a year, postage paid, the expenses of paper and printing are barely repaid; and, considering the size of the sheet and the quality of its contents, we are confident the people will consider THE WEEKLY SUN the cheapest newspaper published in the world, and we trust also one of the very best. COMBINED PAPERS—FORTY-SEVENTH YEAR!
THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN.
THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN is published weekly on the following terms, when paid strictly in advance: ONE COPY, one year, $2.50; FOUR COPIES, $10, and one additional copy for the paper free to the sender of the Club; TEN COPIES, $20, and an additional copy for the year free to the sender of the Club.
THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN possesses an unequaled Corps of Correspondents, regular and special, among the Best Farmers of All Parts of the Country, and constantly relies the continued publication and progress of the husbandry of every section of the United States and civilized world.
THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN gives to its Horticultural Department a continuous variety of information and suggestions, equal or superior in the aggregate to what is obtained in the many numbers of most magazines devoted to Horticulture.
THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN has probably done as much as all other Journals combined to introduce and disseminate Improved Stock of every kind through the country; and commands to a greater degree than any contemporary, the confidence and support of breeders and purchasers.
THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN contains unusually full and trustworthy Market Reports, and devotes special attention to them and to the Prospects of the Crops, as showing light upon one of the most important of all questions — When to Buy and When to Sell.
THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN embraces numerous minor departments of a practical character, such as the Dairy, the Poultry Yard, the Apiary, the Vineyard, and so on, and weekly presents a column or two for the Housewife, and an interesting variety of Fireside Reading. It contains a well-edited review of Current Events, and its advertising pages furnish a directory of all the principal agricultural and horticultural establishments of the country.

State Normal School.

The following is the substance of a circular sent out from the New Hampshire State Normal School, at Plymouth:

The distinctive and essential object of the Normal School is to train teachers for the Profession of Teaching, and through them to effect improvements in the common schools of the State; and to this object all else will be made strictly subservient. In every school exercise, in every recitation, and by every teacher, constant reference is had to the future work of the pupil; and with equal constancy the pupil is reminded that his work with us is not to acquire, but to learn how to impart.

In the same building, and subject to the same control, are the following schools or departments: a model school of Primary and Grammar school grades, supported by the district; an Advanced and Preparatory Department for pupils graduating from the model school, and for those applicants not yet qualified to enter the Normal School, and which is supported by tuition; the Normal School, supported by State appropriation.

The Spring Term will begin Wednesday morning, Feb. 28, and close Wednesday, May 9. An entering class will be formed.

Candidates for admission must be, if gentlemen, at least seventeen years of age, or, if ladies, at least sixteen; must present satisfactory certificates of good character; must declare their full intention of faithfully observing the regulations of the school while members of it; and must pass a satisfactory examination in the following branches,—Reading, Spelling, Writing, Arithmetic, Geography, and English Grammar.

The Trustees and Faculty are desirous of securing the attendance of students possessing the following qualifications: those who have had experience as teachers, and who desire to make teaching a profession; those who are preparing to teach, and who realize that success depends upon systematic and persistent training.

The attendance of the following classes of persons is not desired: those who have not attained the required age; those whose scholarship will not entitle them to admission to the lowest class; those who care little for study, and who attend school for mere diversion; those who are not content to be classified according to the results of a fair examination; those who have not sufficent self-control and self-respect to enable them to conform to the principles of right and the usages of good society. Hence, pupils who neglect study, or who indulge in such conduct as to require police control, will be dismissed.

Board, per week, from $3.50 to $4.00, according to location of room, and including lights, fuel, and reasonable washing. By a rule adopted by the Board of Trustees, "female students are expected to board at the boarding-house." Any and all exceptions to this rule must be approved by the Principal before the opening of the term. Tuition ($5 00 per term) is refunded at the completion of either course of study, upon an agreement to teach in the State.

Pupils are advised to bring with them such school books as they may possess; to provide themselves with a dictionary (Worcester's Comprehensive preferred); and, upon arrival in Plymouth, to repair directly to the Normal School Building, retaining their checks.

Editorial Pencillings.

NEW YORK, Feb. 19th.

The decision of the Electoral Commission in the Louisiana case practically settles the Presidential election in favor of Gov. HAYES. Each of the decisions of the Commission has been indicative of its coming action on disputed points. That in regard to Florida settled the question of going behind the Returning Board of Louisiana, and left nothing but the ineligibility of electors on which democrats might hang a hope. The decision in the Louisiana case that the two office-holders who were chosen electors while in office, but who resigned the office before the Electoral College met, were clearly eligible, establishes in advance the eligibility of Watts, the Oregon post-master, and shows that Cronin had no claim in law, there being no vacancy in the Electoral College until Watts resigned. The vacancy then made was immediately filled by his re-election, his resignation as post-master having then been tendered and accepted.

Thus, the Commission makes precedents for the future: First, that each State is the sole judge of the legality of its own electoral college, Congress having no authority to reverse its action; Second, that any Federal office-holder may be a candidate for elector, and if chosen has only to resign and be re-elected by his associates to be eligible as an elector, if he has previously resigned his Federal office. The establishment of these points effectually annihilates Mr. Tilden's claim to the Presidency, and leaves that disappointed individual not even the recollection of having conducted his campaign honorably or creditably. The Commission decides rightly, yet how absurd was its erection into a tribunal. To be sure, it was a means of letting down easily the defeated democracy, whose fierce utterances had placed them in a position they could not abandon readily without being laughed at. Yet, how much more sensible would it have been for them to have shown more discretion and submitted to the inevitable! It plainly belongs to the President of the Senate to count the electoral votes and announce the choice of the electors for President. The abandonment of this position by the Senate was a republican surrender, ludicrous as it now proves, but nevertheless dangerous. It would have been just as sensible action on the part of Gen. Meade to have abandoned the vantage ground at Gettysburg, which he had secured by outmarching Lee, and to have gone down on level ground and there met Lee's impetuous assaults, had some "independent" Major-General of "statesmanslike" proclivities declined to go into battle unless it were done. After all, one man decides the matter of the succession to the Presidency, and why should not that man have been the President of the Senate, as provided by the Constitution, rather than an Associate Justice of the Supreme Court. (Just though he be,) who had no right to adjudicate the case except by special and needless legislation? Given the Tildenites the position that the Hayes men had when Congress assembled in December, does any man dream for an instant that they would have yielded their vantage ground? Not any!

A singular result of the situation is the attitude of the democracy in deserting their favorite doctrine of State sovereignty for temporary possession of the public purse. Their defeat is accomplished by the triumph of their principles. Certainly, to be consistent they should rejoice thereat. For a score of years they have expressed oft-repeated fears of the centralization of power by some authority outside the States. In the contests before the Commission they have upheld a policy that tends most surely to centralization of power. Had their modern views been upheld by the Commission, it would not have been difficult at some future election when the contest should have been again close and the party in the minority in the election possessing a majority in both Houses of Congress, for the latter to vitiate the expression of the popular will and thus retain power. The democracy have gone further than this in their claims the present winter, boldly declaring that the lower House of Congress has the power of declaring a non-election by the people! As a means for the self-perpetuation of power the position they have held was most appropriate.

The democracy as usual show their utter lack of manliness. Like little school-boys whipped fairly, they whimper and growl, but do not dare attempt revolution. The Commission was a project of Hewitt's, the chairman of their National Committee. In the Senate, a majority of the republicans voted against it, while every democratic Senator but one supported it. In the House, a majority of the republicans opposed it, while the democracy nearly unanimously favored it. It was a democratic measure, carried through by democratic votes. Its results should be accepted without murmur by its progenitors and defenders. Republicans would have acquiesed quietly had the decision been adverse to their convictions. Democrats will acquiesce—finally—but not with grace.

A singular thing connected with the contest is the entire lack of sympathy between the democratic candidate for President and the party itself. There is and has been no warm bond of union between them. Tilden was emphatically alone. He obtained his nomination only by purchase. He engineered the campaign alone, and very nearly won by the lavish use of his ample fortune. Gov. HAYES remained throughout a dignified spectator, showing no greed, no anxiety for office. The one leaves to future aspirants for the Presidency, the record of a mis-spent opportunity and misapplied energy, fraught only with disappointment and unendurable failure; the other has no regrets to entertain and no chagrin at results. There are men who have means of judging well, who declare that Tilden will follow Clay, Webster, Calhoun and Greeley to a premature grave, so intense has been his application to the one desired end. It is a shame, however, to class him with such men. They were men of heart and conviction. He is not supposed to be actuated by other than self-interest. A man who presided over the deliberations of a State committee which deliberately defrauded the republicans of New York and counted in Gov. Hoffman by 10,000 majority when the actual vote was to the contrary, cannot be expected to be held up as a virtuous example for future generations to emulate. He sits his horse finely, because he has nerve and is a stoic. On the street his walk is like that of a partial paralytic, self-contained but always subject to a mental strain. Such men break at last, but never in the region of the heart. A gentleman whose silent cogitations were rudely interrupted by a barking dog, sent the animal off howling by a well delivered movement of sole leather, whereupon another person stepped up and remarked: "Sir, why did you kick my dog?" Replied the kicker; "Is that your dog?" "Yes, sir." "Well, he is mad." "No more mad than you are, sir." "Not mad! Well, then, what an infernal fool he must be. If any one had kicked me like that I should have been mad clean through." Tilden has received a severe lift from the American people, and when he reflects on the wasted "sinews of war" he has parted with in the last year, he must be about the maddest individual in these United States. He has the reputation, however, of being a famous wine-bibber, and may drown his sorrows in old Burgundy.

The democratic organs have of late teemed with denunciations of the "partisan" republican Judges, knowing that the best legal minds in the rank of the democracy deemed the decisions of the Commission just. The two democratic Judges on the Commission have been partisans from the start, refusing to join the majority, and placing their partisanship above their sense of honor and justice. No democrat seems to exist who is not a partisan, and yet when beaten in matters of equity or law, they one and all with one accord cry out that their opponents are "partisans." Considering the fact that the Louisiana case is just settled, only two weeks before the 4th of March, how ridiculous it would have been (even if the Commission had a right so to do) to have gone behind the action of the Returning Boards of Florida and Louisiana, and taken testimony, which to have been impartial would have consumed months of time, carrying over the disputed question of the Presidency until a new election would have been necessary next Fall. The feast to which the democracy thus invited the country through their seven representatives on the Electoral Commission would have been a paralyzation of business and a continuance of the unnatural excitement of the past six months that would have been disastrous in the extreme. The business men of the nation are to-day thankful for deliverance from such a prolonged suspense as must have ruined them.

Lieutenant George W. Rand of the Seventh Regiment, N. G. S. N. Y., (the junior proprietor of the St. Cloud Hotel,) and Lieut. Daniel Sherwood of the Twenty-Second, sailed in Steamer Colon on Thursday for California. Lieut. Rand thus takes a similar trip to the Golden State in 1877 to that of his brother Charles in 1852, although he will cross the Isthmus by rail instead of wasting forty-eight hours on the back of a mule in transit. A large number of friends from the St. Cloud Club and the military organizations, assembled to bid the excursionists bon voyage, and gave them an enthusiastic send-off which must have "warmed the cockles of their hearts." Messrs. Rand and Sherwood will remain several weeks in California, returning overland.

The career of Capt. Charles E. Rand was as eventful an experience as any "Son of Portsmouth" can boast. At the age of eighteen he joined the great army of gold-hunters, embarking on Steamer Georgia with 500 other passengers. He began the tramp across the Isthmus and held out until sunstruck, was then placed on a mule by his comrades and left to find his way alone, arriving at Panama in advance of his companions. Some fifteen of the number were robbed while crossing the Isthmus. He engaged in business and mining in California for six years, and became a prominent leader of the Vigilance Committee which finally exterminated the thieves and murderers who infested the country. One of his prominent acts was with others of the committee to capture at sea arms destined for the so-called "Law and Order" party, using his own vessel, the "Julia," for the purpose. He was arrested by the United States authorities on the charge of "piracy on the high seas," and millions of dollars' bail was offered for his release by the Vigilance Committee, which was composed of the most prominent merchants and best men of the city. The jail was strongly guarded by the Committee that he might not be spirited away. He declined an offer of rescue at their hands and at the trial the Committee filled the court house with its armed adherents, ready to rescue him if found guilty. The jury, however, acquitted him and he was carried out of court on the shoulders of the wildly enthusiastic multitude. Outside, a procession of ten thousand persons, headed by bands of music, was formed and took up its march about the city playing and singing the "Pirate's Chorus," the guns of Fort Vigilante joining in the chorus. The occasion was the climax in the eventful contest wherein the real friends of law and order prevailed over the organization styling itself the "Law and Order" party. From that time the Vigilance Committee ruled supreme and as a result the city and State soon became as orderly as it had been hitherto lawless, the Committee soon after disbanding.

Returning East in 1858, Capt. Rand engaged with his father and eldest brother, (Thomas B.), in keeping the Nahant House at Nahant, Mass., and the Sagamore House at Lynn. Shortly after the opening of the Rebellion, in 1861, he raised a company of volunteers and received the first three years commission as Captain issued by Governor Andrew. His company was assigned to the First Massachusetts Regiment, which was afterward brigaded with the gallant old Second New Hampshire. Between these organizations a warm friendship was soon formed, which was cemented by mutual exposures and bravery until they were mustered out when peace was declared. Participating in most of the battles of the glorious old Army of the Potomac, Capt. Rand received a mortal wound at Chancellorsville in the same night charge in which Stonewall Jackson received his death-wound. Capt. Thomas B. Rand, of the Thirty-Third Massachusetts, was also engaged in the same battle, but did not hear of his brother's death until the next morning, his body having been buried outside the Union lines. It was impossible at that time to recover the remains owing to the retreat of the Union army, but after the close of the war Capt. Thomas B. Rand with considerable difficulty recovered his remains, which now repose in the family lot at Forest Hills Cemetery, near Boston. His life was a record of bravery and indomitable energy, and he was a worthy representative of a family which has distinguished itself on many a battle-field. His father's great-great-grandfather and mother were among those who came over from England and were killed by the Indians in the Indian war. His father's grandfather was a chaplain in the Revolutionary Army and died in active service. His father's uncle was one of the hollow square to guard the gallows at the execution of Andre, the British spy. His grandfather volunteered in the Revolutionary Army at the age of sixteen, and was betrayed with our Army at West Point by the traitor, Benedict Arnold. His father's two elder brothers served out two enlistments in the war of 1812. His own father volunteered in the New Hampshire militia at the age of fifteen and served through all the grades up to a Brigade Major and Inspector, which duty he performed for many years. His mother is the daughter of Gen. Ira Brown, who once commanded the first division, New Hampshire militia. As before mentioned, Charles E. and Thomas B. were in constant service during the Rebellion, both being senior captains of their regiments, a singular coincidence, both acting most of the time as Majors. In this connection, it is proper to say that another brother, John H. Rand, while a student at Harvard University rendered efficient service in guarding the Watertown Arsenal and was commissioned at an early stage of the Rebellion to raise a company of students at the time of Banks' retreat up the Shenandoah Valley. Lieut. George W. Rand now represents the military order of the family as an officer in the famous New York Seventh.

Counting the Votes.

The democrats in Congress held another caucus Monday afternoon, after the rising of the joint convention, to decide on some concerted course of action. Vance made a furious speech, and introduced a motion binding the democrats to prevent the inauguration of Hayes. Salary-grab Randall and Proctor Knott favored the election of Tilden by the House, no matter what the law might say. No vote was taken, and the caucus finally took a recess until after the Oregon case is disposed of.

The joint convention reassembled at twenty minutes to two o'clock, Tuesday. The resolutions adopted by the Senate and House respectively were read, and Mr. Ferry directed that the vote for Louisiana be recorded in accordance with the decision of the Commission. The eight votes were then entered as cast for Hayes and Wheeler.

The count was then proceeded with. The certificates of the votes of Maine, eight for Hayes; Maryland, eight for Tilden; Massachusetts, eleven for Hayes, were read and recorded.

When the vote of Michigan was reached, Mr. Tucker, of Virginia, objected to the counting the vote of electors on the ground that on the 7th of November one held the office of U. S. Commissioner. The Senate then withdrew at 2.20.

When the House was called to order, after the Senate withdrew, Speaker Randall, evidently in pursuance of some prearranged plan, recognized Mr. Southard, of Ohio, to make a motion that the House take a recess until Wednesday at 10 o'clock. Mr. Hale made a point of order that it was not in order, and Randall was promptly overruled.

Several democrats said they hoped the House would proceed now and consider the objection, and not take a recess.

After considerable wrangling the House, by a rising vote, 86 ayes to 163 nays, refused to take a recess.

The democrats who wanted a recess were not satisfied with the vote, and demanded the yeas and nays, which were ordered.

The House, by a vote of 57 to 192 refused to take a recess until Wednesday, and went ahead considering the objections to one of the Michigan votes.

New Hampshire Items.

Mr. Ralph Lovejoy of Hollis, aged 89 years, makes no ado of walking a mile and a half to attend prayer meetings, and the other evening he took his hand sled and went out coasting with the other boys.

A son of Mr. John Roach of Hopkinton, eight years old, was seriously wounded on Friday by the discharge of a gun which he was attempting to draw toward himself by the muzzle.

The Grand Jury for Strafford County came in Tuesday afternoon bringing in 253 indictments, for liquor selling, gambling, houses of ill fame and burglary. Nearly every liquor seller in the county is indicted. Some have a large number each. It has been a clean sweep of all kinds of crime, larger than ever before known in the county.

DIED.

JENKINS. In this city, Feb. 19th, Mrs. Hattie A. L. Jenkins, wife of Mark L. Jenkins, and only daughter of Samuel Langdon, Esq., and the late Hannah Langdon, aged 40 years.

The sickness of Mrs. Jenkins, though prolonged and painful, was borne with a degree of submission that had always characterized her through her childhood, as well as through those perplexing duties in after life that appertain to the care of a young family. Her parents are grief stricken over the loss of an affectionate and dutiful daughter, while the three little children will miss the tender care of an ever watchful and loving mother. COM.

DODGE. In this city, Feb. 19, Mr. John S. Dodge, aged 65 years.

JOTTINGS.

The schooner George L. Treadwell, Taylor, of this port, wrecked some time ago on Chincoteague Shoal, has been floated. She will be taken to Norfolk for repairs.

On Saturday last, while Mr. Alvin H. Emery was walking on Islington street, near Cass street, he fell on the ice and fractured his left leg. This is the third time Mr. Emery's leg has been broken.

Mr. E. T. Anderson, a colored graduate of Lincoln University, will lecture in Franklin Hall on Friday evening, on "the present condition and future prospects of the colored youth of the South." The subject is one which though important is little understood; and this, with the low price of admission—ten cents—should suffice to fill the hall.

Mr. Henry Saywood of the schooner Flying Fish, while hauling his trawl on Monday off the Shoals, brought up the arm of a man, which had probably been detached from the body in hauling to the surface.

Twenty-five heavily-laden freight cars from Dover came down over the Portsmouth & Dover railroad on Monday night, for transportation over the Eastern Railroad, a large portion of the freight being from the Cocheco Mills.

At a regular meeting of the Portsmouth Light Artillery, Tuesday evening, Col. Thomas E. O. Marvin and Lieut. Charles W. Gardner, having resigned their positions in the company, were elected honorary members of the organization, and a committee appointed to have the certificates of honorary membership engrossed and suitably framed. William O. Sides was elected Captain, Edward H. Leslie First Lieutenant, and Joseph R. Curtis Second Lieutenant.

The crew of fishing schooner Velocipede, Capt. Jamieson, have shared $425 per man since the 26th of October last, the proceeds of "winter fishing" with trawls, out of this harbor. Not bad to take these hard times, —but a man who gets a dollar by catching fish for it in the winter time is honestly entitled to it.

Sheldon & Company have just published another novel by Mrs. Annie Edwards, entitled, "A Point of Honor." All who have read "Ought we to visit her," "Steven Lawrence, Yeoman," or any of the other works of Mrs. Edwards, will be anxious to read this new story by one who is acknowledged to be one of the most fascinating novel writers of the day.

Among the requests for prayers at the Moody and Sankey revival in Boston on Monday, was one "for an unbeliever, a terribly urgent case, in Portsmouth, N. H." We consider it indelicate for them to refer to the Times editor in such a public manner.

H. S. N. H. S.

The High School Natural History Society seems to be quite an institution. There are now more than one hundred and twenty members; a small majority of whom are young ladies. The society has five hundred and twenty-five specimens of curiosities, many of which are valuable. A new case has recently been purchased, and the one previously owned by the society nicely fitted up for the geological specimens, of which there is a good collection. This has been done at an expense of twenty-three dollars. The Committee were willing to render assistance, but the young people chose to be independent and paid the bill themselves. The society publishes a monthly paper, called "The Naturalist." Once a month, on Wednesday, the last hour is given to the society. The paper is read and there are other exercises, including declamation, recitations, compositions and music. The teachers are present, but merely as members. The young people manage their deliberations and go through with their exercises with as much dignity as the Electoral Commission. This experience cannot fail to be of use to them hereafter.

The officers of the society are: President, Samuel W. Foss; Vice President, J. Herman Emery; Secretary, Ira A. Stevens. There are also a Treasurer and a board of twelve Directors.

The editors of the Naturalist are Charles A. Davis and Ira H. Leveen.

News and Notes.

Rear Admiral Louis M. Goldsborough died in Washington on Tuesday morning—the sixth Rear Admiral to die within about a month. Admiral Goldsborough entered the navy in 1812, from the District of Columbia.

The keeper and his helper at the new Southwest Ledge lighthouse, near New Haven, have resigned on account of the vibrations of the building during the violent storms of December. It is proposed to strengthen the rip raps and breakwaters surrounding the building.

The Boston & Maine Railroad is running trains regularly, on the new time table, and the strikers are still firm and confident. The road has all the help it wants, and offers of plenty more; but the strikers say many of the new engineers are men who have been discharged from other roads for drunkenness, dishonesty or incompetency. It is asserted that there have been several narrow escapes from accident, in one instance the coolness and promptness of a switchman alone preventing a collision between trains running in opposite directions on the same track.

Donn Piatt, editor of the Washington Capital, a man of much ability and one of the most reckless and mendacious slanderers that ever disgraced the American press, is to be subjected to a criminal prosecution for advocating the assassination of President-elect Hayes. He is also likely to have to answer before the courts for some of his outrageously slanderous lies about President Grant. The fellow had been allowed to go on unchecked until he seems to have fancied himself above all law, moral or material.

A sea-monster fifteen feet long and weighing 3000 pounds, was captured off the Isles of Shoals about six weeks ago by a fishing vessel, which put out from Newburyport, Mass., commanded by Capt. George Woodman, and manned by twelve men. They were fishing for haddock and cod at the time, when this monster, evidently after some of the fish, got wound up in 260 feet of the trawl. As soon as this was discovered, several ropes were made fast to him, and he was hauled on deck, which he no sooner reached than he commenced a terrible struggle, doing $50 worth of damage with his tail. None of the fishermen knew what it was, and of the thousands who have since examined it, none have yet been able to give it a name. It has three rows of under teeth, a very large mouth, and is certainly one of the wonders of the deep.

Political.

The democracy, incensed at the part taken by Senator Mitchell, of Oregon, in the exposure of the infamous business carried on by means of the Patrick-Pelton-Tilden cipher despatches, take sweet revenge in calling Mr. Mitchell "Hipple-Mitchell." That's too severe for anything.

The Brooklyn Argus, Demas Barnes' paper, which has fought the Brooklyn Ring and Tilden for months past, died on Saturday. The democracy will not support an anti-ring paper.

The democrats, having adopted the theory that the Constitution can be set aside by a resolution of Congress, now propose to go further and maintain that it can be abrogated by a clause in an appropriation bill. They propose to ingraft on the Army bill a provision that no troops shall be used to sustain State governments in South Carolina or Louisiana, though the Constitution expressly provides that such aid shall be rendered under certain conditions.

LAFAYETTE LAIGHTON.

Cogent Reasons for a Grand Success.

Conspicuous among the highest examples of success which the present century can show is Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. The record of the triumphs over disease is to be traced in the written acknowledgments of thousands who have experienced its beneficent effects, and the evidence of its popularity is to be found in the vast and growing demand for the article in North and South America, Mexico, Guatemala, the West Indies, Australia and Europe. The reasons for its unparalleled success are cogent ones. The accumulated evidence of nearly thirty years shows that it is a certain remedy for malarial disease, as well as its surest preventive; that it eradicates dyspepsia, constipation, liver complaint and nervousness, counteracts a tendency to gout, rheumatism, urinary and uterine disorders, that it imparts vigor to the feeble, and cheers the mind while it invigorates the body.

Hearts are Enslaved

When lips like Cupid's bow reveal a double row of pearly teeth, whose natural beauty is heightened by the aid of SOZODONT. Feminine loveliness acquires irresistible power from this agreeable and healthful auxiliary.

Every one speaks well of it, and those who have been there once patronize the place ever afterwards. Is it necessary to add that we refer to the Colonnade Hotel on Chestnut Street, Philadelphia, Pa.?

Thousands of testimonials to the efficacy and remarkable cures of Adamson's Botanic Balsam can be produced from leading citizens of the New England States. It cures colds, coughs and all throat and lung troubles. Sold everywhere at 35 cents.

The Grand Central Hotel, New York, noted for its profuse and elaborate decorations and elegant table, now offers the same accommodations at a reduction from $4.00 to $2.50 and $3.00 per day.

Important to persons visiting New York or the Centennial. The Grand Union Hotel, New York, opposite the Grand Central Depot, has over 350 elegantly furnished rooms. Elevator, steam and all improvements. European plan. Carriage hire is saved, as baggage is taken to and from the depot free. Guests can live better for less money at the Grand Union Hotel than at any other first-class hotel. Stages and cars pass the Hotel constantly to all parts of the city, and to the Philadelphia depot.

Dr. A. J. Flagg's

COUGH & LUNG SYRUP.

A Safe and Sure Remedy.

The Cough and Lung Syrup!

Is the remedy that during the past fifteen years has won for DR. FLAGG an extended reputation as a SPECIALIST for THROAT and LUNG Diseases. After so many years trial it can be truthfully said that it has NEVER FAILED, even in the WORST CASES. It is purely Vegetable, and its effect upon the system is at once Soothing and Tonic.

It Will Cure a Common Cold

In a few hours, not by drying it up, but by removing it from the system. TRY IT.

It will CURE a Chronic Cough, by soothing the irritated parts, and strengthening the system.

IT WILL CURE CONSUMPTION.

Even after all other remedies have failed. In the earlier stages of this disease it will effect a speedy and certain cure; and in many cases of advanced Consumption its effect has seemed almost miraculous, restoring full strength and perfect health, those whom physicians had given up as incurable. TRY IT.

IT WILL CURE CATARRH

More effectually than any other remedy, by simply removing the cause. TRY IT.

It will Cure Bronchitis, by allaying all irritation of the Throat. TRY IT.

It will Cure Asthma, affording immediate relief and a perfect cure. TRY IT.

It Will Cure Ulcerated Sore Throat.

TRY IT.

IT WILL CURE Loss of Voice, Night Sweats, Hectic Fever, AND ALL Symptoms of Consumption. TRY IT.

For every affection of the Throat and Lungs it only needs a trial to convince the most skeptical of its wonderful curative properties.

Remember that it]

CURES COLDS, CURES COUGHS,

CURES CATARRH, CURES CONSUMPTION.

DR. WM. M. LADD, a leading Druggist of Claremont, certifies as follows:

For many years I have known Dr. A. J. Flagg as a successful practicing physician, and can assure the public that his representations relative to the Cough and Lung Syrup can be strictly relied upon. It has been used in his extended practice with marvellous success, and I know it to be all that he claims for it.

No. 9 Beaver Street, - - - Albany, N. Y

SURE CURES AND LOW PRICES.

Dr. YOUNG,

SUCCESSOR TO

Dr. TELLER,

DECEASED.

The above named private Hospital was established in Albany in 1853 by Dr. Lispenard and for a number of years its affairs were presided over by that gentleman, but for the past 20 years, Dr. Teller, who is now deceased, transacted the business of the Institution.

Owing to the great demand for more spacious apartments on account of the large increase of business, the Hospital has been removed to No. 9 Beaver Street, two doors above its old location, where patients will find magnificently furnished rooms for their reception, and are so arranged that patients do not come in contact with one another, seeing only the doctor, thereby avoiding the unpleasantness of meeting others, which always occurred at the old office.

LADIES will find rooms provided for their especial accommodation and entirely private.

YOUNG MEN, addicted to secret habits, who have impaired their health and destroyed the vigor of their minds, thus depriving themselves of the pleasures of married life and also those afflicted with private diseases of any nature, are advised that in consulting Dr. Young they will find a physician fully qualified to cure and restore them to full health and manly vigor.

Dr. Teller's great work for the married, or those contemplating marriage—100 pages—full of plates.—price 25 cents. Sent to all parts, under seal, by mail post paid.

TO THE LADIES—DR. YOUNG still retains the only agency in America for the sale of Dr. Vittatis Italian Female Monthly Pills. Sent by mail on receipt of $1.00, price per box.

DR. YOUNG is the only agent for Dr. La Mott's celebrated Galvanic Belts.

Invalids out of the city can be cured by consulting he Doctor by letter, and enclosing remittance. Medicines sent by mail or express, securely packed from observation. All letters must be addressed to

Centaur Liniments.

The lame can be healed and the wounded made whole. We now know just what the Centaur Liniment will do. They will not mend broken bones or cure Cancer, but they will extract soreness, allay pain, cure Rheumatism and a larger range of flesh, bone and muscle ailments than any article ever before discovered.

Scientific skill cannot go beyond the effects of these remarkable preparations. Chronic Rheumatism, of many years' standing, Neuralgia, Weak Back, Fever Sores, Weeping Sinews, Sciatica, Caked Breasts, Distorted Joints and Sprained Limbs of the worst kind are cured by the White Centaur Liniment.

It will destroy the pain and heal without a scar, all ordinary Burns and Scalds. It will extract the poison of Bites and Stings, and the frost from Frozen Limbs. It is very efficacious for Earache, Toothache, Itch and Cutaneous Eruptions.

Mr. Josiah Westake, of Marysville, O., writes:

"For years my Rheumatism has been so bad that I have been unable to stir from the house. The first three bottles of Centaur Liniment enabled me to walk without the crutches, and I am improving rapidly. I think your Liniment simply a marvel.

C. H. Bennett, Druggist, Rock Prairie, Mo., says:

"Centaur Liniment is better and gives the best satisfaction of anything in this market."

What the Centaur Liniment has done for others is will do for you. It is handy, it is reliable, and it is cheap.

The Yellow Centaur Liniment

is worth its weight in gold to owners of horses and mules.

This Liniment has cured more Sprained, Swenied, Ring-boned and Spliled Horses in three years than have all the Farriers in the country in an age. Its effects are simply wonderful.

We have thousands upon thousands of certificates as strong as the following:

"My horse was lame for a year with a fetlock wrench. All remedies utterly failed to cure and I considered him worthless until I commenced to use Centaur Liniment, which rapidly cured him. I heartily recommend it.

REV. GEO. W. FERRIS,
Manorville, Schoharie Co., N. Y."

DEAR SIRS.—I have used your Centaur Liniment in my family, and find it to be of great value. Please send me two dollar's worth, one for the mules and horses.

RILEY SICKLES.

FALLS STATION, WYOMING CO., PA.

It makes very little difference what the case is, whether it be Wrench, Sprain, Foll-Evil, Ringbone, Scratches or Lame neck of any kind, the effects are the same. Liverymen, Stage proprietors, Farmers, &c., should never be without the Yellow Centaur Liniment. It is sold everywhere, and warranted to its effects.

Castoria.

It is a mistake to suppose that Castoria is not adapted to grown persons as well as Children. They only need to increase the quantity. But children have so many complaints for which Castoria is adapted—like Wind Colic, Sour Stomach, Worms, Tetter, Teething and Croup, that it is especially recommended for them.

Its effects are more certain than Castor Oil. It contains no alcohol and is as pleasant to take as honey. It never gripes. By regulating the stomach and bowels the Castoria cools the blood, expels worms and prevents feverishness, quiets the nerves and produces health—then of course children can sleep in quiet and mothers can rest.

Castoria is recommended by all physicians and nurses who have tried it, and it is having a rapidly increasing sale. It is prepared with great care after the recipe of Dr. Samuel Pitcher, of Mass., at the Laboratory of J. B. Rose & Co., 46 Dey St., N. Y.

Daily Chronicle.

—Paris dressmakers send out dolls to their patrons in fac-simile costumes of what they have for sale.

—At the fifteenth wedding anniversary of Charles C. Horn and wife of Waterbury, Conn., recently, the bride was presented with a unique ball clock. It stands fifteen feet high, is made of fifteen kinds of wood, brass and nickel, is painted with fifteen well blended colors, is ornamented with fifteen superb pictures, cost fifteen hundred dollars, consumed fifteen weeks in the making and took fifteen men to make it.

—A story comes from Michigan which is stranger than that of Mary Knox, who declared that she had married a man who swore he had never married her. It is of a woman whose first husband provided in his will that, in order to receive his property, she must marry again within thirteen months, the ceremony being performed in a barn in the dark. The marriage came off according to the provisions of the will, but four different persons had been paying attention to the widow, and no one but herself knew who was the favored one. They were all there, and each ever after protested that he had held her hand and been married to her in the barn on that eventful night. She knew whom she intended to marry, but could not swear it.

—...st she had been wedded to the right one. The clergyman knew nothing about it, and the question was never settled. However, one of the men took possession of the woman and bought the others off for $2000 apiece.

ST. NICHOLAS.

"The King of all publications issued for the young on either side of the Atlantic."—Southampton (England) Observer.

"The third volume of this incomparable Magazine is now completed. With its eight hundred royal octavo pages, and its six hundred illustrations, its splendid serials, its shorter stories, poems, and sketches, etc., in its beautiful binding of red and gold, it is the most splendid gift-book for boys and girls overissued from the press. Price, $4; in half gilt, $5.

"ST. NICHOLAS is full of the choicest things. The publication is, in all respects, the best of its kind. We have never yet seen a number that was not surprisingly good."—The Churchman, Hartford, Conn.

ST. NICHOLAS FOR 1877,

Which opens with November, 1876, begins a short and very entertaining Serial from the French, "The Kingdom of the Greedy," a Story adapted to the Thanksgiving Season. Another serial, of absorbing interest to boys,

"HIS OWN MASTER,"

By J. T. Trowbridge,

Author of the "Jack Hazard Stories," begins in the Christmas Holiday Number.

Besides serial stories, Christmas stories, lively sketches, poems and pictures for the holidays, and some admirably illustrations of Oriental sports, with drawings by Siamese artists, The Christmas Holiday Number of ST. NICHOLAS, superbly illustrated, contains a very interesting paper,

"THE BOYS OF MY BOYHOOD,"

By William Cullen Bryant;

"The Horse Hotel," a lively article, by Charles A. Barnard, splendidly illustrated; "The Cock in the Sky," by Richard A. Proctor; "Ought Young Folks to Have Homes or Sunday-school," by Dr. Eggleston; "The Peterkins' Christmas Tree," by Lucretia P. Hale; "Poetry and Plants of Winter," by Lucy Larcom, with pictures.

Do Not Fail to Buy St. Nicholas for the Christmas Holidays. Price 25 cents.

During the year there will be interesting papers for boys, by William Cullen Bryant, Jean de Whitney, Thomas Hughes, William Howitt, Dr. Holland, George MacDonald, Sanford B. Hunt, Frank R. Stockton, and others.

There will be stories, sketches, and poems, of special interest to girls, by Harriet Prescott Spofford, Sarah Coolidge, Sarah Winter Kellogg, Elizabeth Stuart Phelps, Louisa Alcott, Lucretia P. Hale, Celia Thaxter, Mary Mapes Dodge, and many others. There will be also

"TWELVE SKY PICTURES,"

By Prof. Proctor, the Astronomer, with maps, showing "The Stars of Each Month," which will be likely to surpass in interest any series on popular science recently given in this public.

An element and instruction, with Fun and Frolic, and Wisdom and Wisdom, will be mingled in abundance, and ST. NICHOLAS will continue to delight the young and give pleasure to the old.

The London, Literary World says: "There is no magazine for the young that can be said to equal this choice production of SCRIBNER'S press. All the articles, whether in prose or verse, are throughout with vitality. * * * The literature and artistic illustrations are both superb."

The London Daily News says: "We wish we could point out its equal in our own periodical literature."

GOOD NEWS FOR BOYS AND GIRLS;

To meet the demand for a cheaper St. NICHOLAS 3rd Book, the price of vols. I and II has been reduced to $3 each. The three volumes, in an elegant library case, are sold for $10 (in full gilt, $15), so that all may give their children a complete set. These volumes contain more attractive material than fifty dollars' worth of the ordinary children's books.

Subscription price, $3 a year. The three bound volumes and a subscription for this year, only $12. Subscribe with the nearest newsdealer, or send money in check, or P. O. money order, or in registered letter, to

SCRIBNER & Co., 743 Broadway, N. Y.

SCRIBNER'S MONTHLY.

An Illustrated Illustrated Magazine.

The prospectus for the new volume gives the titles of more than fifty papers (mostly illustrated), by writers of the highest merit. Under the head of

"FOREIGN TRAVEL,"

we have "A Winter on the Nile," by Gen. McClellan; "Sauntenings About Constantinople," by Charles Dudley Warner; "Out of My Window at Moscow," by Eugene Schuyler; "An American in Turkistan," etc. Three serial stories are announced:

by Dr. Holland, the Editor, whose story of "Sevenoaks" gave the highest satisfaction to the readers of the Monthly.

The scene of this latest novel is laid on the banks of the Hudson. The hero is a young man who has been always "tied to a woman's apron strings," but who, by the death of his mother, is left alone in the world, with a fortune, on the current of life,—with a fortune, but without a purpose.

Another serial, "His Inheritance," by Miss Trafton, will begin on the completion of "That Lass o' Lowrie's," by Mrs. Hodgson Burnett. Mrs. Burnett's story, begun in August, has a sudden and dramatic power which have been a surprise to the public.

There is to be a series of original illustrated papers of "Popular Science," by Mrs. Herrick, each paper complete in itself.

There are to be, from various pens, papers on

"HOME LIFE AND TRAVEL."

too, practical suggestions as to town and country life, village improvements, etc., by well-known specialists.

Mr. Barnard's articles on various industries of great Britain include the history of "Some Experiments in Co operation," "A Scottish Leaf Factory," in the November number, and "Todd Lane, Sheffield," in December. Other papers are, "The British Workingman's Home," "A Nation of Shopkeepers," "Hayseny a Week for the Child," etc.

A richly illustrated series will be given on "American Sports by Flood and Field," by various writers, and each on a different theme. The subject of will have a prominent place whilst the latest productions of American humorists will contribute from month to month. The list of shorter stories, biographical and other sketches, etc., is a long one.

"HOUSEHOLD AND HOME DECORATION"

The editorial department will continue to employ the ablest pens both at home and abroad. There will be a series of letters on literary matters, from London, by Mr. Welford.

We mean to make the magazine sweeter and purer, higher and nobler, more genial and generous in all its utterances and influences, and a more welcome visitor than ever before in homes of refinement and culture.

FIFTEEN MONTHS FOR $4.00.

SCRIBNER for December, now ready, contains the opening chapters of "Nicholas Minturn." The three numbers of SCRIBNER for August, September, and October, containing the opening chapters of "That Lass o' Lowrie's," will be given in every new subscriber (who requests it), and whose subscription begins with the present volume, i.e., with the November number.

Subscription price, $4 a year—35 cents a number. Special terms on bound volumes. Subscribe with the nearest bookseller, or send a check or P. O. money order to

DR. QUAIN'S MAGIC CONDITION PILLS!

The Wonderful Remedy for Liver Complaint, Biliousness, Dyspepsia, Constipation, Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Headache, Kidney Complaint, Nervousness, Scrofula, Piles, and all diseases arising from a bad state of the Blood!

No medicine ever offered to the public has given such universal satisfaction as Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. Their praises are on every tongue where their merits are known. They strike at once at the seat of disease and show their healing power almost immediately. Thousands of voluntary testimonials of their merits have been received by the agent, from those who have been cured by them, of which the following are samples:

Dyspepsia Four Years, Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels Three Years, Confined to my Room Two Years, Pain so I Could Not Sleep Without Morphine. One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills Made Me Eat Well, Sleep Well and Free from Pain, after being given up by Physicians.

WEST LEBANON, ME., Feb. 22, 1

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I have been sick for four years with Dyspepsia, and for the past three years Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels. I have suffered all the pain I could endure and live. I have been confined to my room for two years, and could not sleep nights without the use of morphine. I have been given up by physicians as past cure. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, and they have done me more good than all the doctors I have had. I sleep well, I eat well and have no pain. They are all they are recommended to be. Please send me three packages, as two of my neighbors wish to try them. I enclose $1.00.

Your truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Another Letter from Maj. John W. Lord, one month later Wonderful Cures by Dr. Quain's Pills Effected on Him in Thirteen Days. First time Free from Pain for Three Years.

WEST LEBANON, ME., March 22, 1875.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I commenced taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS February 9th, and wrote you February 22d of their wonderful effect. I have continued to improve ever since. My appetite is good, and I sleep as well as I ever did in my life. I am free from pain for the first time in three years. When I was taken sick four years ago, I weighed one hundred and eighty-six pounds; I now weigh one hundred and thirty, but, as I am gaining in strength, I hope and I shall regain my flesh this summer, by the use of the Pills. I shal continue taking them for some time to come.

Yours truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Dr. Quain's Pills the Remedy for Soldiers' Aches and Pains.

[WEST LEBANON, ME., June 1, 1875.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I am now able to walk out every day, and am gaining in strength very fast, all of which is due to you as agent for the best Pills in the world. I have taken no other medicine, and my improvement has been steady since first taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done everything for me, and I will say to you, advertise them direct to the soldiers, for they will certainly cure them of aches and pains caused from exposure and hardship on the field. Please send me by return mail another package.

JOHN W. LORD.

Rheumatism for Twenty Years Cured by One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills—"The Best Medicine in the World."

EAST ANDOVER, N. H., Dec. 16, 1875.

MR. LANE—Dear Sir:—As I know the value of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS and that they have done me, I take pleasure in giving them praise; so I send you another testimonial. My father has been troubled with rheumatism for twenty years or more, and has tried everything that could be bought of, but to no good. At times it would be so bad that he could not lift his hand to his head or do any work at all, especially in cold weather. A short time ago I advised him to get some of these Pills. He believed nothing in them, but I gave him the last package I had by me, and did not need them, and he has not been as free from the Rheumatic Complaint for years. No Rheumatism, no pain. What helped him? It was DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, the best medicine in the world. There is nothing like them. I know it, for I have tried them, and they are all, yes, more than they are recommended to be. Give them a fair trial and you will say so. I write this because I know the goodness of them and wish others to know the same. Some may think I am telling a big story I am. But remember I am not giving their pills the praise they ought to have.

Yours with respect, ED. F. PEVARE.

Wonderful Effect of Four Doses of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills upon Neuralgia of Twelve Years' Duration—Testimony of Rev. J. S. Patton.

DAINGERFIELD, MORRIS CO., TEXAS, Nov. 15, '75.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I have been afflicted for near twelve years with Neuralgia in the face and head. I tried I do not know how many patent medicines, but could get partly relieved. I also tried many patent medicines with the same result. I have been confined to my room most all the time for fourteen weeks, and have been travelling and visiting medical springs, and I still suffered most intensely. The physicians pronounced my case the worst and most stubborn they had had anything to do with. One told me I could never get well; they had concluded to go South and spend the winter, and thought that was the only chance for me, and I was trying to get ready to go to Florida, when through the kindness of Rev. H. M. Mabin, my attention was called to the advertisement of Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. I immediately sent to you for a package. I have taken four doses and I am almost free from pain. The impression here seems to be that will cure everything that will cure anybody. I have five applications to send for the pills. Enclosed please find three dollars; send five packages to me and one to Rev. H. M. Mabin, Sherrill Sulphur Springs, Hopkins county, Texas.

Yours truly, J. S. PATTON.

Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache.

LACONIA, N. H., Jan. 29, 1876.

BROS. W. LANE—Sir:—I have been troubled with Bad Blood, Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done me more good than all the medicine I ever took; I have taken considerable medicine within the last five years. For the nerves I think there is nothing so good as those pills. I can recommend them to all who are similarly afflicted, they have done me so much good. I think they will recommend themselves wherever they go. I shall recommend those Pills to all who need them. Please send me two packages more, one for myself and one for a lady friend of mine. Many thanks to the inventor, agent and advertiser of those Pills.

MRS. P. L. ELLIOTT.

PULMOCINE.

PULMOCINE.

BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL

is no new discovery. Twenty-three years ago it was used by one of New England's most famous physicians as the best Pulmonary Curative so could prescribe, after dozen years spent in experimenting with it before, he was satisfied that the Materia Medica could add nothing in its favor.

Is the ultima thule of Medical Discovery.

Among its many ingredients are Wild Cherry Bark, Squill Root, Liquorice Root, Blood root, &c. It is a Blood Purifier, gently stimulating. It increases expectoration and is diuretic. It is sudorific and alterative. It is a necessary family medicine. It is a Tonic and a powerful aid to the digestive organs. It is a gentle sedative, and relieves nervousness. It is aromatic and agreeable to the taste.

CLEAR YOUR THROAT!

Relieve Your Lungs.

PULMOCINE CORDIAL

is a speedy and reliable Preventive and Remedy. Every Family should have a bottle at hand to check the sudden growth of all Pulmonary Diseases. For the Asthma, Coughs, Croups, Laryngitis, or Inflammation of the larynx, Diphtheria, and all kindred Throat Diseases at all times prevalent, it is the choice of Prevention. Children attacked with Whooping Cough or Croup should be immediately cared for. These painful attacks come with scarcely a moment's warning, when a physician may be out of immediate reach. A dose of PULMOCINE CORDIAL gives speedy relief, and the little ones are spared hours of pain and agony. As "a stitch in time saves nine," so does the possession of this Family Medicine prevent the spread of disease. Parents seeing their children gasping with pain, friends and relatives beholding each other in peril from suffocation by the choking pain in the throat, paralyzed with fear and not knowing the best course to pursue, are liable to apply the wrong remedial agent. There is no safety in delay, no time to waste in such cases. CONSUMPTION, that fearful scourge of the human race, lies at the door of all thus afflicted. BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL arrests it (unless in its advanced stage at which time there is no local cure) relieves the pressing, suffocating feeling at the lungs, and the patient's danger is past.

For Coughs,

Croup,

Diphtheria,

Asthma, etc.,

—USE—!

Bachman's Pulmocine Cordail.

The Pulmocine Cordial is not a quack medicine, is not an experiment, is not composed of any ingredients "discovered" by "walking in pastures" in South America or any where else, nor by one who discovered a weed and thereby cured himself. Most of the ingredients are such as our best educated physicians daily use for the complaints specified in some form or other. The recipe is that perfected by one of New England's most learned and famous physicians, who used it entirely in his daily practice until his death. It is offered to the profession and to the public, absolutely pure and unadulterated.

ECLECTIC MAGAZINE OF FOREIGN LITERATURE.

THIRTY-THIRD YEAR.

THE ECLECTIC reprints from the foreign Quarterlies, Reviews, Magazines, and Journals, their choicest contents, including Essays, Scientific Papers, Biographical Sketches, Reminiscences of Travel and Adventure, Tales, Stories, and Poems. The field of selection is very large, and it is believed that the ECLECTIC presents a greater variety and higher standard of literature than any periodical can hope to do that depends exclusively upon home talent. A knowledge of the current literature of other countries is indispensable to all who would keep pace with the progress of the human mind; and the ECLECTIC offers the best, and, indeed, the only opportunity for obtaining this knowledge within a reasonable compass, and at a moderate price.

Among the writers represented in recent numbers of the ECLECTIC are: The Rt. Hon. W. E. Gladstone, James Anthony Froude, Matthew Arnold, Charles Kingsley, Robert Buchanan, Geo. McDonald, John Ruskin, Alfred Tennyson, Thomas Hughes, William Black, Mrs. Oliphant, Thos. Hardy, William Morris, Miss Thackeray, Mrs. Alexander, Profs. Huxley and Tyndall, Richard Proctor, R. A. Proctor, Geo. Dawson, W. B. Carpenter, Max Muller, J. Norman Lockyer, Herbert Spencer, and others equally eminent. Besides the regular articles in the body of the magazine, there are four original Editorial Departments: Literary Notices, Foreign Literary Notes, Science and Art, and Varieties.

With regard to the character of the selections, the aim of the ECLECTIC is to be instructive without being dull, and entertaining without being trivial. While each number contains something to interest every member of the family circle, it addresses itself particularly to that great body of intelligent readers who seek profit as well as amusement in solid and healthful literature.

Besides the 128 pages of reading matter, each number of the magazine contains a Fine Steel Engraving—usually a portrait—executed in the most artistic manner.

TERMS.—Single copies, 45 cents; one copy one year $5; two copies, $9; five copies, $20. Trial subscriptions for three months, $1.

The ECLECTIC and any $4 Magazine to one address, $8.

Specimen Copies free to all subscribers. Address,

WHAT PAYS?

IT PAYS every Manufacturer, Merchant, Mechanic, Inventor, Farmer, or Professional Man, to keep informed on all the improvements and discoveries of the age.

It pays the head of every family to introduce into his household a newspaper that is instructive, one that fosters a taste for investigation, and provokes thought and encourages discussion among the members.

The Scientific American

which has been published weekly for the last thirty-one years, does an extent beyond the circle of any other publication; in fact it is the only weekly paper published in the United States, devoted to Manufactures, Mechanical Inventions and New Discoveries in the Arts and Sciences.

Every number is profusely illustrated and its contents embrace the latest and most interesting information pertaining to the Industrial, Mechanical, and Scientific Progress of the Day. Descriptions, with Beautiful Engravings of New Inventions, New Implements, New Processes, and Improved Industries of all kinds; Useful Notes, Recipes, Suggestions and Advice by Practical Writers, for Workmen and Employers, in all the various arts, forming a complete repertory of New Inventions and Discoveries; containing a weekly record, not only of the progress of the Industrial Arts in our own country, but also of all New Discoveries and Inventions in every branch of Engineering, Mechanics and Science abroad.

THE SCIENTIFIC AMERICAN has been the foremost of all industrial publications for the past thirty-one years. It is the oldest, largest, cheapest, and the best weekly illustrated paper devoted to Engineering, Mechanics, Chemistry, New Inventions, Science and Industrial Progress, published in the world.

The practical Recipes are well worth ten times the subscription price, and for the shop and house will save many times the cost of subscription.

Merchants, Farmers, Mechanics, Engineers, Inventors, Manufacturers, Chemists, Lovers of Science, and People of all Professions, will find the SCIENTIFIC AMERICAN useful to them. It should have a place in every Family, Library, Study, Office and Counting Room: in every Reading Room, College and School. A new volume commences January 1st, 1877.

A year's numbers contain 832 pages and SEVERAL HUNDRED ENGRAVINGS. Thousands of volumes are preserved for binding and reference. Terms, $3.20 a year by mail, including postage. Discount to Clubs. Special circulars, giving Club rates sent free. Single copies mailed on receipt of 10 cents. May be had of all News Dealers.

PATENTS, In connection with the Scientific American, Messrs. MUNN & CO. are Solicitors of American and Foreign Patents, and have the largest establishment in the world. More than fifty thousand applications have been made for patents through their agency.

Patents are obtained on the best terms. Models of New Inventions and Sketches examined, and advice free. A special notice is made in the Scientific American of all Inventions Patented through this Agency, with the name and residence of the Patentee. Patents are often sold in part or in whole, to persons attracted to the invention by such notice. A Pamphlet, containing full directions for obtaining Patents sent free. The Scientific American Reference Book, a volume bound in cloth and gilt, containing the Patent Laws, Census of the U. S., and 148 Engravings of mechanical movements. Price 25 Cents.

"A Complete Pictorial History of the Times."—"The best, cheapest, and most successful Family Paper in the Union."

Harper's Weekly.

ILLUSTRATED.

Notices of the Press.

Harper's Weekly should be in every family throughout the land, as a purer, more interesting, higher-toned, better-illustrated journal is not published in this or any other country.—Commercial Bulletin, Boston.

The Weekly is the only illustrated paper of the day that in its essential characteristics is recognized as a national paper.—Brooklyn Eagle.

The leading articles in Harper's Weekly on political topics are models of high-toned discussion, and its pictorial illustrations are often corroborative argument of no small force.—Examiner and Chronicle, N. Y.

The Weekly has to a still larger degree distanced all competitors as an illustrated newspaper. Its editorials are among the most able of their kind, and its other reading matter is at once learned, building, and amusing. Its illustrations are abundant and of rare excellence.—Christian Advocate, N. Y.

Lippincott's Magazine.

AN ILLUSTRATED MONTHLY OF POPULAR LITERATURE, SCIENCE, and ART.

Announcement for 1877.

The number for January begins the nineteenth volume of this Magazine, and while its past record will, it is hoped, be sufficient to secure a continuance of future excellence, no efforts will be spared to diversify its attractions and to provide an increased supply of Popular Reading in the Best and Most Emphatic Sense. The great object and constant aim of the conductors will be so to furnish the public with Literary Entertainment of a Refined and Varied Character, as well as to present in a graphic and striking manner the most recent information and soundest views on subjects of General Interest; in a word, to render LIPPINCOTT'S MAGAZINE strikingly distinctive in those features that are most attractive in Magazine Literature. The contributions now on hand, or specially engaged, embrace a highly attractive list of Tales, Short Stories, Descriptive Sketches, Narratives, Papers on Science and Art, Poems, Popular Essays, Literary Criticisms, etc., etc., by talented and well known writers. A large proportion of the articles, especially those descriptive of travel, will be profusely and beautifully illustrated. The pictorial embellishments of the Magazine constitute one of its many attractive features.

In addition to the general attractions of LIPPINCOTT'S MAGAZINE the Publishers would invite attention to the following

SPECIAL FEATURES FOR 1877.

1. A new serial story,

THE MARQUIS OF LOSSIE,"

by George Macdonald, author of "Malcolm," "Alec Forbes," "Robert Falconer," etc.

To those of our readers who are familiar with "Malcolm," this new serial by the author of the distinguished writer will need no recommendation, and his reputation is a guarantee to others of a closely interesting and, it may be add, pure story. It began in the November number, which issue, with the December part, will be furnished gratis to all new subscribers for 1877.

2. A profusely illustrated series of sketches of

SWEDISH SCENERY AND LIFE,

by Prof. Willard Fiske, of Cornell University, who is thoroughly familiar with Sweden and its people from personal observation.

3. A series of popular papers on

ART AND ART MATTERS,

by Edward Strahan (Earl Shinn), author of "The New Hyperion," etc.

4. Illustrated Sketches of Travel, entitled

PICTURES FROM SPAIN,

by Edward King, author of "The Great South," etc.

5. Mrs. Lucy H. Hooper's interesting and piquant

PAPERS AND LETTERS FROM PARIS,

will be continued through the year.

6.

THE BEAUTIES OF THE RHINE,

will be described in a richly illustrated series of papers.

7. During the year will appear a number of handsomely illustrated short articles, descriptive of Life, Travel and Adventure in the United States, England, South America, Japan, Mongolia, and other countries.

AMONG THE BEST PEOPLE.

I.—IT PUBLISHES ALL THE NEWS. The servant of no man, the slave of no party, it can afford to and does tell the truth about all.

II.—IT IS IMPARTIAL AND INDEPENDENT. Believing in intelligent suffrage, it aims to furnish voters the fullest and fairest information, to qualify them for the wisest discharge of their responsibility.

III.—IT IS AS IT ALWAYS WAS, ESSENTIALLY REPUBLICAN. It may quarrel in the future, as it has done in the past, with errors of republican leaders or corruptions in the republican party; but can never cease to be true to republican principles, and especially to those golden doctrines of civil service reform, hard money, the sanctity of the National faith, and equal justice to all classes at the South, which formed the cornerstones of Gov. Hayes' admirable letter of acceptance.

IV.—ITS MORAL TONE IS PURE AND ELEVATED. The family circle is never profaned by anything which appears in the columns of THE TRIBUNE.

V.—THE CHOICEST STANDARD AND CURRENT LITERATURE of the day is presented in its columns, including Correspondence, Poems, Stories, and Reviews from the most talented and popular writers.

VI.—IT IS THE BEST AND CHEAPEST FARMER'S PAPER PUBLISHED. "THE WEEKLY TRIBUNE has done more to make good farmers than any other influence which ever existed."

VII.—THE MARKET REPORTS of THE TRIBUNE are indispensable to every buyer and seller in the country. Quotations are given daily and weekly of almost every article bought and sold in the markets of the world, and with unvarying and almost infallible accuracy. Ice Cattle, Butter and Cheese, and other Markets are the recognized standards.

VIII.—MORE COPIES of THE TRIBUNE are paid for and read by the American people than of any other newspaper of similar class. This is the strongest fact which is the best demonstration of the value of the paper.

IX.—THE READERS of THE TRIBUNE represent largely the best enterprising and progressive minds of the country. Persons who are interested in pure politics, the advance of science, and the progress of opinion, will find their demands met by THE TRIBUNE.

X.—PUBLIC APPROVAL AND PROSPERITY have rewarded the independent and self-respectful course of THE TRIBUNE. Its thousands of younger corps of earnest workers among its friends that ever before, and constantly receives from old and new readers words of encouragement.

LITTELL'S LIVING AGE FOR 1877. The continued and increasing success of this periodical (now over thirty-three years old) is doubtless owing to the fact that it affords a comprehensive and cheap means of keeping well informed in the best literature of the day. With the weekly issue, and its three and a quarter thousand large pages of reading matter a year, it is enabled to present with exhaustless and satisfactory completeness able essays and reviews, choice serial and short stories, interesting sketches of travel and discovery, poetry, and valuable miscellany, biographical, scientific and political information from the entire body of foreign periodical literature.

For the coming year it represents the eminent authors as Prof. Max Muller, Prof. Tyndall, Rt. Hon. W. E. Gladstone, Mr. W. H. Carpenter, Prof. Huxley, Richard A. Proctor, Frances Power Cobbe, The Duke of Argyll, Jas. A. Froude, Mrs. Mulock, Mrs. Oliphant, Mrs. Alexander, Miss Thackeray, Jean Ingelow, Geo. McDonald, Wm. Black, Matthew Arnold, Henry Kingsley, W. W. Story, Auerbach, Ruskin, Carlyle, Tennyson, Browning, and many other leaders in science, fiction, history, biography, philosophy, poetry, theology, polities and miscellaneous reading.

The subscription price ($8 a year,) is cheap for the amount of reading furnished; while for those desiring the cream of the best foreign literature, the publishers make a still cheaper offer, viz.: to send, postpaid, The Living Age and either one of the American $4 monthlies, or weeklies, at a cost for $10.50. With The Living Age and one or other of our leading American monthlies, a subscriber will at small cost, be put in "command of the whole situation."

An extra offer, also, is made to all new subscribers for 1877, viz.: to send them gratis the six numbers of 1876, containing, besides other valuable reading, the first instalments of a new and unusually powerful serial story by George MacDonald, now appearing in The Living Age from advance sheets.

The volume begins Jan. 1st, and we recommend the periodical to the attention of our readers. We know of no other way in which so much of the best work of the best minds of the time can be obtained so cheaply and conveniently as through this standard weekly magazine. Published by Littell & Gay, Boston.

THE SUN.

1877 • NEW YORK. 1877

The different editions of THE SUN during the next year will be the same as during the year that has just passed. The daily edition will continue to be a sheet of four pages, and on Sundays a sheet of eight pages, of 56 broad columns; while the weekly edition will be a sheet of eight pages of the same dimensions and character that are already familiar to our friends.

THE SUN will continue to be the strenuous advocate of reform and retrenchment, and of the substitution of statesmanship, wisdom, and integrity for hollow pretence, imbecility, and fraud in the administration of public affairs. It will contend for the government of the people by the people and for the people, as opposed to government by frauds in the ballot-box and in the counting of votes, or even by military violence. It will endeavor to supply its readers,—a body now not far from one million of souls—with the most condensed, complete, and trustworthy accounts of current events, and will employ for this purpose a numerous and carefully selected staff of reporters and correspondents. Its pages from Washington, especially, will be full, accurate and fearless; and it will doubtless continue to deserve and enjoy the hatred of those who thrive by plundering the Treasury or by usurping what the law does not give them, while it will strive to merit the confidence of the public by defending the interests of the people against the encroachments of unjustified power.

The price of the daily SUN will be 53 cents a month or $6.50 a year, post paid, or with the Sunday edition $7.70 a year.

The SUNDAY edition alone, eight pages, $1.20 a year, post paid.

The WEEKLY SUN, eight pages of 56 broad columns, will be furnished during 1877 at the rate of $1 a year, post paid.

The benefit of this large reduction from the previous rate for the WEEKLY can be enjoyed by individual subscribers without the necessity of making up clubs. At the same time, if any of our friends choose to aid in extending our circulation, we shall be grateful to them, and every such person who sends us ten or more subscribers from one place will be entitled to one copy of the paper for himself without charge. At one dollar a year, postage paid, the expenses of paper and printing of every sheet, bond and security dealt in at the Stock Exchange. Messrs. FROTHINGHAM & CO. are extensive brokers of large experience and the highest rank. In addition to their stock brokerage business, they sell what are termed "privileges," or "Puts and Calls," now one of the favorite methods of Stock Speculation. Their advice is valuable, and by following it many have made fortunes.—[New York Metropolis.]

☞ And New Subscribers for 1877, paying in advance after November 1, 1876, will receive the paper weekly, from receipt of remittance to January 1st, 1877, without charge.

COMBINED PAPERS-FORTY-SEVENTH YEAR!

THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN.

THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN is published weekly on the following terms, when paid strictly in advance: ONE COPY, one year, $2.50; FOUR COPIES, $10, and an additional copy for the year free to the sender of the Club; TEN COPIES, $20, and an additional copy for the year free to the sender of the Club.

THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN possesses an unequaled Corps of Correspondents, regular and special, among the Best Farmers of All Parts of the Country, and the subscriber wishes to comment on the condition and progress of the husbandry of every section of the United States and civilized world.

THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN gives in its Horticultural Department a continuous variety of information and suggestions, equal or superior in the aggregate to what is obtained in any two numbers of most magazines devoted to Horticulture.

THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN has probably done as much as all other journals combined to introduce and disseminate improved Stock of every kind through the country; and commands to a greater degree than any contemporary the confidence and support of breeders and purchasers.

THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN contains unusually full and authentic Market Reports, and devotes special attention to them and to the Prospects of the Crops, as throwing light upon one of the most important of all questions — When to Buy and When to Sell.

THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN embraces numerous minor departments of a practical character such as the Dairy, the Poultry Yard, the Apiary, the Vineyard, and so on, and weekly presents a column or two for the Housewife, and an interesting variety of Fireside Reading. It contains a well-edited review of Current Events, and its advertising pages furnish a directory of all the principal agricultural and horticultural establishments of the country.

Fertilizing Influence of Snow.

Snow is often called "the poor man's manure;" and if it is true that it has any manurial value, the farmer's prospects for the next season are certainly flattering. The body of snow upon the ground in all the Northern and Middle States is very great, and millions of acres of land are covered by it as with a blanket of the whitest wool. It is probable that seldom, perhaps never, has so wide an area of our country been covered as during the month of January, 1877. The question whether snow is capable of affording to lands any of the elements of fertility is one often asked; and in reply, the Boston Journal of Chemistry says that it very probably is. The atmosphere holds ammonia and some other nitrogenous products, which are without doubt brought to the soil by snowflakes as well as by rain drops. Experiments both here and abroad would seem to prove the truth of this conclusion. Rains are not only valuable for the moisture which they supply, but for what they bring to us from the atmosphere. During a thunderstorm nitric acid is produced in considerable quantities; and dissolved in the rain drops to a high degree of attenuation, its effects upon soils are highly salutary, as the nitrogen permeates the entire soil.

Leghorn Hens.

If a man keeps Leghorns he must have no garden, or he must cover the top of his hen yards. That Leghorns are great layers and active hens, there can be no denying, but they are great flyers. We have built our yard a lath and a half high, says the Poultry Review, but what do these saucy things care for that? Although they have the whole outside world to range in, yet the garden seems to have a greater attraction than all the rest. One day we found it necessary to feed a weak chicken in the garden by itself, so that it might be sure of its share. A few minutes afterward, on looking out of the window, we discovered the weak chicken in the henyard and two Leghorn hens finishing up its food. We went out, but the two robbers had fled. Going around the corner, we found them rolling in a flower bed. A Leghorn will do as much mischief in a garden in five minutes as anything we know of.

Corn Fodder.

A few years ago Dr. Nichols of the Boston Journal of Chemistry tested the comparative value of hoed and sowed fodder by chemical analysis. He reported that the corn fodder grown by the ordinary process, had eighty-three per cent. of water, while that sown broadcast had ninety-two per cent. In the last case there was only eight per cent. of solid matter, and of this only a part was nutritious. The fodder on which ears had grown was much richer in starch and sugar, though if left too long uncut, these nutritious elements quickly changed to woody fibre of very little digestible value. That sowed corn does not become hard and "woody," is partly owing to the fact that it contains so small a proportion of solid matter. All kinds of corn fodder should be cut before the change from sugar and starch to fibre, has gone very far. In field corn this may be known by the ears becoming fairly "glazed." When cut at this time, both corn and fodder will be at at their best. Sowed corn is the richest when cut two or three weeks after "tasseling." At this time the stalk has accumulated all the nutrition it can hold, and will try to develop a small ear of corn if given half a chance.

Seed Potatoes.

Farmers should have an eye to their seed potatoes for planting next spring. The experience of thousands of farmers in various sections of the country goes to show that large potatoes for seed are no better than medium sized ones, only that in a dry season, if planted whole, they sustain the plants by the moisture in them better than small potatoes. It is not advisable to plant the very small ones, they should be fed out, but select those for seed that are rather too small for marketing. But in a rich soil, and in a sufficiently moist season, potatoes no larger than walnuts will produce good crops. When one buys any of the new varieties in small quantities and desires to produce the largest possible crop, each potato may be cut into as many pieces as it has eyes, and one eye may be put in a hill.

Old Rose Bushes.

Never give up a decaying rose bush till you have tried watering it two or three times a week with soot tea. Make the concoction with boiling water, from soot taken from the chimney or stove in which wood is burned. When cold, water the bush with it. When it is used up, pour boiling hot water on the soot a second time. Rose bushes treated in this way will often send out thrifty shoots, the leaves will become large and thick, the blossoms will greatly improve in size and be more richly tinted than before.—D. H. Jacques.

Counting the Votes.

When the vote of Michigan was reached, Tuesday, objection was made to the vote of one of the electors, and the houses separated. A motion to take a recess of the House was voted down, 165 to 86. The House then adopted a resolution that the vote objected to be counted.

In convention, Michigan was counted for Hayes and Wheeler,—eleven votes; Minnesota, five for Hayes; Mississippi, eight for Tilden; Missouri, fifteen for Tilden; Nebraska, three for Hayes.

Objection was made to one vote from Nevada on technical grounds, and the convention rose. The House then took a recess to ten o'clock Wednesday. The Senate voted to count the disputed vote from Nevada, and then took a recess to Wednesday forenoon.

On Wednesday the House resolved (as in the case of the Michigan elector) that there was no cause for rejecting the vote of the Nevada elector; and the Senate was notified that the House was ready to meet in convention, at 11:50 A. M.

In convention, the vote of Nevada was counted, three for Hayes. The count proceeded until Oregon was reached, when objections were made by both parties, and the convention rose. Mr. Ferry at once certified the certificates and objections to the Commission.

The Commission assembled at ten minutes past one, to consider the Oregon question, pending a decision on which the count is stopped.

Specimen Reformers.

Ex-Gov. Grover, of Oregon, telegraphs from Salem, Oregon, as follows: "I desire to state that I have never sent to Governor Tilden any telegram signed 'Gobble' or 'Governor,' and I denounce all such pretended telegrams as base fabrications as far as I am concerned. I have never used a cipher nor a fictitious signature in a letter or despatch in my life."

But this disclaimer of Grover's does not cover the whole question. He may not have "sent the telegram" or used "cipher;" but somebody sent the telegram to Tilden exactly describing what action Grover would take and did take in the matter of the "post-office elector," six days before the action was taken, though Grover swore before the Senate committee that he had informed no one what he intended to do previous to the meeting of the electoral college of Oregon. The truth of the matter probably is that Grover wrote the despatch to Tilden in plain English, and handed it to Patrick; the latter translated it into the "heel scantiness cramp galvanic survivor" despatch, and as the word "Grover" was not in the "Household English Dictionary" the word "Governor"—translated to "Gobble"—was used by Patrick as a signature. The reform Senator-elect possibly told the truth in saying he sent no cipher despatch and never used a fictitious signature; but it requires a vast deal of credulity to believe he did not commit reckless and willful perjury before the Senate committee.

What did Colonel Pelton, Mr. Tilden's nephew, mean when he testified before the Senate committee that he did not know the key to the cipher telegrams? There is a suggestion of perjury in that denial in view of the Oregon disclosures. Mr. Hewitt, Chairman of the National Democratic Committee, testifying before the Senate committee on the 19th, swore that he had never used the "galvanic survivor" cipher, but had seen Pelton use it! He (Hewitt) had a copy of the key, and would turn it over to the Senate committee if desired; and he had never seen any of the cipher telegrams which passed between Oregon and New York, at the democratic headquarters. He further testified that Pelton lived in the same house as Samuel J. Tilden, and ate at the same table. Hewitt, though as strong a partisan as Hon. Zach. Chandler, is said to be also as rigidly honest a man as he; and if so his evidence not only convicts the "nephew of his uncle" of perjury, but will satisfy every unprejudiced man that the Oregon infamy was engineered by the Great Sleuth in person.

The Railroad Strike.

There is but little change in the position of the strike of the engineers and firemen on the Boston & Maine Railroad, but the fears of the public of a catastrophe grow space, and apparently with just cause. On Tuesday, as the Medford train was being pushed into the Boston depot by the shifting engine "Lion," it left the rails in consequence of a misplaced switch, and went bounding over the sleepers for about sixty feet, striking a train standing upon the side track. The collision raised both trains from the ground, and as they crowded against each other the seats were wrenched out of position, and the sill timbers sprung, one of them being broken. The panels of the front car of the incoming train were stove in half its length, and the timbers of one trunk were smashed. The train was quickly stopped, and all excitement allayed, but some of the women were badly frightened and screamed frantically. The damage done was not serious, but the escape from worse consequences was very fortunate. There was danger of the cars tipping over, and had this been the case the cars would undoubtedly have caught fire, when the most terrible results would have followed. It is said that the switchman had not had time to replace the switch.

At Portland, an accident happened at midnight to the freight train bound for Boston; the engine was burned out at Wells. The engine was the "Saco," the largest on the road. It is a most significant fact that workmen are changing the boiler plugs in all the locomotives, replacing the iron ones with lead ones. The "Granite State" arrived in Boston burned so badly that, with but little more heat, she would have burst. The flues of the "Maine" dropped in, and the crown sheet of the "Mercury" has a crack eighteen inches long.

The Lowell and Eastern Railroads are doing a rushing business by reason of the strike. The old patrons of the road are not disposed to accept Superintendent Barber's statement that the new engineers are competent men or the Railroad Commissioners' that the road is safe for travel.

Charles Randall, an ex-engineer on the Boston & Maine Railroad, was arrested at the depot in Boston on Tuesday evening, while putting a shackle into the machinery of a locomotive in such a manner as to burst one of the cylinders when the train started. He was drunk at the time and was armed with a loaded revolver. He was discharged from the road three months ago for drunkenness, and expelled from the Brotherhood at the same time for the same cause. The engineers were in session when they heard of it, and denounced the act most emphatically, and refused his request for bail to get him out of the station house. The Brotherhood decided to stand firm, believing that the situation is more hopeful for them now than at any time since the strike. There will be no strikes on the other roads.

On Tuesday evening, at Portland, Loring V. Walker, engineer on the Grand Trunk Railroad and a member of the Brotherhood, was arrested for obstructing United States mails on the 14th of February by inducing engineers to quit work. He was bound over in $2500 for examination. His bail was furnished.

A Victory for Tilden.

The case Boody vs. Tilden has been decided, and in Tilden's favor. It will be remembered that this was a suit brought to recover some $20,000, over-payment received by Tilden on a stock speculation, and that the democratic papers all denounced the suit as a "campaign trick." But a few days ago, in the Superior Court of the city of New York, the plaintiff, Mr. Boody, completed his evidence, showing clearly that Mr. Tilden had drawn over $20,000 more than belonged to him. When it came Tilden's turn to put in his defence or to go into an accounting to see how much money, with interest, he should repay, he, through his counsel, insisted upon his plea of the statute of limitations as a bar to his being required to account and pay back the money that he had withdrawn. The plea, of course, as a mere legal bar to the collection of an honest debt, had to be sustained by the Court, and Mr. Tilden, by thus setting up the statute of limitations against the debt, now amounting with interest to more than $40,000, avoids payment. Mr. Tilden's political opponents will not envy him the pleasures he may derive from the enjoyment of this money. His enemies would rather be Mr. Boody and lose the money than Mr. Tilden and hold on to it by the aid of such a plea, and will congratulate the democratic party, and especially our country, in being relieved, through the decision of the Electoral Commission, of Mr. Tilden as a leader and a possible President.

News and Notes.

At a meeting of the Executive Committee of the Atlantic & Pacific Telegraph Company in New York on Monday, the resignation, of the following named Directors were received and accepted: C. J. Osborn, S. M. Mills, A. B. Chandler, W. H. Guion and James D. Smith. The following-named gentlemen were elected to fill these vacancies: J. W. Garrett of Baltimore, Thomas A. Scott of Philadelphia, Cornelius K. Garrison, Hugh Jewett and James R. Keene. A report was presented by President Eckert, in which he proposed the construction of 10,000 miles of new lines, covering the new territory and completing the system. A cash subscription of $600,000 for the purpose was made and the work of construction will begin immediately. This powerful rival of the Western Union has forced a large reduction of rates within a year, and with such men as Garrett, Tom Scott and Garrison in its board of direction its power must rapidly increase.

The probability that additional cables would be laid were the present ocean telegraph companies to amalgamate, appears to be restraining further steps in that direction. The supposition is well founded. According to its returns the Anglo-American Company's total receipts for the last half-year were $1,368,860, of which only $216,565 were needed for working expenses; and yet the rates have been very much reduced since the Direct Cable commenced to work. A business so profitable as this can not fail to attract capital seeking a good investment, and if the Anglo-American Company should succeed in gobbling the Direct Cable and restoring the old rates, there would be an additional inducement to the grantees of the Baltimore line to hurry up with their wires. The addition of Mr. J. W. Garrett's name to the list of grantees of the latter, and his subsequent election as a director of the Atlantic & Pacific Telegraph Company, is considered by many to mean that the Baltimore cable is to be rushed across the ocean as soon as possible, in the interests of the latter corporation.

The three-masted schooner Kate M. Hilton, of Bath, Me., recently crossed the Atlantic in 15 days, said to be the shortest passage on record for a vessel of this kind.

While we are wondering over the telephone, the French are examining an invention by which photographs can be sent by telegraph. The process is not yet explained, but the Paris and Lyons police have been successfully using it for the detection of criminals.

The barkentine John C. Smith, of Belfast, Me., recently made the passage between Mobile and Havre in twenty-seven days, said to be the quickest time ever made between the two ports.

Donn Piatt, of the Washington Capital, is out in a card in which he says that in advocating the assassination of President-elect Hayes he did not mean to advocate his assassination.

New Hampshire Items.

Capt. Colton R. Simpson, an eccentric character of Concord, was found dead in the barn at his residence in the edge of Pembroke on Saturday. He was 78 years old. Heart disease was the probable cause of his death.

Thomas J. Hubbard, for more than twenty-five years agent for the Grand Trunk Railroad at Shelburne, dropped dead in his house on the evening of Feb. 14th, the day before his 70th birthday.

Some days ago, a novel accident occurred in Landaff. Messrs. C. D. Eastman and Holman Titus were riding in a sleigh, with a yoke of oxen walking behind them, when a dog came up and snapped at their heels; they suddenly started and furiously ran over men, sleigh, horse and all, taking the harness from the horse, the horse from the sleigh, and the sleigh from the men—leaving them reasonably bruised and not a little scared, and the whole institution demolished generally.

The house of H. H. Marshall, in Hanover, was destroyed by fire Thursday morning. Nothing of value was saved. Loss $3000; no insurance.

Frank P. Colby of Meredith, twenty-three years old, who forged his uncle's name to a note, and sold the note to Thomas E. Ladd, of Laconia, for $110, is wanted by the authorities.

A meeting of the Trustees of Dartmouth College was held in Concord on the 20th. Professor Young was unanimously requested to remain as one of the Faculty of the college, and it was voted that he be appointed Professor of Astronomy, distinct from the chair of natural philosophy, and that the funds necessary to establish the chair should be raised by an appeal to the Alumni and friends of the institution, as soon as practicable.

Pembroke has a mystery. In a house occupied by two ladies, a heavy rumbling noise closely resembling the slight shock of an earthquake, accompanied by a jarring of the whole house, has been heard at daybreak almost every morning all through the winter. The noise and jar is sufficient to suddenly awake a sound sleeper. This is vouched for by a large number of persons who have slept in the house, and no one is accounted as able to explain it.

Miss A. B. Harris of Warner has a relic of old times that is deserving of mention. It is a stove that has been in family use for fifty years, and which is still good for longer service. The stove is one of the old Jame's patent, and was cast in 1825. It was the first stove brought into Warner, and the second of its patent ever sold in the United States.

W. L. Dunham's house at Canaan was burned Sunday, with part of its contents. Loss, $700; insurance, $400.

Rev. Dr. Graves of Manchester has decided to accept the call to the Baptist Church at Lebanon, Ky.

Walter Aiken's house, near Franklin Falls, was burned on Tuesday; the furniture was saved. Loss $50,000; no insurance.

At Dover, on the 20th, Charles Hooke, for breaking and entering, and larceny, was sentenced to three years in State prison; and his brother, William Hooke, for receiving stolen goods, to a similar term. Frederick Sherburne got eighteen months and Henry Keenan four years, for stealing from the cars of the Boston & Maine and Eastern railroads. Patrick Burke was fined $50 and costs for selling liquor.

JOTTINGS.

To-day being the anniversary of the birth of Washington, no paper will be issued tomorrow from this office.

The bells will ring for half an hour at sunrise, noon and sunset, to-day; and a salute will be fired at noon, at the navy yard. The post-office hours will be as follows: general delivery, open from eight o'clock to twelve, and from five to six; box office open from eight in the morning to nine at night, as usual.

The Veteran Artillery Association give their first annual ball this evening in Frank lin Hall, Harlow's orchestra furnishing the music. The committee having the matter in charge have spared no effort to make it an entire success, and those who are fortunate enough to be there will enjoy the pleasantest dance of the season.

This evening the Kittery Reform Club celebrate their first anniversary by an entertainment in Trefethen's Hall at the Foreside, the attractions being select readings, dramas, vocal music, etc.

The Board of which Dr. John M. Parsons of this city is Chairman, appointed by the last Legislature to examine into the general affairs of the Insane Asylum at Concord, having attended to that duty propose visiting the Hospitals for the Insane at Augusta, Maine, and at Worcester, Reading, Northampton and Taunton, Mass., reporting the result of the visits to each at the next session of the Legislature.

The second series of farmers' meetings, held at Greenland on the afternoon and evening of the 20th, were very successful and largely attended. At the first session an address was made by Hon. James O. Adams of Manchester, on animal and chemical fertilizers. It was followed by a paper on better stock, from Col. John M. Weare of Seabrook. In the discussions which ensued, Messrs. Hayes and Miller of this city, Warr on Brown of Hampton Falls, Emmons B. Philbrick of Rye, and other prominent agriculturists took part. In the evening Mr. Adams presented a paper on the history of agricultural progress in New Hampshire for the past one hundred years.

Among the democratic Congressmen who voted in the House on Monday against taking a recess to Tuesday, were Messrs. Bell and Jones, the democratic Congressmen from this State. We hope to see Mr. Jones defeated by Gen. Marston, and have no doubt he will be; but we feel obliged to say that in thus voting with the conservative men of his party he did himself credit. Having approved the Electoral Act and voted for it, he would not stultify himself by countenancing factious opposition to the continuance of the count because the decision of the Commission was what he had hoped it would be; thus showing that in advocating the submission of the Presidential question to reference he acted in entire good faith, intending to abide by the decision of the referees, whatever it might be.

Spring is approaching. The festive hand-organ man made his appearance in this city on Tuesday, but didn't play any. Let us hope his machine is frozen up, and will not thaw out until after election, at any rate. Human nature can stand only a certain amount of affliction at once.

"Well, Dick, me boy," said an Irish democrat on Monday to a well known politician of his party on Market street, "how does things look now?" "Oh, we're gone up," said Dick; "they've got us, and we might as well get down to it as comfortably as we can." "That's so, I'm afraid," said the other; "you can't take the eight-spot with the seven, anyway." "Yes, you can, sometimes," was the answer. "An' when, I'd like to know?" "Oh, in the 'civil game of forty-five,'" answered Dick. "Ah, but that's an Irish game; this I'm speaking of is an American one."

Rev. James A. Hubbell of New Haven, Conn., has been unanimously extended a call to become pastor of the North Congregational church, at a salary of $2500 a year.

It may not be out of place to notify the readers of the Whig that Representative Frank Jones, the wealthy brewer who now represents the first district of New Hampshire, is maneuvering for his re-election in a highly Tildenish manner. It is said that he is using his ample means lavishly to secure his re-election, and some of his ways are amusing, and when they are let out, as they are very likely to be before election, there will be many a laugh go up at the expense of the great XXX ale man. Bangor Whig.

Mr. Anderson's lecture on the present condition and future prospects of the colored youth of the South, will be given tomorrow evening in Franklin Hall; admission 10 cts. Mr. Anderson is a student at Newton Theological Seminary, and a graduate of Lincoln University, and his lecture has been well received in other cities. The Braxton Family will enliven the occasion with some of their best songs.

Political.

Dr. Redfield, the southern democratic correspondent of the Cincinnati Commercial, puts the whole Louisiana question in the following nutshell: "Louisiana was carried for Tilden by wholesale murder, violence, intimidation and bull-dozing, on the 'Mississippi plan,' in five parishes. The net democratic gain in these five parishes is more than the majority which Tilden has on the face of the returns."

When the hundred extra policemen at the Capitol, to serve during the count, were drawn up in the rotunda to be sworn in, fifty appointed by Sergeant-at-Arms French of the Senate stood by themselves, and those of the House by themselves. Upon calling on all in French's line who could take the iron-clad oath to hold up their right hands, all but three did so, and two of these, having left their right at Gettysburg in the service of the Union, held up their left, and so the whole fifty took the iron-clad. When Thompson's line was called on, only three hands went up, and the remaining forty-seven were were obliged to ask for the modified oath. The Boston Herald's Washington correspondent says: "The fifty extra policemen employed by the Sergeant-at-Arms of the House of Representatives are about the worst crowd of vagabonds and loafers who ever were congregated in Washington."

Meeting Judge Swayne, of the United States Supreme Court, after the decision of the Electoral Commission in the Florida case, Representative Abram S. Hewitt, of New York, said, "Judge, isn't it painful to note the fact that the judges on the Electoral Commission do not rise above partisanship, but uniformly vote on party lines?" The judge, assuming a distressed expression of countenance, but with a merry twinkle in his eye, replied, "Why, yes, my dear sir, it was a subject of mortification to me, and I have seriously thought of remonstrating with Brothers Clifford and Field on that subject; but you know it would be rather a delicate matter for me to do, and perhaps you had better speak to them yourself."

A Baltimore telegram states that the democratic leader of that city, who went to Cincinnati in Oc ober with a large gang of experienced ballot-box stuffers to aid the cause of Tilden and Reform, was Harry McCoy, Chairman of the Maryland Democratic Executive Committee and one of the leading democrats in the State. Holland, in his confession, mentions the man and it is stated that he divided his forces between Cincinnati and Indianapolis. For this and other valuable services, McCoy was on the Tilden slate for Naval Officer of Baltimore.

The Patricks are old hands, it seems, in the business of corruption. An extract from the testimony of James E. Lyon in the Emma Mine investigation, sets forth that Trenor W. Park once employed these skillful agents to corrupt a Utah jury in a case in which he was interested, and that the only question which seems to have arisen between the parties to this remarkable bargain was as to certain balances which Park had failed to pay. Perhaps it was because he learned wisdom from this little transaction that in the later and more important one Mr. Patrick was so inflexible in demanding the money before he did the work.

The democrats in Congress are getting tired of David Dudley Field's statesmanship. At the democratic caucus Saturday evening, to consider the situation, after the resolution to filibuster on the count of the electoral vote had been rejected, Field offered a resolution for the appointment of a committee of five to inquire whether it be expedient to withhold the appropriations for the support of the army. Mr. Willis of New York moved to lay the resolution on the table, saying that to withhold such supplies would be revolutionary. The effect would be to alarm the country and therefore he should oppose any such legislation to the bitter end. Field withdrew his resolution.

The New York Tribune closes an article on the democratic arguments and claims in the Florida and Louisiana cases as follows: "In short, the legal claims set up by the democrats in this contest have been at every point and in every particular disowned and denied by democrats hitherto, and rejected as a basis of action. It is nothing more than the naked truth to say that four months ago the entire democratic party would have accepted as indisputable the identical positions which the Commission has now taken. In view of these facts, it is not a decent thing for democrats to denounce the Tribunal for its course. Neither is it creditable to the democratic members of the Commission that not one of them was found independent enough to vote for the very same legal principles which four months ago he would have accepted without hesitation."

A Full Vote.

A full republican vote in this State on the second Tuesday of March will mean a good deal. Among the things that it will mean may be named the following:

It will mean three thousand republican majority in the State.

It will mean the election of Hon. B. F. Prescott for Governor.

It will mean the election of Gen. Marston, Mr. Briggs, and Mr. Blair to Congress.

It will mean a republican Council, a republican Senate, and a republican House.

It will mean the continuance of economical and efficient administration in the State.

It will mean that the voice and influence of New Hampshire will continue on the side of liberty, progress, and right.

It will mean that New Hampshire has not forgotten the dear-bought lessons of the past, and is not unmindful of the high responsibilities and duties of the future.

DIED.

DODGE. In this city, Feb. 16, Mr. John S. Dodge, aged 65 years.

☞ The funeral of Mr. John S. Dodge will take place from his late residence on Penhallow street on Friday afternoon at two o'clock.

—A three years old little girl at Rochester, N. Y., was taught to conclude the evening prayer, during the temporary absence of her father, with, "and please watch over my papa." It sounded very sweet, but the mother's amusement may be imagined when she added: "And you'd better keep an eye on mamma, too!"

Dr. A. J. Flagg's

COUGH & LUNG SYRUP.

A Safe and Sure Remedy.

The Cough and Lung Syrup

Is the remedy that during the past fifteen years has won for DR. FLAGG an extended reputation as a SPECIALIST for THROAT and LUNG Diseases. After so many year- trial it can be truthfully said that it has NEVER FAILED, even in the WORST CASES. It is purely Vegetable, and its effect upon the system is at once Soothing and Tonic.

It Will Cure a Common Cold

In a few hours, not by drying it up, but by removing it from the system. TRY IT.

It will CURE a Chronic Cough, by soothing the irritated parts, and strengthening the system.

IT WILL CURE CONSUMPTION.

Even after all other remedies have failed. In the earlier stages of this disease it will effect a speedy and certain cure; and in many cases of advanced Consumption it's effect has seemed almost miraculous, restoring to full strength and perfect health those whom physicians had given up as incurable. TRY IT.

IT WILL CURE CATARRH

More effectual y than any other remedy, by simply removing the cau-e. TRY IT.

It will Cure Bronchitis, by allaying all irritation of the Throat. TRY IT.

It will Cure Asthma, affording immediate relief and a perfect cure. TRY IT.

It Will Cure Ulcerated Sore Throat.

TRY IT.

IT WILL CURE Loss of Voice, Night Sweats, Hectic Fever, AND ALL Symptoms of Consumption. TRY IT.

For every affection of the Throat and Lungs it only needs a trial to convince the most skeptical of its wonderful curative properties.

Remember that it

CURES COLDS, CURES COUGHS, CURES CATARRH, CURES CONSUMPTION.

DR. WM. M. LADD, a leading Druggist of Claremont, certifies as follows:

For many years I have known Dr. A. J. Flagg as a successful practicing physician, and can assure the public that his representations relative to the Cough and Lung Syrup can be strictly relied upon. It has been used in his extended practice with marvellous success, and I know it to be a thing he claims for it.

CLAREMONT, N. H., September, 1875.

DR. FLAGG My De r Sir: Your Cough and Lung Syrup has proved a great benefit to me, giving relief from severe Coughs and Sorenesss of the Lungs, when all other remedies and physicians had failed. I have never taken a medicine more pleasant to the taste or more satisfactory in its results.

THE OLDEST ESTABLISHED HOSPITAL

— IN THE —

UNITED STATES.

No. 9 Beaver Street, - - - Albany, N. Y

SURE CURES AND LOW PRICES.

Dr. YOUNG,

SUCCESSOR TO

Dr. TELLER,

DECEASED.

The above named private Hospital was established in Albany in 1855 by Dr Lispenard and for a number of years Medical Treatises were provided every by that gentleman, but for the past 20 years, Dr. Teller, who is now deceased, transacted the business of the Institution.

Owing to the great demand for more spacious apartments on account of the large increase of business, the Hospital has been removed to No. 9 Beaver Street, two doors above its old location, where patients will find magnificently furnished rooms for their reception, and are so arranged that patients do not come in contact with one another, seeing only the doctor, thereby avoiding the unpleasantness of meeting others, which always occurred at the old office.

LADIES will find rooms provided for their especial accommodation and entirely private.

YOUNG MEN, addicted to secret habits, who have impaired their health and destroyed the vigor of their minds, thus depriving themselves of the pleasures of married life and also those afflicted with private diseases of any nature, are advised that in consulting Dr. Young they will find a physician fully qualified to cure and restore them to full health and manly vigor.

Dr. Teller's great work for the married, or those contemplating marriage—100 pages—full of plates,—price 25 cents. Sent to all parts, under seal, by mail post paid.

TO THE LADIES—DR. YOUNG still retains the only agency in America for the sale of Dr. Michelis Italian Female Monthly Pills. Sent by mail on receipt of $1.00, price per box.

DR. YOUNG is the only agent for Dr. La Motte's celebrated Galvanic Belts.

Invalids out of the city can be cured by consulting the Doctor by letter, and enclosing remittance. Medicines sent by mail or express, securely packed from observation. All letters must be addressed to DR. S. V. R. YOUNG, 9 Beaver St., Albany, N. Y

Centaur Liniments.

The lame can be healed and the wounded made whole. We now know just what the Centaur Liniment will do. They will not mend broken bones or cure tumors; they will extract soreness, allay pain, cure Rheumatism and a larger range of flesh, bone and muscle ailments than any article ever before discovered.

Scientific skill cannot go beyond the effects of these remarkable preparations. Chronic Rheumatism of many years standing, Neuralgia, Weak Back, Fever Sores, Weeping Sinews, Scalds, Caked Breasts, Distorted Joints and Sprained Limbs of the worst kind are cured by the White Centaur Liniment.

It will destroy the pain and heal without a scar, all ordinary Burns and Scalds. It will extract the poison of Bites and Stings, and the frost from Frozen Limbs. It is very efficacious for Ear-ache, Tooth-ache, Itch and Cutaneous Eruptions.

Mr. Josiah Westake, of Marysville, O., writes:

"For years my Rheumatism has been so bad that I have been unable to stir from the house. The first three bottles of Centaur Liniment enabled me to walk without my crutches. I am mending rapidly. I think your Liniment simply a marvel.

C. H. Bennett, Druggist, Rock Prairie, Mo., says:

"Centaur Liniment is better and gives the best satisfaction of anything in the market."

What the Centaur Liniment has done for others it will do for you. It is handy, it is reliable, and it is cheap.

The Yellow Centaur Liniment

is worth its weight in gold to owners of horses and mules.

This Liniment has cured more Sprained, Swenied, Ring-boned and Galled Horses in three years than have all the Farriers in the country in an age. Its effects are simply wonderful.

We have thousands upon thousands of certificates as strong as the following:

"My horse was lame for a year with a felloe wrench. All remedies utterly failed to cure and I consigned him worthless until I commenced to use Centaur Liniment, which rapidly cured him. heartily recommend it.

REV. GEO. W. FERRIS, Mauerville, Schoharie Co., N. Y."

DEAR SIRS.—I have used your Centaur Liniment in my family, and find it to be of great value. P ease send me two dollar's worth, one for the mules and horses.

RILEY SICKLER.

FALLS STATION, WYOMING CO., PA.

It makes very little difference what the case is, whether it be Wrench, Sprain, Felloe-Evil, Ringbone, Scratches or Lame ness of any kind, the effects are the same. Liverymen, Stage proprietors, Farmers, &c., should never be without the Yellow Centaur Liniment. It is sold everywhere, and warranted to its effects.

Castoria.

It is a mistake to suppose that Castoria is not adapted to grown persons as well as Children. They only need to increase the quantity. But children have so many complaints for which Castoria is adapted—like Wind Colic, Sour Stomach, Worms, Tetter, Teething and Croup, that it is especially recommended for them.

Its effects are more certain than Castor Oil. It contains no alcohol and is as pleasant to take as honey. It never gripes. By regulating the stomach and bowels the Castoria cools the blood, expels worms and prevents feverishness, quiets the nerves and produces health—then of course children can sleep in quiet and mothers can rest.

Castoria is recommended by all physicians and nurses who have tried it, and it is having a rapidly increasing sale. It is prepared with great care after the recipe of Dr. Samuel Pitcher, of Mass., at the Laboratory of J. B. Rose & Co., 46 Dey St., N. Y.

Daily Chronicle.

Didn't Stand the Test.

A young man read in a paper a few days ago that if you wanted to find out if the woman you had selected for your future spouse had a good temper you ought to take occasion to step on her dress, or snap the sticks of her fan, or in some way annoy or discompose her. "If," said the great authority who presides over the column of advice, "if she betrays no sign of ill temper, she will prove a model wife." Accordingly the young man seized an opportunity when his sweetheart was rigged in her most killing array to step on her trail and pull out about three yards of gathers, with a rip like a peal of thunder, exposing about three quarters of the frame-work that makes her dress stick out behind. But instead of meeting the accident with perfect equanimity, she turned round and jabbed her parasol in his eye, called him a long-haired loper, and asked him why he didn't wear his feet sideways. He expresses himself thankful that he didn't marry the girl before finding out what sort of a temper she had; but the doctor doesn't think his eye will grow out again.

—"Fall of the leaf"—A decline in to-bacco.

—Sleep can be courted by laying a jug of hot water at your feet on retiring. And profanity can be courted considerably quicker if the cork to the jug comes out.

—At the restaurant the guest called the waiter to him and remarked: "This goose with wine sauce would be most palatable but for a slight mistake. The age is in the goose and not in the wine."

—"Are those genuine sausages?" asked the, of the butcher. "Ya," said the butcher, "dey ish genuine." "Made of dog and cat, and all that," observed the man. "Nein! nein! dey ish not!" indignantly replied the butcher; "I makes no dog's and cat's meat in mine sausages." "Well, then," said the man, walking off, "I don't want them; I'm after the genuine article." The butcher was perplexed to lose the customer, and, gazing wistfully after him, reproachfully muttered: "Ya, ya—it is sometimes better uff I toldt de truth."—Chicago Journal.

—Two ladies unknown to each other, were standing at the shawl counter of a St. Louis store, examining the same garment. The first expressed her desire to buy it, but said she was unable to do so as her husband had told her that she must retrench as much as possible. "Then I will take it," said the other, "and you may charge it to Mr. ——." The effect of the name upon her who couldn't afford to buy the shawl was electrical. "That's my husband!" she shrieked, and a scene ensued which resulted in the clerk putting the shawl back upon the shelf.

—At a late masked ball in Washington there was a gentleman present, a very well-known member of Washington society, not in a masque, but simply a looker-on. This gentleman has been blessed with quite a prominent nose, of which feature he is not vain. After the signal was given for unmasking, a young lady stepped up to our friend, playfully tapped him on the shoulder and said: "Why don't you take off your mask?" He answered: "I have no mask on." She still persisted—"Oh! but then you know your false nose is such a complete disguise, no one can recognize you." That was a little too much for our friend, who remarked as he walked off, "If I had been given the privilege of choosing my own nasal organ, I might have done better. As it is, I must simply grin and bear it."

—A travelling show in the West consisted of "human curiosities" all from one family. The head of the concern was a Samson and sword swallower. His wife was the fat woman. His daughter, with her hair bleached and her eyes painted, was the Circassian girl. His son-in-law was the door-tender. His three-year-old son, dressed in trousers, was the dwarf, "aged 15." His son, in a cage, was a Fiji cannibal. In a Wisconsin village there was a family row, and in the ensuing trial in Court the secrets of their business came out. But they have become reconciled, and once more the old man lifts weights and swallows swords, the Circassian girl flirts with the fellows, the door-tender shouts the merits of the exhibition, the dwarf toddles on his platform and kisses the women, and the cannibal howls in his cage.

—In an ancient neighborhood of Munich, behind the post, and best entered from Maximilian street, is a little square remarkable for its ugliness. All the houses are old, and one feels upon entering it as if one had suddenly walked back to the middle ages. On the east side stands a time-gray, low, irregular building, resembling in architecture, or by its want of it, nothing of the present age. This is the royal Hof Brauerei. After 10 A. M. a constant stream of thirsty souls flows along the streets and narrow alleys leading toward its dismal-looking portals. Its beer is celebrated as being the finest in the world, and is the standard by which all other beers are judged. It is the poetry of beer; it is to all other brewings what Shakspeare is to the drama; what the coliseum is to other antiquities. None of the beer is exported or sold; it is all drunk on the spot, and when it gives out no other brewery can supply a drop comparable with it. The Parisians, who have heaped every luxury, from the poles to the tropics, in their capital of the world, have not enough money in the Bank of France to purchase a cask of it. It is said that Maximilian II. resolved that the best beer in the world should be made at the royal brewery in Munich. It has never been expected that it would yield any revenue, but merely pay its expenses. It is now under the protection of the present king, and the ingredients are inspected by an officer of the royal household.—Galaxy.

Attention is called to the following letter from David Cummings & Co., Shoe Manufacturers of South Berwick, Me.:

SOUTH BERWICK, ME., Nov. 20, 1875.

MR. DENNIS SHEA, Sir: The Water Cement Pipe you laid for us over three years ago has proved perfectly satisfactory to us in every respect, and although a part of it froze up last winter, we can't see any injury done. The Pipe was laid by you in a thorough manner, and we believe it to be the Best Water Pipe known, and if we lay any more shall survey lay the same, and you are to do the job if alive and well. Yours, D. CUMMINGS & CO.

DR. QUAIN'S
MAGIC
CONDITION PILLS!
The Wonderful Remedy for Liver Complaint, Biliousness, Dyspepsia, Constipation, Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Headache, Kidney Complaints, Nervousness, Scrofula, Piles, and all diseases arising from a bad state of the Blood!

Is the ultima thule of Medical Discovery.

No medicine ever offered to the public has given such universal satisfaction as Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. Their praises are on every tongue where their merits are known. They strike at once at the seat of disease and show their healing power almost immediately. Thousands of voluntary testimonials of their merits have been received by the agent, from those who have been cured by them, of which the following are samples:

Dyspepsia Four Years, Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels Three Years, Confined to my Room Two Years, Pain so I Could Not Sleep Without Morphine. One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills Made Me Eat Well, Sleep Well and Free from Pain, after being given up by Physicians.

WEST LEBANON, ME., Feb. 22, 1

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I have been sick for four years with Dyspepsia, and for the past three years Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels. I have suffered all the pain I could endure and live. I have been confined to my room for two years, and could not sleep nights without the use of morphine. I have been given up by physicians as past cure. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, and they have done me more good than all the doctors I have had. I sleep well, I eat well and have no pain. They are all they are recommended to be. Please send me three packages, as two of my neighbors wish to try them. I enclose $1.00.
Your truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Another Letter from Maj. John W. Lord, one month later Wonderful Cures by Dr. Quain's Pills Effected on Him in Thirteen Days. First time Free from Pain for Three Years.

WEST LEBANON, ME., March 22, 1875.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I commenced taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS February 5th, and wrote you February 22d of their wonderful effect. I have continued to improve ever since. My appetite is good, and I sleep as well as I ever did in my life. I am free from pain for the first time in three years. When I was taken sick four years ago, I weighed one hundred and eighty-six pounds; I now weigh one hundred and twenty; but, as I am gaining in strength, I have faith I shall regain my flesh this summer, by the use of the Pills. I shall continue taking them for some time to come.
Yours truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Dr. Quain's Pills the Remedy for Soldiers' Aches and Pains.

[WEST LEBANON, ME., June 1, 1875.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I am now able to walk out every day, and am gaining in strength very fast, all of which is due to you as agent for the best Pills in the world. I have taken no other medicine, and my improvement has been steady since first taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done everything for me, and I will say to you, that you may use my name in the soldiers, for they will certainly cure them of aches and pains caused from exposure and hardship on the field. Please send me by return mail another package.
JOHN W. LORD.

Rheumatism for Twenty Years Cured by One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills—"The Best Medicine in the World."

EAST ANDOVER, N. H., Dec. 10, 1875.

MR. LANE—Dear Sir:—As I know the value of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS and the good they have done me, I take pleasure in informing you of it, so I send you another testimonial. My father has been troubled with rheumatism for twenty years or more, and has tried everything he could hear of, but to no good. At times it would be so bad that he could not lift his hand to his head, or to any work at all, especially in cold weather. A short time ago I advised him to get some of these Pills. He believed nothing in them, but I gave him the last package I had of you, as I did not need them, and he has not been as free from the Rheumatic Complaint for years. No Rheumatism, no pain. What helped him? It was DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, the best medicine in the world. There is nothing like them. I know it, for I have tried them, and they are all, yes, more than they are recommended to be. Give them a fair trial and you will say so. I write this because I know the goodness of them and wish others to know the same. Some may think I am telling a big story. I am. But remember I am not giving them half the praise they ought to have.
Yours with respect, ED. F. PEVARE.

Wonderful Effect of Four Doses of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills upon Neuralgia of Twelve Years' Duration—Testimony of Rev. J. S. Patton.

DAINGERFIELD, MORRIS CO., TEXAS, Nov. 15, '75.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I have been afflicted for near twelve years with Neuralgia in the face and head. I tried I do not know how many physicians, and could only get partly relieved. I also tried many patent medicines with the same result. I have improved so far my room was all the time for eight or ten winters, and have been traveling and visiting medical springs, and I still suffered most intensely. The physicians pronounced my case the worst and most stubborn that they had had anything to deal with. One solitaire I could never get well; they all advised me to go South and spend the winter, and thought that was the only chance for me, and I was trying to get ready to go to Florida, when through the kindness of Rev. H. M. Mathis, my attention was called to the advertisement of Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. I immediately sent to you for a package. I have taken four doses and I am almost free from pain. The impression here seems to be that if your pills will cure me, they will cure anybody. I have five applications to send for the pills. Enclosed find money order; send five packages to me and one to Mrs. Laura Sherrell Sulphur Springs, Hopkins county, Texas.
Yours truly, J. S. PATTON.

Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache.

LACONIA, N. H., Jan. 29, 1875.

THOS. W. LANE—Sir:—I have been troubled with Bad Blood, Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache. I have taken one package of Dr. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done me more good than all the medicine I ever took; I have taken considerable medicine within the last five years. For the nerves I think there is nothing so good as these pills. I can recommend them to all who are similarly afflicted, they have done me so much good. I think they will recommend themselves wherever they go. I shall recommend them to all who need them. Please send me two packages more, one for myself and one for a lady friend of mine. Many thanks to the inventor, agent and advertiser of those Pills.
MRS. P. L. ELLIOTT.

PULMOCINE.

BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL

is no new discovery. Twenty-three years ago it was used by one of New England's most famous physicians as the best Pulmonary Curative so could prescribe, after, dozen years spent in experimenting with it before it was satisfied that the Materia Medica could add nothing to its favor.

Among its many ingredients are Wild Cherry Bark, Squill Root, Liquorice Root, Blood root, &c. It is a Blood Purifier, gently stimulating. It increases expectoration and is diuretic. It is sudorific and alexipha. It is a necessary family medicine. It is a Tonic and a powerful aid to the digestive organs. It is a gentle sedative, and relieves nervousness. It is aromatic and agreeable to the taste.

CLEAR YOUR THROAT!

Relieve Your Lungs.

For the terrible diseases engendered by the bracing climate of New England,

AND

PULMOCIDE CORDIAL

is a speedy and reliable Preventive and Remedy. Every Family should have a bottle at hand to check the sudden growth of all Pulmonary Diseases. For the Asthma, Coughs, Croups, Laryngitis, or inflammation of the larynx, Diphtheria, and all kindred Throat Diseases at all times prevalent, it is the ounce of Prevention. Children attacked with Whooping Cough or Croup should be immediately cared for. These painful attacks come with scarcely a moment's warning, when a physician may be out of immediate reach. A dose of PULMOCINE CORDIAL gives speedy relief, and the little ones are spared hours of pain and agony. As "a stitch in time saves nine," so does the possession of this Family Medicine prevent the spread of disease. Parents seeing their children gasping with pain, friends and relatives beholding each other in peril from suffocation by the choking pain in the throat, paralyzed with fear and not knowing the best course to pursue, are liable to apply the wrong remedial agents. There is no safety in delay, no time to waste in such cases. CONSUMPTION, that fearful scourge of the human race, lies at the door of all this afflicted. BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL arrests it (unless in its advanced stage at which time there is no local cure) relieves the pressing, suffocating feeling at the lungs, and the patient's danger is past.

For Coughs,

Croup,

Diphtheria,

Asthma, etc.,

—USE—!

Buchman's Pulmocine Cordail,

The Pulmocine Cordial is not a quack medicine, is not an experiment, is not composed of any ingredients "discovered" by "walking in pastures" in South America or anywhere else, nor by one who discovered a weed and thereby cured himself. Most of the ingredients are such as our best educated physicians daily use for the complaints specified in some form or other. The recipe is that perfected by one of New England's most learned and famous physicians, who used it entirely in his daily practice until his death. His offered to the profession and to the public, absolutely pure and unadulterated.

1877.
ECLECTIC MAGAZINE
OF
FOREIGN LITERATURE.
THIRTY-THIRD YEAR.
THE ECLECTIC reprints from the foreign Quarterlies, Reviews, Magazines, and Journals, their choicest contents, including Essays, Scientific Papers, Biographical Sketches, Reminiscences of Travel and Adventure, Tales, Stories, and Poems. The field of selection is very large, and it is believed that the ECLECTIC presents a greater variety and higher standard of literature than any periodical can hope to do that depends exclusively upon home talent.
A knowledge of the current literature of other countries is indispensable to all who would keep pace with the progress of the human mind; and the ECLECTIC offers the best, and, indeed, the only opportunity for obtaining this knowledge within a reasonable compass, and at a moderate price.
Among the writers represented in recent numbers of the ECLECTIC are: The Rt. Hon. W. E. Gladstone, James Anthony Froude, Matthew Arnold, Charles Kingsley, Robert Buchanan, Geo. McDonald, John Ruskin, Alfred Tennyson, Thomas Hughes, William Black, Mrs. Oliphant, Thos. Hardy, William Morris, Miss Thackeray, Mrs. Alexander, Profs. Huxley and Tyndall, Richard Proctor, R. A. Proctor, Dean, Dr. W. B. Carpenter, Max Muller, J. Norman Lockyer, Herbert Spencer, and others equally eminent. Besides the regular articles in the body of the magazine, there are four original Editorial Departments: Literary Notices, Foreign Literary Notes, Science and Art, and Varieties.
With regard to the character of the selections, the aim of the ECLECTIC is to be instructive without being dull, and entertaining without being trivial. While each number contains something to interest every member of the family circle, it addresses itself particularly to that great body of intelligent readers who seek profit as well as amusement in solid and healthful literature.
Besides the 128 pages of reading matter, each number of the magazine contains a Fine Steel-Engraving—usually a portrait—executed in the most artistic manner.
TERMS.—Single copies, 45 cents; one copy one year $5; two copies, $9; five copies, $20. Trial subscriptions for three months, $1.

WHAT PAYS?

IT PAYS every Manufacturer, Merchant, Mechanic, Inventor, Farmer, or Professional Man, to keep informed on all the improvements and discoveries of the age.

It pays the head of every family to introduce into his household a newspaper that is instructive, one that fosters a taste for investigation, and promotes thought and encourages discussion among the members.

The Scientific American

which has been published weekly for the last thirty-one years, does this, to an extent beyond that of any other publication; in truth it is the only weekly paper published in the United States, devoted to Manufactures, Mechanical Inventions and New Discoveries in the Arts and Sciences.

Every number is profusely illustrated and its contents embrace the latest and most interesting information pertaining to the Industrial, Mechanical, and Scientific Progress of the world. Descriptions, with Beautiful Engravings of New Inventions, New Implements, New Processes, and Improved Industries of all kinds; Useful Notes, Receipts, Suggestions and Advice by Practical Writers, for Workmen and Employers in all the various arts, forming a complete repertory of New Inventions and Discoveries; containing a weekly record, not only of the progress of the Industrial Arts in our own country, but also of all New Discoveries and Inventions in every branch of Engineering, Mechanics and science abroad.

THE SCIENTIFIC AMERICAN has been the foremost of all industrial publications for the past thirty-one years. It is the oldest, largest, cheapest, and the best weekly illustrated paper devoted to Engineering, Mechanics, Chemistry, New Inventions, Science and Industrial Progress, published in the world.

The practical recipes are well worth ten times the subscription price, and for the shop and house will save many times the cost of subscription.

Merchants, Farmers, Mechanics, Engineers, Inventors, Manufacturers, Chemists, Lovers of Science, and People of all Professions, will find the SCIENTIFIC AMERICAN useful to them. It should have a place in every Family, Library, Study, Office and Counting Room; in every Reading Room, College and School. A new volume commences January 1st, 1877.

A year's numbers contain 832 pages and SEVERAL HUNDRED ENGRAVINGS. Thousands of volumes are preserved for binding and reference. Terms, $3.20 a year by mail, including postage. Discount to Clubs. Special circulars, giving Club rates sent free. Single copies mailed on receipt of 10 cents. May be had of all News Dealers.

PATENTS. In connection with the Scientific American, Messrs. MUNN & Co are Solicitors of American and Foreign Patents, and have the largest establishment in the world. More than fifty thousand applications have been made for patents through their agency.

Patents are obtained on the best terms. Models of New Inventions and Sketches examined, and advice free. A special notice is made in the Scientific American of all Inventions Patented through this Agency, with the name and residence of the Patentee. Patents are often sold in part or in whole to persons attracted to the Invention by such notice. A Pamphlet, containing full directions for obtaining Patents, sent free. The Scientific American Reference Book, a volume bound in cloth and gilt, containing the Patent Laws, Census of the U. S., and 142 Engravings of mechanical movements. Price 25 Cents.

Lippincott's Magazine.

AN ILLUSTRATED MONTHLY OF POPULAR LITERATURE, SCIENCE, and ART.

Announcement for 1877.

The number for January begins the nineteenth volume of this Magazine, and while its past record will, it is hoped, be deemed a sufficient guarantee of future excellence, no efforts will be spared to diversify its attractions and to provide an increased supply of Popular Reading in the Best and Most Emphatic Sense. The great object and constant aim of the conductors will be to furnish the public with literary Entertainment of a Refined and Varied Character, as well as to present in a graphic and striking manner the most recent information and sound views on subjects of General Interest; in a word, to render LIPPINCOTT'S MAGAZINE strikingly distinctive in those features that are most attractive in Magazine Literature. The contributions now on hand, or specially engaged, embrace a highly attractive list of Tales, Short Stories, Descriptive Sketches, Narratives, Papers on Science and Art, Poems, Popular Essays, Literary Criticisms, etc., etc., by talented and well known writers. A large proportion of the articles, especially those descriptive of travel, will be profusely and beautifully illustrated, the pictorial embellishments of this Magazine constitute one of its many attractive features.

In addition to the usual departments of LIPPINCOTT'S MAGAZINE the Publishers would invite attention to the following

SPECIAL FEATURES FOR 1877.

1. A new serial story,

"THE MARQUIS OF LOSSIE,"

by George Macdonald, author of "Malcolm," "Alec Forbes," "Robert Falconer," etc.

To those of our readers who are familiar with "Malcolm," this new story from the pen of this distinguished writer will need no commendation, and his reputation is a guarantee to others of a deeply interesting and powerful story. It began in the November number, which issue, with the December part, will be furnished gratis to all new subscribers for 1877.

2. A profusely illustrated series of sketches of

SWEDISH SCENERY AND LIFE,

by P. of. Willard Fiske, of Cornell University, who is thoroughly familiar with the scenes and the people from personal observation.

3. A series of popular papers on

ART AND ART MATTERS,

by Edward Strahan (Earl Shinn), author of "The New Hyperion," etc.

4. Illustrated Sketches of Travel, entitled

PICTURES FROM SPAIN,

by Edward King, author of "The Great South," etc.

5. Mrs. Lucy H. Hooper's Interesting and Piquant

PAPERS AND LETTERS FROM PARIS,

will be continued through the year.

6.

THE BEAUTIES OF THE RHINE,

will be described in a richly illustrated series of papers.

7. During the year will appear a number of humorously illustrated short papers, under the title of Life, Travel and Adventure in the United States, England, South America, Japan, Mongolia, and other countries.

AMONG THE BEST PEOPLE.

I.—IT PUBLISHES ALL THE NEWS. The servant of no man, the slave of no party, it can afford to and does tell the truth about all.

II.—IT IS IMPARTIAL AND INDEPENDENT. Believing in intelligent suffrage, it aims to furnish voters the fullest and fairest information, to qualify them for the wisest discharge of their responsibility.

III.—IT IS, AS IT ALWAYS WAS, ESSENTIALLY REPUBLICAN. It may quarrel in the future, as it has done in the past, with errors of republican leaders or corruptions in the republican party; but it can never cease to be true to republican principles, and especially to those golden doctrines of civil service reform, hard money, the sanctity of the National faith, and equal justice to all classes at the South, which formed the corner-stones of Gov. Hayes' admirable letter of acceptance.

IV.—ITS MORAL TONE IS PURE AND ELEVATED. The family circle is never profaned by anything which appears in the columns of THE TRIBUNE.

V.—THE CHOICEST STANDARD AND CURRENT LITERATURE of the day is presented in its columns, including Correspondence, Poems, Stories, and reviews from the most talented and popular writers.

VI.—IT IS THE BEST AND CHEAPEST FARMERS' PAPER PUBLISHED. THE NEW YORK TRIBUNE has done more to make good farmers than any other influence which ever existed."

VII.—THE MARKET REPORTS OF THE TRIBUNE are indispensable to every buyer and seller in the country. Quotations are given daily and weekly of almost every article bought and sold in the markets of the world, and with unvarying and almost infallible accuracy. In Cattle, Butter and Cheese, and other Markets are the recognized standard.

VIII.—MORE COPIES OF THE TRIBUNE are paid for and read by the American people than of any other newspaper of equal price in the country—a fact which is the best demonstration of the value of the paper.

IX.—THE READERS OF THE TRIBUNE represent largely the best enterprising and progressive minds of the country. Persons who are interested in pure politics, the advance of science, and the progress of opinion, will find their demands met by THE TRIBUNE.

X.—PUBLIC APPROVAL AND PROSPERITY have rewarded the independent and self-respecting course of THE TRIBUNE. It has a larger and stronger corps of earnest workers among its friends than ever before, and constantly receives from old and new readers words of encouragement.

Notices of the Press.

The Magazine has attained in its one quarter century and more of existence to that point where it may be said of it, in the words of Dr. Johnson, "It fails to blame and useless to praise." The lustre of its long-established reputation has increased as the years have passed, and its future seems as bright and brighter than at any time since the golden hue of prosperity settled around its later and best years.—Brooklyn Eagle.

Harper's Monthly is marked by the same characteristics which gave it circulation from the first with the better class of readers. It combines reading matter with illustrations in a way to make clear and vivid the facts presented. Pictures merely designed to catch the eyes of the ignorant are never inserted.—Chicago Journal.

LITTELL'S LIVING AGE FOR 1877. The continued and increasing success of this periodical (now over thirty-three years old) is doubtless owing to the fact that it affords a comprehensive and cheap means of keeping well informed in the best literature of the day. With the weekly issue, and its three and a quarter thousand large pages of reading matter a year, it is enabled to present with freshness and satisfactory completeness a wide range of the choicest critical and short stories, interesting sketches of travel and adventure, science and valuable biographical, historical, scientific and political information from the entire body of foreign periodical literature.

In its pages are represented some eminent authors as Prof. Max Muller, Prof. Tyndall, Rt. Hon. W. E. Gladstone, Dr. W. B. Carpenter, Prof. Huxley, Richard A. Proctor, Francis Power Cobbe, the Duke of Argyll, Jas. A. Froude, Mrs. Muloch, Mrs. Oliphant, Dean Stanley, Miss Thackeray, Jean Ingelow, Geo. McDonald, Wm. Black, Matthew Arnold, Henry Kingsley, W. W. Story, Auerbach, Ruskin, Carlyle, Browning, and many other leaders in science, fiction, history, biography, philosophy, poetry, theology, politics, criticism and art.

The subscription price ($8 a year,) is cheap for the amount of reading furnished; while for those desiring the cream of both home and foreign literature, the publishers make it still cheaper, offer, viz.: to send, postpaid, The Living Age and either one of the American $4 monthlies, or weeklies, a year for $10 50. With The Living Age and one or other of our leading American monthly, a subscriber will at small cost, be put in "command of the whole situation."

An extra offer, also, is made to all new subscribers for 1877, viz.: to send them gratis the six numbers of 1876, containing, besides other valuable reading, the fascinating story of a new and unusually powerful serial story by George MacDonald, now appearing in The Living Age from advance sheets.

The volume begins Jan. 1st, and we recommend he periodical to the attention of our readers. We know of no other way in which so much of the best work of the best minds of the time can be obtained so cheaply and conveniently as through this standard weekly magazine. Published by Littell & Gay, Boston.

THE SUN.

1877 NEW YORK. 1877

The different editions of THE SUN during the next year will be the same as during the year that has just passed. The daily edition will be issued, as now, in a sheet of four pages, and on Sundays a sheet of eight pages, or 56 broad columns; while the weekly edition will be a sheet of eight pages of the same dimensions and character that are already familiar to our friends.

THE SUN will continue to be the strenuous advocate of reform and retrenchment, and of the substitution of statesmanship, wisdom, and integrity for the pretence, imbecility, and fraud in the administration of public affairs. It will contend for the government of the people by the people and for the people, as opposed to government by fraudulent politicians and in the counting of votes, enforced by military violence. It will endeavor to supply its readers—a body now not far from one million of souls—with the most careful, complete, and trustworthy accounts of current events, and will employ for this purpose a numerous and carefully selected staff of reporters and correspondents. Its pages from Washington, especially, will be full, accurate and fearless; and it will continue to deal with the scandals and the hatred of those who thrive by plundering the Treasury or by usurping what the law does not give them, while it will endeavor to merit the confidence of the public by defending the rights of the people against the encroachments of unjustified power.

The price of the daily SUN will be 55 cents a month or $6.50 a year, post paid, or with the Sunday edition $7.70 a year.

The SUNDAY edition alone, eight pages, $1.20 a year, post paid.

The WEEKLY SUN, eight pages of 56 broad columns, will be furnished during 1877 at the rate of $1 a year, post paid.

The benefit of this large reduction from the previous rate for the WEEKLY can be enjoyed by individual subscribers without the necessity of making up clubs. At the same time, if any of our friends choose to aid in extending our circulation, we shall be grateful to them, and every such person who sends us ten or more subscribers from one address will be entitled to one copy of the paper for himself without charge. At one dollar a year, postage paid, the terms of paper and printing are barely equal; and, considering the size of the sheet and the quality of its contents, we are confident the people will consider THE WEEKLY SUN the cheapest newspaper published in the world, and we trust also one of the very best.

In addition to a large number of editorials on financial and other topics, it contains very full and accurate reports of the sales and standing of every prominent bond and security dealt in at the Stock Exchange. Messrs. PROTHINGHAM & CO. are extensive brokers of large experience and tried integrity. In addition to their stock brokerage business, they sell what are called "Privileges," or "Puts and Calls," giving the use of the favorite methods of legitimate speculation. Their advice is valuable, and by following it many have made fortunes.—[New York Metropolis.]

☞ All New Subscribers for 1877, paying in advance after November 1, 1876, will receive the paper weekly, from receipt of remittance to January 1st, 1877, without charge.

COMBINED PAPERS—FORTY-SEVENTH YEAR!

THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN.

THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN is published weekly on the following terms, when paid strictly in advance: One Copy, one year, $2.50; FOUR COPIES, $10, and an additional copy for the year free to the order of the Club; TEN COPIES, $20, and an additional copy for the year free to the order of the Club.

THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN possesses an unequaled Corps of Correspondents, regular and occasional, among the Best Farmers of all Parts of the Country, and constantly reflects the practical condition and progress of the husbandry of every section of the United States and civilized world.

THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN gives in its Horticultural Departments a continuous variety of information and suggestions, equal or in advance of any, compared to what is obtained in the monthly numbers of most magazines devoted to Horticulture.

THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN has probably done as much as all other Journals combined, to introduce and disseminate improved Stock of every kind through the country; and consequently to a great degree than any contemporary, the confidence and support of breeders and purchasers.

THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN contains unusually full and trustworthy Market Reports, and devotes special attention to them and to the Prospects of the Crops, as throwing light upon one of the most important of all questions — When to Buy and When to Sell.

THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN embraces numerous minor departments of a practical character, such as the Dairy, the Poultry Yard, the Apiary, the Vineyard, and so on, and weekly gives to a column or two for the Housewife, and an interesting variety of Fireside Reading. It contains a well-edited review of Current Events, and its advertising pages furnish a directory of all the principal agricultural and horticultural establishments of the country.

Portsmouth Chronicle.

Wonderful Telegraphy.

A good story comes from Norwalk, Conn. One day last week a gaunt, slab-sided chap, with particles of hayseed on his coat and in his tow-colored hair, stepped up to the telegraph office at the depot and asked if the boss was in. The operator assured him that he was, and his rural friend went on to relate that he lived up in Danbury, had come down from there that morning, and intended bringing his brother's dog, which a man in Norwich wanted to buy, but had forgotten it, and wanted to know if the dog could be sent down there by telegraph. The man of lightning seeing a good chance for a little fun, at once answered:

"Certainly, sir; that is a matter of daily occurrence. All that is necessary for you to do is to give me a description of the dog, so that no mistake can be made: call again in about in half an hour and the dog will be here."

"It is a yellow dog, with small ears, and is about so high," said the stranger, placing his hand eighteen inches from the floor. He then took his departure with the remark that he would call again soon. The operator then sent his messenger boy to look for a dog as near to the description as possible, which he soon succeeded in finding. It was at once brought to the office, and secured to the operator's desk by means of a piece of telegraph wire. After a little coaxing the dog was made to lie quietly down, and everything was in readiness for our rural friend. Punctual to the time appointed he made his appearance, and asked if the dog had come.

"I will see," said the operator, and stepping up to the instrument he tapped a few times on the key; at the same time inserting his leg under the desk he managed to step on the dog's toes, which caused the canine to yelp. "Ah! he's coming," said the operator, and then tapping more furiously on the key, he at the same time kicked the dog from under the table, who, not relishing this kind of treatment, barked furiously and ran around the office with the wire attached to his neck. "Fifty cents, sir," said the operator, turning round to the countryman. "Uncommon nice dog; must be worth $50; but he is the hardest dog I ever received over the wires; he is so muscular, you see, that he broke the wire; in fact, a piece of it is now attached to his neck, which he broke off."

During the whole of this operation the countryman gazed on the operator with eyes wide open and full of surprise; but when the dog came out from under the table and was seen by the countryman, that was the culminating point, and he was struck with amazement. After looking at the dog a moment or so he said: "Say, Mister, he ain't so big as he was, and he is darker; how is that?"

"Oh! that is easily explained," said the operator; "you see the chemicals employed in making electricity of course darken his original color, and the velocity with which he passed over the wire caused him to contract in size; but after you expose him to the air for a short time he will soon assume his original size and color."

"Du tell!" said the countryman, and, after placing fifty cents on the counter, picked up the dog, and walked out of the office, remarking that "the man who invented them telegraphs must be a very knowledgable man."

The Railroad Troubles.

The Boston & Maine is still engaged in moving the large quantity of freight which has accumulated. Superintendent Furber has not resigned nor does he intend to. The following instructions have been given to the employes of the road:

"Hereafter, until further notice, locomotives attached to passenger trains will draw their trains into the Boston passenger station.

Engineers will be particularly careful and approach all grade crossings of other railroads slowly, trying their brakes a long distance from the crossing, to ascertain if they will hold.

Brakemen will also be at their posts upon the platforms ready to apply the brakes, if necessary, in order to hold their trains so that they shall not, under any circumstances, run upon the crossing. It will be necessary for all employees to be particularly vigilant while evil disposed persons show a disposition to injure the property of the company by cutting brake-hose and dosing and stuffing engines."

Referring to the above, the strikers ask how it is possible for any one to approach the engineers when they are guarded by police, who have instructions not to allow any one to approach them without an order from the Superintendent, and why it is necessary to caution the engineers, if they are competent men?

—Scene—United States Supreme Court room, while Senator Howe was speaking on the Louisiana case. Mrs. Tyler, widow of President Tyler, who occupied a seat next to Mrs. Howe, says to a lady friend on her left: "O, my gracious! when will that tiresome old man get through?" Mrs. Senator Howe (who is unknown to Mrs. Tyler), sharply: "There is no law to compel people to remain if they don't like it." Lady friend of Mrs. Tyler (loud enough to be heard by Mrs. Howe): "That lady evidently doesn't know that she was speaking to the widow of President Tyler." Mrs. Eugene Hale (who sat on the left of the last speaker, and loud enough to be heard by Mrs. Tyler, to a lady friend): "And Mrs. Tyler probably is not aware that the lady on her right is the wife of Senator Howe." Here the curtain fell.—Washington Star.

Counting the Votes.

On Wednesday, the Commission heard arguments pro and con in the Oregon case, and held a night session, adjourning to 10 o'clock Thursday forenoon.

On Thursday the Commission assembled as per adjournment, and after hearing some argument evidence was admitted as to the eligibility of Watts, the disputed republican elector, after which Mr. Evarts summed up for the republicans and Mr. Merrick for the democrats. At a quarter to eight o'clock, P. M., the Commission adjourned to 10 A. M. Friday, without coming to a vote.

A despatch over the Atlantic & Pacific Telegraph line, late Friday afternoon, says: "Oregon counted for Hayes and Wheeler." A few minutes later a despatch came over the Western Union line, as follows: "Vote eight to seven, for Hayes and Wheeler."

News and Notes.

Four men were killed by an explosion in a nail factory at Pomeroy, Ohio, Wednesday evening. Seven others were dangerously hurt; and a boy was blown seventy feet into the air, yet escaped serious injury.

The President has issued a proclamation giving effect to the extradition treaty with Spain.

An evening paper says that members of the high Commission are receiving anonymous threatening letters. It is a fact that two of the republican members of the Commission and one republican Judge have received letters of a very threatening character at different stages of the electoral count.

Doun Piatt, the democratic editor of the Washington Capital, was on Wednesday arrested for inciting insurrection and rebellion, and advising the assassination of Mr. Hayes. He gave bail in $5000.

A train of cars was thrown from the track of the Boston & Lowell Railroad, near Billerica, Wednesday evening, by a large stone purposely placed on the track. Supposed to have been done by a fellow who was ejected from a previous train for nonpayment of fare. Several passengers were hurt, but none killed. The damage to engine and cars was about $1200.

A pleasant instance of true generosity and its reward occurred at Rockport last week. A woman who supported two children by hard work was asked by a fellow-worker in the mill to aid in making up a purse for a poor woman. Though having only sixty cents left to carry herself and children through the week, she gave twenty-five cents, and a little later the person returned and told her that she was the one for whom the purse was intended, and handed her $25.

The Pope has become very much altered. His feet do not carry him any longer. His face, formerly fresh, and of a jovial expression, is now shrunk and of a listless aspect. He rarely leaves his bedroom, and receives visitors there, between 5 and 7 in the afternoon, more reclining than sitting in an armchair. He has a large table before him on which a few candles only are placed; between them there stands a crucifix. His memory is failing him very much in matters of quite recent occurrence, though he remembers well the things of a long time past. Many doubt whether he will complete his 80th year.

Capt. Kane, of the American Schooner F. E. McDonald, writes from Goree, on the west coast of Africa, Jan. 24, stating that on his outward voyage from Boston, whence he sailed Dec. 27, he fell in with the wreck of the British barque Maria, Cap. Grayson, having on board only two of a crew of fourteen men, the others having perished from exposure and want. The wreck was discovered with mast gone and full of water. The men were taken on board, but one of them died in four hours after. From the survivor it was learned that the barque was bound for Belfast, Ireland, from Doboy, Georgia; that she sprang a leak in a gale, and filled with water, so that it was impossible to obtain any provisions or fresh water. The lumber with which the vessel was loaded prevented her from sinking, but the weight of her masts turned her upon one side until they broke away. When she righted the men regained the deck, but having no food they soon began to die of starvation. The vessel was wrecked thirty-four days before being discovered, and the survivors were kept alive only by eating the flesh of those of the crew who died.

The first base-ball game of the season was played on the Boston grounds, Thursday, between the reorganized Boston club and a picked nine, resulting in a victory for the former, the score being—Boston 2, picked nine 1.

At Petersburg, Ind., on the 22d, four men were instantly killed by the explosion of a boiler in a portable saw mill and four others were severely injured.

Some weeks since a young man and woman put up at a hotel in Jefferson, Texas, as man and wife, and next day the woman was found foully murdered. Recently the man was arrested in a Western city for the murder, and it is now found that his real name is Ferguson, and that the woman he killed was a Mrs. Kirby of Baltimore, with whom he eloped last Autumn. Since his arrest he has attempted suicide.

At a ball in Pickens county, Ga., recently, Mrs. Suthard, eighteen years old, attacked Mrs. Cowart, aged twenty-six, because Mr. Suthard danced with the latter, who was a divorcee. The two women clinched and fell to the floor, and Mrs. Suthard cut Mrs. Cowart's throat from ear to ear, killing her instantly.

Nine persons of the name of Leathers, living in Barrington, had their names changed to Blaisdell at the last term of the Probate Court.

Brookfield is having an incendiary excitement. Several houses have been burned on different Sunday nights, and it is said that they were all owned by witnesses in the famous Joseph Buzzell murder case.

The clothing store of Warren & Pike, Manchester, was broken into Thursday night, and $100 worth of goods stolen.

James Collins, an employe of the Boston, Lowell & Nashua Railroad, at Nashua, was run over by a dump car on Thursday and one of his legs broken in two places.

The dead body of a man, supposed to be John Macdonald of Frampton, Canada, was discovered in a mill-race at Nashua on Thursday.

The engine house at Hillsborough Bridge station was burned about 6 o'clock Thursday morning. Loss about $800.

The Cocheco Manufacturing Company of Dover has given St. Thomas' Church $500 toward the liquidation of the church debt. This amount reduces the debt one-half.

F. A. Faulkner of Keene, the referee in the celebrated divorce case of Jane D. Janvrin vs. George Janvrin, made his report to the Supreme Court at Exeter, Wednesday, in favor of Mr. Janvrin.

There was a slight fire Thursday morning in the tenements over Sullivan Brothers' store, Manchester. Damage $300.

Mike C. C. Webster, a grocer in Stickney's Block, Concord, was drawing petroleum from a barrel in the cellar of his store, Wednesday evening, the petroleum ignited from a lamp in his hand. The fire was extinguished; loss probably not more than $2000.

William White, alias J. W. Murphy, who was arrested in Spencer, Mass., on Tuesday, for stealing a gold watch in Nashua, was arraigned on Wednesday and his trial was sent up to a higher court. White was placed under $1000 bonds, and in default of bail was sent to jail. His trial caused considerable excitement and the court room was crowded, the officers having had a hard time in securing him.

A three-days' Musical Convention held at Newmarket under the conduct of S. A. Ellis of Lawrence, closed with a grand concert Wednesday night. It has been very interesting and successful throughout. The Convention will probably be repeated next year.

Political.

The Boston Post, in its "headlines," referring to the presentation to the Commission of the Oregon infamy, says: "The democrats make a strong case, and again hope for justice." This reminds us of the Irish magistrate, who, when a fellow convicted of brutally abusing his wife pompously announced that all he demanded was "justice," replied: "Well, you can't get it here; this Court has no power to hang you!"

We shall look with curious interest to the vote of Senator Thurman when the Electoral Commission decide the Oregon case. No man in the country has taken stronger or more emphatic ground against a minority candidate obtaining any advantage from the ineligibility of his opponent. He has repudiated the whole doctrine as vicious and unrepublican. We shall see whether Senator Thurman and his democratic associates will now "rise above party," or whether they will stick to their party when they know that Mr. Tilden's claim to an Electoral vote in Oregon is only based on a wrong and fraud.—Nashua Telegraph.

Well, Mr. Thurman has voted on the Oregon question; and he didn't "rise above party" to any great extent.

But it is final, and it is best that it is so. The tribunal was born in the sore travail of an imperilled republic, and though its offspring be deformed and prove sharper than a serpent's tooth to its parentage, it was the accepted law of the nation, and its judgment is the lawful judgment of the sovereign power of the country. Oregon justly belongs to Mr. Hayes, and the only additional wound that the shattered trust of the nation can now suffer, would be for a partisan vote to decide that State. If there shall be seven votes against counting Oregon for the candidate for whom the people admittedly voted, it will prove that even when the gravest problems of law and justice were to be solved before the first judicial tribunal of free government, Hayes had a party and Tilden had a party, but the republic had none.—Philadelphia Times. (Dem.)

The democrats are now convinced that they have been victimized by some republican conspiracy in this Tribunal matter. The country has heard of that gentleman who succeeded, during the progress of a square game of old sledge, in tucking all four jacks up his coat sleeve; and it will be remembered that, when his adversary went out on a supernumerary jack, which he placidly turned up, the former attracted much sympathy by his bold avowal that there had been cheating somewhere around that board.

The story is printed that if the democrats delay the count until after the 4th of March, John Sherman will resign from the Senate, when the Ohio Legislature will immediately elect Hayes to the vacancy, and the Senate will make Hayes President pro tem., and consequently acting President until another election.

—A New Hampshire man having spoken disrespectfully of a venerable Sucker as an "Illinoyster," the latter resorts by calling his defamer a "New Hampshyster."

Wonders of Modern Science.

The perfect accuracy with which scientists are enabled to deduce the most minute particulars in their several departments, appears almost miraculous if we view it in the light of the early ages. Take for example the electro-magnetic telegraph—the greatest invention of the age. Is it not a marvelous degree of accuracy which enables an operator to exactly locate a fracture in a submarine cable nearly three thousand miles long? Our venerable "clerk of the weather" has become so thoroughly familiar with those most wayward elements of nature that he can accurately predict their movements. He can sit in Washington and foretell what the weather will be to-morrow in Florida or New York, as well as if several hundred miles did not intervene between him and the places named. And so in all departments of modern science, what is required is the knowledge of certain signs. From these the scientists deduce accurate conclusions regardless of distance. A few fossils sent to the expert geologist enable him to accurately determine the rock-formation from which they were taken. He can describe it to you as perfectly as if a cleft of it were lying on his table. So also the chemists can determine the constitution of the sun as accurately as if that luminary were not ninety-five million miles from his laboratory. The sun sends certain signs over the "infinitude of space" and the chemist classifies them by passing them through the spectro-scope. Only the presence of certain substances could produce these solar signs. So also, in medical science, diseases have certain unmistakable signs, or symptoms, and by reason of this fact, Dr. Pierce, of the World's Dispensary, has been enabled to originate and perfect a system of determining, with the greatest accuracy, the nature of chronic diseases without seeing and personally examining his patients. He has spared neither pains nor expense to associate with himself, as the Faculty of the World's Dispensary, a large number of medical gentlemen of rare attainments and skill—graduates from some of the most famous Medical Colleges and Universities of both Europe and America. By aid of Dr. Pierce's system of diagnosis, these physicians and surgeons annually treat, with the most gratifying success, many thousands of invalids without ever seeing them in person. In recognizing diseases without a personal examination of the patient they claim to possess no miraculous powers. They attain their knowledge of the patient's disease by the practical application of well established principles of modern science to the practice of medicine. And it is to the accuracy with which this system has endowed them that they owe their almost world-wide reputation for the skillful treatment for all lingering or chronic affections. This system of practice and the marvellous success which has been attained through it, demonstrate the fact that diseases display certain phenomena, which being subjected to scientific analysis or synthesis, furnish abundant and unmistakable data to guide the judgment of the skillful practitioner aright in determining the nature of diseased conditions. The amplest resources for treating lingering or chronic diseases, and the greatest skill, are thus placed within the easy reach of every invalid, however distant he or she may reside from the physicians making the treatment of such affections a specialty. The peculiarities of the scientific system of practice are fully explained in the Appendix of "The People's Common Sense Medical Adviser,"—a book of over nine hundred large pages, which is so popular as to have reached almost one hundred thousand copies within a few months of its first publication. It is sent (post-paid) by the Author, to any address, on receipt of one dollar and fifty cents. Address, R. V. Pierce, M. D., World's Dispensary, Buffalo, N. Y.

JOTTINGS.

Monthly Service of Praise at the Bow Mission, Sabbath afternoon. In order to pay the expenses of the hall five cents will be collected at the door. Friends of the Mission will please remember the request and act accordingly. We shall not refuse a larger sum than five cents, if offered; we have no other expense than that for the hall, and we think we ought to easily meet this small demand.

A pleasant company of invited guests met at the residence of Gen. M. F. Wentworth of Kittery, Wednesday afternoon, to witness the marriage of Mr. William J. Hobbs, of Boston, Paymaster on the Eastern Railroad, and Miss Jessie A. Wentworth, Gen. Wentworth's youngest daughter. The marriage ceremony was performed by Rev. S. A. Hutchinson, pastor of the Baptist church in Kittery. The newly-wedded pair took the evening train for Boston.

The 22d was very quietly celebrated in this city. The bells were rung for a half-hour at sunrise, noon and sunset, and a salute was fired at noon, at the navy yard. The evening entertainments were the Veterans' ball and the meeting of the Board of Mayor and Aldermen. There were more drunken men,—and noisy drunken men,—on the streets in the evening than for months past; whether this was owing to too much patriotism, to the Electoral Commission or to Hon. Frank Jones' return from Washington, we cannot say. The lockup was pretty well filled with the celebraters, but they were turned out in the morning, after getting sober.

Mr. William Ellison, who has for some time past carried on the business of repairing clothes-wringers on Penhallow street, has removed to No. 22 Daniel street, where he will continue the business. In addition, he will electro-silver-plate any articles handed to him for that purpose, such as spoons, castors, table cutlery, watches, pistols or other metal goods, at a cost of about half that of new work. He will warrant all work leaving his shop. See advertisement.

The twenty-third grand ball of the Amoskeag Veterans, of Manchester, was given in Smyth's Hall in that city on the evening of the 22d. The Germania Band of Boston furnished the music, and the affair was as entirely succe-sful as previous ones have been. Among the guests reported present from this city were Col. T. E. O. Marvin, Col. J. Horace Kent, R. Edwin Rider, Esq., and F. P. Frazier, Esq., of the Direct Cable staff at Rye Beach. A. C. Wallace was chosen battalion commander; D. A. Simons captain of Company A.; Z. F. Campbell, captain of Company B.

The first annual ball of the Veteran Artillery Association was given in Franklin Hall on the evening of Washington's birthday anniversary, and attracted many who have not appeared on the waxed floor before this season. The affair was capitally managed, and was in every way an entire success. Fifty two hundred and fifty persons sat down to supper, a second table being required though plates for one hundred and fifty were laid at the first one; but there was an abundance for all, and of the best. Dancing was kept up until about four o'clock.

Hon. Frank Jones is in town, having returned from Washington to spend Washington's birthday,—and incidentally, no doubt, to look after a re-election to Congress. If he doesn't go back to Congress before the 4th of March he won't have to go back at all.

The reform club of Kittery celebrated their first anniversary Thursday evening in good style at Trefethen's hall, the programme including dramas, readings, and vocal and instrumental music. The attendance was large.

WRECK.

Barque Charles R. Lewis, Capt. Race, left Boston in ballast on the night of the 20th, bound for Portland, in tow of steaming Elsie, Capt. Frost, belonging to the Boston Tow-boat Company. At three o'clock on the morning of the 21st, the tug (which had a coast pilot on board) was passing inside Race Ledge, the moon had gone down, and in the darkness the snow upon the land gave the impression that they were so near the shore. In consequence of this idea, they kept too far off the shore, and about an hour before high water struck on Stone's Rock, inside of York Ledge. The vessel was moving through the water quite fast, and struck the tug a heavy blow, driving her further on, and she soon filled. The barque also struck the rock, but being light got came off, and taking on board the tug's crew proceeded under sail to Portland, where she was taken into the dry dock and found to have sustained no injury except to her copper. Captains Robinson and Rand, of this city, went down to the wreck on Thursday. The Elsie was partly out of water at high tide, and two steam lighters from Boston, the Oak and Aid, were secured to the wreck in such a manner as to keep her from sinking when pulled off the rock, which was done on Thursday night, the raft being brought up to this city on Friday forenoon by steamers L. A. Belknap and C. A. Mills; Capt. Albert Rand, of steamtug Clara Bateman, being the pilot. The wreck was beached at Russell & Odion's.

CITY AFFAIRS.

In Board of Mayor and Aldermen, Thursday evening, the claim of Henry Peyser, for damage to sleigh on Myrtle street on Feb. 9th, was referred to the committee on claims.

Claim of William H. Grant for damage to sleigh on Vaughan street, was referred to the mayor to report at next meeting.

The request of John E. Colcord for sale to him by city of a lot of land on Pleasant street, was referred to committee on city lands and buildings, if the Council concur. Sent down.

Mayor's report respecting Portsmouth & Dover Railroad was accepted and adopted. Sent down.

Petition of Kearsarge Flute and Drum Band for use of ward-room on Elm Street two evenings per week, was granted, they to pay for gas used; the claim for gas to be adjusted by the city clerk.

The committee on city lands and buildings, to whom was referred the request of Thomas S. Gay, reported, recommending that the petition be granted and he allowed to make the desired alteration at his own expense. The report was accepted.

Committee on claims reported the payroll for inquest on Abram Dudley, and recommended that it be paid. The report was accepted and the bill ordered to be paid.

Claim of Woodbury Locke for damage to sleigh, was referred to the committee on claims.

Voted, That the subject of insurance on city property be referred to the committee on city lands and buildings with the Mayor added, with power.

Voted, That the city accounts be distributed in the usual manner.

Repair of belfry in Franklin school house was referred to committee on school houses with power.

Adjourned for two weeks.

Aching Heads and Uneasy Nerves

Are often soothed by Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, because that searching corrective completely removes the causes of brain and nerve excitement, which are to be found in derangement of the stomach, and of its associate organs, the liver and bowels. It is a truth which cannot be too earnestly insisted upon, that the effect of mere sedatives and narcotics, like bromide of potassium, valerian, chloral hydrate and opium, is less appreciable the longer they are used, and that they can never permanently relieve nervous excitability, because they cannot remedy the weakness and organic derangement which lies at the root. Hostetter's Bitters, however, can and does cure nervous maladies, for the reason already stated. Sick headache, nervousness at night, vertigo, mental heaviness, and depression of spirits, as well as the dyspeptic condition of the stomach, and torpidity of the liver and bowels, which give rise to them, are entirely obviated by this benign alterative tonic.

The Teeth of the Future.

If the consumption of Sozodont continues to increase in the present ratio, the teeth of the future will be a great improvement on those of the present day. Its universal use would prevent all dental defections, and render one of the most essential portions of our material organization as ornamental as it is useful.

SPALDING'S GLUE Repairs everything but personal injuries.

The seed of consumption can be destroyed by the use of Adamson's Botanic Balsam, the great remedy for coughs and colds. Price only 25 cents.

The Grand Central Hotel, New York, endorsed by eminent and distinguished visitors as the best, has complied with the popular demand, and reduced from $4.00 to $2.50 and $3.00 per day.

The Colonnade Hotel, Philadelphia, Pa., exhibits the secret of its great popularity and success by wisely maintaining its old standard of excellence since its reduction of rates.

Important to persons visiting New York or the Centennial. The Grand Union Hotel, New York, opposite the Grand Central Depot, has over 350 elegantly furnished rooms. Elevator, steam and all improvements. European plan. Carriage hire is saved, as baggage is taken to and from the depot free. Omnibus fare better for less money at the Grand Union than at any other first-class hotel. Stages and cars pass the Hotel constantly to all parts of the city, and to the Philadelphia depot. dawtf27

Dr. A. J. Flagg's

COUGH & LUNG SYRUP.

A Safe and Sure Remedy.

The Cough and Lung Syrup

Is the remedy that during the past fifteen years has won for DR. FLAGG an extended reputation as a SPECIALIST for THROAT and LUNG Diseases. After so many years trial it can be truthfully said that it has NEVER FAILED, even in the WORST CASES. It is purely Vegetable, and its effect upon the system is at once Soothing and Tonic.

It Will Cure a Common Cold

In a few hours, not by drying it up, but by removing it from the system. TRY IT.

It will CURE a Chronic Cough, by soothing the irritated parts, and strengthening the system.

IT WILL CURE CONSUMPTION.

Even after all other remedies have failed. In the earlier stages of this disease it will effect a speedy and certain cure; and in many cases of advanced Consumption its effect has seemed almost miraculous, restoring to full strength and perfect health those whom physicians had given up as incurable. TRY IT.

IT WILL CURE CATARRH

More effectually than any other remedy, by simply removing the cause. TRY IT.

It will Cure Bronchitis, by allaying all irritation of the Throat. TRY IT.

It will Cure Asthma, affording immediate relief and a perfect cure. TRY IT.

It Will Cure Ulcerated Sore Throat. TRY IT.

IT WILL CURE Loss of Voice, Night Sweats, Hectic Fever, AND ALL symptoms of Consumption. TRY IT.

For every affection of the Throat and Lungs it only needs a trial to convince the most skeptical of its wonderful curative properties.

Remember that it

CURES COLDS,
CURES COUGHS,
CURES CATARRH
CURES CONSUMPTION.

DR. WM. M. LADD, a leading Druggist of Claremont, certifies as follows:

For many years I have known Dr. A. J. Flagg as a successful practicing physician, and can assure the public that his representations relative to the Cough and Lung Syrup can be strictly relied upon. It has been used in his extensive practice with marvellous success, and I know it to be all that he claims for it. WM. M. LADD, M. D.

CLAREMONT, N. H., September, 1875.

DR FLAGG My Dear Sir: Your Cough and Lung Syrup has proved a great benefit to me, giving relief from severe Coughs and Soreness of the Lungs, when all other remedies and physicians had failed. I have never taken a medicine more pleasant to the taste or more satisfactory in its results.

ESTABLISHED IN 1835.

THE OLDEST ESTABLISHED HOSPITAL IN THE UNITED STATES.
No. 9 Beaver Street, - - Albany, N. Y
SURE CURES AND LOW PRICES.

Dr. YOUNG,
SUCCESSOR TO
Dr. TELLER,
DECEASED.

The above named private Hospital was established in Albany in 1835 by Dr Lieubrand and for a number of years its affairs were presided over by Dr. Teller, but, for the past 10 years, Dr. Teller, who is now deceased, managed the business of the institution.

Since 1866, the great demand for more spacious apartments on account of the large increase of business, the Hospital has been removed to No. 9 Beaver Street, two doors above its old location, where patients will find magnificently furnished rooms for their reception, and are so arranged that patients do not come in contact with one another, being only the doctor, thereby avoiding the unpleasantness of meeting others, which always occurred at the old office.

LADIES will find rooms provided for their especial comfort, elevation and entirely private.

YOUNG MEN, addicted to secret habits, who have thus ruined their health and destroyed the vigor of their minds, should consult Dr. Young, who cures cases of marriage and also those afflicted with private diseases of any nature, are advised that in consulting Dr. Young they will find a physician fully qualified to cure and restore them to full health and vigor.

Dr. Teller's great work for the married, or those contemplating marriage—100 pages—full of plates—price 25 cents. Sent to all parts, under seal, by mail post paid.

TO THE LADIES—Dr. YOUNG still retains the only agency in America for the sale of Dr. Vichet's Italian Female Monthly Pills. Sent by mail on receipt of $1.00, price per box.

Dr. YOUNG is the only agent for Dr. La Mott's celebrated Oil Apiol Pills.

Invalids out of the city can be cured by consulting Dr. Young by letter, and enclosing remittance. Medicines sent by mail or express, securely packed from observation. All letters must be addressed to Dr. S. V. R. YOUNG, 9 Beaver St., Albany, N. Y.

Centaur Liniments.

The lame can be healed and the wounded made whole. We now know just what the Centaur Liniment will do. They will not mend broken bones or cure Cancer, but they will extract soreness, allay pain, cure Rheumatism and a larger range of flesh, bone and muscle ailments than any article ever before discovered.

Scientific skill cannot go beyond the effects of these remarkable preparations. Chronic Rheumatism of many years' standing, Neuralgia, Weak Back, Fever Sores, Weeping Sinews, Sciatica, Caked Breasts, Distorted Joints and Sprained Limbs of the worst kind are cured by the White Centaur Liniment.

It will destroy the pain and heal without a scar, all ordinary Burns and Scalds. It will extract the poison of Bites and Stings, and the troublesome Gravel Limbs. It is very efficacious for Earache, Toothache, Gum and Cutaneous Eruptions.

Mr. Joshua Westake, of Morgaville, O., writes:

"For years my Rheumatism has been so bad that I have been unable to stir from the house. The first three bottles of Centaur Liniment enabled me to walk without my crutches. I am mending rapidly. I think your Liniment simply a marvel.

C. D. Remsey, Treggiel, Rock Prairie, Mo., says:

"Centaur Liniment is better and gives the best satisfaction of anything in the market."

What the Centaur Liniment has done for others it will do for you. It is handy, it is reliable, and it is cheap.

The Yellow Centaur Liniment

is worth its weight in gold to owners of horses and mules.

It is Liniment has cured many Sprained, Sweenied, Ring-boned and Galled Horses in three years than all the Farriers in the country in as many. Its effects are simply wonderful.

We have thousands upon thousands of certificates to strong as the following:

"My horse was lame for a year with a Curb, worth $1. All remedies utterly failed to cure and I considered him worthless until I commenced to use Centaur Liniment, which rapidly cured him. I heartily recommend it.

REV. GEO. W. FIRIS,
Mechanicville, Schoharie Co., N. Y."

DEAR SIRS,—I have used your Centaur Liniment in my family, and find it to be of great value. I send one two dollars' worth, one for the musical horses.

EAGLE STATION, WYOMING CO., PA.
RILEY SICKLER.

It makes very little difference what the case is, whether it be Wrench, Sprain, Poll-Evil, Ringbone, Scratches or Lame ness of any kind, the effects are the same. Liveryman, Stage proprietors, Farmers, &c., should never be without the Yellow Centaur Liniment. It is sold everywhere, and warranted to give effects.

Castoria.

It is a mistake to suppose that Castoria is not adapted to grown persons as well as Children. They only need to increase the quantity. But children have so many complaints for which Castoria is adapted—like Wind Colic, Sour Stomach, Worms, Tetter, Teething and Croup, that it is especially recommended for them.

Its effects are more certain than Castor Oil. It contains no alcohol and is as pleasant to take as honey. It never gripes. By regulating the stomach and bowels the Castoria cools the blood, expels worms and prevents feverishness, quiets the nerves and produces healthy sleep, of course children can sleep in quiet and mothers can rest.

Castoria is recommended by all physicians and nurses who have tried it, and it is facing a rapidly increasing sale. It is prepared with great care after the recipe of Dr. Samuel Pitcher, of Mass., at the Laboratory of J. B. Rose & Co., 46 Dey St., N. Y.

Daily Chronicle.

A nimble fellow—The man who ran up a flag.

—A canary bird in Chicago lost its voice two years ago. Blue glass restored it.

—In Texas wild turkeys are a dollar a dozen and whiskey is only fifty cents a drink.

—There is at the present time in the Mexican treasury the sum of seventeen cents in specie. It has slipped into a crevice and cannot be got at.

—A finely dressed lady and very intellectual looking slipped on a piece of orange peel on Fifth avenue yesterday and sat down awfully hard. "My!" she exclaimed, "the velocity of that descent unnerves me!" "I beg pardon," said the gentleman, who assisted her to rise, "you are a Bostonian, I fancy." And she was!—N. Y. Mail.

—State Senator Frank Stewart has introduced a bill into the Nevada Legislature, for the prevention of cruelty to women. It provides that women beaters shall be tied to a stone post erected for the purpose, wearing a placard on their breasts marked "Woman beater" or "Wife beater," as the case may be, and further punished by imprisonment and fine.

—Two young men in Cooke county, Tenn., stole a girl apiece and were leaving the vicinity, when the girls' fathers came upon them with revolvers, and took their daughters from them. The kidnappers immediately opened fire upon the parents, who replied in like manner. Some twenty shots were exchanged, when the Sheriff appeared and arrested the boys.

—Jennette M. Robinson of Chicago asserted that for seven years paralysis prevented her from uttering a word, and that in an instant, in answer to prayer, she was cured. A reporter recognized her as a woman who, under the name of Mary Davis, had only a year ago been a remarkably glib witness in a lawsuit. The exposure of the fraud seems to have been complete.

—Do not pick your teeth with a fork, it is apt to scratch off the enamel. If your bread and butter falls on the floor, don't pick it up and swear over it, but kick it under the table and talk about roses. Just because you feel sociable, don't pass your chewing tobacco to the ladies; some Montana people do it, but it's not considered to be in good taste in Danbury. Don't use your knife in eating soup; you might cut your tongue. Don't clean your finger-nails at table, for then all the company will know they are dirty; if you keep quiet they may not be observed.

—Senator McDougall was on his way to Washington from New York, and stepping off at a station in that unaccountable State of New Jersey to get a drink the train got away from him. Thinking to overtake it by a cut off he looked around for a vehicle for that purpose. No time to spare, and the fastest wagon hitched up happening to be a hearse, he crawled into it. The driver drove furiously enough, but still had occasion to come to a sudden halt, which waked up the passenger, who immediately asked if he had caught the train. "No," said the Jehu, "just stopped to take a drink." "Well," says McDougall, "you needn't go on just yet," as he began crawling out: "the corpse is dry, too."

—William Smith, aged 70, who lived near Liberty, Ind., became widowed some years ago, and had since lived in entire seclusion, was dead, demented. A few weeks ago he offered $5000 to any one who would furnish him a wife. The announcement created merriment at the time, but nothing further was thought of it till this morning it was announced that the old man was married to Miss Phœbe Johns, a highly respected young lady, aged seventeen. The old man's offer had been taken in hand by Powell Slade, with whose family the young woman lived, and Slade received the $5000, $2000 of which was paid to the girl's father, the girl herself receiving as an inducement a deed from the old man for his farm of 200 acres of very valuable land.—St. Louis Republican.

—There was a sudden sensation in an Oakland church, on a late Sunday. It appears that a young lady member of the choir became so anxious to examine a certain exasperatingly pretty bonnet in a pew back under the organ loft, that she lost her balance, and turned a somersault down upon the unsuspecting congregation. The minister had only reached "tenthly," when he was shocked by a dissolving view of striped stockings; and the millionaire underneath and just selected his smallest coin for the heathen, when a pair of two-inch heels took him in the back of the neck like the last dying lick of a pile-driver. When the dust cleared away the church was found to be empty, and since then the flock have meekly, but firmly, informed the vestry that unless the choir is fenced in, or a net stretched over the heads of the congregation, as required by law, they will stay away from the sanctuary.—Pittsburg Gazette.

—The Washington correspondent of the Cleveland Herald tells the story of Charles O'Conor's wooing in the following interesting paragraph: The young and beautiful widow of Commodore McCrackes of our navy returned from abroad after her husband's death, and finding her financial affairs in a complicated state, went to Mr. O'Conor, to get his legal advice in disentangling them. Mr. O'Conor, upon examination, discovered that the Commodore had died insolvent, and the beautiful widow was left to the cold mercies of a selfish world without a penny to call her own. This he was obliged to break to her, whereupon she held up her hands in piteous dismay, crying: "Oh, Mr. O'Conor, what shall I do? I who have lived in luxury all my life!" "Madam," said the great lawyer, "the best advice I can give you is to marry me." Whereupon they were married.

SOUTH BERWICK, ME., Nov. 25, 1875.

MR. DENNIS SHEA, Sir: The Water Cement Pipe you laid for us over three years ago has proved perfectly satisfactory to us in every respect, and although a part of it froze up last winter, we can't see any injury done. The Pipe was laid by you in a thorough manner, and we believe it to be the Best Water Pipe known, and if we lay any more shall surely lay the same, and you are to do the job if alive and well. Yours, D. CUMMINGS & CO.

DR. QUAIN'S MAGIC CONDITION PILLS!

The Wonderful Remedy for Liver Complaint, Biliousness, Dyspepsia, Constipation, Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Headache, Kidney Complaint, Nervousness, Scrofula, Piles, and all diseases arising from a bad state of the Blood!

No medicine ever offered to the public has given such universal satisfaction as Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. Their praises are on every tongue where their merits are known. They strike at once at the seat of disease and show their marvelling power almost immediately. Thousands of voluntary testimonials of their merits have been received by the agent, from those who have been cured by them, of which the following are samples:

Dyspepsia Four Years, Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels Three Years, Confined to my Room Two Years, Pain so I Could Not Sleep Without Morphine. One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills Made Me Eat Well, Sleep Well and Free from Pain, after being given up by Physicians.

WEST LEBANON, ME., Feb. 22, 1

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I have been sick for four years with Dyspepsia, and for the past three years Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels. I have suffered all the pain I could endure and live. I have been confined to my room for two years, and could not sleep nights without the use of morphine. I have been given up by physicians as past cure. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, and they have done me more good than all the doctors I have had. I sleep well, I eat well and have no pain. They are all they are recommended to be. Please send me three packages, as two of my neighbors wish to try them. I enclose $1.50. Your truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Another Letter from Maj. John W. Lord, one month later Wonderful Cures by Dr. Quain's Pills Effected on Him in Thirteen Days. First time Free from Pain for Three Years.

WEST LEBANON, ME., March 22, 1875.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I commenced taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS February 8th, and wrote you February 22d of their wonderful effect. I have continued to improve ever since. My appetite is good, and I sleep as well as I ever did in my life. I am free from pain for the first time in three years. When I was taken sick four years ago, I weighed one hundred and forty-six pounds; I now weigh one hundred and thirty, but, as I am gaining in strength, I have faith I shall regain my flesh this summer, by the use of the Pills. I shal continue taking them for some time to come. Yours truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Dr. Quain's Pills the Remedy for Soldiers' Aches and Pains.

[WEST LEBANON, ME., June 1, 1875.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I am now able to walk out every day, and am gaining in strength very fast, all of which is due to you as agent for the best Pills in the world. I have had no other medicine, and my improvement has been steady since first taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done everything for me, and I will say to you, advertise them direct to the soldiers, for they will certainly cure them of aches and pains caused from exposure and hardship on the field. Please send me by return mail another package. JOHN W. LORD.

Rheumatism for Twenty Years Cured by One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills—"The Best Medicine in the World."

EAST ANDOVER, N. H., Dec. 10, 1875.

MR. LANE—Dear Sir:—As I know the value of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS and as I believe they have done me, I take pleasure in giving them praise; so I send you another testimonial. My father has been troubled with Rheumatism for twenty years or more, and has tried everything that could be thought of, but to no good. At times it would be so bad that he could not lift his hand to his head or do any work at all, especially in cold weather. A short time ago I advised him to get some of these Pills. He believed nothing in them, but I gave him the last package I had of you, as I did not need them, and he has not been so free from the Rheumatism for many years. No Rheumatism, no pain. What helped him? It was DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, the best medicine in the world. There is nothing like them. I know it, for I have tried them, and they are all, yea, more than they are recommended to be. Give them a fair trial and you will say so. I write this because I know the goodness of them and wish others to know the same. Some may think I am telling a big story I am. But remember I am not giving them half the praise they ought to have. Yours with respect, ED. F. PEVARE.

Wonderful Effect of Four Doses of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills upon Neuralgia of Twelve Years' Duration—Testimony of Rev. J. S. Patton.

DAINGERFIELD, MORRIS CO., TEXAS, Nov. 15, '75.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I have been afflicted for near twelve years with Neuralgia in the face and head. I tried I do not know how many physicians, and could only get partly relieved. I also tried many medicines without effect, the same result. I have been confined to my room most all the time for eight or ten winters, and have been traveling and visiting medical springs, and I still suffered most intensely. The physicians pronounced my case the worst and most stubborn they had had anything to do with. One told me I could never get well; they all advised me to go South and spend the winter, and that was the only chance for me, and I was trying to get ready to go to Florida, when through the kindness of Rev. H. M. Mathis, my attention was called to the advertisement of Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. I immediately sent to you for a package. I have taken four doses and I am almost free from pain. The impression here seems to be that if your pills will cure me, they will cure anybody. I have five applications send for the pills. Enclosed please find three dollars; send five packages to me and one to Mrs. Laura Sherrell Sulphur Springs, Hopkins county, Texas. Yours truly, J. S. PATTON.

Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache.

LACONIA, N. H., Jan. 29, 1875.

THOS. W. LANE—Sir:—I have been troubled with Bad Blood, Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done me more good than all the medicine I ever took; I have taken considerable medicine within the last five years. For the nerves I think there is nothing so good as these pills. I can recommend them to all who are similarly afflicted, they have done me so much good. I think they will recommend themselves wherever they go. I shall recommend those Pills to all I meet them. Please send me two packages more, one for myself and one for a lady friend of mine. Many thanks to the inventor, agent and advertiser of those Pills. MRS. P. L. ELLIOTT.

DR. QUAIN'S MAGIC CONDITION PILLS are put up only by the AMERICAN MEDICINE CO., Manchester, N. H., THOMAS W. LANE, Agent.

PULMOCINE.

BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL

is no new discovery. Twenty-three years ago it was used by one of New England's most famous physicians as the best Pulmonary Curative he could prescribe, after, dozen years spent in experimenting with it before he was satisfied that the Materia Medica could add nothing in his favor.

Is the ultima thule of Medical Discovery.

Among its many ingredients are Wild Cherry Bark, Squill Root, Liquorice Root, Blood root, &c. It is a Blood Purifier, gently stimulating. It increases expectoration and is diuretic. It is sudorific and alterative. It is a necessary family medicine. It is a Tonic and a powerful aid to the digestive organs. It is a gentle sedative, and relieves nervousness. It is aromatic and agreeable to the taste.

CLEAR YOUR THROAT!

Relieve Your Lungs.

For the terrible diseases engendered by the inspiriting climate of New England,

AND

DATE SLIPS,

PULMOCINE CORDIAL

Is a speedy and reliable Preventive and Remedy. Every Family should have a bottle at hand to check the sudden growth of all Pulmonary Diseases. For the Asthma, Coughs, Croups, Laryngitis, or inflammation of the larynx, Diphtheria, and all kindred Throat Diseases at all times prevalent, it is the ounce of Prevention. Children attacked with Whooping Cough or Croup should be immediately cared for. These painful attacks come with scarcely a moment's warning, when a physician may be out of immediate reach. A dose of PULMOCINE CORDIAL gives speedy relief, and the little ones are spared hours of pain and agony. As "a stitch in time saves nine," so does the possession of this Family Medicine prevent the spread of disease. Parents seeing their children gasping with pain, friends and relatives beholding each other in peril from suffocation by the choking pain in the throat, paralyzed with fear and not knowing the best course to pursue, are liable to apply the wrong remedial agent. There is no safety in delay, no time to waste in such cases. CONSUMPTION, that fearful scourge of the human race, lies at the door of all this afflicted. BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL arrests it (unless in its advanced stage at which time there is no local cure) relieves the pressing, suffocating feeling at the lungs, and the patient's danger is past.

For Coughs,

Croup,

Diphtheria,

Asthma, etc.,

—USE—!

Buchman's Pulmocine Cordial.

The Pulmocine Cordial is not a quack medicine, is not an experiment, is not composed of any ingredients "discovered" by "walking in pastures" in South America or anywhere else, nor by one who discovered a weed and thereby cured himself. Most of the ingredients are such as our best educated physicians daily use for the complaints specified in some form or other. The recipe is that perfected by one of New England's most learned and famous physicians, who used it entirely in his daily practice until his death. He offered to the profession and to the public, absolutely pure and unadulterated.

1877. ECLECTIC MAGAZINE OF FOREIGN LITERATURE.

THIRTY-THIRD YEAR.

THE ECLECTIC reprints from the foreign Quarterlies, Reviews, Magazines, and Journals, their choicest contents, including Essays, Scientific Papers, Biographical Sketches, Reminiscences of Travel and Adventure, Tales, Stories, and Poems. The field of selection is very large, and it is believed that the ECLECTIC presents a greater variety and higher standard of literature than any periodical can hope to do that depends exclusively upon home talent.

A knowledge of the current literature of other countries is indispensable to all who would keep pace with the progress of the human mind; and the ECLECTIC offers the best, and, indeed, the only opportunity for obtaining this knowledge within a reasonable compass, and at a moderate price.

Among the writers represented in recent numbers of the ECLECTIC are: The Rt. Hon. W. E. Gladstone, James Anthony Froude, Matthew Arnold, Charles Kingsley, Robert Buchanan, Geo. McDonald, John Ruskin, Alfred Tennyson, Thomas Hughes, William Black, Mrs. Oliphant, Thos. Hardy, William Morris, Miss Thackeray, Mrs. Alexander, Profs. Huxley and Tyndall, Richard Proctor, B. A., Prof. Owen, Dr. W. B. Carpenter, Max Muller, J. Norman Lockyer, Herbert Spencer, and others equally eminent. Besides the regular articles in the body of the magazine, there are four original Editorial Departments: Literary Notices, Foreign Literary Notes, Science and Art, and Varieties.

With regard to the character of the selections, the aim of the ECLECTIC is to be instructive without being dull, and entertaining without being trivial. While each number contains something to interest every member of the family circle, it addresses itself particularly to that great body of intelligent readers who seek profit as well as amusement in solid and healthful literature.

Besides the 128 pages of reading matter, each number of the magazine contains a Fine Steel-Engraving usually a portrait—executed in the most artistic manner.

TERMS.—Single copies, 45 cents; one copy one year $5; two copies, $9; five copies, $20. Trial subscriptions for three months, $1.

WHAT PAYS?

IT PAYS every Manufacturer, Merchant, Mechanic, Inventor, Farmer, or Professional Man, to keep informed on all the improvements and discoveries of the age.

It pays the head of every family to introduce into his household a newspaper that is instructive, one that listens a trade to invention, and promotes thought and encourages discussion among the members.

The Scientific American

which has been published weekly for the last thirty-one years, does this, to an extent beyond that of any other publication; in fact it is the only weekly paper published in the United States, devoted to Manufactures, Mechanic Inventions and New Discoveries in the Arts and Sciences.

Every number is profusely illustrated and its contents embrace the latest and most interesting information pertaining to the Industrial, Mechanical, and Scientific Progress of the world. Descriptions, with Beautiful Engravings of New Inventions, New Implements, New Processes, and Improved Industries on all kinds; Useful Notes, Recipes, Suggestions and Advice by Practical Writers, for Workmen and Employers, in all the various arts, forming a complete repertory of New Inventions and Discoveries; containing a weekly record, not only of the progress of the industrial mind in this new country, but also of all New Discoveries and Inventions in every branch of Engineering, Mechanics and science throughout the world.

THE SCIENTIFIC AMERICAN has been the foremost of all industrial publications for the past thirty-one years. It is the oldest, largest, cheapest, and the best weekly illustrated paper devoted to Engineering, Mechanics, Chemistry, New Inventions, Science and Industrial Progress, published in the world.

The practical Recipes are well worth ten times the subscription price, and for the shop and house will save many times the cost of subscription.

Merchants, Farmers, Mechanics, Engineers, Inventors, Manufacturers, Chemists, Lovers of Science, and People of all Professions, will find the SCIENTIFIC AMERICAN useful to them. It should have a place in every Family, Library, Study, Office and Counting Room; in every Reading Room, College and School. A new volume commences January 1st, 1877.

A year's numbers contain 832 pages and SEVERAL HUNDRED ENGRAVINGS. Thousands of volumes are preserved for binding and reference. Terms, $3.20 a year by mail, including postage. Discount to Clubs. Special circulars, giving Club rates sent free. Single copies mailed on receipt of 10 cents. May be had of all News Dealers.

PATENTS, American, Messrs. MUNN & Co., are Solicitors of American and Foreign Patents, and have the largest establishment in the world. More than fifty thousand applications have been made for patents through their agency.

Patents are obtained on the best terms. Models of New Inventions and Sketches examined, and advice free. A special notice is made in the Scientific American of all Inventions Patented through this Agency, with the name and residence of the Patentee. Patents are dated from the time of their issue, to persons attracted to the Invention by such notice. A Pamphlet, containing full directions for obtaining Patents sent free. The Scientific American Reference Book, a volume bound in cloth and gilt, containing the Patent Laws, Decisions of Courts, and 154 Engravings of mechanical movements. Price 25 Cents.

The Magazine has attained in its one quarter century and more of existence to that point where it may be said of it, in the words of Dr. Johnson, "It is vain to blame and useless to praise." The lustre of its long-ago attained reputation has increased as the years have passed, and its future seems as bright as that of prosperity settled around its inter and best years.—Brooklyn Eagle.

Harper's Monthly is marked by the same characteristics which gave it its reputation from the first with the better class of readers. It combines reading matter with illustrations in a way to make clear and vivid the facts presented. Pictures never intended to catch the eye of the ignorant are never inserted.—Chicago Journal.

LITTELL'S LIVING AGE FOR 1877. The conduct and increasing success of this periodical (now over thirty-three years old) is doubtless owing to the fact that it affords a comprehensive and cheap means of keeping well informed in the literature and life of the day. With its weekly issue, and its three and a quarter thousand large pages of reading matter a year, it is enabled to present with freshness and satisfactory completeness able essays and reviews, science serial and short stories, interesting sketches of travel and discovery, poetry, and valuable biographical, historical, scientific and political information (from the entire body of foreign periodical literature.

In its pages are represented some eminent authors as Prof. Max Müller, Mr. Froude, Mr. Mill, Mr. Gladstone, Dr. W. B. Carpenter, Prof. Huxley, Richard A. Proctor, Frances Power Cobbe, the Duke of Argyll, Jas. A. Froude, Mrs. Oliphant, Mrs. Linton, Mrs. Alexander, Miss Thackeray, Jean Ingelow, Geo. MacDonald, Wm. Black, Mathew Arnold, Chas. Kingsley, W. W. Story, Lowell, Ruskin, Carlyle, Tennyson, Browning, and many other leaders in science, fiction, history, biography, philosophy, poetry, theology, politics, criticism and art.

The subscription price ($8 a year) is cheap for the amount of reading matter. Besides giving the choicest of both home and foreign literature, the publishers make it still cheaper, viz., 10 cts. postpaid, The Living Age and either one of the American $4 monthlies, or weeklies, a year for $10 50. With The Living Age and one of our leading American monthly s, a subscriber will at small cost, be put in "command of the whole situation."

An extra offer, also, is made to new subscribers for 1877, viz.: to send them gratis the six numbers of 1876, containing, besides other valuable matter, the first installments of a new and unusually powerful serial story by George MacDonald, now appearing in The Living Age from advance sheets.

The volume begins Jan. 1st, and we recommend no publication to the attention of our readers. We know of no other way in which so much of the best work of the best minds of the time can be obtained so cheaply and conveniently as in this standard weekly magazine. Published by Littell & Gay, Boston.

Lippincott's Magazine.

AN ILLUSTRATED MONTHLY OF POPULAR LITERATURE, SCIENCE, and ART.

Announcement for 1877.

The number for January begins the nineteenth volume of this Magazine, and while its past record will, it is hoped, be deemed an sufficient guarantee of future excellence, no efforts will be spared to diversify its attractions and to confer an increased supply of Popular Reading in the Best and Most Emphatically Genial Manner. The great object and constant aim of the conductors will be to furnish the public with Literary Entertainment of a Refined and Varied Character, as well as to present in a graphic and striking manner the most recent information and soundest views on subjects of General Interest; in a word, to render LIPPINCOTT'S MAGAZINE strikingly distinctive in those features that are most attractive in Magazine Literature. The contributions now on hand, or specially engaged, promise a highly attractive list of Tales, Short Stories, Descriptive Sketches, Narratives, Papers on Science and Art, Poems, Popular Essays, Literary Criticisms, etc., etc., by talented and well known writers. A large proportion of the papers, especially those descriptive of travel, will be profusely and beautifully illustrated. Five pictorial embellishments of the Magazine constitute one of its most attractive features.

In addition to the general attractions of LIPPINCOTT'S MAGAZINE the Publishers would invite attention to the following

SPECIAL FEATURES FOR 1877.

I.—IT PUBLISHES ALL THE NEWS. The service of no man, the slave of no party, it can afford to and does tell the truth about all.

II.—IT IS IMPARTIAL AND INDEPENDENT. Believing in the liberal suffrage, it aims to furnish voters the fullest and purest information, to qualify them for the wisest discharge of their respo sibility.

III.—IT ALWAYS WAS, ESSENTIALLY REPUBLICAN in its tone quarrel in the future, as it has done in the past, with errors of republican leaders or measures in the republican party; but it can never cease to be true to republican principles, and especially to those golden doctrines of civil service reform, hard money, the sacredness of the national faith, and equal justice to all citizens at the South, which formed the corner-stones of Gov. Hayes' admirable inaugural address.

IV.—ITS MORAL TONE IS PURE AND ELEVATED. The family circle is never profaned by anything which appears in the columns of THE TRIBUNE.

V.—THE CHOICEST STANDARD AND CURRENT LITERATURE of the day is presented in its columns, including Correspondence, Poems, Stories, and reviews from the most talented and popular writers.

VI.—IT IS THE BEST AND CHEAPEST FARMER'S PAPER PUBLISHED. "THE WEEKLY TRIBUNE is the ideal one to make good farmers than any other influence which ever existed."

VII.—THE MARKET REPORTS OF THE TRIBUNE are indispensable to every buyer and seller in the country. Quotations are given daily and weekly of almost every article bought and sold in the markets of the world, and will unvarying and unconditional be accurate. In Cattle, Butter and Cheese, and other Markets are the recognized standard.

VIII.—MORE COPIES OF THE TRIBUNE are paid for and read by the American people than of any other newspaper of equal price in the country—a fact which is the best demonstration of the value of the paper.

IX.—THE READERS OF THE TRIBUNE represent largely the best enterprising and progressive minds of the country. Persons who are interested in the public welfare, the success of agriculture, progress of opinion, will find their demands met by THE TRIBUNE.

X.—PUBLIC APPROVAL AND PROSPERITY have rewarded its independent and self-respecting course of THE TRIBUNE. It has a larger and strongger support from intelligent workers more friends than ever before, and constantly receives from old and new readers words of encouragement.

1877 NEW YORK. 1877

The different editions of THE SUN during the next year will be the same as during the year that has just passed. The daily edition will on week days be a sheet of four pages, and on Sundays a sheet of eight pages, or 56 broad columns; while the weekly edition will be a sheet of eight pages of the same dimensions and character that are already familiar to our friends.

THE SUN will continue to be the strenuous advocate of retrenchment and reform, and of the substitution of statesmanship, wisdom, and integrity for the reckless, extravagant, and in many cases, criminal administration of public affairs. It will contend for the government of the people by the people and for the people, as opposed to government by force in the ballot-box and in the counting of votes, enforced by military violence. It will endeavor to supply its readers,—a body now not far from one million of souls—with the most careful, complete, and trustworthy accounts of current events, and will employ for this purpose a numerous and carefully selected staff of reporters and correspondents. Its reports from Washington, especially, will be full, accurate, and fearless; and it will doubtless continue to deserve and enjoy the hatred of those who thrive by plundering the Treasury or by usurping what the law does not give them, while it will endeavor to merit the confidence of the public by defending the rights of the people against the encroachments of unjustified power.

The price of the daily SUN will be 55 cents a month or $6.50 a year, post paid, or with the Sunday edition $7.70 a year.

The SUNDAY edition alone, eight pages, $1.20 a year, post paid.

The WEEKLY SUN, eight pages of 56 broad columns, will be furnished during 1877 at the rate of $1 a year, post paid.

The benefit of this large reduction from the previous rate for the WEEKLY can be enjoyed by individuals everywhere without the necessity of making up clubs. At the same time, in any of our friends choose to aid in extending our circulation, we shall be grateful to them, and will in return, for every club sends us ten or more subscribers from one place will be entitled to one copy of the paper for himself while our charge. At one dollar a year, postage paid, the expenses of paper and printing are barely repaid; and consequently the profit of the enterprise is in the hands of its contents, we are confident the people will consider THE WEEKLY SUN the cheapest newspaper published in the world, and we trust also one of the very best.

Blue-Glass Sun-Baths.

A lady, the wife of a street-car conductor, residing in this city, has been afflicted with a spinal and nervous disease for over two years. For two years she was confined to her room, during six months of which she was able to sit up only a portion of the day. Her disease continued to grow worse and her strength became less day by day; a number of physicians have treated her, but their knowledge of materia medica was of no avail; their medical skill was baffled, and their patient, instead of becoming better, became worse under their treatment, and relief seemed impossible. The husband had little faith in the blue-glass sun-baths, but like others who have seen a beloved companion rapidly wasting away and silently hastening to the grave, he concluded to try the new curative agent, knowing it could do little or no harm if no good. A window sash was set with blue glass and the sufferer wheeled in the rays of the combined white and blue light. The result of the experiment borders on the miraculous. The first day's trial convinced both husband and wife that there was a virtue in blue-glass sun-baths, which had at least the property of alleviating pain, even if it had not the power to effect a radical cure. Medicine was discarded and the bath was taken daily; the patient began to rapidly improve and before two weeks had passed the pains had entirely disappeared, strength and health returned, and the once confirmed sufferer was a well woman. She now performs her household work without assistance, and has done two large washings since the time she commenced taking the blue-glass baths—about two weeks ago. This case seems to confirm General Pleasonton's theory that the baths have value in spinal as well as nervous diseases.—Providence Press.

Safety from Rats and Mice.

A. J. Willard, of San Mateo County, California, gives a very simple, and in his experience, a very effective safeguard against rats and mice. He takes two round pieces of tin (like the bottom of a fruit can) punches a hole in the centre of each piece, and strings them on a strong wire, one near each end. Then he stretches the wire from side to side of a room and fastens each end firmly. Anything which is hung upon the wire between the plates of tin is safe from the rats, for if they walk out on the wire, every time they try to mount the circle of tin it revolves and they cannot pass over it. Mr. Willard has found this simple contrivance very useful in saving meat, grain, etc., and advises all farmers to try it.

—There is now living in the Grand River Road settlement, Prince Edward Island, a Mrs. McGilvary, who will soon have completed her 109th year, and is still in good health. Her sight is the only faculty which has become seriously impaired, but she is able to recognize old friends. She is very cheerful, and sings the songs of her young days while rocking her great-grandchildren to sleep.

—The steamship Victoria of the Anchor line, which recently arrived at Glasgow from New York, reports having encountered terrific weather, and during one night storm there appeared strung all over the trucks, yards and stays of the vessel, at a distance of two or three feet apart, large balls of phosphorescent fire, giving the ship the appearance of being covered with Chinese lanterns, though the light was far more brilliant. Occasionally one would fall and burst with a loud report, and soon all disappeared as suddenly as they came.

—His name is David Williams, and he attended a prayer-meeting in Sandy Creek, N. C., recently. When he was returning home a curious thing happened. His beard suddenly seemed to be on fire. He raised his hand to brush it off, or to see what it was, and his hand seemed to partake of the same light. He then rubbed his hand over his coat sleeve, and the sleeve became lighted up in the same way. He says the phenomenon lasted about two minutes and then disappeared. The question naturally arises had Mr. Williams been anywhere else than at prayer-meeting?

—At a recent swell wedding in New York the crowd outside was so great that it was impossible for the bridal cortege to drive to the church door. They had to alight a block from the church, and walk that distance in satin slippers, and the bride carrying four yards of train to the church. Mr. Brown received them and informed the bride that it was impossible to get her in the church. "Well," said she, "how can there be a wedding if I am not there?" Some such announcement as this caused the crowd to fall back, but the struggle to get in was compared to the crush at the Centennial opening day.

—Last night an attempt was made to rob Muhl & Graff's liquor store by boring holes with an auger near the bolt and lock. The thief was at his work from twelve to two o'clock this morning, being observed all the time by persons who live across the street. At about two o'clock the window in the house opposite was raised, and some one shouted to the robber, who looked up unconcernedly from his work and said: "Oh, don't make such a fuss about it," and walked away. He returned after a few minutes and apologised for coming back, saying he had forgotten his tools, and picking up his auger walked away.—Pottsville Chronicle.

Counting the Votes.

On Friday, as soon as the decision of the Commission giving the electoral vote of Oregon to the candidates to whom the people of Oregon gave it, was known, the democrats of the House took a recess and called a caucus, which lasted for two hours. Proctor Knott, Salary-grab Randall, David Dudley Field and others strongly urged filibustering to prevent the completion of the count; Ben Hill, John Young Brown of Kentucky, Blount of Georgia and others insisted that the democrats should abide in good faith by the decision of the Tribunal they had created. During the debate, David Dudley Field explained the provisions of a bill drawn up by him to provide for a new election in April next, and during the interregnum authorizing the Secretary of State to act as President until a successor is elected. It was finally voted that the House on Saturday should take a recess until Monday.

The Boston Globe's correspondent, under date of Friday night, says all the indications are that the fillibusters will carry the day and defeat the count under the Electoral Act of their own passing. He further says: "The republicans are, of course, prepared for all emergencies, and their leaders say that if the House will not finish the count in its chamber, the Senate will call a joint assembly to meet in its chamber to finish the count, then declare Hayes elected and inaugurate him."

On Saturday, at 10 o'clock A. M., the Senate sent to the House a message that the Senate was ready to go into convention. A resolution was passed by the House, 157 to 89, that the House was ready to receive the Senate. Vance of Ohio endeavored to move for a recess, but was not recognized.

At 11:45 the Senate entered, and the decision of the Commission on the vote of Oregon was read. Objection to the decision was made by Senator Kelly, and the Senate withdrew.

Representative Clymer moved a recess till Monday; voted down, 158 to 112. Mr. Lane moved a recess to 9:30 P. M., but the Speaker ruled the motion out of order as a dilatory motion. Discussion followed on the question of counting the vote of Oregon.

Go Ahead with the Count.

If the democrats, under the lead of such reckless tricksters as Sam. Randall and David Dudley Field, refuse to allow the Electoral Vote to be counted under the Electoral Act which they bull-dozed the republicans into accepting, the duty of the republicans will be plain,—to proceed with the count according to the provisions of the Constitution, as should have been done at first. Let the President of the Senate open and count the votes, declare the candidates having the highest number elected, and let them be inaugurated. come what will. There has been quite enough yielding to the howlings and threats of the extremists of the defeated party; beaten at the polls, they were allowed to submit the question to a tribunal of their own invention, the republicans yielding their rights and pledging themselves (as did the democrats) to accept the findings of that tribunal; and now the democrats say "we won't submit to the decision of our own court, because they are not in our favor!"

Let the count proceed according to the Constitution, and not only the republican party but the entire business interests of the country will sustain it.

Partisan Judges.

The blind partisanship of the democratic members of the Electoral Commission is shown by their vote on the Oregon question. Not even Justices Field and Clifford pretended that Cronin was elected, or that Grover's violation of the law gave the red-nosed candidate any claim to be considered an elector; the proof that Watts, the "disputed" republican elector, resigned his office on the 13th of November, and that another man took full charge of the office next day, was clear; and it was shown that the two republican electors concerning whose eligibility there was no question, acted strictly according to law in filling the vacancy in the electoral college. Yet Clifford and Field voted with Thurman and Bayard and the three democratic Representatives, to give Tilden the election on account of Grover's scoundrelism!

News and Notes.

Ship Admiral, Capt. Blanchard, of Yarmouth, Me., 2210 tons register, was wrecked on the coast of Patagonia, Feb. 8th, on the voyage from New York for San Francisco. All hands saved; vessel and cargo, together valued at $210,000, a total loss.

The Paris Figaro names a distinguished prima donna whom it charges with having eloped from St. Petersburg with the tenor Nicolini. It states that the Marquis of Caux followed them, and judicial proceedings for separation have commenced.

In the Portland City Council, Wednesday, a proposition was received from D. N. Stanton, New York, to purchase that city's interest in the Portland & Ogdensburg Railroad for $250,000, about 10 per cent. of what the city has put in. A committee was appointed to consider it.

Edward Ivory, a negro in Augusta, Ga., put on a white shirt and went to a bar-room, fell asleep, and William Henry Sullivan made pictures with a lead pencil on the glossy bosom of the shirt. Maddened by the indignity as he awoke, Ivory immediately killed Sullivan with a revolver.

William M. Shaw, an engineer of the Grand Trunk Railway, was arrested at Portland on Friday for obstructing mails on the Boston & Maine, February 14, and held in $2500 bail. He says he was at the station, but did not interfere.

Political.

Gov. Nicholls can, in three hours' time, put upon the streets an army, organized, drilled, and armed, exceeding in number all the available United States troops in the South. Should Mr. Packard be recognized the serious question will be presented whether or not to use this force and to what extent.—N. O. Times.

Unless business men wish to become literally men without any business, they will without distinction of party use every means in their power to show their detestation of the rebellious faction now threatening to delay the count of the electoral vote. If the plots succeeds, there is an end of the spring-trade and nobody knows what will come afterwards.—Worcester Gazette.

Tilden's parade in offering his bank account for inspection, after his friends had secured an agreement to the contrary, is excessively absurd, when it is remembered that his bank cashier had for weeks refused to show his books and was on the point of being committed for contempt.

The New York Nation, one of that class of "independent" papers that has ever been ready to believe the worst of the republicans on the poorest evidence, and to question the strongest evidence against the democrats, speaking of the Oregon despatches, remarks: "That correspondence of this character should be traced to the house of a Presidential candidate is an unprecedented scandal, and it is not mitigated by the fact, if fact it be, that Mr. Tilden knew nothing of the corrupt negotiations his 'Zach,' Mr Pelton, was carrying on with the Oregon politicians. Mr. Tilden is nothing if not shrewd and watchful, and, whether he knew of Pelton's operations or not, we can conceive of no adequate excuse for his leaving it in the power of so foolish and unprincipled a person to compromise him so directly by sending from his own house offers of money to buy up Governors and electors. Blunders of this kind are crimes, and the discovery of this one is doing a great deal to reconcile people to the decision of the Commission."

How much better it would have been for the reputation of the Supreme Court if Justices Clifford and Field could have abandoned their partisanship and voted with the majority in behalf of equity and law. But they were blind and stubborn men.

Whenever you hear a man assert his belief that Tilden was honestly elected, set him down as either a knave or a bigoted ignoramus.

The attempt of the democratic counsel to prove that Watts (the republican "ineligible" elector in Oregon) was postmaster on the 6th of December, was a pitiful failure. Postmaster General Tyner was put on the stand, and testified that Watts' resignation was tendered by telegraph on the 13th of November. It was accepted, and a special agent under instructions took charge of the office on the 14th, the next day, and remained in charge till a new postmaster was regularly appointed. Sixth Auditor McGrew testified that Watts' accounts had been audited and settled, and that pay was only allowed him to the 14th of November. Mr. Watts, the Elector, was then put on the stand, and testified as to the fact of his resignation, as stated by the Postmaster General.

This Mr. Chandler is a very bad man. Mr. David Dudley Field's Committee have had his bank account for six weeks past, and have been so dumbfounded at the appalling corruption disclosed therein that so far they haven't been able to gasp out a report. And Mr. David Dudley Field isn't a man who scares easily at corruption either! —N. Y. Tribune.

The democratic Cincinnati Enquirer says: "That man who denies a democrat a good, substantial growl is less than human."

When an editor sets out to tell a lie, it is is well for him to tell one that will take his antagonists' breath away by the audacious brazenness of its mendacity. The following, from the Boston Post, is a brilliant example of the kind of a lie we speak of: "Threats and opposition to a peaceable settlement have come only from the republican side."

The New Haven Union (democratic) says: "The 'bluff game' is not popular with the democrats, which is proof that the party is possessed of abundant good sense and patriotism. The Commission plan was really a democratic measure, and to refuse to accept its rulings would be a shameless exhibition of bad faith and treachery. It is proper to protest and point out the gross partisanship displayed by the republican majority, but the verdict must be accepted and lived up to." But this "shameless exhibition of bad faith and treachery" is just the exhibition Tilden's lieutenants are endeavoring to get the democrats to make.

Aching Heads and Uneasy Nerves

Are often soothed by Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, because that searching corrective completely removes the causes of brain and nerve excitement, which are to be found in derangement of the stomach, and of its associate organs, the liver and bowels. It is a truth which cannot be too earnestly insisted upon, that the effect of mere sedatives and narcotics, like bromide of potassium, valerian, chloral hydrate and opium, is less appreciable the longer they are used, and that they can never permanently relieve nervous excitability, because they cannot remedy the weakness and organic derangement which lies at its roots. Hostetter's Bitters, however, can and does cure nervous maladies, for the reason already stated. Sick headache, restlessness at night, vertigo, mental heaviness, and depression of spirits, as well as the dyspeptic condition of the stomach, and torpidity of the liver and bowels, which give rise to them, are entirely obviated by this benign alterative tonic.

"The Very Thing Needed,"

has been the utterance of both hemispheres for the past thirty years, to secure a good and wholesome appetite at the Breakfast, Dinner or Lunch table, is a bottle of the GENUINE Lea & Perrins' Worcestershire Sauce for Meats, Game, Fish, &c., &c. It imparts a flavor and zest highly prized by all who have the good fortune to enjoy it. The great popularity of the above Sauce has induced many counterfeits. Purchasers will do well to obtain the genuine which is easily determined by style of Bottle, Label, etc.

The Teeth of the Future.

If the consumption of Sozodont continues to increase in the present ratio, the teeth of the future will be a great improvement on those of the present day. Its universal use would prevent all dental defections, and render one of the most essential portions of our material organization as ornamental as it is useful.

SPALDING'S GLUE repairs everything but personal injuries.

The seed of consumption can be destroyed by the use of Adamson's Botanic Balsam, the great remedy for coughs and colds. Price only 25 cents.

The Grand Central Hotel, New York, endorsed by eminent and distinguished visitors as the best, has complied with the popular demand, and reduced from $4.00 to $2.50 and $3.00 per day.

The Colonnade Hotel, Philadelphia, Pa., exhibits the secret of its great popularity and success by wisely maintaining its old standard of excellence since its reduction of rates.

Important to persons visiting New York or the Centennial. The Grand Union Hotel, New York, opposite the Grand Central Depot, has over 350 elegantly furnished rooms. Elevator, steam and all improvements. European plan. Carriage hire is saved, as baggage is taken to and from the depot free. Guests can live better for less money at the Grand Union than at any other first-class hotel. Stages and cars pass the Hotel constantly to all parts of the city, and to the Philadelphia depot.

JOTTINGS.

An alarm of fire was occasioned at about half-past five o'clock Saturday morning, by the blowing of the whistles of the steamers that towed in the wrecked steamer Elsie and her supporting lighters.

Saturday brought a change in the weather, which for the time of year had been remarkable for several weeks. A raw northeaster blew through the day, and a cold rain gave the long idle umbrellas something to do to pay for their living. Toward evening the rain changed to snow.

A salute of minute guns was fired at the navy yard on Saturday, as a mark of respect to the memory of the late Rear-Admiral Goldsborough.

W. H. Brackett and John A. Tucker, of Greenland, take from ten to sixteen bushels of oysters per day from Great Bay, dredging them with horses. They find a ready sale for all they can get.

Mr. Fernald has some forty men at work in the old Raynes ship yard, getting out the frames of a thirteen-hundred-ton ship to be launched about September next, for Charles E. Mendum, Capt. Jacobs and others. She is to be commanded by Capt. Jacobs.

John Albee, Esq., gives his eighth lecture this evening at the Unitarian chapel on Court street. These lectures are of deep interest and profit, and have nightly increased in popularity.

The Congregational Church at Greenland is one hundred and seventy years old and has had but seven pastors, the first serving fifty-three years, the second forty-eight. Four died in office and are buried near the church. The present pastor, Rev. Edward Robie, D. D., has been settled over the church twenty-five years.

Gardner Bunker of Rye had his shoulder dislocated, and was otherwise seriously injured, by being thrown from a load of wood Tuesday of last week. His injuries, although severe, are not considered fatal.

A telegram was received in this city on Saturday by one of the parties interested, that thirty horses from Canada would arrive at the Kittery depot on the evening train from Portland, having come down over the Grand Trunk to the latter city. The horses are owned by Mr. Cottle of Kittery, and Messrs. Herbert, Cochrane and H. R. Stoddard of this city.

Before the Supreme Court holden at Exeter, Friday, Mary E. Cross of this city was divorced from Charles W. Cross. Hodgdon for libellant.

The Supreme Court adjourned at Exeter on Saturday, to March 26th, to reassemble in this city to try several cases.

THE DEMOCRATIC CANDIDATES.

The Concord correspondent of the Boston Post, writing of the democratic candidate for Congress from this district, says: "He has the advantage and prestige of being a successful candidate, having wrenched the district from the hands of the republicans two years ago, and that when he was opposed by a popular and well-deserving man of the opposition." True; but it is not an advantage to Mr. Jones that the means by which he "wrenched the district from the hands of the republicans" and defeated the "popular and well-deserving" republican candidate, Hon. Charles S. Whitehouse, are well known. His specie—ous arguments will hardly suffice this time to secure the slaughter of the republican candidate in the house of his friends; and the dead men of the Point of Graves, the Cambridgeport foundrymen, the marines at the navy yard, and the crews of the Gloucester fishing vessels that may happen to be in this port on election day, will not find their way so clear to vote for the democratic candidate as they did two years ago, in wards three and six; nor will Dover aid Mr. Jones this time, charm he never so wisely. The republicans of the first Congressional district propose to send Gen. Marston to Congress, and to elect Mr. Jones to stay at home and attend to his private business; and they will do it. The democrats are discouraged, and will put no heart into the campaign; and the republicans, though confident of success, do not propose to conduct one of the "still hunts" in which they are invariably beaten. It will be Ex-Congressman Jones after the 4th of March.

The Traveller thus refers to the nominations in this State: "The republicans have a strong ticket, and they know it. What is more, the people know it. At the head of the republican ticket is a man of talent and energy, familiar with the routine of government and the interests of the State; a gentleman in active sympathy with his party, and destined, we believe, to be the worthy successor of the present worthy incumbent of the gubernatorial chair. Opposed to Mr. Prescott is Hon. Daniel Marcy, who is—Daniel Marcy, nothing more, nothing less. His voice is an echo from the past, his methods the worst which the politicians of the present have devised. A worthy man in all the relations of social life, he would yet be a most dangerous one to place in the chief magistrate's office. In his political ideas he has never got past the resolutions of '98. If he should live twenty years longer, however, he might imbibe the larger political opinions which become general with the choice of James Madison. Nothing but unnatural length of years will make him as modern as Andrew Jackson, certainly nothing short of a complete metempsychosis will ever convert him into a Union man. His nomination was made in opposition to the younger and abler element of his party, and in every way is he a weak candidate."

POPULAR DELUSIONS.

Several popular beliefs have received rude shocks during the past winter; one of them is, the idea that cold and clear weather in winter is more healthful than more moderate weather; and another is, that hydrophobia is virtually a hot weather complaint, and not to be feared in winter. As to hydrophobia, it is quite within the mark to say that more cases of rabies in animals, and deaths of persons from the effects of dog bites, have been reported in the papers within four months past, than for ten years previously; and the mad-dog scare has extended all through the North, and not without good reason. A committee of the Massachusetts legislature had a hearing last week on a bill to give towns greater powers on the dog question; and the hearing drew out a considerable mass of evidence tending to show that Spitz dogs were especially dangerous pets, and that their bite was worse than that of any other kind, even in health, while it was almost unvaryingly fatal in case the dog was at all affected with rabies. Manchester and Suncook, in this State, have taken vigorous measures to prevent the running at large of unmuzzled dogs, both those places having had mad dogs about, and a boy having died with hydrophobia in Suncook. This city has kept on the even tenor of its way undisturbed either by mad dogs or any extra precautions against them; there is a municipal law taxing dogs, but it is directed at increasing the revenue rather than to diminishing the number of dogs, and hundreds of these animals, licensed and unlicensed, roam about our streets at will, unmuzzled. Most of them are worthless curs, yet they are probably valued by their owners; but we think there is hardly one among them worth a human life. Should some person be bitten by one of them, and die a horrible death in consequence, we should probably have a red-hot crusade against the whole canine race; but until then Portsmouth's swarm of dogs will roam unmolested and unreduced.

The notion that has generally prevailed that open winters are unhealthful and that severe winters, with cold, sharp air, are conducive to health, is likely to change with this season's experiences in New England, where the winter has been unusually dry and severe, but where diphtheria, scarlet fever and kindred ills have been more than usually prevalent, and fatal. Schools have been closed in many towns throughout New England, the Middle States and the West, owing to the prevalence of scarlet fever and measles, and in some places these complaints have amounted to an epidemic.

New Hampshire Items.

The liquor prosecutions before the Supreme Court at Dover were continued through last week. At the trial of case State vs. Ricker, Friday, the case was so conducted as to make it appear that Hale and Poud, the Massachusetts detectives employed to get evidence against the liquor dealers, were on trial, instead of Ricker. But the testimony of a Massachusetts official against Hale and Pond was buried out of sight by the commendation of solid citizens from Newburyport and other Massachusetts towns, including editors, ex-mayors and deacons. A favorable verdict for the defendant was however confidently looked for.

Prof. Young has decided to remain at Dartmouth, and will decline Princeton's call. Tutor Emerson gives up the chair of Assistant in Natural Philosophy, and the Trustees are to appoint a successor.

The news of the decision of the Commission in the Oregon case was most favorably received by the republicans of Manchester, Friday night, and is regarded as settling the Presidential question. The first meeting of the Hayes and Wheeler Guards since the election was held at their armory that night. The object of the meeting was to make preparations for celebrating the grand republican victory achieved. It was unanimously voted to hold an inauguration ball Monday evening, March 5th. The various committees were appointed, and there is every prospect of a grand affair. The Strauss Club of Boston, eighteen pieces, will furnish music.

Dartmouth College is to have a three-days' recess at the New Hampshire election, March 12th, 13th and 14th. The term ends the 21st. In accordance with the new law passed last June by the Legislature many of the students will vote in town this year.

It is thought from a variety of evidence that John McDonald, whose body was found in the Jackson Manufacturing Company's canal at Nashua on Thursday, met his death by four play.

Enoch R. Call, while driving across the railroad track at Canaan, Friday, with a yoke of oxen, was struck by an accommodation train and instantly killed.

There was shipped from the main mica ledge known as the Ruggles' mine, in Grafton, during the month of January, 3,600 pounds of mica, which sold for $2 per pound. Among the other exports from that town in the same month were 7,000 bushels of charcoal.

The Manchester Dispatch speaks a good word for the hand-organ man, as follows: "A hand organ was heard in the streets on Thursday. By the way, why should these itinerant musicians be debarred from playing on the side streets. The music they furnish is the only music ever heard by hundreds of poor children, whose homes are barren of any of the attractions that make other homes so pleasant. We who go to Smyth's Opera House and pay to listen to instrumental or vocal music should be the last to shut out one ray of enjoyment from the lives of the poor, and if a hurdy-gurdy or a poor strolling ballad singer can please them for an hour, why prevent it?"

Dr. A. J. Flagg's

COUGH & LUNG SYRUP.

A Safe and Sure Remedy.

The Cough and Lung Syrup

Is the remedy that during the past fifteen years has won for DR. FLAGG an extended reputation as a SPECIALIST for THROAT and LUNG Diseases. After so many years trial it can be truthfully said that it has NEVER FAILED, even in the WORST CASES. It is purely Vegetable, and its effect upon the system is at once Soothing and Tonic.

It Will Cure a Common Cold

In a few hours, not by drying it up, but by removing it from the system. TRY IT.

It will CURE a Chronic Cough, by soothing the irritated parts, and strengthening the system.

IT WILL CURE CONSUMPTION,

Even after all other remedies have failed. In the earlier stages of this disease it will effect a speedy and certain cure; and in many cases of advanced Consumption its effect has seemed almost miraculous, restoring to full strength and perfect health those whom physicians had given up as incurable. TRY IT.

IT WILL CURE CATARRH

More effectually than any other remedy, by simply removing the cause. TRY IT.

It will Cure Bronchitis, by allaying all irritation of the Throat. TRY IT.

It will Cure Asthma, affording immediate relief and a perfect cure. TRY IT.

It Will Cure Ulcerated Sore Throat.

TRY IT.

IT WILL CURE Loss of Voice, Night Sweats, Hectic Fever, AND ALL Symptoms of Consumption. TRY IT.

For every affection of the Throat and Lungs it only needs a trial to convince the most skeptical of its wonderful curative properties.

Remember that it!

CURES COLDS,
CURES COUGHS,
CURES CATARRH
CURES CONSUMPTION.

DR. WM. M. LADD, a leading Druggist of Claremont, certifies as follows:

For many years I have known Dr. A. J. Flagg as a successful practicing physician, and can assure the public that his representations relative to the Cough and Lung Syrup can be strictly relied upon. It has been used in his extended practice with marvellous success, and I know it to be a I that he claims for it.

THE OLDEST ESTABLISHED HOSPITAL

— IN THE —

UNITED STATES.

No. 9 Beaver Street, - - - Albany, N. Y

SURE CURES AND LOW PRICES.

Dr. YOUNG,

SUCCESSOR TO

Dr. TELLER,

DECEASED.

The above named private Hospital was established in Albany in 1833 by Dr. Lispenard and for a number of years its affairs were presided over by that gentleman, but for the past 30 years, Dr. Teller, who is now deceased, transacted the business of the Institution.

Owing to the great demand for more spacious apartments on account of the large increase of business, the Hospital has been removed to No. 9 Beaver Street, two doors above its old location, where patients will find magnificently furnished rooms for their reception, and are so arranged that patients do not come in contact with one another, seeing only the doctor, thereby avoiding the unpleasantness of meeting others, which always occurred at the old office.

LADIES will find rooms provided for their especial accommodation and entirely private.

YOUNG MEN, addicted to secret habits, who have impaired their health and destroyed the vigor of their minds, thus depriving themselves of the pleasures of married life and also those afflicted with private diseases of any nature, are advised that in consulting Dr. Young they will find a physician fully qualified to cure and restore them to full health and manly vigor.

Dr. Teller's great work for the married, or those contemplating marriage—100 pages—full of plates,—price 25 cents. Sent to all parts, under seal, by mail post paid.

TO THE LADIES—DR. YOUNG still retains the only agency in America for the sale of Dr. Vichol's Hallow Female Monthly Pills. Sent by mail on receipt of $1.00, price per box.

DR. YOUNG is the only agent for Dr. La Mott's celebrated Galvanic Belts.

Invalids out of the city can be cured by consulting the Doctor by letter, and enclosing remittance. Medicines sent by mail or express, securely packed from observation. All letters must be addressed to DR. S. V. R. YOUNG, 9 Beaver St., Albany, N. Y

Centaur Liniments.

The lame can be healed and the wounded made whole. We now know just what the Centaur-Liniment will do. They will not mend broken bones or cure Cancer, but they will extract soreness, allay pain, cure Rheumatism and a larger range of deep, bone and muscle ailments than any articles ever before discovered.

Scientific skill cannot go beyond the effects of these remarkable preparations. Chronic Rheumatism of many years' standing, Neuralgia, Weak-Back, Fever Sores, Weeping-Sinews, Sciatica, Caked Breasts, Distorted Joints and Sprained Limbs of the worst kind are cured by the White Centaur Liniment.

It will destroy the pain and heal without a scar, all ordinary Burns and Scalds. It will extract the poison of Bites and Stings, and the frost from Frozen Limbs. It is very efficacious for Ear-ache, Tooth-ache, Itch and Cutaneous Eruptions.

Mr. Joseph Wentzler, of Marysville, O., writes:

"For years my Rheumatism has been so bad that I have been unable to stir from the house. The first three bottles of Centaur Liniment enabled me to walk without my crutches. I am mending rapidly. I think your Liniment simply a marvel.

C. H. Bennett, Druggist, Rock Prairie, Mo., says:

"Centaur Liniment sells better and gives the best satisfaction of anything in the market."

What the Centaur Liniment has done for others it will do for you. It is handy, it is reliable, and it is cheap.

The Yellow Centaur Liniment

is worth its weight in gold to owners of horses and mules.

This Liniment has cured more Sprained, Swegnied, Ring-boned and Galled Horses in three years than have all the Farriers in the country in an age. Its effects are simply wonderful.

We have thousands upon thousands of certificates as strong as the following:

"My horse was lame for a year with a fetlock wrench. All remedies utterly failed to cure and I considered him worthless until I commenced to use Centaur Liniment, which rapidly cured him. I heartily recommend it.

REV. GEO. W. FERRIS,
Manorville, Schoharie Co., N. Y."

DEAR SIRS,—I have used your Centaur Liniment in my family, and find it to be of great value. Please send me two dollar's worth, one for the mules and horses.

RILEY SICKLER.

FALLS STATION, WYOMING CO., PA.

It makes very little difference what the case is, whether it be Wrench, Sprain, Poll-Evil, Ringbone, Scratches or Lame ness of any kind, the effects are the same. Liverymen, Stage proprietors, Farmers, &c., should never be without the Yellow Centaur Liniment. It is sold everywhere, and warranted to do its effects.

Castoria.

It is a mistake to suppose that Castoria is not adapted to grown persons as well as Children. They only need to increase the quantity. But children have so many complaints for which Castoria is adapted—like Wind Colic, Sour Stomach, Worms, Tetter, Teething and Croup, that it is especially recommended for them.

Its effects are more certain than Castor Oil. It contains no alcohol and is as pleasant to take as honey. It never gripes. By regulating the stomach and bowels the Castoria cools the blood, expels worms and prevents feverishness, quiets the nerves and produces health—then of course children can sleep in quiet and mothers can rest.

Castoria is recommended by all physicians and nurses who have tried it, and it is having a rapidly increasing sale. It is prepared with great care after the recipe of Dr. Samuel Pitcher, of Mass., at the Laboratory of J. B. Rose & Co., 46 Dey St., N. Y.

Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers.

The origin of this organization which has now such an extended influence, seems to have been thirteen years ago last April, when a few of the more thoughtful of the engineers went to Marshal, Michigan, to devise some plan to improve their fellows. From this meeting grew the Brotherhood, which now numbers 189 organizations, with 12,000 members. Three years after the first organization they formed an insurance association, which has disbursed about $1,500,000 to the widows of the deceased brothers, and for other charities. The organization has reformed the intemperate, and elevated the men in various ways. It publishes a monthly journal which has a circulation of 13,000. To gain admission to the Brotherhood a man must be white, 21 years of age, of good character, able to read and write, qualified as an engineer, and experienced for at least one year. They keep a list of all drunkards, and such find it hard to obtain employment.

ST. NICHOLAS.

"The King of all publications issued for the young on either side of the Atlantic."—Southampton (England) Observer.

The third volume of this incomparable Magazine is now completed. With its eight numbers (royal octavo pages, and its six hundred illustrations, its splendid serials, its shorter stories, poems, and sketches, etc., etc., in its beautiful binding of red and gold, it is the most splendid gift-book for boys and girls ever issued from the press. Price, $4; in full gilt, $5.

"ST. NICHOLAS is full of the choicest things. The publication is, in all respects, the best of its kind. We have never yet seen a number that was not surprisingly good."—The Churchman, Hartford, Conn.

ST. NICHOLAS FOR 1877.

Which opens with November, 1876, begins a short and very entertaining Serial from the French, "The Kingdom of the Greedy," a Story adapted to the Thanksgiving season. Another serial, of absorbing interest to boys,

"HIS OWN MASTER,"

By J. T. Trowbridge,

Author of the "Jack Hazard stories," begins in the Christmas Holiday Number.

Serial and short stories, Christmas stories, lively sketches, poems and pictures for the holidays, and some astonishing illustrations of Oriental sports, with drawings by Chinese artists, The Christmas Holiday Number of ST. NICHOLAS, superbly illustrated, contains a very interesting paper,

"THE BOYS OF MY BOYHOOD,"

By William Cullen Bryant;

"The Horse Hotel," a lively Article, by Charles A. Barnard, splendidly illustrated; "The Cook in the Sky," by Richard A. Proctor; "A Christmas Day in Hosea's Sunday school," by Dr. Eggleston; "The Peterkins' Christmas Tree," by Lucretia P. Hale; "Poetry and Carols of Winter," by Lucy Larcom, with pictures.

Do Not Fail to Buy St. Nicholas for the Christmas Holidays. Price 35 cents.

During the year there will be his leading papers for boys, by William Cullen Bryant, Jos. G. Whittier, Thomas Hughes, William Howitt, Dr. Holland, George MacDonald, Sanford B. Hunt, Frank R. Stockton, and others.

There will be stories, sketches, and poems, of special interest to girls, by Harriet Prescott Spofford, Sarah Winter Kellogg, Sarah Orne Jewett, Mrs. Stuart Phelps, Louisa Alcott, Lucretia P. Hale, Celia Thaxter, Mary Mapes Dodge, and many others. There will be also

"TWELVE SKY PICTURES,"

By Prof. Proctor, the Astronomer, with maps, showing "The Stars of Each Month," which will be likely to surpass in interest any popular science research given to the public.

Amusement and Instruction, with Fun and Frolic, and Wonder and Wisdom, will be the leading aims, and ST. NICHOLAS will continue to delight the young and give pleasure to the old.

The London Literary World says: "There is no magazine for the young that can be said to equal this choice production of SCRIBNER'S press. All the articles, whether in prose or verse, are throughout with vivality. * * * The literature and artistic illustrations are both superb."

The London Daily News says: "We wish we could point out its equal in our own periodical literature."

GOOD NEWS FOR BOYS AND GIRLS;

To meet the demand for a cheaper ST. NICHOLAS SCRIBNER'S price of $4.00, and it has been reduced to $3 each. The three volumes, in an elegant library case, are sold for $10 (in full gilt, $12), or, that all may give their children the pleasure of a set, These volumes contain more attractive material than fifty Dollars' worth of the ordinary children's books.

Single numbers, price, $3 a year. The three bound volumes and a subscription for this year, only $12; Subscribe with the nearest newsdealer, or send money in check, or P. O. money order, or in registered letter, to

SCRIBNER & Co., 743 Broadway, N. Y.

SCRIBNER'S MONTHLY,

An Unrivaled Illustrated Magazine.

The prospectus for the new volume gives the titles of over fifty papers (mostly illustrated), by writers of the highest merit. Under the head of

"FOREIGN TRAVEL,"

are have "A Winter on the Nile," by Gen. McClellan; "Sauntering About Constantinople," by Charles Dudley Warner; "Point of My Window at Moscow," by Eugen Schuyler; "An American in Turkistan," etc. Three serial stories are announced:

"NICHOLAS MINTURN,"

by Dr. Holland, the Editor, whose story of "Seven-Oaks" gave the highest satisfaction to the readers of the Monthly.

The scene of this latest novel is laid on the banks of the Hudson. The hero is a young man who has been always "tied to a woman's apron strings," but who, by the death of his mother, is left alone in the world,—to drift on the current of life,—with a fortune, but without a purpose.

Another serial, "His Inheritance," by Miss Trafton, will begin on the completion of "That Lass o' Lowrie's," by Mrs. Hodgson Burnett. Mrs. Burnett's story, begun in August, has a pathos and dramatic power which have been a surprise to the public.

There is to be a series of original illustrated papers of "Popular Science," by Mrs. Herrick, each paper complete in itself.

There are to be, from various pens, papers on

"HOME LIFE AND TRAVEL,"

too, practical suggestions as to town and country life, village improvements, etc., by well-known specialists.

Mr. Bernard's articles on various industries of rural Britain include the history of "Some Experiments in Co-operative," "A Scottish Leaf Factory," in the November number, and "Coal Land, Rochdale," in December. Other papers are "The British Workingman's Home," "A Nation of Shopkeepers," "Harvest Home in Tyrol," etc.

A fully illustrated series will be given on "American Sports in Wood and Field," by various writers, and each on a different theme. The subject of will have a great number and the latest productions. American memorials will appear from month to month. The list of shorter stories, biographical and other articles, etc., is a long one.

"HOUSEHOLD AND HOME DECORATION"

The editorial department will continue to enjoy the widest range, both at home and abroad. There will be a series of letters on Literary matters, from London, by Mr. Welford.

We mean to make the magazine better and purer, higher and nobler, more genial and generous in all its utterances and influences, and a more welcome visitor than ever before in homes of intelligence and culture.

FIFTEEN MONTHS FOR $4.00.

SCRIBNER for December, now ready, completes the event of the year—the "Scribner Miscellany." DR. QUAIN'S MAGIC CONDITION PILLS!

The Wonderful Remedy for Liver Complaint, Biliousness, Dyspepsia, Constipation, Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Headache, Kidney Complaint, Nervousness, Scrofula, Piles, and all diseases arising from a bad state of the Blood!

No medicine ever offered to the public has given such universal satisfaction as Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. Their praises are on every tongue where their merits are known. They strike at once at the seat of disease and show their healing power almost immediately. Thousands of voluntary testimonials of their merits have been received by the agent, from those who have been cured by them, of which the following are samples:

Dyspepsia Four Years, Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels Three Years, Confined to my Room Two Years, Pain so I Could Not Sleep Without Morphine. One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills Made Me Eat Well, Sleep Well and Free from Pain, after being given up by Physicians.

WEST LEBANON, ME., Feb. 22, 1

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I have been sick for four years with Dyspepsia, and for the past three years Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels. I have suffered all the pain I could endure and live. I have been confined to my room for two years, and could not sleep nights without the use of morphine. I have been given up by physicians as past cure. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, and they have done me more good than all the doctors I have had. I sleep well, I eat well and have no pain. They are all they are recommended to be. Please send me three packages, as two of my neighbors wish to try them. I enclose $1.50.

Your truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Another Letter from Maj. John W. Lord, one month later Wonderful Cures by Dr. Quain's Pills Effected on Him in Thirteen Days. First time Free from Pain for Three Years.

WEST LEBANON, ME., March 22, 1872

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I commenced taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS February 9th, and wrote you Feb. 22nd, of the wonderful effect. I have continued to improve ever since. My appetite is good, and I sleep as well as I ever did in my life. I am free from pain for the first time in three years. When I was taken sick four years ago, I weighed one hundred and eighty-six pounds; I now weigh one hundred and thirty, but, as I am gaining in strength, I have faith I shall regain my flesh the summer, by the use of the Pills. I shall continue taking them for some time to come.

Yours truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Dr. Quain's Pills the Remedy for Soldiers' Aches and Pains.

[WEST LEBANON, ME., June 1, 1875.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I am now able to walk one every day, and am gaining in strength very fast, all of which is due to you as agent for the best Pills in the world. I have taken no other medicine, and my improvement has been steady since first taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done everything for me, and I will say to you you advertise them direct to the soldier, for they will certainly cure them of aches and pains caused from exposure and hardship on the field. Please send me by return mail another package.

JOHN W. LORD.

Rheumatism for Twenty Years Cured by One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills—"The Best Medicine in the World."

EAST ANDOVER, N. H., Dec. 10, 1875.

MR. LANE—Dear Sir:—As I know the value of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS and the good they have done me, I take pleasure in giving them praise; so I send you another testimonial. My father has been troubled with rheumatism for twenty years or more, and has tried everything that could be bought or, but to no good. At times it would be so bad that he could not do his barn work, or do any work at all, especially in cold weather. A short time ago I advised him to get some of these Pills. He believed nothing in them, but I gave him the last package I had of you, as I did not need them, and he has not been so free from the Rheuma in Complaint for years. No Rheumatism, no pain. What helped him? It was DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, the best medicine in the world. There is nothing like them. I know it, for I have tried them, and they are all, yes, more than you have recommended them. Give them a fair trial and you will say so. I write this because I know the goodness of them and wish others to know the good they may think I am telling a big story I am. But remember I am not giving them half the praise they ought to have.

Yours with respect, ED. F. PEVEAR.

Wonderful Effect of Four Doses of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills upon Neuralgia of Twelve Years' Duration—Testimony of Rev. J. S. Patton.

DAINGERFIELD, MORRIS CO., TEXAS, Nov. 15, 75.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I have been afflicted for near twenty years with Neuralgia in the face and head. I tried I do not know how many physicians, and could only get partly relieved. I also tried nearly every patent medicine for the same result. I have been confined to my room most all the time for eight or ten winters, and have been travelling around Mineral Springs, and I am still suffered most intensely. The physicians pronounced my case to be too obstinate to cure, though I had had anything to do with. One told me I could never get well; they all advised me to go South and spend the winter, and that was the only chance for me, and I was trying to get ready to go to Florida, when through the kindness of Rev. H. M. Mathis, my attention was called to the advertisement of Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. I immediately sent to you for a package. I have taken four doses and I am almost free from pain. The impression here seems to be that if your pills will cure me, they will cure anything. I feel like recommending to send for the pills. Enclosed please find three dollars; send in two packages to me and one to Mrs. Burns Sherrell Sulphur Springs, Hopkins county, Texas.

Yours truly, J. S. PATTON.

Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache.

LACOSHA, N. H., Jan. 29, 1875.

THOS. W. LANE—Sir:—I have been troubled with Bad Blood, Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done me more good than all the medicine I ever took; I have taken considerable medicine within the last five years. For the nerves I think there is nothing so good as those pills. I can recommend them to all who are similarly afflicted, they have done me so much good. I think they will recommend themselves wherever they go. I shall recommend those Pills to all who need them. Please send me two packages more, one for myself and one for a lady friend of mine. Many thanks to the inventor, agent and advertiser of those Pills.

MRS. P. L. ELLIOTT.

PULMOCINE.

BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL

is no new discovery. Twenty-three years ago it was used by one of New England's most immous physicians as the best Pulmonary Curative so much prescribe, after, dozen years spent in experimenting with it before e was satisfied that the Materia Medica could add nothing in its favor.

Is the ultima thule of Medical Discovery.

Among its many ingredients are Wild Cherry Bark, Squill Root, Liquorice Root, Blood root, &c. It is a Blood Purifier, gently stimulating. It increases expectoration and is diuretic. It is sudorific and alterative. It is a necessary family medicine. It is a Tonic and a powerful aid to the digestive organs. It is a gentle sedative, and relieves nervousness. It is aromatic and agreeable to the taste.

CLEAR YOUR THROAT!

Relieve Your Lungs.

For the terrible diseases engendered by the lung-trying climate of New England;

AND

PULMOCINE CORDIAL

is a speedy and reliable Preventive and Remedy. Every Family should have a bottle at hand to check the sudden growth of all Pulmonary Diseases. For the Asthma, Coughs, Croups, Laryngitis, or inflammation of the larynx, Diphtheria, and all kindred Throat Diseases at all times prevalent, it is the ounce of Prevention. Children attacked with Whooping Cough or Croup should be immediately cared for. These painful attacks come with scarcely a moment's warning, when a physician may be out of immediate call. A dose of PULMOCINE CORDIAL gives speedy relief, and the little ones are spared hours of pain and agony. As "a stitch in time saves nine," so does the possession of this Family Medicine prevent the spread of disease. Parents seeing their children gasping with pain, friends and relatives beholding each other in peril from suffocation by the choking pain in the throat, paralyzed with fear and not knowing the best course to pursue, are liable to apply the wrong remedial agents. There is no safety in delay, no time to waste in such cases. CONSUMPTION, that fearful scourge of the human race, lies at the door of all this afflicted. BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL arrests it (unless in its advanced stage at which time there is no local cure) relieves the pressing, suffocating feeling at the lungs, and the patient's danger is past.

For Coughs,

Croup,

Diphtheria,

Asthma, etc.,

—USE—

Buchman's Pulmocine Cordial.

The Pulmocine Cordial is not a quack medicine, is not an experiment, is not composed of any ingredients "discovered" by "walking in pastures" in South America or anywhere else, nor by one who discovered a weed and thereby cured himself. Most of the ingredients are such as our best educated physicians daily use for the complaints specified in some form or other. The recipe is that perfected by one of New England's most learned and famous physicians, who used it entirely in his daily practice until his death. His offered to the profession and to the public, absolutely pure and unadulterated.

ECLECTIC MAGAZINE

OF

FOREIGN LITERATURE.

THIRTY-THIRD YEAR.

THE ECLECTIC reprints from the foreign Quarterlies, Reviews, Magazines, and Journals, their choicest contents, including Essays, Scientific Papers, Biographical Sketches, Reminiscences of Travel and Adventure, Tales, Stories, and Poems. The field of selection is very large, and it is believed that the ECLECTIC presents a greater variety and higher standard of literature than any periodical can hope to do that depends exclusively upon home talent.

A knowledge of the current literature of other countries is indispensable to all who would keep pace with the progress of the human mind; and the ECLECTIC offers the best, and, indeed, the only opportunity for obtaining this knowledge within a reasonable compass, and at a moderate price.

Among the writers represented in recent numbers of the ECLECTIC are: The Rt. Hon. W. E. Gladstone, James Anthony Froude, Matthew Arnold, Charles Kingsley, Robert Buchanan, Geo. McDonald, John Ruskin, Alfred Tennyson, Thomas Hughes, William Black, Mrs. Oliphant, Thos. Hardy, William Morris, Miss Thackeray, Mrs. Alexander, Prof. Huxley and Tyndall, Richard Proctor, R. A., Prof. Owen, Dr. W. B. Carpenter, Max Muller, J. Norman Lockyer, Herbert Spencer, and others equally eminent. Besides the regular articles in the body of the magazine, there are four original Editorial Departments: Literary Notices, Foreign Literary Notes, Science and Art, and Varieties.

With regard to the character of the selections, the aim of the ECLECTIC is to be instructive without being dull, and entertaining without being trivial. While each number contains something to interest every member of the family circle, it addresses itself particularly to the great body of intelligent readers who seek profit as well as amusement in solid and healthful literature.

Besides the 128 pages of reading matter, each number of the magazine contains a Fine Steel Engraving—usually a portrait—executed in the most artistic manner.

TERMS.—Single copies, 45 cents; one copy one year $5; two copies, $8; five copies, $20. Trial subscriptions for three months, $1.

The ECLECTIC and any $4 Magazine to one address, $8.

Postage free to all subscribers. Address,

It pays the head of every family to introduce into his household a newspaper that is instructive, one that fosters a taste for investigation and promotes thought and encourages discussion among the members.

The Scientific American

which has been published weekly for the last thirty-one years, does this, to an extent beyond that of any other publication; in fact it is the only weekly paper published in the United States, devoted to Manufactures, Mechanics, Inventions and New Discoveries in the Arts and Sciences.

Every number is profusely illustrated and its contents embrace the latest and most interesting information pertaining to the Industrial, Mechanical, and Scientific Progress of the world: Descriptions, with Beautiful Engravings of Novel Inventions, New Implements, New Processes, and Improved Industries of all kinds; Useful Notes, Recipes, Suggestions and Advice by Practical Writers, for Workmen and Employers, in all the various arts, forming a complete repertory of New Inventions and Discoveries; containing a weekly record, not only of the progress of the Mechanical Arts in our own country, but also of all New Discoveries and Inventions in every branch of Engineering, Mechanics and Science abroad.

THE SCIENTIFIC AMERICAN has been the foremost of all industrial publications for the past thirty-one years. It is the oldest, largest, cheapest, and the best weekly illustrated paper devoted to Engineering, Mechanics, Chemistry, New Inventions, Science and Industrial Progress, published in the world.

The practical Recipes are well worth ten times the subscription price, and for the shop and house will save many times the cost of subscription.

Merchants, Farmers, Mechanics, Engineers, Inventors, Manufacturers, Chemists, Lovers of Science, and People of all Professions, will find the SCIENTIFIC AMERICAN useful to them. It should have a place in every Family, Library, Study, Office and Counting Room; in every Reading Room, College and School. A new volume commences January 1st, 1877.

A year's numbers contain 832 pages and SEVERAL HUNDRED ENGRAVINGS. Thousands of volumes are preserved for binding and reference. Terms, $3.20 a year by mail, including postage. Discount to Clubs. Special circulars, giving Club rates sent free. Single copies mailed on receipt of 10 cents. May be had of all News Dealers.

PATENTS. In connection with the Scientific American, Messrs. MUNN & CO. are Solicitors of American and Foreign Patents, and have the largest establishment in the world. More than fifty-thousand applications have been made for patents through their agency.

Patents are obtained on the best terms. Models of New Inventions and Sketches examined, and advice free. A special notice is made in the Scientific American of all Inventions Patented through this Agency, with the name and residence of the Patentee. Patents are often sold in part or in whole, to persons attracted to the Invention by such notice. A Pamphlet, containing full directions for obtaining Patents sent free. The Scientific American Reference Book, a volume bound in cloth and gilt, containing the Patent Laws, Census of the U. S., and 145 Engravings of mechanical movements. Price 25 Cents.

"A Complete Pictorial History of the Times."—"The best, cheapest, and most successful Family Paper in the Union."

Harper's Weekly.
ILLUSTRATED.

Notices of the Press.

Harper's Weekly should be in every family throughout the land, as a purer, more interesting, lighter-toned, better-illustrated, and useless to praise? One lustre of its long-ago-attained reputation has increased as the years have passed, and its future seems as bright if not brighter than at any time since the golden hue of prosperity settled around its later and best years. —Brooklyn Eagle.

The leading articles in Harper's Weekly on political topics are models of high-toned discussion, and its pictorial illustrations are often corroborative argument of no small force.—Examiner and Chronicle, N. Y.

The Weekly has to a still larger degree distanced all competitors as an illustrated newspaper. Its editorials are among the most able of their kind, and its other reading matter is at once learned, brilliant, and amusing. Its illustrations are abundant and of rare excellence.—Christian Advocate, N. Y.

LITTELL'S LIVING AGE FOR 1877. The continued and increasing success of this periodical (now over thirty-three years old) is conclusive evidence of the fact that it still fills a comprehensive and cheap means of keeping well informed on the best literature of the day. With its weekly issue, and its three and a quarter thousand large pages of reading matter a year, it is enabled to present with freshness and satisfactory completeness able essays and reviews, choice serial and short stories, interesting sketches of travel and discovery, poetry, and valuable biographical, historical, scientific and political information from the entire body of foreign periodical literature.

In its pages are represented such eminent authors as Prof. Max Muller, Prof. Tyndall, Rt. Hon. W. E. Gladstone, Dr. W. B. Carpenter, Dean Stanley, Richard A. Proctor, Frances Power Cobbe, The Duke of Argyll, Jas. A. Froude, Mrs. Muloch, Mrs. Oliphant, Mrs. Alexander, Miss Thackeray, Jean Ingelow, George McDonald, Wm. Black, Matthew Arnold, Henry Kingsley, W. W. Story, Lowell, Bayard Taylor, Tennyson, Browning, and many other leaders in science, fiction, history, biography, philosophy, poetry, theology, politics, criticism and art.

The subscription price ($8 a year) is cheap for the amount of reading furnished; while for those desiring the cream of such home reading, the publishers make it still cheaper, viz.: to semi-postpaid, The Living Age and any other one of the American $4 monthlies, or weeklies, a year for $10 50. With The Living Age and one or other of our leading American monthlies, a selection which will at small cost, be put in "command of the whole situation."

An extra offer, also, is made to all new subscribers for 1877, viz.: to send them gratis the six numbers of 1876, containing, besides other valuable reading, the first instalments of a new and unusually powerful serial story by George MacDonald, now appearing in The Living Age from advance sheets.

The volume begins Jan. 1st, and we recommend he periodical to the attention of our readers. We know of no other way in which so much of the best work of the best minds of the time can be obtained so cheaply and conveniently as through this standard weekly magazine. Published by Littell & Gay, Boston.

Lippincott's Magazine.

AN ILLUSTRATED MONTHLY OF POPULAR LITERATURE, SCIENCE, and ART.

Announcement for 1877.

The number for January begins the nineteenth volume of this Magazine, and while its past record will, it is hoped, be deemed a sufficient guarantee of future excellence, no efforts will be spared to diversify its attractions and to provide an increased supply of Popular Reading in the Best and Most Endurable Sense. The great object and constant aim of the conductors will be to furnish the public with Literary Entertainment of a Refined and Varied Character, as well as to present in a graphic and striking manner the most recent information and correct views on subjects of General Interest; in a word, to render LIPPINCOTT'S MAGAZINE strikingly distinctive in those features that are most attractive in Magazine Literature. The contributions now on hand, or specially engaged, embrace a highly attractive list of Tales, Short Stories, Descriptive Sketches, Narratives, Papers on Science and Art, Poems, Popular Essays, Literary Criticisms, etc., etc., by talented and well known writers. A large proportion of the articles, especially those descriptive of travel, will be profusely and beautifully illustrated. The pictorial embellishments of the Magazine constitute one of its many attractive features.

In addition to the general attractions of LIPPINCOTT'S MAGAZINE the Publishers would invite attention to the following

SPECIAL FEATURES FOR 1877.

1. A new serial story,

"THE MARQUIS OF LOSSIE,"

by George Macdonald, author of "Malcolm," "Alec Forbes," "Robert Falconer," etc.

To those of our readers who are familiar with "Malcolm," this new story from the pen of this distinguished writer will need no recommendation, and his reputation is a guarantee to others of a deeply interesting story of real merit. It began in the November number, which issue, with the December part, will be furnished gratis to all new subscribers for 1877.

2. A profusely illustrated series of sketches of

SWEDISH SCENERY AND LIFE,

by Prof. Willard Fiske, of Cornell University, who is thoroughly familiar with Sweden and its people from personal observation.

3. A series of popular papers on

ART AND ART MATTERS,

by Edward Strahan (Earl Shinn), author of "The New Hyperion," etc.

4. Illustrated sketches of Travel, entitled

PICTURES FROM SPAIN,

by Edward King, author of "The Great South," etc.

5. Mrs. Lucy H. Hooper's interesting and Piquant

PARIS AND LETTERS FROM PARIS,

will be continued through the year.

6.

THE BEAUTIES OF THE RHINE,

will be described in a richly illustrated series of papers.

7. During the year will appear a number of handsome illustrated short articles, of the Best Kind, on Travel and Adventure in the United States, England, South America, Japan, Mongolia, and other countries.

AMONG THE BEST PEOPLE.

I.—IT PUBLISHES ALL THE NEWS. The servant of no man, the slave of no party, it can afford to and does tell the truth about all.

II.—IT IS IMPARTIAL AND INDEPENDENT. Believing in intelligent suffrage, it aims to furnish voters the fullest and fairest information, to qualify them for the wisest discharge of their responsibility.

III.—IT IS, AS IT ALWAYS WAS, ESSENTIALLY REPUBLICAN. It may quarrel in the future, as it has done in the past, with errors of Republican leaders or corruptions in the Republican party; but it can never cease to be true to republican principles, and especially to those golden doctrines of civil service reform, hard money, the sanctity of the National faith, and equal justice to all classes at the South, which formed the corner-stones of Gov. Hayes' admirable letter of acceptance.

IV.—ITS MORAL TONE IS PURE AND ELEVATED. The family circle is never profaned by anything which appears in the columns of THE TRIBUNE.

V.—THE CHOICEST STANDARD AND CURRENT LITERATURE of the day is presented in its columns, including Correspondence, Poems, Stories, and reviews from the most talented and popular writers

VI.—IT IS THE BEST AND CHEAPEST FARMER'S PAPER PUBLISHED. "THE WEEKLY TRIBUNE has done more to make good farmers than any other influence which ever existed."

VII.—THE MARKET REPORTS of THE TRIBUNE are indispensable to every buyer and seller in the country. Quotations are given daily and weekly, of almost every article bought and sold in the markets of the world, and with unvarying and almost infallible accuracy. In Cattle, Butter and Cheese, and other Markets are the recognized standard.

VIII.—MORE COPIES OF THE TRIBUNE are paid for and read by the American people than of any other newspaper of equal price in the country—a fact which is the best demonstration of the value of the paper.

IX.—THE READERS OF THE TRIBUNE represent largely the best enterprising and progressive minds of the country. Persons who are interested in pure politics, the advance of science, and the progress of opinion, will find their demands met by THE TRIBUNE.

X.—PUBLIC APPROVAL AND PROSPERITY have rewarded the independent and self-respectful course of THE TRIBUNE. It has been stronger every of earnest workers among its friends than ever before, and constantly receives from old and new readers words of encouragement.

Sophs vs. Freshes.

Washington's Birthday, at Wesleyan College, Middletown, Conn., from time immemorial has been the occasion of the collegiate year to the two lower classes for deciding the vexed point, which of them is superior in point of shrewdness and muscle? To celebrate the day the Freshmen endeavored to fire a national salute at midnight of the evening previous and early morning of the holiday. Sophomores' self-constituted duty is to spike the cannon, if possible, or in some other way prevent the Freshmen showing their patriotism in this military fashion. Sometimes, to prevent serious trouble, the Faculty have interfered; but this year nothing has been said by them, and consequently the Freshmen decided to achieve the honorable feat of firing their big gun. For some days before the 22d, this year, both Sophs and Freshes had been busy—the Freshes to get their ammunition and cannon secured from the others' power, and the Sophs to spike the gun and destroy the powder. Wednesday night both classes were on duty all night long, and the strictest privacy on both sides prevailed.

The country round about Middletown was continually watched by Sophomores in teams; two cannon, engaged by the lower class, were bribed from the owners by the offer of large sums of money; a supply of powder, purchased by the Freshes, was in some mysterious way obtained by the other side; and the Sophs, at 11 P. M. Tuesday, felt reasonably sure that the Freshes had been outwitted. But this was not the case, for soon after midnight the booming of cannon awoke the echoes of the still night air, coming from two directions at the same time. The Freshes had proved themselves masters of the situation. Having been beaten at home, they had sent to Meriden and Haddam; had there obtained cannon and ammunition; had planted their guns on hills to the north and south of the city, and celebrated their own victory together with their patriotic observance of the day.

The Freshmen claim that the Sophs have spent $150 in their endeavor to prevent their action. A ludicrous incident of the row was when the Sophomores, having fraudulently gained one of the guns from a farmer having it in charge, were compelled at the muzzle of an empty double-barrelled shot-gun to return the stolen property.

A Pious Diplomat.

Some few days ago, says the Wheeling, West Virginia, Leader, a minister from one of the neighboring towns came to Wheeling on a short visit. He was out calling pretty late one night and upon returning home he was suddenly met in a lonely part of the city by a highwayman, who thrust a pistol at the clergyman and demanded his "money or his life."

The minister was startled, but his presence of mind did not forsake him, and he thus addressed the would-be thief in the most solemn and affecting tone:

"My good man, you shall have every cent I possess. I give it to you willingly, but I hope you will listen to me for a few moments."

The preacher then fell to work and went over a whole sermon, and in the most melting terms beseeched him to forsake his present mode of making a living. The stars twinkled above in undimmed glory, and the sad winds whirled around the adjacent corner. It was an impressive occasion, and the silent influences of night in conjunction with the eloquent and sweetly modulated tones of the preacher, caused the robber to soften and grow penitent. The preacher saw this, and watching an opportune moment, exclaimed, "My friend, you have done me wrong, though you shall have my money. But get down on your knees and ask forgiveness for your sins."

The penitent thief got down on his knees and when he had completely unhinged, the preacher kicked him in the stomach, and then ran up street like a narrow guage engine.

—Dr. Lushington being told a story said, "Since you were an eye witness I am bound to believe it; but I would not believe it if I had seen it myself."

—They have a "citizens' movement" in Pittsburg, Penn., and it was all going on very smoothly till one man got up in the meeting and asked: "Ain't I nominated for mayor?" "No," said the meeting. "Nor for treasurer?" "No." "Nor for controller?" "No." "Then damne if I don't make it warm for this movement, that's all."

—The gardener of the University of Berlin has found that hyacinths may be propagated by their leaves, thus revealing a new way to raise a large number of specimens of rare varieties. The leaves should be cut off as close to the bulb as possible, put in a saucer and covered with a thin layer of sandy leaf-mould. The saucer having been placed in a green-house close to the inner surface of the glass, in eight or nine weeks the leaves will develop bulbs.

—The undergraduates of Harvard held a meeting on Monday evening to take steps toward forming a rifle corps, composed of students from any class of the college or department of the University. The object of the organization is to afford to all students an opportunity of learning the use of arms and military tactics during their collegiate course. There will be bayonet and skirmish drills, guard duty, broadsword exercise, and blank cartridge and target practice in the spring.

Counting the Votes.

After the close of the arguments, Saturday, the House voted, 151 to 87, not to count the vote of Watts for Hayes; the Senate voted, 40 to 24, to count the three votes of Oregon for Hayes. The Senate was notified of the action of the House, and that the House was ready to receive the Senate to proceed with the count.

In convention, the vote of Oregon was counted, three for Hayes. The certificate of Pennsylvania was then opened, and announced as giving twenty-eight votes for Hayes; objection was made to one vote, on the ground that the electoral college had no power to fill a vacancy, and the houses separated.

In the House; Vance of Ohio moved a recess until ten o'clock Monday, which was carried, 133 to 121.

In the Senate, after discussion, it was agreed without a division that the disputed vote should be counted for Hayes, proving that the objection to it was simply a filibustering move.

Monday, in convention, the vote of Pennsylvania was counted for Hayes. The certificats of Rhode Island was opened and read. Objection was made to the vote of one of the electors, and the houses separated at 3:30 P. M.

How They Inspected the Count.

A good deal of fun has been poked at Ex-Gov. Palmer and Judge Trumbull, of the democratic "inspectors" who went to New Orleans to look after the count, and Judge Kelley, the republican Congressman from Pennsylvania who was there on the same errand, since the pure-hearted Littlefield testified that the three grave and reverend seigneurs went with him to a quadroon ball in New Orleans. It seems now that Trumbull went there as an artist, to study a peculiar phase of Southern society, and Palmer went to keep him company; while Kelley, being a republican, went to have a good time, and actually cut a double-shuffle on the floor, to the great admiration of the democratic magnates and the lemon-colored sirens. And now it is said that both Judge Trumbull and Governor Palmer have become quite bald since they visited that New Orleans dance house. The news has reached home.

Vessels Wrecked.

The storm of Saturday night and Sunday was very severe in New Jersey and southern New York; and several buildings and many trees were blown down, windows blown in and other damage done.

The schooner Josiah Hedden, Capt. Macker, of Stepney, Me., from Bonaires for Philadelphia via New London, with a crew of seven seamen, experienced the height of the gale and to make Plum Gut Island ran into the inlet, where she soon struck a rock or shoal. A high sea was running, which broke continually over her, forward and amidships, as she lay with her head to the sea with poop deck completely dry. A signal of distress was heard by the crew of schooner Walter Freeman of Bridgefield, Conn., Capt. Harry Somers, bound for Port Jefferson with a cargo of oil and a crew of nine, with the mate. The Freeman was also overtaken by the storm and the crew were strenuously working to save their own vessel. Nearing the spot where the ill-fated vessel had struck it was seen that the Hedden was sinking, and the crew hanging to the bulwarks. By means of a small line fastened to a large oil can, which was thrown overboard from the Freeman and drifted to the Hedden, communication was obtained with that vessel and a hauling line was thrown out, to which a hawser was attached, one end to the mast-head of the Hedden and the other to the anchor of the Freeman. A boatswain chair was then roughly constructed and an attempt at rescue was made, but owing to the violence of the storm and tossing of the fast sinking vessel the mate and three of the crew were washed overboard and carried out by the sea. All attempts to save the Hedden were futile, and she sank with the cargo. The captain and the two seamen rescued with him were unconscious, and powerful stimulants were resorted to in resuscitating them. The Freeman, in her turn, became also disabled and was taken by the force of the storm to the extreme end of the island, where she became a total wreck. She had hardly struck the shore, however, when the disaster was observed by the crew of Life Saving Station No. 11, who, manning boats, sped to the assistance of the victims of the wreck. Before they arrived three of the crew of the Freeman were washed overboard, and though strenuous efforts were made to rescue them, they were drowned and their bodies were washed out to sea. The remainder of the crew, including the captain and two rescued seamen of the Hedden, were safely conveyed to the shore. Both vessels and cargoes are complete wrecks. The schooner Benjamin Willes, from Babylon for Philadelphia, capsized in Jones Inlet and three of the crew, including the captain, were drowned. Great damage is done at all the ports of Long Island.

News and Notes.

A large public meeting was held in Wakefield, Mass., Saturday evening, to consider the Boston & Maine Railroad strike. The strikers were upheld, and a vote of want of confidence in the present management of the railroad was passed.

At a recent meeting of the Directors of the South Boston Railroad, Miss Etta E. Pickernell and Mr. N. J. Wales were appointed receiving clerks at a salary of $900 each.

The captain and seven men, of Danish barque Peti Dubrevacki, have been taken by a gunboat from the desolate island of St. Kitts, 150 miles westward of the Hebrides, where the barque was wrecked some time ago. Knowledge of the crew's perilous condition was received at the Shetland islands through the drifting ashore there of a bottle containing a note.

The barn belonging to Jacob Whitehouse at Blackberry Hill, Berwick, Me., together with hay and grain, was burned Thursday night; loss about $300, no insurance. The fire was probably the work of a tramp.

Fox's Theatre, in Philadelphia, was burned Sunday morning, and also the Mercantile Library Building and Rogers' wagon factory. Five persons were badly hurt, two of them it is feared fatally, by the falling of a building.

Tuesday, Feb. 27th; the 70th birthday of the poet Longfellow.

Secretary Morrill is slowly but surely recovering from his recent dangerous illness.

War between Russia and Turkey is "inevitable" some more.

Hiram Young of Barnston, Province of Quebec, having trouble with his wife, left her, taking his boy, four years old, with him to the Caledonia Springs Hotel at Newark, Vt., kept by his wife's uncle. On Saturday Mrs. Young, with her little girl two years old, and her mother, went to Newark to see Mr. Young. On arriving everything appeared pleasant, and the two little children went into the shed to play. In a short time Mrs. Young went out, and seizing an axe split both children's heads open and mangled them in a fearful manner. They lived about twenty minutes. The mother is under arrest and is supposed to be insane.

Washington's birthday at Trenton, N. J., was celebrated by the dedication as a monument of the "Swamp Angel," the great gun which acted such a conspicuous part during the siege of Charleston.

A city of Mexico report, dated Feb. 16, announces the return of Gen. Diaz, who had been sworn in pending the counting of the vote in the Presidential elections, in which, so far as is known, the Diaz electors have an immense majority. Diaz was welcomed at Gaudalajara by a procession of 70,000 men and on his return to the Capital he was met with loud rejoicings of the troops and people. Don Jose Mata, formerly Minister to Washington, has been appointed Secretary of the Treasury.

New Hampshire Items.

The stockholders of the Second National Bank of Nashua held a meeting Saturday afternoon and voted to instruct the Board of Directors to increase the capital stock of the bank by a sum not exceeding $50,000, nor less than $25,000.

A detective who has been working up the numerous cases of burglary in the vicinity of Sutton, has discovered at the house of James Barnes, a noted character in that place, about $300 worth of shoes. After a long tramp in the woods, by Barnes' direction, a Paisley shawl and two silk dresses, valued at $150, were found. Edward Lavolette and Joseph Rivers, two ben thieves, now serving out sentence, will be brought up on a habeas corpus and arraigned for larceny of the goods, Barnes having stated that these parties deposited their ill-gotten gains in the places where they were found.

Asa Wentworth, once tried for the Parker murder in Manchester in 1846, and which remains a mystery to this day, died at Saco, Maine, Feb. 18th, at the age of 63 years. He had resided in Saco since 1848.

The Dispatch says that some twenty or more delinquents have been fined $2.00 each in the Manchester police court for neglecting to comply with the order to "muzzle the dogs."

The Universalist Society of Nashua, Rev. James Gorton, pastor, have been holding a series of religious meetings during the past week, which have been addressed by prominent ministers of the Church from abroad.

A public meeting of citizens of Nashua, irrespective of party, was held Saturday night, to consider the proposed constitutional amendments. A series of resolutions favoring their adoption was passed with but a few dissenting votes.

Fifty persons were baptized at the Methodist Episcopal Church at Plymouth, Sunday morning, being the result of the recent revival.

Mrs. Hannah Barrett, the wife of a Revolutionary soldier, died in Franconia on Feb. 20th, aged 95. Her husband died some thirty-five years ago.

The first republican rally of the State campaign in Manchester was held in Smyth's Opera House Saturday night, and was largely attended. E. P. Richardson, Chairman of the Republican Club, called the meeting to order. It was addressed by General Stevens of Nashua in an eloquent and enthusiastic manner. The Hayes and Wheeler Guards, Captain Pushee, with the Manchester Cornet Band and Stokes & Batchelder's Drum Corps, were present.

Rev. J. B. Breed of the First Baptist Church, and Rev. J. D. Tilton of the Baker River Baptist Church, in Rumney, have tendered their resignations on the condition that the two churches unite as one church.

Curtis C. Bowman of Littleton dropped dead from heart disease Saturday. He was 58 years old and was one of the oldest residents of Littleton.

"Blood Will Tell."

How rarely we meet a person of whom we can say, he or she is the "picture of health!" We daily meet those whose faces betray the presence of dyspepsia, debility, some liver affection, or impoverished blood. The blood is the life. When out of order many symptoms are manifest that are attributed to other causes, and yet when this is corrected all disappear. An unsurpassed agent for purifying and enriching the blood is found in Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It imparts the "bloom of youth" that art only imitates. Under its use, the "sallow tinge" of the skin, as well as pimples, blotches, and eruptions, disappear.

Aching Heads and Uneasy Nerves

Are often soothed by Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, because that searching corrective completely removes the causes of brain and nerve excitement, which are to be found in derangement of the stomach, and of its associate organs, the liver and bowels. It is truth which cannot be too earnestly insisted upon, that the effect of mere sedatives and narcotics, like bromide of potassium, valerian, chloral hydrate and opium, is less appreciable the longer they are used, and that they can never permanently relieve nervous excitability, because they cannot remedy the weakness and organic derangement which lies at its roots. Hostetter's Bitters, however, can and does cure nervous maladies, for the reason already stated. Sick headache, restlessness at night, vertigo, mental heaviness, and depression of spirits, as well as the dyspeptic condition of the stomach, and torpidity of the liver and bowels, which give rise to them, are entirely obviated by this benign alterative tonic.

"The Very Thing Needed,"

has been the utterance of both hemispheres for the past thirty years, to secure a good and wholesome appetite at the Breakfast, Dinner or Lunch table, is a bottle of the GENUINE Lea & Perrins' Worcester, shire Sauce for Meats, Game, Fish, &c., &c. It imparts a flavor and zest highly prized by all who have the good fortune to enjoy it. The great popularity of the above Sauce has induced many counterfeits. Purchasers will do well to obtain the genuine which is easily determined by style of Bottle, Label, etc.

The Teeth of the Future.

If the consumption of Sozodont continues to increase in the present ratio, the teeth of the future will be a great improvement on those of the present day. Its universal use would prevent all dental defections, and render one of the most essential portions of our material organization as ornamental as it is useful.

SPALDING'S GLUE repairs everything but personal injuries.

The seed of consumption can be destroyed by the use of Adamson's Botanic Balsam, the great remedy for coughs and colds. Price only 25 cents.

The Grand Central Hotel, New York, endorsed by eminent and distinguished visitors as the best, has complied with the popular demand, and reduced from $4.00 to $2.50 and $3.00 per day.

The Colonnade Hotel, Philadelphia, Pa., exhibits the secret of its great popularity and success by wisely maintaining its old standard of excellence since its reduction of rates.

Important to persons visiting New York or the Centennial. The Grand Union Hotel, New York, opposite the Grand Central Depot, has over 350 elegantly furnished rooms. Elevator, steam and all improvements. European plan. Carriage hire is saved, as baggage is taken to and from the depot free. Guests can live better for less money at the Grand Union than at any other first-class hotel. Stages and cars pass the Hotel constantly to all parts of the city, and to the Philadelphia depot.

The Philharmonic Society meets each Tuesday evening at Mercantile Hall, and all singers who can read church psalmody are invited to join.

The Ladies of the Temperance Reform Club will open a Fair at Franklin Hall this (Tuesday) evening, and an attractive entertainment is promised. Donations intended for the Fair should be sent to the Hall this (Tuesday) forenoon. See advertisement in another column.

The Republican Committee of Ward One has organized for the present year as follows: Chairman, John H. Locke; Secretary, George W. Green; Treasurer, George W. Pendexter; Executive Committee, Jas. A. Waterhouse, Leonidas F. Rand, Charles A. Shannon.

A large and brilliant company gathered at the residence of Marcellus Eldredge, Esq., Monday evening, to celebrate the tenth anniversary of the wedding of Mr. and Mrs. Eldredge. The lady was kept in ignorance of the affair until the last moment, having been inveigled out of the way at the proper time by Mrs. Frank L. Hilton, of the Rockingham, and returned just in time to receive the unexpected but welcome guests. The evening was spent in the heartiest enjoyment by all present, a sumptuous banquet, music, dancing, etc., filling the time up to a late hour.

York Council, Sovereigns of Industry, of Kittery, a few weeks since voted to surrender their charter and disband; and the store conducted by the order was sold. Some of the members, however, wished to preserve the charter, and having secured a sufficient number of members to hold it the Council was last week reorganized, with Mr. John R. Dinsmore as President and Mr. Edwin C. Nealley as Secretary.

An examination of the tug Elsie, of Boston, now lying beached on Three Tree Island, in this harbor, shows that her keel is gone. She will be taken on the marine railway at Kittery for repairs.

Carpenter William T. Laighton is detached from the U. S. S. Wabash, and placed on waiting orders.

Charles W. Gardner, Esq., was the speaker before the Reform Club on Sunday evening. At the close of the meeting nineteen names were added to the list in the pledge-book.

The formal opening of the new room in Exchange Building for the Young People's Social Union connected with the Methodist church, takes place on Wednesday evening, Stephen W. Clarke Esq., principal of the high school, delivering the initial address.

The Kearsarge Flute and Drum Band had a large audience at their entertainment at Newmarket, Saturday evening, notwithstanding the unfavorable weather.

Mr. Henry R. Stoddard was kicked in the face by a horse on Monday, and we are informed was considerably injured. The horse was unshod, fortunately, for had his hoofs been ironed Mr. Stoddard could hardly have escaped with his life.

The spring school of haddock has struck in on this coast. On Sunday 500,000 lbs. were landed in Boston.

In the Supreme Court at Exeter, Saturday, the jury in the horse case of Evans vs. Titcomb, both of East Kingston, which was on trial three days, were unable to agree, after being out all night. They stood eleven for Evans to one for Titcomb. Amount in dispute, $75; cost of the case to the county, about $300; cost to each litigant, not stated.

Political.

Judge Davis expresses openly his astonishment at the democratic attacks upon Judge Bradley. A more upright man, he says, never sat on the bench.

The burst of admiration with which the democratic press greets the independent action of Messrs. Seelye and Pierce shows how thoroughly they appreciate a man who rises above party—provided the man who rises does not belong to their party.

The democratic members of Congress said to the republicans, "You drew the cartridges from our shotguns in the South, and you intimidated our rifle clubs by United States bayonets. By this partisan interference with a free and unanimous expression of democratic opinion you elected your man. Therefore give us one more chance or we will set up a President of our own." This modest request was acceded to, and the Tribunal was created. And now it is undoubtedly the proper thing for the democracy to say to the Tribunal, "Hand over the keys to the White House or we'll pry the doors open with a jimmy." Tribune.

"Says the Boston Post, "There is a large class of persons in New York that think Joe Coburn is really a martyr because the officers of justice interfered in his notorious surroundings. He hardly possesses one important quality of a martyr—meekness—for he tried the best he knew to make a wholesale assassin of himself, and only desisted when his resources were exhausted. Coburn belongs to what the Journal of Commerce calls 'the sacred caste of ruffians,' and before this murderous attack he was walking about with two indictments for violent assault hanging over his head." This Mr. Coburn was sent to the New York penitentiary on a three years' sentence, some time ago, for stabbing a police officer; but his "political services" were valuable to the democrats, and he was released after a few months' confinement.

The democrats lost their greatest chance for fillibustering on the State of Maine. It is said to be a fact that one of the electors was a Postmaster when elected, never resigned, was Postmaster when he exercised the office as an elector, and still holds the Postmastership. Had this point been raised it is very possible that the democrats might have secured the one vote they want to throw the election into the House.

The Chicago Tribune denounces Justices Clifford and Field for steadily casting partisan votes, and applauds Justices Miller, Strong and Bradley for looking above party, and "upholding State rights with great moral firmness."

A prominent republican and democrat of Rowley made a wager of a ten-pound goose on the result of the election last November. The day the Commission began to act it was agreed that two pounds per day should be added to the weight of the bird until the result was declared. Anybody having a goose weighing about 100 pounds can find a customer in Rowley.

The Graphic doubts if Mr. Tilden will be the available candidate for the democrats in 1880. There are some methods of reform to be explained—the Oregon despatches, the Holland disclosures relative to Cincinnati, the miscellaneous performances of nephew Felton and many other transactions now apparently irreconcilable to the general idea of political honesty.

—The Rochester Democrat says: "The sale of Bibles in Chicago is said to be three times as great as it was a year ago. Mr. Moody drew attention to the work and they think it is a new book."

City Ordinances.

CHAPTER 60.

THE CITY OF PORTSMOUTH.

In the year of Our Lord one thousand eight hundred and seventy-six.

An Ordinance relating to the Portsmouth and Dover Railroad.

Whereas the sum of one hundred thousand dollars is required to pay the debt of the Portsmouth & Dover Railroad and to complete the road, and the Legislature has authorized the issue of the new stock at par to that amount, and empowered the present stockholders to subscribe for and take the same;

Be it ordained by the city councils of Portsmouth;

SECTION 1. That His Honor the Mayor be authorized and instructed to subscribe for four hundred and forty shares in said new stock at one hundred dollars each in the name and behalf of the city of Portsmouth, and that His Honor the Mayor issue to the City Treasurer his warrants to pay for the same.

SECTION 2. For the purpose [of] obtaining money to pay for said stock, His Honor the Mayor is authorized and directed to issue bonds of the city to an amount not exceeding forty-four thousand dollars, payable in twenty years from date, with coupons attached for interest at six per cent per annum, payable semi annually, and to dispose of the same at not less than the par value thereof; said bonds shall be signed by the Mayor and countersigned by the Treasurer and the dates and amounts thereof recorded by the City Clerk, and the coupons shall be verified in such manner as the Mayor shall direct.

SECTION 3. This ordinance shall not be in force until the city of Dover shall have determined by proper ordinance to subscribe for its proportion of said new stock; nor until a like proportion shall be subscribed by private individuals to make up the full sum of one hundred thousand dollars.

Passed Dec. 21st, 1876.

HONOR?

A short time before the recent Presidential election, Mr. John W. Young and myself made a bet on the result of said election, Mr. Young betting $100 against $100 that Tilden would be chosen. The money was deposited in the hands of Jeremiah Sanborn, tobacco and cigar dealer on Daniel street. A few days ago Mr. Young, foreseeing the result of the Electoral Commission, came to me and said it was an unfair thing, and wanted to withdraw his money, and declare the bet off. I refused, thinking that he could not get Sanborn to give up the stakes or his (Young's) portion of them he went and got a party to serve a trustee process on Sanborn, which he knew would hold in law over and above the bargain made by the bet, because the betting has not the sanction of law. I wish the public to know of the contemptible trick that they may be on their guard against a man so lost to all sense of honor.

COUGH & LUNG SYRUP.

A Safe and Sure Remedy.

The Cough and Lung Syrup

Is the remedy that during the past fifteen years has won for DR. FLAGG an extended reputation as a SPECIALIST for THROAT and LUNG Diseases. After so many years trial it can be truthfully said that it has NEVER FAILED, even in the WORST CASES. It is purely Vegetable, and its effect upon the system is at once Soothing and Tonic.

It Will Cure a Common Cold

In a few hours, not by drying it up, but by removing it from the system. TRY IT.

It will CURE a Chronic Cough, by soothing the irritated parts, and strengthening the system.

IT WILL CURE CONSUMPTION,

Even after all other remedies have failed. In the earlier stages of this disease it will effect a speedy and certain cure; and in many cases of advanced Consumption its effect has seemed almost miraculous, restoring to full strength and perfect health those whom physicians had given up as incurable. TRY IT.

IT WILL CURE CATARRH

More effectual than any other remedy, by simply removing the cause. TRY IT.

It will Cure Asthma, affording immediate relief and a perfect cure. TRY IT.

It Will Cure Ulcerated Sore Throat.

TRY IT.

IT WILL CURE Loss of Voice, Night Sweats, Hectic Fever, AND ALL Symptoms of Consumption. TRY IT.

For every affection of the Throat and Lungs it only needs a trial to convince the most skeptical of its wonderful curative properties.

Remember that it

CURES COLDS,
CURES COUGHS,
CURES CATARRH
CURES CONSUMPTION,

DR. WM. M. LADD, 3 ending Druggist of Claremont, writes as follows:

For many years I have known Dr. A. J. Flagg as a success ful practising physician, and can assure the public that his representations relative to the Cough and Lung Syrup can be strictly relied upon. It has been used in his extensive practice with marvellous success, and I know it to be as I that he claims for it.

No. 9 Beaver Street, - - - Albany, N. Y

SURE CURES AND LOW PRICES.

Dr. YOUNG,

SUCCESSOR TO

Dr. TELLER,

DECEASED.

The above named private Hospital was established in Albany in 1830 by Dr. Lispenard and for a number of years its affairs were presided over by that gentleman, but for the past 20 years, Dr. Teller, who is now deceased, transacted the business of the Institution.

Owing to the great demand for more spacious apartments on account of the large increase of business, the Hospital has been removed to No. 9 Beaver Street, two doors above its old location, where patients will find magnificently furnished rooms for their reception, and are so arranged that patients do not come in contact with one another, seeing only the doctor, thereby avoiding the unpleasantness of meeting others, which always occurred at the old office.

LADIES will find rooms provided for their especial accommodation and entirely private.

YOUNG MEN, addicted to secret habits, who have impaired their health and destroyed the vigor of their minds, thus depriving themselves of the pleasures of married life and also those afflicted with private diseases of any nature, are advised that in consulting Dr. Young they will find a physician fully qualified to cure and restore them to full health and manly vigor.

Dr. Teller's great work for the married, or those contemplating marriage—300 pages—full of useful info, price 25 cents. Sent to all parts, under seal, by mail post paid.

TO THE LADIES—DR. YOUNG still retains the only agency in America for the sale of Dr. Vichol's Italian Female Monthly Pills. Sent by mail on receipt of $1.00, price per box.

DR. YOUNG is the only agent for Dr. La Mott's celebrated Galvanic Belts.

Invalids out of the city can be cured by consulting the Doctor by letter, and enclosing the consultance. Medicines sent by mail or express, securely packed from observation. All letters must be addressed to

Centaur Liniments.

The lame can be healed and the wounded made whole. We now know just what the Centaur Liniment will do. They will not mend broken bones or cure Cancer, but they will extract soreness, allay pain, cure Rheumatism and a larger range of flesh, bone and muscle ailments than any article ever before discovered.

Scientific skill cannot go beyond the effects of these remarkable preparations. Chronic Rheumatism of many years' standing, Neuralgia, Weak-Back, Fever Sores, Weeping-Sinews, Sciatica, Caked Breasts, Distorted Joints and Sprained Limbs of the worst kind are cured by the White Centaur Liniment.

It will destroy the pain and heal without a scar, all ordinary Burns and Scalds. It will extract the poison of Bites and Stings, and the frost from Frozen Limbs. It is very efficacious for Ear-ache, Tooth-ache, Itch and Cutaneous Eruptions.

Mr. Josiah Westake, of Marysville, O., writes: "For years my Rheumatism has been so bad that I have been unable to stir from the house. The first three bottles of Centaur Liniment enabled me to walk without my crutches. I am mending rapidly. I think your Liniment simply a marvel.

C. B. Bennett, Druggist, Rock Prairie, Mo., says: "Centaur Liniment so is better and gives the best satisfaction of anything in the market."

What the Centaur Liniment has done for others it will do for you. It is handy, it is reliable, and it is cheap.

The Yellow Centaur Liniment

is worth its weight in gold to owners of horses and mules.

This Liniment has cured more Sprained, Sweenied, Ring-boned and Galled Horses in three years than have all the Farriers in the country in an age. Its effects are simply wonderful.

We have thousands upon thousands of certificates as strong as the following:

"My horse was lame for a year with a bunch wrench. All remedies utterly failed to cure and I considered him worthless until I commenced to use Centaur Liniment, which rapidly cured him. heartily recommend it.

REV. GEO. W. FERRIS,
Manorville, Schoharie Co., N. Y."

DEAR SIRS,—I have used your Centaur Liniment in my family, and find it to be of great value. I can send me two dollar's worth, one for the mules and horses.

RILEY SICKLES.

It makes very little difference what the case whether it be Wrench, Sprain, Foll-Evil, Ringbone, Scratches or Lame ness of any kind, the effects are the same. Liverymen, Stage proprietors, Farmers, &c., should never be without the Yellow Centaur Liniment. It is sold everywhere, and warranted to its effects.

Castoria.

It is a mistake to suppose that Castoria is not adapted to grown persons as well as Children. They only need to increase the quantity. But children have so many complaints for which Castoria is adapted—like Wind Colic, Sour Stomach, Worms, Tetter, Teething and Croup, that it is especially recommended for them.

Its effects are more certain than Castor Oil. It contains no alcohol and is as pleasant to take as honey. It never gripes. By regulating the stomach and bowels the Worthless until I commenced to use Castoria cools the blood, expels worms and prevents feverishness, quiets the nerves and produces health—then of course children can sleep in quiet and mothers can rest.

Castoria is recommended by all physicians and nurses who have tried it, and it is having a rapidly increasing sale. It is prepared with great care after the recipe of Dr. Samuel Pitcher, of Mass., at the Laboratory of J. B. Rose & Co., 46 Dey St., N. Y.

Daily Chronicle.

—The man who is curious to see how the world could get along without him can find out by sticking a cambric-needle into a mill-pond, and then withdrawing it and looking at the hole.

—Hon. John Young Brown of Kentucky has a bright little boy, about ten years old, who is now with him at Washington. He attended a matinee on his own book at the National Theatre, the other day, and at a sudden commotion in the audience he heard that the President had entered a box with his family. Bound to see all he could he went around to the President's box, opened it and entered, announcing himself as John Young Brown, Jr., of Kentucky. The President received him cordially, introduced him to his family, and the youngster saw the rest of the performance from the august sanctuary of the private box.

—Some clerical blunders are at once pardonable and amusing, but others at times are hard to to endure. A parishioner who never went through a summer without complaining bitterly of the heat, much to the annoyance of his friends, at last took sick and died. His pastor was absent at the time and did not hear of the sad event. On his return he met the son of the deceased, and unwittingly inquired, saying, "Well, my friend, how does your father bear the heat now?" Imagine his surprise at being told that the father had been dead two months, and the son's bewilderment when the hope was expressed that the place to which he had gone was not noted for the height of temperature.

ST. NICHOLAS.

"The King of all publications issued for the young on either side of the Atlantic."—Springfield (Mass.) Republican.

"The third volume of this incomparable Magazine is now completed. With its eight hundred royal octavo pages, and its six hundred illustrations, its splendid serials, its shorter stories, poems, and sketches, etc., in its beautiful binding of red and gold, it is the most splendid gift-book for boys and girls ever issued from the press. Price, $4; in full gilt, $5.

"ST. NICHOLAS is full of the choicest things. The publication is, in all its aspects, the best of its kind. We have never yet seen a number that was not surprisingly good."—The Christmas, Hartford, Conn.

ST. NICHOLAS FOR 1877,

Which opens with November, 1876, begins a short and very entertaining Serial from the French, "The Kingdom of the Greedy," a Story adapted to the Thanksgiving season. Another serial, of absorbing interest to boys,

"HIS OWN MASTER,"

By J. T. Trowbridge,

Author of the "Jack Hazard Stories," begins in the Christmas Holiday Number.

Besides serial stories, Christmas stories, lively sketches, poems and pictures for the holidays, and some astonishing illustrations of Oriental sports, with drawings by Chinese artists, THE Christmas Holiday Number OF ST. NICHOLAS, superbly illustrated, contains a very interesting paper,

"THE BOYS OF MY BOYHOOD,"

By William Cullen Bryant;

"The Horse Hotel," a lively article, by Charles A. Barnard, splendidly illustrated; "The Cock in the Sky," by Richard A. Proctor; "A Christmas Play for Home or Sunday-school," by Dr. Egleston; "The Petrelius' Christmas Tree," by Lucretia P. Hale; "Poetry and Carols of Winter," by Lucy Larcom, with pictures.

Do Not Fail to Buy St. Nicholas for the Christmas Holidays. Price 25 cents.

During the year there will be into resting papers for boys, by William Cullen Bryant, John G. Whittier, Thomas Hughes, William Howitt, Dr. Holland, George MacDonald, Sanford B. Hunt, Frank R. Stockton, and others.

There will be stories, sketches, and poems, of special interest to girls, by Harriet Prescott Spofford, Susan Coolidge, Sarah Winter Kellogg, Elizabeth Stuart Phelps, Louisa Alcott, Lucretia P. Hale, Celia Thaxter, Mary Mapes Dodge, and many others. There will be also

"TWELVE SKY PICTURES,"

By Prof. Proctor, the Astronomer, with maps, showing "The Stars of Each Month," which will be liked, to a unique in interest any series on popular science recently given to the public.

A management and Instruction, with Fun and Frolic, and Wise and Wisdom, will be mingled as heretofore, in ST. NICHOLAS will continue to delight the young and give pleasure to the old.

The London Literary World says: "There is no magazine for the young which can be said to equal this choice production of SCRIBNER'S press. All the articles, whether in prose or rhyme, are throbbing with vitality. * * * The literature and artistic illustrations are both superb."

The London Daily News says: "We wish we could point out its equal in our own periodical literature."

GOOD NEWS FOR BOYS AND GIRLS;

To meet the demand for a cheaper ST. NICHOLAS Gift Book, the price of vols. I and II has been reduced to $3 each. The three volumes, in an elegant library case, are sold for $10 (in full gilt, $15), so that all may give their children a complete set. These volumes contain more attractive material than fifty Dollars' worth of the ordinary children's books.

A Subscription price, $4 a year. The Nov. issue completed volume and a subscription for this year, only $12. Subscribe with the nearest newsdealer, or send money by check, or P. O. money order, or in registered letter, to we have "A Winter on the Nile," by Gen. McClellan; "Saunterings About Constantinople," by Charles Dudley Warner; "Out of My Window at Moscow," by Eugene Schuyler; "An American in Turkistan," etc. Three serial stories are announced:

by Dr. Holland, the Editor, whose story of "Seven-oaks" gave the highest satisfaction to the readers of the Monthly.

The scene of this latest novel is laid on the banks of the Hudson. The hero is a young man who has been always "tied to a woman's apron-strings," but who, by the death of his mother, is left alone in the world,—to drift on the current of life,—with a fortune, but without a purpose.

Another serial, "His Inheritance," by Miss Trafton, will begin on the completion of "That Lass o' Lowrie's," by Mrs. Hodgson Burnett. Mrs. Burnett's story, begun in August, has a pathos and dramatic interest which have been a surprise to the public.

There is to be a series of original illustrated papers of "Popular Science," by Mrs. Herrick, each paper complete in itself.

There are to be, from various pens, papers on less practical suggestions as to the room and country life, village improvements, etc., by well-known specialists.

"HOME LIFE AND TRAVEL,"

Mr. Burnard's articles on various industries of great Britain include the history of "Some Experiments in Co-operation," "A Scotch Leaf Factory," etc. In the November number, and "Toad Lane, Hockdale," in December. Other papers are, "The British Workingman's Home," "A Nation of Shopkeepers," "Hopping a Week for the Child," etc.

A richly illustrated series will be given on "American Society Free and Fetter," by various writers, and each on a different theme. The subject of

"HOUSEHOLD AND HOME DECORATION"

will have a prominent place whilst the latest productions of American humorists will appear from month to month. The list of shorter stories, biographical and other sketches, etc., is a long one.

The editorial department will continue to employ the ablest pens both at home and abroad. There will be a series of letters on literary matters, from London, by Mr. Welford.

We need to make the magazine exceedingly paper, higher and better, more social and generous in all its attractions and influences, and a more welcome visitor than ever before in homes of refinement and culture.

FIFTEEN MONTHS FOR $4.00.

DR. QUAIN'S MAGIC CONDITION PILLS!

The Wonderful Remedy for Liver Complaint, Biliousness, Dyspepsia, Constipation, Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Headache, Kidney Complaint, Nervousness, Scrofula, Piles, and all diseases arising from a bad state of the Blood!

No medicine ever offered to the public has given such universal satisfaction as Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. Their praises are on every tongue where their merits are known. They strike at once at the seat of disease and show their healing power almost immediately. Thousands of voluntary testimonials of their merits have been received by the agent, from those who have been cured by them, of which the following are samples:

Dyspepsia Four Years, Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels Three Years, Confined to my Room Two Years, Pain so I Could Not Sleep Without Morphine. One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills Made Me Eat Well, Sleep Well and Free from Pain, after being given up by Physicians.

WEST LEBANON, ME., Feb. 22, 1

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I have been sick for four years with Dyspepsia, and for the past three years Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels. I have suffered all the pain I could endure and live. I have been confined to my room for two years, and could not sleep nights without the use of morphine. I have been given up by physicians as past cure. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, and they have done me more good than all the doctors I have had. I sleep well, I eat well and have no pain. They are all they are recommended to be. Please send me three packages, as two of my neighbors wish to try them. I enclose $1.50.

Your truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Another Letter from Maj. John W. Lord, one month later Wonderful Cures by Dr. Quain's Pills Effected on Him in Thirteen Days. First time Free from Pain for Three Years.

WEST LEBANON, ME., March 22, 1875.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I commenced taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS February 20th, and now you February 22d of their wonderful effect. I have continued to improve ever since. My appetite is good, and I sleep as well as I ever did in my life. I am free from pain for the first time in three years. When I was taken sick four years ago, I weighed one hundred and eighty-six pounds; I now weigh one hundred and thirty, but, as I am gaining in strength, I have faith I shall regain my flesh this summer, by the use of the Pills. I shall continue taking them for some time to come.

Yours truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Dr. Quain's Pills the Remedy for Soldiers' Aches and Pains.

[WEST LEBANON, ME., June 1, 1875.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I am now able to walk out every day, and am gaining in strength very fast, all of which is due to you as agent for the best Pills in the world. I have taken no other medicine, and my improvement has been steady since first taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done everything for me, and I will say to you, advertise them direct to the soldier-, for they will certainly cure the worst case of Piles caused from exposure and hardship on the field. Please send me by return mail another package.

JOHN W. LORD.

Rheumatism for Twenty Years Cured by One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills—"The Best Medicine in the World."

EAST ANDOVER, N. H., Dec. 10, 1875.

MR. LANE—Dear Sir:—As I know the value of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, and what they have done me, I take pleasure in giving them praise; I say the greatest blessing I have had, is, I rather has been troubled with rheumatism for twenty years or more, and has tried everything that could be thought of, but to no good. At times it would be so bad that he could not lift his hand to his head or do any work at all, especially in cold weather. A short time ago Individual him to get some of these Pills. He believed nothing in them, but I gave him the last package I had, and he said I did not need them, and he has not been so free from the Rheumatic Complaint for years. No Rheumatism, no pain. What helped him? It was DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, the best medicine in the world. There is nothing like them. I know it, for I have tried them, and they are all, yes, more than they are recommended to be. Give them a fair trial and you will say so. I write this because I know the goodness of them and wish others to know the same. Some may think I am telling a big story. I am. But remember I am not giving them half the praise they ought to have.

Yours with respect, ED. F. PEVARE.

Wonderful Effect of Four Doses of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills upon Neuralgia of Twelve Years' Duration—Testimony of Rev. J. S. Patton.

DAINGERFIELD, MORRIS CO., TEXAS, Nov. 15, '75.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I have been afflicted for near twelve years with Neuralgia in the face and head. I tried I do not know how many physicians, and could only get partly relieved. I also tried many patent medicines with the same result. I have been confined to my room most all the time for eight or ten years, and have been travelling and visiting medical springs, and I still suffered most intensely. The physicians pronounced my case to be incurable. I tried everything they had and anything to do with. One told me I could never get well; they all advised me to go South and spend the winter, as the climate was the only chance for me, and I was trying to get ready to go to Florida, when through the kindness of Rev. H. M. Mills, my attention was called to the advertisement of Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. I immediately sent to you for a package. I have taken four doses and I am almost free from pain. The impression here seems to be that if your pills will cure me, they will cure anybody. I have no recommendations to send for the pills. Enclosed please find three dollars; send five packages to me and oblige. Address Sherrell Sulphur Springs, Hopkins county, Texas.

[Yours truly, J. S. PATTON.

Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache.

LACONIA, N. H., Jan. 29, 1875.

THOS. W. LANE—Sir:—I have been troubled with Bad Blood, Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done me more good than all the medicine I ever took; I have taken considerable medicine within the last five years. For the nerves I think there is nothing so good as those pills. I can recommend them to all who are similarly afflicted, they have done me so much good. I think they will recommend themselves wherever they go. I shall recommend those Pills to all who need them. Please send me two packages more, one for myself and one for a lady friend of mine. Many thanks to the inventor, agent and advertiser of those Pills.

PULMOCINE.

MAGIC

BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL

is no new discovery. Twenty-three years ago it was used by one of New England's most famous physicians as the best Pulmonary Curative he could prescribe, after dozen years spent in experimenting with it before he was satisfied that the Materia Medica could add nothing in its favor.

Among its many ingredients are Wild Cherry Bark, Squill Root, Liquorice Root, Blood root, &c. It is a Blood Purifier, gently stimulating. It increases expectoration and is diuretic. It is sudorific and alterative. It is a necessary family medicine. It is a Tonic and a powerful aid to the digestive organs. It is a gentle sedative, and relieves nervousness. It is aromatic and agreeable to the taste.

CLEAR YOUR THROAT!

Relieve Your Lungs.

For the terrible diseases engendered by the lung-trying climate of New England!

PULMOCINE CORDIAL

Is a speedy and reliable Preventive and Remedy. Every Family should have a bottle at hand to check the sudden growth of all Pulmonary Diseases. For the Asthma, Coughs, Croups, Laryngitis, or Inflammation of the larynx, Diphtheria, and all kindred Throat Diseases at all times prevalent, it is the ounce of Prevention. Children attacked with Whooping Cough or Croup should be immediately cared for These painful attacks come with scarcely a moment's warning, when a physician may be out of immediate each. A dose of PULMOCINE CORDIAL gives speedy relief, and the little ones are spared hours of pain and agony. As "a stitch in time saves nine," so does the possession of this Family Medicine prevent the spread of disease. Parents seeing their children gasping with pain, friends and relatives beholding each other in peril from suffocation by the choking pain in the throat, paralyzed with fear and not knowing the best course to pursue, are liable to apply the wrong remedial agents. There is no safety in delay, no time to waste in such cases. CONSUMPTION, that fearful scourge of the human race, lies at the door of all this afflicted. BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL arrests it (unless in its advanced stage at which time there is no local cure) relieves the pressing, suffocating feeling at the lungs, and the patient's danger is past.

For Coughs,

Croup,

Diphtheria,

Asthma, etc.,

—USE—

Buchman's Pulmocine Cordial.

The Pulmocine Cordial is not a quack medicine, is not an experiment, is not composed of any ingredients "discovered" by "walking in pastures" in South America or anywhere else, nor by one who discovered a weed and thereby cured himself. Most of the ingredients are such as our best educated physicians daily use for the complaints specified in some form or other. The recipe is that perfected by one of New England's most learned and famous physicians, who used it entirely in his daily practice until his death. It is offered to the profession and to the public, absolutely pure and unadulterated.

ECLECTIC MAGAZINE

OF

FOREIGN LITERATURE.

THIRTY-THIRD YEAR.

THE ECLECTIC reprints from the foreign Quarterlies, Reviews, Magazines, and Journals, their choicest contents, including Essays, Scientific Papers, Biographical Sketches, Reminiscences of Travel and Adventure, Tales, Stories, and Poems. The field of selection is very large, and it is believed that the ECLECTIC presents a greater variety and higher standard of literature than any periodical can hope to do that depends exclusively upon home talent.

A knowledge of the current literature of other countries is indispensable to all who would keep pace with the progress of the human mind; and the ECLECTIC offers the best, and, indeed, the only opportunity for obtaining this knowledge within a reasonable compass, and at a moderate price.

Among the writers represented in recent numbers of the ECLECTIC are: The Rt. Hon. W. E. Gladstone, James Anthony Froude, Matthew Arnold, Charles Kingsley, Robert Buchanan, Geo McDonald, John Ruskin, Alfred Tennyson, Thomas Hughes, William Black, Mrs. Oliphant, Thos. Hardy, William Morris, Miss Thackeray, Mrs. Alexander, Prof. Huxley and Tyndall, Richard Proctor, B. A., Prof. Owen, Dr. W. B. Carpenter, Max Muller, J. Norman Lockyer, Herbert Spencer, and others equally eminent. Besides the regular articles in the body of the magazine, there are four original Editorial Departments: Literary Notices, Foreign Literary Notes, Science and Art, and Varieties.

With regard to the character of the selections, the aim of the ECLECTIC is to be instructive without being dull, and entertaining without being trivial. While each number contains something to interest every member of the family circle, it addresses itself particularly to that great body of intelligent readers who seek profit as well as amusement in solid and healthful literature.

Besides the 128 pages of reading matter, each number of the magazine contains a Fine Steel-Engraving usually a portrait—executed in the most artistic manner.

TERMS.—Single copies, 45 cents; one copy one year $5; two copies, $9; five copies, $20. Trial subscription for three months, $1.

The ECLECTIC and any $4 Magazine to one address, $8.

Postage free to all subscribers. Address,

WHAT PAYS?

IT PAYS every Manufacturer, Merchant, Mechanic, Inventor, Farmer, or Professional Man, to keep informed on all the improvements and discoveries of the age.

It pays the head of every family to introduce into the household a newspaper that is instructive, one that fosters a taste for investigation, and promotes thought and encourages discussion among the members.

The Scientific American

Which has been published weekly for the last thirty-two years, does this, to an extent beyond that of any other publication in the world. It is the only weekly paper published in the United States devoted to Manufactures, Mechanics, Inventions and New Discoveries in the Arts and Sciences.

Every number is profusely illustrated and its contents embrace the latest and most interesting information pertaining to the Industrial, Mechanical, and Scientific Progress of the world; Descriptions, with Beautiful Engravings of New Inventions, New Implements, New Processes, and Improved Articles of all kinds; Useful Notes, Recipes, Suggestions and Advice by Practical Writers, for Workmen and Employers, in all the various arts, forming a complete repository of New Inventions and Discoveries; containing a weekly record, not only of the progress of the industrial Arts in our own country, but also of all New Discoveries and Inventions in every branch of Engineering, Mechanics and Science generally.

THE SCIENTIFIC AMERICAN has been the foremost of all industrial publications for the past thirty-one years. It is the oldest, largest, cheapest, and the best weekly illustrated paper devoted to Engineering, Mechanics, Chemistry, New Inventions, Science and Industrial Progress, published in the world.

The practical Recipes are well worth ten times the subscription price, and for the Arts and Trades will save many times the cost of subscription.

Merchants, Farmers, Mechanics, Engineers, Inventors, Manufacturers, Chemists, Lovers of Science, and People of all Professions, will find the SCIENTIFIC AMERICAN useful to them. It should have a place in every Family, Library, Study, Office and Counting Room; in every Reading Room, College and School. A new volume commences January 1st, 1877.

A year's numbers contain 832 pages and SEVERAL THOUSAND ENGRAVINGS. The annual volumes are preserved for binding and reference. Terms, $3.20 a year by mail, including postage. Discount to Clubs. Special circulars, giving Club rates sent free. Single copies mailed on receipt of 10 cents. Buy by bad of all News Dealers.

PATENTS. In connection with the Scientific American, Messrs. MUNN & Co. are Solicitors of American and Foreign Patents, and have the largest establishment in the world. More than Fifty thousand applications have been made for patents through their agency.

Patents are obtained on the best terms. Models of new Inventions and Sketches examined, and advice free. A special notice is made in the Scientific American of all Inventions Patented through this agency, with the name and residence of the Patentee. Patents are often sold in part or in whole, to persons attracted to the Invention by such notice.

Pamphlet, containing full directions for obtaining Patents sent free. The Scientific American Reference Book, a volume bound in cloth and gilt, containing the Patent Laws, Census of the U. S., and 142 engravings of mechanical movements. Price 25 cents.

Notices of the Press.

The Magazine has attained in its one quarter century and more of existence to that point where it may be said of it, in the words of Dr. Johnson, "It is vain to blame and useless to praise." The lustre of its long-ago-attained reputation has increased as the years have passed, and its future seems as bright if not brighter than at any time since the golden hue of prosperity settled around its later and best years.—Brooklyn Eagle.

Harper's Monthly is marked by the same characteristics which gave it popularity from the first with the better class of readers. It combines reading matter with illustrations in a way to make clear and vivid the facts presented. Pictures merely designed to catch the eye of the ignorant are never inserted.—Chicago Journal.

LITTELL'S LIVING AGE FOR 1877. The continued and increasing success of this periodical (now over thirty-three years old) is doubtless owing to the fact that it affords a comprehensive and economical mode of keeping well informed in the best literature of the day. With its weekly issue, and its three and a quarter thousand large pages of reading matter a year, it is enabled to present with freshness and satisfactory completeness able essays and reviews, choice serial and short stories, interesting sketches of travel and discovery, poetry, and valuable biographical, historical, scientific and political information from the entire body of foreign periodical literature.

In its pages are represented such eminent authors as Prof. Max Müller, Prof. Huxley, Rt. Hon. W. E. Gladstone, Dr. W. B. Carpenter, Prof. Huxley, Richard A. Proctor, Francis Power Cobbe, Duke of Argyll, Jas. A. Froude, Mrs. Mulock, Mrs. Oliphant, Mrs. Alexander, Miss Thackeray, Jean Ingelow, Geo. McDonald, Wm. Black, Mark Rutherford, Chas. Kingsley, W. W. Story, Auerbach, Ruskin, Carlyle, Tennyson, Browning, and many other leaders in science, fiction, history, biography, criticism and theology, politics, criticism and art.

The subscription price ($8 a year) is cheap for the amount of reading furnished; while for those desiring the cream of both home and foreign literature, the publishers make it the aim of the LIVING AGE to send, postpaid, The Living Age and either one of the American $4 monthlies, or weeklies, a year for $10 50. With The Living Age and one or other of our leading American monthlies, a subscriber will at small cost, be put in "command of the whole situation."

An extra offer, also, is made to all new subscribers for 1877, viz.: to send them gratis the six numbers of 1876 containing, besides other valuable reading, the first installment of a new and unusually powerful serial story by George MacDonald, now appearing in The Living Age from advance sheets.

The volume begins Jan. 1st, and we recommend he periodical to the attention of our readers. We know of no other way in which so much of the best work of the best minds of the time can be obtained so cheaply and conveniently as through this standard weekly magazine. Published by Littell & Gay, Boston.

Harper's Bazar. ILLUSTRATED.

Notices of the Press.

For strictly household matters and dress, Harper's Bazar is altogether the best thing published. To take it is a matter of economy. No lady can afford to be without it, for the information it gives will save her very much more money than the subscription price, besides giving the household an interesting literary visitor.—Chicago Journal.

Harper's Bazar is profusely illustrated, and contains stories, poems, sketches, and essays of a most attractive character. * * * In its literary and artistic features, the Bazar is unquestionably the best journal of its kind in the country.—Saturday Evening Gazette, Boston.

Lippincott's Magazine.

AN ILLUSTRATED MONTHLY OF POPULAR LITERATURE, SCIENCE, and ART.

Announcement for 1877.

The number for January begins the nineteenth volume of this Magazine, and while its past record will, it is hoped, be deemed a sufficient guarantee of future excellence, no efforts will be spared to diversify its attractions, and to provide an increased supply of Popular Reading in the Best and Most Emphatic Sense. The great object and constant aim of the conductors will be to furnish the public with Literary Entertainment of a Refined and Varied Character, as well as to present in a graphic and striking manner the most recent information and soundest views on subjects of General Interest; in a word, to render LIPPINCOTT'S MAGAZINE strikingly distinctive in those features that are most attractive in Magazine Literature. The contributions now on hand, or specially engaged, embrace a highly attractive list of Tales, Short Stories, Descriptive Sketches, Narratives, Papers on Science and Art, Poems, Popular Essays, Literary Criticism, etc., etc., by talented and well known writers. A large proportion of the articles, especially those descriptive of travel, will be profusely and beautifully illustrated. The pictorial embellishments of the Magazine constitute one of its many attractive features.

In addition to the general attractions of LIPPINCOTT'S MAGAZINE the Publishers would invite attention to the following

SPECIAL FEATURES FOR 1877.

1. A new serial story,

THE MARQUIS OF LOSSIE,"

by George Macdonald, author of "Malcolm," 'Alec Forbes," "Robert Falconer," etc.

To those of our readers who are familiar with "Malcolm," this new story from the pen of this distinguished writer will need no recommendation, and this remains as a guarantee to others of a deeply interesting and powerful story. It began in the November number, which issue, with the December part, will be furnished gratis to all new subscribers for 1877.

2. A profusely illustrated series of sketches of

SWEDISH SCENERY AND LIFE,

by Prof. Willard Fiske, of Cornell University, who is thoroughly familiar with Sweden and its People from personal observation.

3. A series of popular papers on

ART AND ART MATTERS,

by Edward Strahan (Earl Shinn), author of "The Five Empires," etc.

4. Illustrated Sketches of Travel, entitled

PICTURES FROM SPAIN,

by Edward King, author of "The Great South," etc.

5. Mrs. Lucy H. Hooper's Interesting and Piquant

PAPERS AND LETTERS FROM PARIS,

will be continued through the year.

6.

THE BEAUTIES OF THE RHINE,

will be described in a richly illustrated series of papers.

7. During the year will appear a number of handsomely illustrated short articles, descriptive of Life, Travel and Adventure in the United States, England, South America, Japan, Mongolia, and other countries.

AMONG THE BEST PEOPLE.

I.—IT PUBLISHES ALL THE NEWS. The servant of no man, the slave of no party, it can afford to and does tell the truth about all.

II.—IT IS IMPARTIAL AND INDEPENDENT. Believing in intelligent suffrage, it aims to furnish voters the fullest and fairest information, to qualify them for the wisest discharge of their responsibility.

III.—IT IS, AS IT ALWAYS WAS, ESSENTIALLY REPUBLICAN. It may quarrel in the future, as it has done in the past, with errors of republican leaders or corruptions in the republican party; but it can never cease to be true to republican principles, and especially to those golden doctrines of civil service reform, hard money, the sanctity of the National faith, and equal justice to all classes at the South, which formed the corner-stones of Gov. Hayes' admirable letter of acceptance.

IV.—ITS MORAL TONE IS PURE AND ELEVATED. The family circle is never profaned by anything which appears in the columns of THE TRIBUNE.

V.—THE CHOICEST STANDARD AND CURRENT LITERATURE of the day is presented in its columns, including Correspondence, Poems, Stories, and reviews from the most talented and popular writers.

VI.—IT IS THE BEST AND CHEAPEST FARMER'S PAPER PUBLISHED. "THE WEEKLY TRIBUNE has done more to make good farmers than any other influence which ever existed."

VII.—THE MARKET REPORTS of THE TRIBUNE are indispensable to every buyer and seller in the country. Quotations are given daily and weekly of almost every article bought and sold in the great marts of the world, and with unvarying and almost infallible accuracy. In Cattle, Butter and Cheese, and other Marks are the recognized standards.

VIII.—MORE COPIES of THE TRIBUNE are paid for and read by the American people than of any other newspaper of equal price in the world—a fact which is the best demonstration of the value of the paper.

IX.—THE READERS of THE TRIBUNE represent largely the best enterprising and progressive minds of the country. Persons who are interested in pure politics, the advance of science, and the progress of opinion, will find their demands met by THE TRIBUNE.

X.—PUBLIC APPROVAL AND PROSPERITY have rewarded the independent and self-respectful course of THE TRIBUNE. It has a large and stronger corps of earnest workers among its friends than ever before, and constantly receives from old and new readers words of encouragement.

Those Cartridges.

The Printer's Bulletin, published by the Boston Type Foundry, contains the following:

In the basement of our building is located our metal-room; and in the metal-room is an approved furnace, a kettle, and the necessary contrivance for the perfecting of a good combination of type material. The presiding genius of the department is an old attache of the foundry. Here he receives his instructions to compound, in correct proportions, lead, tin, antimony, etc., and (we trust we peach upon no one's domain when we add) a little copper. Occasionally he is the recipient of large quantities of old type. This is always dumped into the kettle without much ado; and never before, in our experience, has the operation been attended by anything suggestive of danger. That evil may nevertheless lurk in old type, the sequel will plainly show.

Some weeks ago, while the above personage was carefully manipulating his ladle, a sudden eruption (of a different nature from that caused by dampness, with which metal-makers are familiar) took place in his kettle. From the molten fluid issued a sharp report, accompanied by a splashing of metal, that caused him to vacate his position with great celerity. Conceiving that the liquid was developing a property with which he was totally unacquainted, and that it would be a nut for the Technological Institute to crack, he treasured the matter for future consideration. A few days after, however, as another lot of old type was going the way of its predecessor, a second eruption occurred. This time his agility was taxed to its fullest extent, and stood by him for a bound of about fifteen feet. Regaining his presence of mind, he now courageously resolved upon investigation; and, assuming a sidewise position, cautiously reapproached that treacherous molten sea. Judge of his horror when he descried, floating upon its surface, in the shape of a copper capsule, the key to all this mischief. Then it was that he gave audible expression to his indignation by exclaiming, "Cartridges! infernal cartridges!" He was mad; and his madness acting as a spur to do something desperate, he again seized the ladle, and began a vehement stirring. But the end was not yet. Another little joker concealed in the dross was warming up quite rapidly, and ere many seconds had elapsed, bang! it went, sending forth hot lead and sulphurous fumes with a force that even accelerated the rapid exit of our friend from the horrid apartment.

Now, when we consider that he whose duty it is to superintend this metal-making is one who holds his existence as of some consequence in the community,—that he is the head of a happy family, and an odd-fellow in good standing, who carries his wand on great occasions with a dignity becoming his position,—we cannot but sympathize with him in his conclusions that his life is too valuable to be jeopardized by destructive missiles carelessly left in his way. We therefore consent to the publication of the following note, premising that the terrible bombardment through which the writer has passed must be an excuse for the use of what otherwise might be termed strong language.

Sir: In your next issue, please to request the printers of New England not to send any more pistol cartridges in their old type. The type is acceptable, but the cartridges are dangerous. Three times I have had an explosion in my kettle, owing to the carelessness of a type-sticker or a printer's devil. If my existence is again threatened, somebody will be pretty sure to hear from Yours indignantly, JOE.

When he finds out will blet us know?

—The Lewiston Journal says that on Thursday evening Rev. Joseph Cook ventured the first allusion that he has made to his personal history. He informed us that he is a bachelor, but he more than hinted in allusion to a beautiful Greek profile which he once encountered, that there was a soft place under his waistcoat, that the audience was left to draw an inference that there was only one other face in the world by which he could have been so moved. Hence we have faith to believe that the modern Plato will not die in his sins.

—Louisville Courier-Journal: "Fashions that would speak for themselves: for grass-widows, lawn; for elderly women, moire antique; for democratic belles, anything but rep; for women inclined to baldness, mohair; for women with poodles, muslin; for shippers' wives, alpaca; for the Misses Neverready, delaine; for sailors' wives, serge; for dairy-women, calico; for soldiers' wives, bombazine; for debtors' wives, ticking; for women with profane husbands, kersey; for careless servants, crash; for Mrs. Sitting Bull, whoop skirts."

Counting the Votes.

In the House, Monday, after the convention had attended the counting of the vote of Pennsylvania, and the houses had separated to consider the objections to one of the Rhode Island electors, (Mr. Slater,) Poppleton of Ohio popped up with a motion to take a recess to 10 o'clock Tuesday, but was voted down, 178 to 83. Wood of New York moved to reconsider the vote by which the House refused to take a recess, and to lay the motion on the table, which was agreed to, 182 to 67. After the debate, the House without a division agreed that the vote of Mr. Slater should be counted. Proctor Knott then introduced a dilatory motion, but was ruled out by the Speaker. The Senate was then notified that the House was ready to meet in convention to continue the count.

In the Senate, after a few brief remarks, a resolution that the vote of Mr. Slater should be counted was unanimously agreed to.

Both houses having acted on the Rhode Island case, the convention again met and the vote of that State was counted for Hayes and Wheeler. The next certificate opened was that of South Carolina, giving its vote for Hayes, followed by the bogus certificate of the Tilden electors; objection being made to each the convention rose, and the papers in the case were certified to the Commission.

The Commission assembled at 6:30 P. M., and received the papers, and then adjourned to 10 o'clock A. M., Tuesday.

Stray Notes.

NEW YORK, Feb. 26.

Mr. Tilden will never be a Presidential nominee again. His late campaign has made him aliunde.

Should Senator Sherman take the Secretaryship of the Treasury the silver men will rejoice. He is most eminently qualified for the position.

If the democratic seven, who voted in the Electoral Commission against giving HAYES and WHEELER the three votes of Oregon, are not partisans in the extremest sense of the term, why did they not vote with the other eight, knowing that HAYES and WHEELER had an undisputed majority of 1200 in the State?

Advices to republicans here from New Hampshire predict a rousing majority for BEN. PRESCOTT for Governor, and the choice of a unanimous republican delegation to Congress.

Hon. WILLIAM E. CHANDLER is mentioned as a possible Cabinet officer. His most inveterate opponent will not question his capacity and ability to fill the place with credit to himself and the Nation.

Among the probabilities of the coming Summer is a Black Hills excitement rivalling that of California in 1849.

New York yesterday experienced the heaviest gale of the Winter.

It is reported that Senator AARON H. CRAGIN has been offered the Presidency of a new company owning a valuable patent steam motor for the propulsion of horse cars. It has no similarity to the "Keely motor."

Mardi Gras is set for April 4th, and a grand turn-out is expected.

The raid of the office-seekers on Washington is in full blast. President GRANT most willingly lays down the cares of office which President HAYES seems as willing to assume. The moral of it is that "satisfaction seldom satisfies."

The Southern men of to-day who seem to be "peers" and not "vassals" are Chamberlain, Ben. Hill, Kellogg, Madison Wells, Lamar and John Young Brown.

The individual who wins the most renown as an advocate before the Electoral Commission is STANLEY MATTHEWS of Cincinnati. Mr. Evarts' reputation had already been made. Mr. Matthews has leaped into the front rank of advocates.

With or without three republican representatives of New Hampshire, the republicans hope to control the organization of the next House of Representatives, although the democracy will have one majority on the Clerk's roll.

The politicians of the South seem to want home rule, good offices and liberal public expenditures, caring more for these than for the triumph of the democracy which encouraged them to rebel in 1861 and left them to bear the consequences.

Mr. Tilden seems to be at the bottom of the attempts to prevent the declaration of the Electoral vote, while Gov. Hendricks as firmly advocates thus far a rigid adherence to the agreement on which the Electoral Commission was formed.

News and Notes.

J. P. Hassler, late cashier of the Carlisle (Pa.) Deposit Bank, hanged himself on Monday. He was a defaulter since October. On Monday the bank officers instituted criminal proceedings, and Hassler was unable to secure bail. He was found hanging from the same rafter on which the cashier preceding him, William M. Bertram, hanged himself in 1865.

On Thursday night last, in Thomasville, N. C., while William Thomas and a Miss Forney were before the altar to be married, the bride dropped dead before the ceremony was concluded.

Two workman were killed, four fatally injured and a seventh seriously hurt, Monday, by the fall of a scaffolding at the iron furnace at Bethlehem, Pa.

The French steamer Amerique was moved higher on the beach by the recent storm, and the heavy seas tore away her rudder and rudder post. Otherwise she is uninjured. Her crew were landed safely. She lies broadside on now, but her captain has not left her, and has great hopes yet of getting her afloat.

The whaling steamer Spitzbergen, belonging to Dundee, was lost near Bergen. All hands (twenty-two) perished.

Gen. Diaz has been elected President of Mexico, and Ignatio Vallarte Chief Justice. Diaz intends issuing a manifesto calling on Liberals of all shades to support him.

Rev. C. Thorpe, D. D., rector of Bury, Province of Quebec, has eloped with a lady member of his congregation. He left a wife and two children behind. It is said that Thorpe had been administering to his wife a medicine that contained slow poison.

General McArthur, Postmaster of Chicago, is said to be a defaulter to the tune of $38,000. He has gone into voluntary bankruptcy, and his bondsmen are also said to be bankrupt.

Senator Thurman on Monday resigned his position on the Electoral Commission on account of ill health, and Mr. Kernan was unanimously chosen by the Senate to take his place.

Governor Hayes has received for valentines a large number of drawings of knives, pistols and other deadly weapons. Last week the mail brought him a knife about two feet long, one edge hacked like a saw, probably for sawing the bones, the other side for cutting the flesh. This was wrapped in several thicknesses of paper, and inside was a note, saying, "This is the knife with which the editor of the Capital was to assassinate you, as you went from the White House to the Capitol. It was taken from his pants' leg while he was asleep."

The Anglo-American Cable Company gives notice that on the first of March the tariff will be reduced to one shilling sterling per word for transatlantic messages. The failure of the company to secure control of the Direct Cable and thereby re-establish the old monopoly, and the grant by the United States government to the Baltimore line of a charter containing provisos that there shall never be any amalgamation with any other line and that the tariff shall never exceed one shilling per word, probably account for this action of the Anglo-American Company.

A Providence Journal reporter, who was sent to report the proceedings at the annual meeting of a charitable society in that city, says he found he was the only man present, as the society is composed exclusively of ladies. The ladies looked askance at the male intruder, sang "Return ye ransomed sinners home," and finally asked him to go out, which of course he did, after making arrangements with one of the officers of the meeting for a report of the proceedings. As the reporter stepped through the door the audience struck up a hymn commencing "Believing we rejoice to see the curse removed.

The naval necrology for the past year is as follows: 8 rear-admirals, 2 commodores, 3 captains, 4 commanders, 1 lieutenant-commander, 1 lieutenant, 1 midshipman, 3 cadet midshipmen, 2 medical directors, 3 pay directors, 1 assistant paymaster, 1 past assistant engineer, 3 boatswains and 2 captains in the marine corps. During 1876 there were 50 resignations in the navy and 15 dismissals, the latter ranking as follows: 1 lieutenant-commander, 1 ensign, 1 pay inspector, 9 cadet midshipmen, 1 assistant engineer, 1 boatswain and 1 acting boatswain.

Death has removed an aggravating thorn from Brigham Young's side. Amasa M. Lyman, one of the apostles and founder of the Mormon settlement in San Bernardino, in South California, is dead. He differed vastly from Young in religious views, and the Prophet did his utmost to crush him and destroy his influence with the Mormons. It was to the deceased that the country is indebted for the particulars of the Mountain Meadow massacre.

The Montana Legislature has changed the name of the Little Big Horn River to Custer River, in memory of the brave cavalry leader who met his death on its banks.

Political.

The most jubilant men about town last night over the Oregon news were Tammany hall democrats. There was general rejoicing, hand-shaking and "What will ye drink, boys?" And on every hand was heard, "Well, we have got rid of the old fraud at last." Indeed, there was more hearty rejoicing on the part of democrats than among republicans.—N. Y. Com. Adv.

When ex-Gov. Isham G. Harris of Tennessee was elected to the United States Senate, Mr. H. V. Redfield suggested that the report that he had become a citizen of Mexico offered an opportunity for an investigation. And now Mr. Phocion Howard of Springfield, Ill., comes forward and says the rumor is true. He adds, in a letter to the Chicago Tribune: "As one of the discharged officers of the late rebellion, I, too, sought employment in Mexico, only I espoused the cause of Liberalism and was enrolled among the followers of Juarez. I remember to have seen in Senor Romero's office at Washington, 1865, a list of ex-Confederates who had taken an oath to the Empire under Maximillian, and Isham G. Harris's name was close on the list to that of the late Sterling Price's of Missouri."

New Hampshire Items.

Edward Ford, of Orford, was seriously injured between Thetford and Hanover on Monday afternoon, being struck on the back of the head by a railroad bridge while walking on the top of the cars. Mr. Ford is a son-in-law of W. P. Gould, President of the Bradford, Vt., Savings Bank, and was a Representative in the last Legislature.

The second trial of La Page, the murderer of Josie Langmaid, commenced on Monday.

The funeral services of Mrs. Frank Haley, wife of the pastor of the Seabrook and Hampton Falls Congregational Church, took place Monday. After prayer at the parsonage the remains were taken to the church, where selections of Scripture were read by Rev. Mr. Burgess, pastor of the Baptist Church at Hampton Falls, the choir sang a hymn, and Rev. T. V. Haines, of the North Hampton Congregational Church, offered prayer. After the singing by the choir of the hymn "Home at last," Rev. George Spaulding of Dover delivered a just tribute to the worth of the deceased, in an eloquent address. At the close of the services the body was laid in the parsonage lot in the church cemetery.

Public Opinion.

The assurance of the certainty of a thing is always established by public opinion. The truth of this may be seen in the rapidly increasing reputation of Dr. A. J. Flagg's Cough and Lung Syrup, as a sure remedial for all diseases pertaining to the Throat and Lungs. In the town of Claremont, N. H., where is located Dr. Flagg's Manufactory, there has been sold within the last fifteen months, 1400 bottles of this invaluable Syrup. Sold by all Druggists.

The Colonnade Hotel, Philadelphia, Pa., exhibits the secret of its great popularity and success by wisely maintaining its old standard of excellence since its reduction of rates.

Important to persons visiting New York or the Centennial. The Grand Union Hotel, New York, opposite the Grand Central Depot, has over 350 elegantly furnished rooms. Elevator, steam and all improvements. European plan. Carriage hire is saved, as baggage is taken to and from the depot free. Guests can live better for less money at the Grand Union than at any other first-class hotel. Stages and cars pass the Hotel constantly to all parts of the city, and to the Philadelphia depot.

An Old-Time Rampus.

On Monday, in the House, Mr. Hewitt took advantage of Mr. Hoar's absence to attack that gentleman and the Electoral Commission. The democrats crowded about Hewitt's seat, and when he said that although the democrats had been cheated, deceived and defrauded they must abide by the decision of their pet Tribunal, he was met with shouts of "Coward," "That is cowardice," and other words which could not be heard for the confusion which prevailed. Cate, of Wisconsin, stood in front of Hewitt, shaking his fist at him, and shouting that his advice was that of a coward. Great excitement ensued, and for a minute it looked as though there was to be a democratic fight. Hewitt announced that in case a war actually did come he would lead a democratic army, and cries of "Lead us now," "Now is the time," etc., were made. The scene was a striking reminder of the days of '61. When Cate said it would be cowardice for the democrats to submit to the decision of the Tribunal, Mr. Yeates of North Carolina forced his way through the circle, and with flushed face and excited manner exclaimed, addressing himself to Mr. Cate and the democrats who were opposing acquiescence: "Those who denounce us now as cowards, when the pinch came fifteen years ago, turned against us". This sharp reminder that the Southern ex-rebels place no faith in the protestations of the Northern dough-faces, was one cause of the confusion and uproar which followed.

JOTTINGS.

At the Reform Club Fair this evening, a very attractive stage performance will be given. The programme begins with an Old Folks' Concert, after which the Empire Glee Club will produce for the first time in this city "Old Joe Skimmerhorn, or Plantation Life in Old Virginia." The Fogerty Musketeers will also parade and execute some of their astonishing evolutions.

Fishing schooner Winnie Weston, of Portland, ran into the stone beacon in going out of the harbor, Tuesday morning, breaking her bowsprit short off at the bow and causing the vessel to leak. She caught her heel on the shoal before striking the beacon, and the tide swung her against it. She hauled in to Tredick's wharf to repair damages, as soon as she floated.

The Boston Post of Tuesday had an editorial on the New Hampshire election, principally noticeable for the absence of that exuberantly confident style in which the Post has always hitherto referred to the democratic prospects in coming elections. It urges the democrats not to "lie down under" their discouragement, but to make a good fight. It is particularly anxious about Congressman Jones and Capt. Marcy. Of the latter it says: "Daniel Marcy, the old shipping merchant of Portsmouth, is an excellent type of New Hampshire's best men. He is the embodiment of honest purpose, successful enterprise, strong will, and ingrained democracy." No one in this city will dispute the "strong will and ingrained democracy"—democracy of the most ancient and ultra-Bourbon pattern.

Mr. George Batchelder has resigned the position of Superintendent of the Eastern Railroad, to take effect March 1st.

The wonderful fish weighing a ton and having a mouth three feet across and filled with three rows of teeth, which was caught off the Shoals some weeks ago and exhibited in Manchester and other inland places as an unknown sea monster, turns out to be a ground shark, of the kind known to fishermen as the nurse-fish. It is not at all rare, being not unfrequently captured by fishermen, who save the liver and let the worthless carcass go; as much as three or four barrels of liver being sometimes taken from one fish. It is very "logy," and if hooked on a trawl will follow the slender line quietly to the surface, though its great weight and strength make it an ugly customer when it once settles down to business.

Reports from all over the State indicate that the democrats are on a "still-hunt," seeking to trade off democratic votes on the governor question for republican votes for Congressmen. That these efforts will be attended with any marked degree of success we do not believe, for the republicans know as well as the democrats do that Hon. Daniel Marcy stands a little better chance of being struck by lightning on the 13th of March than of being elected Governor on that day, so there is no possible advantage to be gained by them in any such "trade;" and they are also fully alive to the importance of having New Hampshire represented in the next Congress by three republican representatives. The democrats of this Congressional district will not be able to buy in Hon. Frank Jones by selling out Hon. Daniel Marcy. The Concord correspondent of the Boston Journal says: "Marcy and Frank Jones have joined hands in the hope of re-electing the latter to Congress. Marcy gives $10,000 for campaign purposes, but with the understanding that at least one-half of it shall be expended in the 1st District. Jones is arranging to put out large sums of money in the close towns of his district, and although very wealthy himself, he will have additional aid from the democratic lobby at Washington."

THE HEALTH-LIFT.

Some people who read this may not know exactly what the "Health Lift" is; and we are of that number. All we know of it is that it is a gymnastic cure for dyspepsia, indigestion and their innumerable attendant complaints, and that it is spoken of in the highest terms by those who have tested its efficacy. This invention is not intended or adapted solely for men, but even more for women. We believe the class of people who suffer the most for want of proper exercise in our towns and cities are ladies, particularly invalids and those who are in poor health from some chronic complaint, like dyspepsia, disease peculiar to the sex, or convalescent. We know many forms of exercise which men can easily secure, are not open to women; but the Health-Lift, which is well patronized by gentlemen, is claimed to be just the thing for ladies.

The Health Lift Co. have established a branch agency in this city, in Badger's Block on Daniel street, where they have fitted up two rooms for the convenience of ladies and gentlemen, and where the agent will be pleased to wait upon all who may desire to test the value of this new curative power. We hope the ladies of Portsmouth will avail themselves of the privilege of visiting the agency here, which can be done free of charge, and examine into the merits of this system of cumulative exercise. Mrs. Mary Mapes Dodge, editor of St. Nicholas magazine, says of the Health Lift, she having tried its virtues, "It is enough to be able to thank it for renewed health and strength, and the blessings in their train. It takes ten minutes a day, and gives in return, I verily believe, added years of life and happiness." Miss Ida F. Sweetser, of the Brooklyn Argus, and leading soprano in Dr. Cuyler's church, finding herself restored to health by the use of this agency, says: "Whatever treatment of chronic disease and weakness may be good for others, of this one thing I feel sure, that nothing ever before devised can, for one moment, compare with the Health-Lift for woman."

AN OPEN LETTER.

PORTSMOUTH, Feb. 27.

It is reported that the Member of Congress from this District is absent from Washington, and is at home attending to his District; in other words, he is at home to lay plans and make combinations to induce his election, and to multiply complications to defeat his opponent. Is this exactly the time for a Member of Congress to be absent? Is there not an emergency in public affairs which absorbs the attention of the whole people? a condition of things that causes a deep feeling of solicitude? Does it indicate the highest order of patriotism and a high sense of duty, for a Member of Congress to be at home closeted with politicians to conserve his own interests, while the gravest public responsibilities are ignored and neglected? Is this man fearful of his record at Washington? Does he remain at home to avoid a record! Is he in sentiment with Thompson of Massachusetts and with those who are doing all in their power to keep in peril and in doubt the Constitution of the Republic? Or is he not?

If not, why not make a record fit and becoming an intelligent and patriotic constituency? Does it comport with the highest perception of public duty to dodge the great issue at Washington, when men of all parties demand an immediate solution of the great question?

Mr. Jones, your constituents are watching your movements with a scrutiny that you do not comprehend; you may deceive yourself—you cannot deceive them. The business men of this State and of the country will mark every delinquent; they will hereafter promptly and decisively depose from public position all officials who neglect or trifle with questions that concern the people. Party ties are strong, yet there is a limit to their tension; there is a point where and when human or party endurance ceases to be a virtue. If you are capable of appreciating the will of the people, then resume your seat at Washington and offer your co-operation to your Southern associates who are illustrating their good sense and their patriotism by withstanding the machinations of the Great Conspirator of Gramercy Park. The people of this District are well qualified to take care of their political affairs, and your welfare as a public man will be best conserved by a deep and earnest devotion to the public interests.

PLAIN TALK.

A CHILDREN'S HOME.

Through the efforts of Rev. Charles A. Holbrook, rector of St. John's church, a Children's Home has just been opened in this city on Mt. Vernon street, under most favorable auspices and support, its object being for the reception of homeless children under twelve years of age, without distinction of creed or color, of the following classes: Motherless children whose fathers, especially seafaring men, are obliged to be away from home, and who have no proper person to care for their children during absence; children of poor parents who are obliged by long-continued sickness to neglect their families; those rendered temporarily homeless by fire or other accidents; those whose homes have been broken up by the intemperance or desertion of father or mother, the remaining parent paying according to ability a certain sum at regular periods; and children left orphans or abandoned, whose friends or relatives bring them temporarily to this institution while finding a proper home for them elsewhere.

It is proposed to speedily establish a Day Nursery in connection with the Home, where small children will be left during the day while their parents are at work. Children old enough are to be sent to school, and, when desired, will be allowed to attend such places of religious worship as parents or guardians may select. Those placed at the Home are not surrendered to the institution, but held subject to the request of their parents or authorized relatives, while those who accept its advantages are, if able, expected to pay a small sum toward the support of their little ones. The institution will, however, be mainly sustained by charity, the donations for which are already encouraging.

The following officers have been chosen: Rev. Charles A. Holbrook, President; Miss Susan E. Christie, Secretary; Miss Alice Pierrepont, Treasurer; Miss Lizzie Hannaford, Matron; Dr. S. C. Whittier, Visiting Physician; Hon. Albert R. Hatch, Hon. Daniel Marcy, T. Salter Tredick, Commodore Charles W. Pickering, Advisory Council; Mrs. Major Hooper, Mrs. C. W. Pickering, Miss E. H. Pearson, Miss Julia V. Whipple, Mrs. T. Salter Tredick, Mrs. John Harrat, Board of Managers.—Times.

YORK.

YORK, Me., Feb. 21.

Pursuant to previous notice, the Ladies' Circle of the First Christian church of York gave an antiquarian supper, at the Sea Cottage, last evening. About three hundred people were present, but the tables were equal to the emergency—only more so. The fragments would feed much people! The whole was a brilliant affair and a perfect success. Our brass band (for the want of a name we write it "Our," as being in its infancy it has no name,) made its debut on that evening, furnishing music for the occasion, and to say that the boys did well would be drawing it mild. The crowd was surprised in two ways—surprised to see the band there, and more surprised to hear such fine music for the first time from a band of "Old York Boys." Much credit is due the boys, and they will doubtless receive the hearty co-operation of every patriotic citizen who likes to know that old York isn't dead yet.

P.

A Pretty Kettle of Fish.

A despatch from Halifax says the question of precedence having arisen between certain Queen's Counsel, an affidavit was read in the Supreme Court, Saturday, setting forth that the seal attached to the Commission of the Queen's Counsel, appointed by the Government, was not the great seal of the province, but the old seal which had been ordered returned by the Imperial Government in 1869. The Premier of the local Government admitted the Government had been using the old seal. The Court expressed astonishment at such contempt for Her Majesty's authorized and expressed opinion, and said that all acts requiring the great seal, done since 1869, were totally void. This state of affairs leaves Nova Scotia without a Parliament and without a Government, with all the grants of marriage licences, and consequently marriages, and all commissions since 1869, totally void. The greatest excitement prevails in consequence. The Chief Justice, after intimating that it would require Imperial legislation to rectify the matter, adjourned the Court ten days for full inquiry.

HONOR?

A short time before the recent Presidential election, Mr. John W. Young and myself made a bet on the result of said election, Mr. Young betting $100 against $100 that Tilden would be chosen. The money was deposited in the hands of Jeremiah Sanborn, tobacco and cigar dealer on Daniel street. A few days ago Mr. Young, foreseeing the result of the Electoral Commission, came to me and said it was an unfair thing, and wanted to withdraw his money, and declare the bet off. I refused. Finding that he could not get Sanborn to give up the stakes or his (Young's) portion of them he went and got a party to serve a trustee process on Sanborn, which he knew would hold in law over and above the bargain made by the bet, because the betting has not the sanction of law. I wish the public to know of the contemptible trick that they may be on their guard against a man so lost to all sense of honor.

COUGH & LUNG SYRUP.

A Safe and Sure Remedy.

The Cough and Lung Syrup

Is the remedy that during the past fifteen years has won for DR. FLAGG an extended reputation as a SPECIALIST for THROAT and LUNG Diseases. After so many years trial it can be truthfully said that it has NEVER FAILED, even in the Worst CASES. It is purely Vegetable, and its effect upon the system is at once Soothing and Tonic.

It Will Cure a Common Cold

In a few hours, not by drying it up, but by removing it from the system. TRY IT.

It will CURE a Chronic Cough, by soothing the irritated parts, and strengthening the system.

IT WILL CURE CONSUMPTION.

Even after all other remedies have failed. In the earlier stages of this disease it will effect a speedy and certain cure; and in many cases of advanced Consumption its effect has seemed almost miraculous, restoring to full strength and perfect health those whom physicians had given up as incurable. TRY IT.

IT WILL CURE CATARRH

More effectual than any other remedy, by simply removing the cause. TRY IT.

It will Cure Bronchitis, by allaying all irritation of the Throat. TRY IT.

It will Cure Asthma, affording immediate relief and a perfect cure. TRY IT.

It Will Cure Ulcerated Sore Throat.

TRY IT.

IT WILL CURE Loss of Voice, Night Sweats, Hectic Fever, AND ALL Symptoms of Consumption. TRY IT.

For every affection of the Throat and Lungs it only needs a trial to convince the most skeptical of its wonderful curative properties.

Remember that it

CURES COLDS, CURES COUGHS,

CURES CATARRH, CURES CONSUMPTION.

DR. WM. M. LADD, a leading Druggist of Claremont, certifies as follows:

For many years I have known Dr. A. J. Flagg as a success ful practicing physician, and can assure the public that his regulator relative to the Cough and Lung Syrup can be strictly relied upon. It has been used in his extended practice with marvellous success, and I know it to be all that he claims for it.

WM. M. LADD, M. D.

CLAREMONT, N. H., September, 1875.

DR. FLAGG My Dear Sir: Your Cough and Lung Syrup has proved a great benefit to me, giving relief from severe Coughs and Soreness of the Lungs, when all other remedies and physicians had failed. I have never taken a medicine more pleasant to the taste or more satisfactory in its results.

No. 9 Beaver Street, - - - Albany, N. Y

SURE CURES AND LOW PRICES.

Dr. YOUNG,

SUCCESSOR TO

Dr. TELLER,

DECEASED.

The above named private Hospital was established in Albany in 1835 by Dr. Lispenard and for a number of years its affairs were presided over by that gentleman, but for the past 20 years, Dr. Teller, who is now deceased, transacted the business of the Institution.

Owing to the great demand for more spacious apartments on account of the large increase of business, the Hospital has been removed to No. 9 Beaver Street, two doors above its old location, where patients will find magnificently furnished rooms for their reception, and are so arranged that patients do not come in contact with one another, seeing only the doctor, thereby avoiding the unpleasantness of meeting others, which always occurred at the old office.

LADIES will find rooms provided for their especial accommodation and entirely private.

YOUNG MEN, addicted to secret habits, who have impaired their health and destroyed the vigor of their minds, thus depriving themselves of the pleasures of married life and also those afflicted with private diseases of any nature, are advised that in consulting Dr. Young they will find a physician fully qualified to cure and restore them to full health and manly vigor.

Dr. Teller's great work for the married, or those contemplating marriage—100 pages—sent free of plates.—price 25 cents. Sent to all parts, under seal, by mail post paid.

TO THE LADIES—DR. YOUNG still retains the only agency in America for the sale of Dr. Vichol's Italian Female Monthly Pills. Sent by mail on receipt of $1.00, price per box.

DR. YOUNG is the only agent for Dr. La Mott's celebrated Galvanic Belts.

Invalids out of the city can be cured by consulting the Doctor by letter, and enclosing remittance. Medicines sent by mail or express, securely packed from observation. All letters must be addressed to Dr. J. A. R. YOUNG, 9 Beaver St., Albany, N. Y

THE SUN.

1877 NEW YORK. 1877

The different editions of THE SUN during the next year will be the same as during the year that has just passed. The daily edition will on week days be a sheet of four pages, and on Sundays a sheet of eight pages, or 56 broad columns; while the weekly edition will be a sheet of eight pages of the same dimensions and character that are already familiar to our friends.

THE SUN will continue to be the strenuous advocate of reform and retrenchment, and of the substitution of statesmanship, wisdom, and integrity for hollow pretence, imbecility, and fraud in the administration of public affairs. It will contend for the government of the people by the people and for the people, as opposed to government by fraud in the ballot-box and in the counting or votes, enforced by military violence. It will endeavor to supply its readers,—a body now not far from one million of souls—with the most careful, complete, and trustworthy accounts of current events, and will employ for this purpose a numerous and carefully selected staff of reporters and correspondents. Its reports from Washington, especially, will be full, accurate and fearless; and it will doubtless continue to depluntering the Treasury or by usurping what the law does not give them, while it will endeavor to merit the confidence of the public by defending the rights of the people against the encroachments of unjustified power.

The price of the daily SUN will be 50 cents a month or $6.50 a year, post paid, or with the Sunday edition $7.70 a year.

The SUNDAY edition alone, eight pages, $1.20 a year, post paid.

The WEEKLY SUN, eight pages of 56 broad columns, will be furnished during 1877 at the rate of $1 a year, post paid.

The benefit of this large reduction from the previous rate for the WEEKLY can be enjoyed by individual subscribers without the necessity of making up clubs. At the same time, if any of our friends choose to aid in extending our circulation, we shall be grateful to them, and every such person who sends us ten or more subscribers from one place will be entitled to one copy of the paper for himself without charge. At one dollar a year, postage paid, the expenses of paper and printing are barely repaid; and, considering the size of the sheet and the quality of its contents, we are confident that the cheapest and older THE WEEKLY SUN the cheapest newspaper published in the world, and we trust also one of the very best.

—Albany boasts of a man so cold-blooded that a dog which bit him in the leg had all his front teeth frozen.

—By an odd chance two lovers of one woman met as convicts in the Alabama State Prison. One was to serve three years and the other five; and the latter desired a compact by which the former was not to take advantage of his earlier freedom, but to refrain from courting the woman until both were at liberty. The three-years' man refused to make any such agreement, and was in consequence nearly murdered by the five-years' man. The woman had already married somebody else.

—Concerning the curious superstition about thirteen at dinner, we have just come across this singular incident in a recent English book: Some years since, Albert Smith gave a supper to thirteen that discredited the superstition in a remarkable manner. Himself on the point of starting for China, he entertained twelve friends who were bound for the Crimea, to encounter the perils of war as military officers or as journalists reporting the incidents of the conflict. Deeming it in the highest degree improbable that they would meet again on English ground when they had once started for the scene of danger, the twelve guests met their host with light hearts, and laughed about the fate which some of them would of course encounter in a few months. Strangely enough, all twelve returned from the war in perfect health, and supped again at a table of thirteen with the humorous lecturer.

ST. NICHOLAS.

"The King of all publications issued for the young on either side of the Atlantic."—Southampton (England) Observer.

The third volume of this incomparable Magazine is now completed. With its eight hundred royal octavo pages, and its six hundred illustrations, its splendid serials, its shorter stories, poems, and sketches, etc., etc., in its beautiful binding of red and gold, it is the most splendid gift-book for boys and girls ever issued from the press. Price, $4; in full gilt, $5.

"ST. NICHOLAS is full of the choicest things. The publication is, in all respects, the best of its kind. We have seen yet seen a number that was not surprisingly good."—The Chicago (Ill.) Tribune.

ST. NICHOLAS FOR 1877,

Which opens with November, 1876, begins a short and very entertaining serial from the French, "The Kingdom of the Greedy," a Story adapted to the Thanksgiving season. Another serial, of absorbing interest to boys,

"HIS OWN MASTER,"

By J. T. Trowbridge,

Author of the "Jack Hazard Stories," begins in the Christmas Holiday Number.

Besides serial stories, Christmas stories, lively sketches, poems and pictures for the holidays, and some astonishing illustrations of Oriental sports, with drawings by Siamese artists, The Christmas Holiday Number of ST. NICHOLAS, superbly illustrated, contains a very interesting paper,

"THE BOYS OF MY BOYHOOD,"

By William Cullen Bryant;

"The Hewes Hoard," a lively article, by Charles A. Barnard, splendidly illustrated; "The Cat-k in the Sky," by Richard A. Proctor; "A Christmas Play for Home" or Sunday-school," by Lucretia P. Hale; "The Peterkins' Christmas Tree," by Lucretia P. Hale; "Poetry and Carols of Winter," by Lucy Larcom, 27th pictures.

To Not Fail to Buy St. Nicholas for the Christmas Holidays. Price 25 cents.

During the year there will be interesting papers for boys, by William Cullen Bryant, John G. Whittier, Thomas Bailey Aldrich, Mrs. E. F. Haskins, George Macdonald, Sanford B. Hunt, Frank R. Stockton, and others.

There will be stories, sketches, and papers of special interest to girls, by Harriet Prescott Spofford, Susan Coolidge, Sarah Winter Kellogg, Elizabeth Stuart Phelps, Louisa Alcott, Lucretia P. Hale, Celia Thaxter, Mary Mapes Dodge, and many others. There will be also

"TWELVE SKY PICTURES,"

By Prof. Proctor, the Astronomer,

with maps, showing "The Stars of Each Month," which will be likely to surpass in interest any series on popular science recently given to the public.

Amusement and Instruction, with Fun and Frolic, and Wit and Wisdom, will be mingled as heretofore, and ST. NICHOLAS will continue to delight the young and give pleasure to the old.

The London Literary World says: "There is no magazine for the young published which can vie in the choice productions of SCRIBNER's press. All the articles, whether in prose or rhyme, are throbbing with vitality. . . . The literature and artistic illustrations are both superb."

The London Daily News says: "We wish we could widely spread the merits of this periodical literature."

GOOD NEWS FOR BOYS AND GIRLS;

To meet the demand for a cheaper ST. NICHOLAS with Scribner's Monthly, I and II has been relieved in price. The three volumes, in an elegant library case, are sold for $19 (in full gilt, $12), so that all may give their children a complete set. These volumes contain more attractive material than any dollars' worth of the ordinary children's books.

Subscriptions for ST. NICHOLAS, $3 a year. The three bound volumes and a subscription for this year, only $12. Subscribe with the nearest newsdealer, or send money (preferably, or P. O. money order, or in registered letter, to

SCRIBNER'S MONTHLY,

An Unrivaled Illustrated Magazine.

The prospectus for the new volume gives the titles of more than fifty papers (mostly illustrated), by writers of the highest merit. Among the best of

"FOREIGN TRAVEL,"

we have "A Winter on the Nile," by Gen. McClellan; "Wanderings About Constantinople," by Charles Dudley Warner; "Out of My Window at Moscow," by Eugene Schuyler; "An American in Turkistan," etc. Three serial stories are announced:

by Dr. Holland, the Editor, whose story of "Sevenoaks" gave the highest satisfaction to the readers of the Monthly.

The scene of this latest novel is laid on the banks of the Hudson. The hero is a young man who has been starved in mind as a woman's nature starves; but who, by the death of his mother, is left alone in the world, and cast on the current of life,—with a fortune, but without a purpose.

Another serial, "His Inheritance," by Miss Trotter, will follow the completion of "That Lass o' Lowrie's," by Mrs. Hodgson Burnett. Mrs. Burnett's story, begun in August, has a pathos and dramatic power which have been a surprise to the public.

There is to be a series of original illustrated papers of "Popular Science," by Mrs. Herrick; each paper complete in itself.

There are to be, from various pens, papers on

"HOME LIFE AND TRAVEL,"

into practical suggestions as to town and country life, village improvements, etc., by well-known specialists.

Mr. Barnard's articles on various industries of great Britain include the history of "Some Experiments in Co-operation," "A Scottish Leaf Factory," in the October number, and "Tool Lines, Stockdale," in December. Other papers are, "The British Workingman's Home," "A Nation of Shopkeepers," "Its penny a Week for the Child," etc.

A richly illustrated series will be given on "American Sports by Flood and Field," by various writers, and each on a different theme. The subject of

"HOUSEHOLD AND HOME DECORATION"

will have a prominent place whilst the latest productions of American humorists will appear from month to month. The list of shorter stories, biographies and other sketches, etc., is a long one.

The critical department will continue to employ the ablest pens both at home and abroad. There will be a series of letters on literary matters, from London, by Mr. Welford.

We mean to make the magazine sweeter and purer, higher and nobler, more social and generous in all its utterances and influences, and a more welcome visitor than ever before in homes of refinement and culture.

FIFTEEN MONTHS FOR $4.00.

SCRIBNER for December, now ready, contains the opening chapters of "Nicholas Minturn." The three numbers of SCRIBNER for August, September, and October, containing the opening chapters of "That Lass o' Lowrie's," will be given to every new subscriber (who requests it), and whose subscription begins with the present volume, i.e., with the November number.

Subscription price, $4 a year—35 cents a number. Special terms on bound volumes. Subscribe with the nearest bookseller, or send a check or P. O. money order to

DR. QUAIN'S MAGIC CONDITION PILLS!

The Wonderful Remedy for Liver Complaint, Biliousness, Dyspepsia, Constipation, Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Headache, Kidney Complaint, Nervousness, Scrofula, Piles, and all diseases arising from a bad state of the Blood!

No medicine ever offered to the public has given such universal satisfaction as Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. Their praises are on every tongue wherever their merits are known. They strike at once at the seat of disease and show their benefit power almost immediately. Thousands of voluntary testimonials of their merits have been received by the agent, from those who have been cured by them, of which the following are samples:

Dyspepsia Four Years, Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels Three Years, Confined to my Room Two Years, Pain so I Could Not Sleep Without Morphine. One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills Made Me Eat Well, Sleep Well and Free from Pain, after being given up by Physicians.

WEST LEBANON, ME., Feb. 22, 1

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I have been sick for four years with Dyspepsia, and for the past three years Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels. I have suffered all the pain I could endure and live. I have been confined to my room for two years, and could not sleep nights without the use of morphine. I have been given up by physicians as past cure. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, and they have done me more good than all the doctors I have had. I sleep well, I eat well and have no pain! They are all they are recommended to be. Please send me three packages, as two of my neighbors wish to try them. I enclose $1.50. Your truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Another Letter from Maj. John W. Lord, one month later Wonderful Cures by Dr. Quain's Pills Effected on Him in Thirteen Days. First time Free from Pain for Three Years.

WEST LEBANON, ME., March 22, 1876.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I commenced taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS February 9th, and wrote you February 22d of their wonderful effects. I have continued to improve ever since. My appetite is good, and I sleep as well as I ever did in my life. I am free from pain for the first time in three years. When I was taken sick four years ago, I weighed one hundred and eighty-six pounds; I now weigh one hundred and thirty, but, as I am gaining in strength, I have faith I shall regain my flesh this summer, by the use of the Pills. I shal continue taking them for some time to come. Yours truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Dr. Quain's Pills the Remedy for Soldiers' Aches and Pains.

[WEST LEBANON, ME., June 1, 1875.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I am now able to walk out every day, and am gaining in strength very fast, all of which is due to you as agent for the best Pills in the world. I have taken no other medicine, and my improvement has been steady since first taking Dr. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done everything for me you said I will say to you, advertise them direct to the soldiers, for they will certainly cure them of their pains caused from exposure and hardship on the field. Please send me by return mail another package. JOHN W. LORD.

Rheumatism for Twenty Years Cured by One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills—"The Best Medicine in the World."

EAST ANDOVER, N. H., Dec. 10, 1875.

MR. LANE—Dear Sir:—As I know the value of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, and know they have done me, I take pleasure in giving them praise; so I send you some testimonial. My father has been troubled with Rheumatism for twenty years or more, and has tried everything that could be thought of, but to no good. At times it would be so bad that he could not lift his hand to his head or do any work at all, especially in cold weather. A short time ago I advised him to get some of these Pills. He believed nothing in them, but I gave him the last package I had by you, as I did not need them, and he has not been as free from the Rheumatism Complaint for years. No Rheumatism, no pain. What helped him? It was DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, the best medicine in the world. There is nothing like them. I know it, for I have tried them, and they are all, you, man, that they are recommended to be. Give them a fair trial and you will say so. I write this because I know the goodness of them and wish others to know the same. Some may think I am telling a big story. I am. But remember I am not giving half the praise they ought to have. Yours with respect, ED. F. PEVARE.

Wonderful Effect of Four Doses of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills upon Neuralgia of Twelve Years' Duration—Testimony of Rev. J. S. Patton.

DAINGERFIELD, MORRIS CO., TEXAS, Nov. 15, 75.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I have been afflicted for twelve years with Neuralgia in the face and head. I tried I do not know how many physicians, and could only get partly relieved. I also tried many patent medicines with the same result. I have been confined to my room most all the time for last eight or nine years, and have been traveling and visiting medical springs, and I still suffered most intensely. The physicians pronounced my case the worst and most stubborn that they had had anything to do with. One told me I could never get well; they all advised me to go South and spend the winter, and thought I was the last chance for me, and I was trying to get ready to go to Florida, when through the kindness of Dr. H. M. Mathis, my situation was called to the advertisement of Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. I immediately sent to you for a package. I took only four doses and I am almost free from pain. The impression here seems to be that if your pills will cure me, they will cure anybody. I have a few more pills left and for the pills. Enclosed please find three dollars; send two packages to Mathis & Lane, Lancaster Sherrell Sulphur Springs, Hopkins county, Texas. (Yours truly, J. S. PATTON.

Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache.

LACONIA, N. H., Jan. 20, 1875.

TITUS, W. LANE—Sir:—I have been troubled with Bad Blood, Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done me more good than all the medicine I ever took; I have taken considerable medicine within the last five years. For the nerves I think there is nothing so good as those pills. I can recommend them to all who are similarly afflicted, they have done me so much good. I think they will recommend themselves wherever they go. I shall recommend those Pills to all who need them. Please send me two packages more, one for myself and one for a lady friend of mine. Many thanks to the inventor, agent and advertiser of those Pills. MRS. P. L. ELLIOTT.

DR. QUAIN'S MAGIC CONDITION PILLS are put up only by the AMERICAN MEDICINE CO., Manchester, N. H., THOMAS W. LANE, Agent.

PULMOCINE.

BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL

Is the ultima thule of Medical Discovery.

Among its many ingredients are Wild Cherry Bark, Squill Root, Liquorice Root, Blood root, &c. It is a Blood Purifier, gently stimulating. It increases expectoration and is diuretic. It is sudorific and alterative. It is a necessary family medicine. It is a Tonic and a powerful aid to the digestive organs. It is a gentle sedative, and relieves nervousness. It is aromatic and agreeable to the taste.

CLEAR YOUR THROAT!

Relieve Your Lungs.

For the terrible diseases engendered by the lungs trying climate of New England

PULMOCINE CORDIAL

Is a speedy and reliable Preventive and Remedy. Every Family should have a bottle at hand to check the sudden growth of all Pulmonary Diseases. For the Asthma, Coughs, Croups, Laryngitis, or inflammation of the larynx, Diphtheria, and all kindred Throat Diseases at all times prevalent, it is the ounce of Prevention. Children attacked with Whooping Cough or Croup should be immediately cared for. These painful attacks come with scarcely a moment's warning, when a physician may be out of immediate reach. A dose of PULMOCINE CORDIAL gives speedy relief, and the little ones are spared hours of pain and agony. As "a stitch in time saves nine," so does the possession of this Family Medicine prevent the spread of disease. Parents seeing their children gasping with pain, friends and relatives beholding each other in peril from suffocation by the choking pain in the throat, paralyzed with fear and not knowing the best course to pursue, are liable to apply the wrong remedial agents. There is no safety in delay, no time to waste in such cases. CONSUMPTION, that fearful scourge of the human race, lies at the door of all thus afflicted. BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL arrests it (unless in its advanced stage at which time there is no local cure) relieves the pressing, suffocating feeling at the lungs, and the patient's danger is past.

For Coughs, Croup, Diphtheria, Asthma, etc.,

—USE—

Bachman's Pulmocine Cordail.

The Pulmocine Cordial is not a quack medicine, is not an experiment, is not composed of any ingredients "discovered" by "walking in pastures" in South America or anywhere else, nor by one who discovered a weed and thereby cured himself. Most of the ingredients are such as our best educated physicians daily use for the complaints specified in some form or other. The recipe is that perfected by one of New England's most learned and famous physicians, who used it entirely in his daily practice until his death. It is offered to the profession and to the public, absolutely pure and unadulterated.

ECLECTIC MAGAZINE OF FOREIGN LITERATURE.

THIRTY-THIRD YEAR.

THE ECLECTIC reprints from the foreign Quarterlies, Reviews, Magazines, and Journals, their choicest contents, including Essays, Scientific Papers, Biographical Sketches, Reminiscences of Travel and Adventure, Tales, Stories, and Poems. The field of selection is very large, and it is believed that the ECLECTIC presents a greater variety and higher standard of literature than any periodical can hope to do that depends exclusively upon home talent.

A knowledge of the current literature of other countries is indispensable to all who would keep pace with the progress of the human mind; and the ECLECTIC offers the best, and, indeed, the only opportunity for obtaining this knowledge within a reasonable compass, and at a moderate price.

Among the writers represented in recent numbers of the ECLECTIC are: The Rt. Hon. W. E. Gladstone, James Anthony Froude, Matthew Arnold, Charles Kingsley, Robert Buchanan, Geo. McDonald, John Ruskin, Alfred Tennyson, Thomas Hughes, William Black, Mrs. Oliphant, Thos. Hardy, William Morris, Miss Thackeray, Mrs. Alexander, Profs. Huxley and Tyndall, Richard Proctor, R. A. Proctor, Prof. Owen, Prof. W. B. Carpenter, Max Muller, J. Norman Lockyer, Herbert Spencer, and others equally eminent. Besides the regular articles in the body of the magazine, there are four original Editorial Departments: Literary Notices, Foreign Literary Notes, Science and Art, and Varieties.

With regard to the character of the selections, the aim of the ECLECTIC is to be instructive without being dull, and entertaining without being trivial. While each number contains something to interest every member of the family circle, it addresses itself particularly to that great body of intelligent readers who seek profit as well as amusement in solid and healthful literature.

Besides the 128 pages of reading matter, each number of the magazine contains a Fine Steel-Engraving usually a portrait—executed in the most artistic manner.

TERMS.—Single copies, 45 cents; one copy one year $5; two copies, $9; five copies, $20. Trial subscriptions for three months, $1.

The ECLECTIC and any $4 Magazine to one address, $8.

Postage free to all subscribers. Address,

WHAT PAYS?

IT PAYS every Manufacturer, Merchant, Mechanic, Inventor, Farmer, or Professional Man, to keep informed on all the improvements and discoveries of the age.

It pays the head of every family to introduce into his household the best and most instructive, one that fosters a taste for investigation, and promotes thought and encourages discussion among the members.

The Scientific American

which has been published weekly for the last thirty-one years, does this, to an extent beyond that of any other publication; in fact it is the only weekly paper published in the United States, devoted to Manufactures, Mechanical Inventions and New Discoveries in the Arts and Sciences.

Every number is profusely illustrated and its contents embrace the latest and most interesting information pertaining to the Industrial, Mechanical, and Scientific Progress of the world; Descriptions, with Beautiful Engravings of New Inventions, New Implements, New Processes, and improved Industries of all kinds; Useful News, Recipes, Suggestions and Advice by Practical Writers, for Workmen and Employers, in all the various arts, forming a complete repertory of New Inventions and Discoveries; containing a weekly record, not only of the progress of the Industrial Arts in our own country, but also of all New Discoveries and Inventions in every branch of Engineering, Mechanics and science abroad.

THE SCIENTIFIC AMERICAN has been the foremost of all industrial publications for the past thirty-one years. It is the oldest, largest, cheapest, and the best weekly illustrated paper devoted to Engineering, Mechanics, Chemistry, New Inventions, Science and Industrial Progress, published in the world.

The practical Recipes are well worth ten times the subscription price, and for the shop and house will save many times the cost of subscription.

Merchants, Farmers, Mechanics, Engineers, Inventors, Manufacturers, Chemists, Lovers of Science, and People of all Professions, will find the SCIENTIFIC AMERICAN useful to them. It should have a place in every Family, Library, Study, Office and Counting Room: in every Reading Room, College and School. A new volume commences January 1st, 1877.

A year's numbers contain 832 pages and SEVERAL HUNDRED ENGRAVINGS. Thousands of volumes are preserved for binding and reference. Terms, $3.20 a year by mail, including postage. Discount to Clubs. Special circulars, giving Club rates sent free. Single copies mailed on receipt of 10 cents. Say be had of all News Dealers.

PATENTS. In connection with the Scientific American, Messrs. MUNN & Co are Solicitors of American and Foreign Patents, and have the largest establishment in the world. More than fifty thousand applications have been made for patents through their agency.

Patents are obtained on the best terms. Models of new inventions and Sketches examined, and advice free. A special notice is made in the Scientific American of all Inventions Patented through this agency, with the name and residence of the Patentee. Patents are also sold in part or for whole, to persons attracted to the invention by such notice. A Pamphlet, containing full directions for obtaining Patents sent free. The Scientific American Reference Book, a volume bound in cloth and gilt, containing the Patent Laws, Census of the U. S., and 142 Engravings of mechanical movements. Price 25 cents.

"A Complete Pictorial History of the Times."—"The best, cheapest, and most successful Family Paper in the Union."

Harper's Weekly.
ILLUSTRATED.

Notices of the Press.

Harper's Weekly should be in every family throughout the land, as a purer, more interesting, higher-toned, better-illustrated paper is not published in this or any other country.—Commercial Bulletin, Boston.

The Weekly is the only illustrated paper of the day that in its essential characteristics is recognized as a national paper.—Brooklyn Eagle.

The leading articles in Harper's Weekly on political topics are models of high-toned discussion, and its pictorial illustrations are often convolutative argument of no small force.—Examiner and Chronicle, N. Y.

The Weekly has to a still larger degree distanced all competitors as an illustrated newspaper. Its editorials are among the most able of their kind, and its other reading matter is at once learned, brilliant, and amusing. Its illustrations are abundant and of rare excellence.—Christian Advocate, N. Y.

"Unquestionably the best sustained work of the kind in the World."

Harper's Magazine.
ILLUSTRATED.

Notices of the Press.

The Magazine has attained in its one quarter century and more of existence to that point where it may be said of it, in the words of Dr. Johnson, "It is vain to blame and useless to praise." The lustre of its long-ago-attained reputation has increased as the years have passed, and its future seems as bright if not brighter than at any time since the golden hue of prosperity settled around its later and best years.—Brooklyn Eagle.

Harper's Monthly is marked by the same characteristics which gave it circulation from the first with the better class of readers. It combines reading matter with illustrations in a way to make clear and vivid the facts presented. Pictures merely designed to catch the eye of the ignorant are never inserted.—Chicago Journal.
